F. RICHARDSON TO GIVE STATEMENT

Regarding Any Commissions He Received From the Home Bank When Warden of the County.

TORONTO, April 16 (Canadian Press). — Fred H. Richardson, former member of the Toronto Board of Control, and ex-Warden of Ontario County, announces that he is willing to make a full statement regarding the commissions he received from the Home Bank.

In view of the implications that the payments to Mr. Richardson were in consideration of use of his influence to obtain city deposits for the bank, Mayor Hiltz recently went to G. T. Clarkson, liquidator of the Home Bank, expressing a desire to have the matter investigated, and Mr. Clarkson in turn asked Mr. Richardson to make the statement.

The latter replied yesterday, agreeing to lay bare his relations with the bank and to submit to cross-examination as to conditions which, according to the Home Bank books amounted to $13,500.

Mr. Clarkson said that as Mr. Richardson volunteered to give his evidence whenever called upon, he hopes to have cross-examination before the official referee in a week or ten days.

EXTEND PAPER PLANT.

MONTREAL, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—At the annual general meeting of the St. Maurice Paper Company, Limited, Tuesday afternoon, President M. B. Wallace intimated that additions to the plant of the company, costing about $2,250,000, would be made shortly. The additions would increase the company's earnings by more than half a million a year, the President said.

The directors were re-elected.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Half Holidays Will Be Held on Thursday—The Auditors' Report.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16. — Campbellford's half holidays this year will be held on Thursday afternoon instead of on Friday, the day observed for some years past. The first afternoon on which the stores will be closed falls on Thursday, May 1st and the half holiday will be observed every week until the first of December. Cards making this announcement have been hung in the windows of the stores and other places of business.

Three petitions were in circulation, one for Friday which meant no change another for Thursday and the third for Wednesday. For the time the signers of the latter petition were in the majority but in the end the advocates of Thursday closing got the lead and won out. Those who stood for Wednesday, the day usually observed by other towns in the district did so in the interest of sports, nearly all athletic games being held on that date.

The merchants as a rule were opposed to Wednesday. They claimed that when the stores in neighboring towns are closed that the people from these places come here to trade

On the petition in favor of closing on Thursday there were 52 signatures and of this number 40 of the signers declared for a half holiday every week during all the months of the year except December.

No action by the council is required as the observance of the holiday has always depended upon the wishes of a majority of the business men interested.

Nearly all the Cricket and Football players in Campbellford, like these classes of athletes in other places, work in industrial plants that observe Saturday afternoon as a half holiday so that they will be in a position during the summer to engage in their favorite pastime.

Auditors' Report.

For the first time in its history, Campbellford's municipal accounts were this year audited by two ladies, Mrs. C. W. Turner and Miss Nellie M. Hoover, whose report has been aproved by the finance committee of the council, and is now in the hands of the printer.

The total receipts of the town from all sources was $142,386.09, and the expenditures $141,558.96, leaving a balance of hand of $827.13.

The current assets amount to $4,597.77, and the permanent assets to $449,672.20.

The total debenture debt of the municipality is now $200,717.44.

The receipts from the water service during the year were $3767.33.

No widowed mothers in Campbellford are in receipt of pensions from the Mothers' Allowance fund.

Went to Hastings.

R. A. Dunk, George T. Salter, R. J. Bullen, S. A. Maguire and C. R. Sherwin of the local Oddfellows Lodge, were at Hastings Monday night, where they installed the newly elected officers of the branch of the order in that village.

News Notes.

George N. Anderson, of West Seymour, has sold his farm to his relative and near neighbor, George Anderson, Sr., who takes possession at once.

Trappers in this vicinity are making a large catch of muskrats, but the price paid for pelts is low. A. Reindeau, the local buyer, was paying $2.40 a week ago, btu yesterday the price had dropped to $1.80.

COMMENT RIFE ON SOVIET VISITORS

Policy of Moscow Government is Condemned by Press-Frank Criticisms

LONDON, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Probably no foreign delegation visiting England for a conference has ever had the opportunity of reading in the British Press such outspoken comments on its Government and itself as the present group representing the Russian Soviet Government. To a great extent it is admitted in the press that trade settlement with Russia is desirable, but circumstances of the soviet revolution, the policy of the Moscow Government and the reported utterances of leading Russians of the present day comes up for condemnation in the majority of comments.

Premier Macdonald's frank admonition against any attempts at propaganda meets with general approval.

Unemployment Bill Given Royal Assent.

LONDON, April 16. — (Canadian Press).—The Unemployment Insurance Bill, which already had been passed by the House of Commons, was read a third time in the House of Lords yesterday and received the Royal assent.

The Unemployment Insurance Bill extends the period for which unemployed benefits may be paid this year at an estimated additional cost of between £2,000,000 and £2,250,000 to be met out of the unemployment fund.

Employee of Foundry Had Finger Amputated — Young People Meet.

HASTINGS, April 16.— An accident occurred in the lumber yard of Mr. W. P. Plant's foundry on Tuesday afternoon, when Mr. Thos. Currel let a plank fall on his hand, crushing the third finger of his left hand which made it necessary to have the finger amputated to the first joint.

Young People Meet.

The Epworth League programme was somewhat changed on Monday evening. A contest and impromptu programme being given.

Miss Mae Hinton, the missionary vice-president, took charge of the meeting after it was opened with the devotional exercises.

The first part of the programme was a contest on the life of the great African missionary, David Livingstone. Each contestant was given pencil and paper and after the president read a short story on the missionary's life they were ushered to a room away from those not taking part and were required to write a story on the life of David Livingstone, being given fifteen minutes for the work.

Two classes were designated, the seniors and juniors, the latter being under thirteen years of age. The best writers in each class were given prizes, and these were awarded to Miss Ada Bonds for the seniors, Miss Elna Killenbeck for the juniors, the booby prize going to Mr. W. Dodd.

While the contestants were writing, the others present passed the time away by music.

The second part of the programme was the impromptu one. Groups were formed by the months of the year and those persons being born in the first four months making one group, the second four another and the third four the other group.

Each group provided two items for the programme, after which the meeting closed with the Mizpah prayer.

Attended Funeral.

Rev. D. A. Thompson has returned from Hamilton, after attending the funeral of his brother-in-law, Mr. A. W. Leitch, of that place. Mr. Mr. Leitch has been an invalid for about eight months, and was a highly respected elder of the Presbyterian church, also being superintendent of the Sunday school for twenty-seven years. The funeral took place in Hamilton at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the ladies of the Presbyterian church was held on Monday evening in the school room. The final arrangements were made for the annual Sunday school entertainment which is being held on Wednesday evening next.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Cowan and sons, Ernest and Frank, spent Sunday, the guests of friends in Campbellford.

MANUFACTURERS MAY TURN TO POLITICS

Although Not Active In Past Quebec Branch of C. M. A. Sees Need of Emulating the Grain Growers.

MONTREAL, April 16. — Alarm at the results of the tariff reductions in the present budget and anxiety as to what would be entailed by the abandonment of the protective principle in the tariff, were exhibited by the manufacturers of the Province of Quebec here yesterday afternoon at the joint annual meeting of the local branch and the Quebec division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Many of the manufacturers expressed the view that although the Canadian Manufacturers had not engaged in active politics in the past the time had come when in defence of Canadian industry against the western grain growers, they should become like the latter, politically active. In any event it was thought that they should lose no time in launching educational propaganda to teach the people of the Dominion what a protective tariff really meant for them.

A resolution condemning the tariff reductions was unanimously adopted and this will be forwarded to the executive council of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association for endorsation and necessary action.

MATTHEWS IS MISSING AND BEYOND REACH OF SUBPOENA AND POLICE

Left His Car Standing On Street When He Left Toronto—Police Combed City Last Night Without Finding the Ex-Deputy Provincial Treasurer.

DAYS OF GRACE END.

TORONTO, April 16 (Canadian Press). — Charles A. Matthews, the suspended Provincial Treasurer, is beyond the call of the subpoena of the Public Accounts Committee of the Ontario Legislature.

He is wanted at to-day's sitting, but it was admitted last night that a group of police officers sent to serve him with a subpoena had failed to find him.

Up until yesterday Hon. W. S. Price, Provincial Treasurer, claimed he was not worrying about Mr. Matthews. It was different last night. Places where he might be expected to be, both in and out of the city, were combed without result.

Everybody at Parliament Buildings seemed to want to give Mr. Matthews a chance to come forward and make a clean breast of the affairs of the Provincial Treasurer's Department, both during and before the administration of the Hon. Peter Smith. He had the option of coming forward or taking the consequences.

The option, according to Queen's Park officials, expired last night.

To-day Provincial Police will try another way of getting his story.

Deputy Provincial Police Commissioner Alfred Cuddy, it is understood, communicated yesterday to J. W. Seymour Corley, K.C., and intimate friends of Mr. Matthews, the action that it is proposed to take if there is no answer when he is called to-day.

L. C. Mason, husband of Matthews' stepdaughter, is still away, but he may come back.

The suspended Deputy-Treasurer has been absent from the city since March. He was last seen on Bay Street, having come down town from his home during the afternoon. He left his automobile on the street and entered an office building. When he left the building again he walked away, leaving his automobile standing on the street.

The car was claimed that night by certain of his friends. Mason left three days earlier, apparently for London, Ont.

The two men were seen a few days later in Detroit.

SCHOOL BOARD HELD MEETING

Will Increase the Teaching Staff of the Public School--Other Business

CAMPBELLFORD, April 16. — The Board of Education will increase the teaching staff of the Public school by engaging a kindergarten primary teacher, to commence duties after the Easter vacation. The maximum salary for that grade will be paid if that is necessary to secure the best available talent. It was suggested that a teacher to help out in the primary department and as part of her work be required to help backward pupils in the lower grades, but this idea was abandoned when Principal Haig informed the board that the entire time of an additional teacher would be required to relieve the pressure in the primary classes.

Committee Reports.

Dr. Watson reported that with Major Bygott and Dr. Richardson, he had visited the primary department and found the rooms overcrowded, two teachers being required to look after 110 pupils. The primary grade he regarded as the most important in the school as it was there that the foundation of a child's education was laid. A pupil should get through this grade in one year, but there were boys and girls of 11 years in it now.

For some years the pupils in the primary grade have been dismissed at 11.30 a.m. and at 3.30 p.m, thus losing an hour each day. The committee were of the opinion that the teachers should be required to put in full time.

The committee recommended that another teacher should be engaged and suggested that this teacher should not only do primary work but also assist the backward and mentally deficient pupils.

Dr. Richardson said that while it might be advisable to let the younger children out of school at 11.30 and 3.30, there was no reason why the older ones should not be kept at work until 12 and 4 o'clock. He again referred to the question which he had raised at a former meeting —the necessity of giving special attention to pupils who were behind in their studies.

There are pupils 14 years old in the second grade and this explains why less than 50 per cent of the pupils ever reach the high school. A year lost in the lower grades means that much time lost in the start in life. He was in favor of trying the experiment suggested by Dr. Watson.

Principal Haig Heard

When Principal Haig was asked for his opinion he said that another teacher was required for the primary department. The plan recommended by the committee could be tried out later. The principal said that after pupils have been three months in the primary department, they should remain for the full school day. At present this department was losing 40 teaching days in the year.

The engagement of a kindergarten primary teacher was recommended by Dr. Watson who said that these instructions had proved highly successful with young children. On motion of Trustee Douglas and Dr. Richardson it was decided to advertise for such a teacher.

Engage a Janitor

There were 15 applications for the position of Janitor for the new High School, the advertisement calling for a man holding a license as a stationary engineer as the law requires. Four of the applicants were returned soldiers with the necessary qualifications and the salaries asked ranged from $950 to $1500 a year.

On motion of Trustee Douglas and Dr. Watson, all those asking for a salary in excess of $1200 were excluded from the competition and this eliminated seven of the candidates. The matter was decided by ballot, the total vote cast being 13 as all the members of the Board were present except Major Byogtt. Seven votes were therefore necessary for a choice.

Before it had been decided to vote by ballot Trustee Hoover moved, seconded by Dr. Richardson, that William Lucy, whose tender was $1100 be appointed.

Trustees Stephens and Arnold moved that Frank Blake be given the place. Mr. Blake asked for $1200 but stated no qualifications. Trustee Stephens said Mr. Blake had only one arm and was trying to make a living.

Four Ballots Required.

On the first ballot James Farrell led with five votes, the others being scattered.

On the second ballot Blake led Farrell by five votes to four, and on the third they had five each. On the fourth ballot Blake had seven to Farrels' five, and the former was declared elected.

The runner up in every ballot was William Lucy, who for the past 18 months has been firing boilers for the Campbellford Cloth Company, but who was recently laid off owing to the removal of two departments to Toronto. Mr. Lucy took out the necessary papers in order to qualify for engineer of the High School.

James Farrell, who lost out by such a narrow margin, gave as a reference T. A. Brown, the contractor who built the school and for whom he had worked for years. All winter he has had charge of the boiler in the new building and Mason and Hawkrigg, by whom he was employed, that firm having a sub-contract, recommended him highly. His bid was $150 less than that of the successful applicant.

Minor Business.

The Property Committee was given authority to purchase coal. The new janitor will be thoroughly instructed as to what is required of him by Principal Greig and the Internal Committee.

The old stable in the high school grounds and the lots which the board proposes to dispose of, will be advertised for sale by tender.

Th Property committee will look into the matter of insuring the boilers in the new High school.

To the Building committee was assigned the duty of fixing up the grounds.

Trustee Benor raised the point that it was too close to examination time to hold the official opening of the new building and on his suggestion it is likely that this event will be postponed until about September 1st. By that time it is hoped the grounds will be levelled and cleaned up.

The primary department of the Public school will be moved into the old High school after Easter when that building is vacated for the new one. To make this arrangement legal it was decided, on motion of Trustee Lynch that the High school section of the Board lease the old building to the Public school trustees for one year at the nominal rental of $1.00.

The High school section of the Board consists of the appointed, and the Public school section of the elected, members.

The finishing touches will be put on the new High school to-day.

FUR THEFTS LEAD TO TRIAL OF TWO

Charles Seguire and Walter Fowler Arraigned in Brighton--Committed For Trial.

BRIGHTON, April 16.—The basement of the town hall was crowded to the doors and numbers were unable to gain admittance yesterday afternoon when Charles Seguire and Walter Fowler, accused of robbing furs from Grant Quick on April 4th, were given their preliminary hearing.

Magistrate Floyd presided, Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr conducted the prosecution and Mr. A. R. Willmott acted for the accused.

Grant Quick was first called. He stated that at his house in Brighton he had approximately 2,000 muskrat furs, 1 fox, 4 coons, 12 weasel and some mink furs .Between 5.30 in the afternoon and midnight of Friday, April 4th, the fox, coon and from 650 to 700 rat furs were stolen from his house. On the night of Wednesday, April 9th, he accompanied Provincial Sergeant Atkins and Provincial Constable Cousens to Seguire's house, nine miles north of Brighton, which the officers searched. Seguire and Fowler were arrested and the stolen furs found. Mr. Quick recognized and identified the various furs by markings and also by the ways different trappers had skinned their muskrats. All the stolen furs were exhiibted in court.

Magistrate Floyd then asked the accused men how they wished to be tried and, speaking for both, Mr. Willmott answered, "trial by the county court judge without jury."

Evidence Identifying Furs.

Americus Nelson, Harry Acker, Arthur Rogers and Frank Powers were called in turn and identified the furs as those they had sold to Mr. Quick. Nelson and Acken skinned muskrats in an unusual manner. Rogers pointed out damaged spots on the coon furs and Powers proved the fox fur to be the one originally owned by him by pointing out how the animal's leg had been deformed or broken. He even produced the leg bone of the animal to prove this.

George Martin said that between 8.30 and 8.45 on the evening of April 4th he saw a man whom he thinks was Fowler, in a car standing just west of the office in Brighton.

The Star Witness.

Lionel Dale was next called. On the evening of April 4th he saw Seguire on Alice street in Brighton, standing beside his car, which was stuck in the mud. Seguire paid him two dollars to get his horse and tow the car out. Dale could see another person in the car, but saw nothing to indicate what the cargo was. He thought ,but was not certain, that Seguire said the car was loaded with whiskey. This was between nine and ten o'clock in the evening.

Walter Ames and Ina King furnished $2,000 bail for Fowler, Magistrate Floyd fixed bail for Seguire at $6,000, but it was not produced, and he was taken to Cobourg jail to await trial.

HEARTS AFIRE

by May Christie

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO:

Prudence Page, a pretty country girl who has awakened from a brief and unhappy love-affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philander.

Janet Mercer, Prudence's 28-year-old friend, plain but genuine, is a trained nurse and masseuse to the delicate child of

Mrs. Vansittart, a wealthy women who owns Winston Towers. One of her guests is

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor, interested in Prudence. Prudence has given up Traymore, and is beginning to return Armstrong's interest, when she is accused of theft at Winston Towers, and runs away from home, heart-broken. She has lost her purse, and arrives penniless in New York, not knowing where she can find refuge for the remainder of the night. She stops in front of a huge church used as a House of Refuge.

Prudence is unable to get a job in the big city.

Prudence's father visits Mrs. Vansittart and tells her that she is responsible for his daughter's flight from home.

Prudence gets a room on the eighth door of an office building, and wakes up to find the place ablaze.

CHAPTER XLVI.

Prudence staggered to the window. She was almost suffocated by smoke, and the heat was so terrific that it seemed to her as though her very hair was scorching.

Eight storeys up! The sheer drop down to the street was a ghastly thing to contemplate, but—terror-stricken as she was—she felt that she must jump—and end her misery.

Above the roar of the flames there came a sudden clatter, and the clamerous ringing of bells. The fire brigade!

"Help! Help!" shouted Prudence at the eighth floor window.

But she could barely hear the sound of her own voice above the thunder outside and the conflagration just behind her.

"Can they see me?" was her agonized thought.

She caught up a white cover from the bureau, sweeping brushes and toilet articles to the floor, and desperately waved the piece of linen.

"Stiff job, boys!" remarked their leader coolly. "We'll need the 85-foot escape to get the woman out, and it'll take a bit of skill at that!"

Car after car arrived, and in a jiffy the longest ladder was placed against the building.

Two firemen swarmed up, but to Prudence it seemed an eternity before their helmets showed about ten feet below her.

The ladder was not long enough!

Utter despair entered her soul. This was the end! There was no hope!

But she did not understand the cleverness and resource of the profession which, for sheer dare-deviltry and bravery, can't be beaten.

"Hi, there! Catch!"

A young, strong face, under its gleaming helmet, was directed towards her, and the end of a rope came whizzing through the air.

Prudence—leaning far out—strained to capture it, but it passed through her shaking fingers, slipping down.

"Try again! Easy! Take your time!"

At last she caught it, holding on for dear life.

"Tie it round the bedpost," shouted the stentorian voice beneath. "Take lots of rope. Firm!"

The girl stumbled back into the room, whose heat was now insufferable. In a minute more the door would surely burst in, and bed and everything be a raging inferno.

But she contrived to tie the knot securely. The bed was old and very heavy, heaven be praised!

Violent twitchings of the rope. As Prudence staggered to the window for a last breath of air before the end, she saw one of the firemen climb, hand over hand, up the rope, while the other fellow held it taut.

"Here we are, lady! Keep your nerve!" The man sprang through the open window. "Not a moment to lose! Grab tight around my neck, and hang on for dear life!"

"Save me! Oh, save me!" cried the trembling girl.

She flung her two arms round the man's neck, but alas! there was no strength in them, no holding power!

He hesitated for the fraction of a second. None of his 'stunts' had ever been more dangerous! This young 'un would let go, for a certainty, and if he hadn't a tight grip of her would fall 115 feet to the street below!

"Nobody here but you?"

"No, no one. The caretakers are away——"

At that moment, with a gigantic roar, the door gave way, and a mass of flames burst into the apartment—hell let loose . . .

Without further parley the big fireman grabbed Prudence around the waist and flung her like a sack over his right shoulder. Then he swung himself over the sill and lowered her ten feet to his companion, who contrived to steady her, and at last they got her to the ground.

To Prudence, half unconscious though she was, that terrible descent was forever imprinted on her brain. Each moment she expected death.

Then, vaguely, she realized that a white-coated man, who must have been a doctor, and a woman in a dark blue uniform, were bending over her in the rain, and that some stinging hot stuff was being forced between her lips.

"Narrow escape with her hair," she heard someone in the crowd say. "The fireman must have put it out."

Put what out?

The fiery liquid sent a glow through-out her body. She tried to raise herself on one elbow, but, at the movement, a sharp pain shot through her, and she sank back with a little cry.

Thereafter, everything was blurred a little, low-roofed room lit by lamps that jogged incessantly. Even the queer bed was shaking, and the walls moved up and down!

Odd, wasn't it?

"Lie still, dear. You're all right." The woman in the uniform bent over her, and Prudence could see the white-coated man sitting on a jerkins couch opposite.

Was she dizzy? Was that why the room was jerking so?

"Where am I?" she asked faintly of the woman.

The white-coated man leant over, smiling. He had a fine face. "In an ambulance. We're going to the hospital. But you needn't be afraid. No damage done, as far as we can ascertain."

In Prudence's brain a memory stirred. Something about her hair, wasn't it? Now, what had happened to her hair?

If she raised herself a little she'd be able to see her reflection in a glass upon the wall.

And when she did contrive to do that, what she saw was so astounding and so terrible that she sank back with a cry of fear!

Have You a Daughter? If You Have, This Article Will Interest You!

Hamilton, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine I have ever known for the building up of girls and women who are run-down in health. It has been taken by different members of my family with great success. My daughters have been wonderfully helped during motherhood by taking Favorite Prescription; it is the best medicine the expectant mother can take for health and strength. And after having the influenza my granddaughter was left in a very bad way and nothing in the way of medicine gave her any help until she began taking Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and through the use of this medicine her health was completely restored, and she is as well as ever." —Mrs. Sarah Wilshaw, 405 Cannon St., E.

EGGS CHEAPEST IN 50 YEARS

MAYSVILLE, Ky., April 16—Eggs in this vicinity are the cheapest known in fifty years. Sales have been made by farmers at an average of 10 cents a dozen, and production is said to be 30 per cent. of that of 1923, which was the record breaker previously. There is a general complaint here about dealers' high prices on eggs which are 22 cents, "when they should be not more than 18 cents for top."

BRITISH PLANE REACHED ATHENS THIS AFTERNOON

ATHENS, April 16. — (United Press). — The British round-the-world amphibian plane arrived at the old Phaleron Aerodrome shortly before 4 p.m. to-day.

The big plane, piloted by Major Stuart Maclaren, winded its way gracefully into the harbor after departing from Lake Koriśsia Island of Corfu, at 11.30 o'clock this morning.

The British airmen were greeted with cheers by the crowds which had been waiting for them along the water front.

Guns bombed a salute as they came ashore.

Maclaren was smiling and happy. "We're under way again," he said.

The aviators said the flight from Corfu was made in good time and that they expected to get under way as soon as possible for Egypt.

ONE MAN KILLED ON C.N.R. CROSSING

One in Hospital and Two Held as Material Witnesses.

OSHAWA, April 16. — John Bezan of Trenton is dead, John Coughlin, is at St. Josephs' hospital, Toronto, seriously injured, and W. H. Taylor and George Aziz, both of Trenton, are held as material witnesses, as a result of a C.N.R. train from Toronto to Montreal, striking a truck loaded with furniture, on which the men were riding, at the Kingston Road crossing at Scarboro, yesterday afternoon.

The truck, driven by George Aziz, was going from Trenton to Toronto, and on reaching the crossing continued across the rails.

Taylor, whose back was to windshield, was thrown through it, the driver was thrown out on the left side of the cabin, and Coughlin on the other side, sustaining serious injuries.

The train crew picked up the injured men, Coughlin and Bezan, and rushed them to Oshawa, stopping at Whitby, where Dr. MacLaren boarded the train and rendered medical assistance. Bezan died, however, before leaving the train.

Cocoanut Oil Makes Splendid Shampoo

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

VOTE FOR THE C.G.E. BYLAW

ALD. NAGLE PHELAN

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir:—That the Canadian General Electric Company intends to proceed at once with the erection of the new building at their works, if the by-law is passed on April 23rd, is shown by the fact that they have advertised for tenders for its construction to be received on that day so that the contract may be promptly let and the work promptly begun.

The expenditure by the Company of $300,000.00 to $400,000.00 in building and equipment will lead to other buildings being put up in the city and employment and business will be further benefitted in that way.

Besides the additional taxes the company will pay on the new building, the municipality will receive revenue from the other new buildings that will follow on the electric works expansion. These benefits will be secured by passing the by-law, which is only to extend the period of the company's fixed assessment by about three and a half years, and it should receive substantial support and a large majority.

Yours truly,
N. E. PHELAN.

NEW REGULATIONS POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK

On April 15, 1924, the Post Office Savings Bank of Canada will adopt and put into operation a new arrangement for withdrawals, whereby depositors may obtain on demand at Savings Bank post offices repayments from their accounts in cash up to but not exceeding $25 a a time, without application to the Head Office at Ottawa.

This provision for the repayment of small sums is designed to meet to some degree the immediate needs of depositors, especially those at points distant from Ottawa. It will be maintained in addition to and in conjunction with the present method of application to the Head Office for repayment by cheque. Therefore, from 15th April 1924, all Postmasters at Savings Bank offices are authorized to pay depositors on demand, upon presentation of their pass books showing sufficient balance and upon satisfactory identification amounts up to $25, and no more, at one transaction, in strict compliance with the regulations.

Information in connection with the above regulations may be obtained at the Post Office.

PROMINENT WORKER IN GIRL GUIDES IS DEAD

TORONTO, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Mary, Lady Pellatt, wife of Major-General Sir Henry M. Pellatt, and honorary commissioner of Girl Guides for Canada, died suddenly at Spadina Gardens Apartment, Spadina Road, last night, following an illness of only a few hours. Death was due to heart disease.

A daughter of the late Robt. Dodgson, of Cumberland, England, Mary Dodgson was born in Toronto. She was educated at Bishop Strachan School. Her marriage to Sir Henry Pellatt took place in 1882. She is survived by her husband and one son, Col. Reginald Pellatt, of Walmer Road.

Henry Ford's Railway Earns Big Dividends.

NEW YORK, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—The preliminary report of Henry Ford's Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad for 1923 shows a net income of $1,417,036, compared with a deficit of $1,018,742 the year before. This is equivalent to $17.21 a share on the combined $12,480,948 preferred and common stock. Both issues share alike after four per cent. has been paid on each. Gross revenue amounted to $10,417,412.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S. HOLD MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held in the Ladies' Parlor of the Sunday school on Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Kerr, first vice-president, in the chair.

The first report of the convention recently held in Hamilton was given by Mrs. Shirley and was very much appreciated, being clear and concise. A very pleasing part of the afternoon was the singing of "Open the Gates" by Miss Engel, when her beautiful voice seemed to surpass itself.

Rev. Mr. Gordon spoke briefly on Missions and Missionaries, sketching their work since the time of Abraham down through the ages.

Miss Craw gave a short talk on "The Messenger," the wonderful little missionary paper.

The meeting closed with prayer, led by Rev. Gordon. Refreshments were then served and a pleasant half hour spent.

LADIES OF PRINCE OF WALES PRESENT PRIZES

The regular monthly meeting of the Prince of Wales' Home and School Association, held last evening, was featured by the presentation to two boy scholars of the school of cash prizes of four and two dollars respectively, by Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, representing the local branch of the W. C. T. U. This society some time ago offered first and second prizes to pupils of the third and fourth forms of the public schools of the city who would submit best essays on the subject, "Five Reasons Why One Gains by Total Abstinence," and the Prince of Wales' boys captured both awards, Gordon Morrison and Angus Bradley were the lucky contestants.

Mr. A. B. Gates, a member of the electrical engineering staff of the Canadian General Electric Company, was present, and gave an interesting address on 'The Kingdom of Dust,' describing the various forms of dust, their origin, and their effect on health conditions.

A musical programme included an instrumental duett by the Misses Amy Fairbrother and Greta Welbourn, a reading by Marion Dryland, and a dramatization by the third class, entitled "Maggie Tulliver," from George Eliot's novel, "The Mill on the Floss." The president, Mrs. J. S. Peters, occupied the chair.

BOUNDARY QUESTION IN IRELAND PROCEED SOON

BELFAST, April 16. Canadian Press. — Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, has again been invited to confer with the British government on the question of fixing a boundary between Northern Ireland and the Free State, and will proceed to London next week.

It is stated, however, that there is no change in the Ulster attitude.

extension will increase the force of employees by at least 100. At present there are 1,300 employees, and if business increases, as it is expected to do, the staff will be nearly doubled.

Mr. Morris: "Are you contemplating adding any new lines of manufacture?"

Mr. Patterson: "The art is changing all the time and we are making new lines every month. Our impression is that the General Electric Company policy will be to run our factory in Peterboro full, and what they cannot absorb they hope to export, and as the business grows they will put up more buildings."

J. Wells Fraser: "I have heard that the policy of the General Electric Company is along the line of manufacturing in Canada for export rather than in United States."

Mr. Patterson: "It is our opinion, not official, that they intend this factory shall be run full-handed and the surplus exported."

The speaker of the evening was given a hearty vote of thanks and withdrew with permission, to give the members an opportunity to discuss the facts he had placed before them.

Comparisons Made.

S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk, gave additional information in answer to questions. The fixed assessment of the company, $150,000, for municipal purposes, will be extended three years and eight months. This fixed assessment is now running, and it would simply be extended. They pay full school taxes.

To several new industries coming to the city, Mr. Armstrong said, the city has given free sites and exemption for ten years from municipal taxes.

J. J. Duffus said he was pleased to hear Mr. Patterson admit that the city has been generous in its treatment of the C.G.E. Company. "I have reason to believe that we are just a little better than most other places. If any other place had the opportunity of getting as large an addition to a factory in their midst they would be delighted to support the by-law. I am quite in accord with all that is in the by-law and everything that I have heard regarding it has been favorable. I believe it is a step in the right direction and the people of Peterboro will be doing the right thing to pass the by-law with an overwhelming majority."

Reeve H. B. Rye of North Monaghan: "I think the by-law should carry and I think it will carry."

On motion of J. J. Duffus and W. Boulton, the Chamber of Commerce supported its executive in endorsing the C.G.E. by-law, and plans were discussed for helping in the work of getting out votes to support it. Members of the Chamber will give their cars and services for the occasion, a large number of volunteers being enlisted last night.

The meeting was presided over by J. Wells Fraser.

BOSTON ERRORS IN THE NINTH GAVE YANKEES WIN IN MOUND BATTLE

Shawkey Held Red Sox to Two Hits In Duel With Ehmke — Walter Johnstone Starts 18th Campaign With Shut-out Over Athletics—Detroit and Cleveland Supplied Sensations.

SISLER WINS DEBUT.

BOSTON, April 16 (Canadian Press). — Twenty-five thousand enthusiasts saw the world champion Yankees defeat the Red Sox, 2 to 1, in the opening game of the season here on Tuesday.

The winners made both their runs in the ninth when Ruth and Ward singled, Pipp sacrificed, and Wambaganss made two errors on ground balls. The single Boston run resulted from Shanks' single, Lee's bunt, and Ehmke's single.

Shawkey held Boston to two hits in seven innings, and then Hoyt pitched hitless ball.

Mayor Curley threw out the first ball to President Quinn of the Red Sox. President Johnson, of the American League ,attended the game. The score:

Boston	000010000	2	3

Shawkey, Hoyt and Schang; Ehmke and O'Neill.

JOHNSTON IN GOOD FORM.

WASHINGTON, April 16 (Canadian Press). — Walter Johnson opened his eighteenth campaign in the American League yesterday with the Washington team by scoring a shutout victory over Philadelphia, 4 to 0. The veteran was in good form, allowing ony four hits and issuing but two passes.

President Coolidge officially opened the season by tossing out the first ball. The President was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and an official party.

Secretary Wilbur, of the Navy, led the parade of the two teams to the flagpole in centre field, where the flag was raised prior to the opening of the game.

It was the 101st shutout victory for Johnson, and by striking out eight of the visitors he increased his total in this line to more than 3,000.

Judge, Rice, Ruel, and Goslin supplied the hits that gave Washington its runs.

A crowd of more than 25,000 witnessed the contest. The score:

Philadelphia	000000000	0	4
Washington	02101000x	4	7

Harris, Ogden, Meeker, Baumgartner and Perkins; Johnson and Ruel.

GREAT FIELDING.

DETROIT, April 16 (Canadian Press). — Detroit opened the American League season here yesterday by defeating Cleveland, 4 to 3, in a game replete with sensational fielding.

Cobb, Heilmann, and Speaker shared honours in fielding almost impossible catches.

The Togers' manager cut off a possible tie in the eighth inning when he raced far to his left for a leaping catch that robbed Summa of what appeared to be a home run.

Blue, the Tiger first baseman, hit a home run over the centre field fence in the sixth inning, starting a rally that gave Detroit three runs.

Although ground rules were necessary, the crowd did not break the record for opening days, being estimated at approximately 34,000. The score:

Cleveland	000102000	3	11
Detroit	00010300x	4	6

Shaute and Myatt; Dauss and Bassler.

BROWNS START STRONG.

CHICAGO, April 16 (Canadian Press). — George Sisler, outstanding star of the 1922 American League season, came back to the game yesterday after a year's absence due to impaired vision, and making his debut as manager of the St. Louis Browns, contributed largely to his team's 7 to 3 victory over Chicago by smashing out two hits in four attempts.

Sisler, back in his old position at first base, fielded perfectly with 15 putouts and no errors, drove in the first run and also the run which broke the tie in fifth. He finished with a .500 average at bat although he did not score.

Urban Shocker, who quarrelled with the Browns' management most of the winter, pitched in mid-season form, holding the Sox to six hits.

The Sox were without the leadership of Frank Chance, who is confined to a hospital. Johnny Evers, acting manager, was on the side lines yesterday.

Favoured with a dash of real spring weather, the game drew an opening attendance of about 28,000. The score:

St. Louis	20011021̄0	7	11
Chicago	200100000	3	6

Shocker and Severeid; Robertson, Connally and Schalk.

Big Card of Interesting Bouts At the G.W.V.A. Hall To-Night — Ten Bouts Listed — Joe Jordan On the Bill.

Tonight's boxing bill at the G.W.V.A. hall will have a real punch, and with ten bouts on the card and an Ontario championships medal winner from Peterborough among the headliners, the fans are promised a big night. Joe Le Moine of St. Helen's Club, Toronto is bringing a string of Toronto boxers for the show. Roy Dullage one of the party will likely be given the assignment with Art Johnston who did so well at the Ontario championships. Dullage is the speedy mitt artist who made it so interesting for Lorne Coombe on a former visit here. Joe Jordan will face a nifty boxer in Gene Carr. Several preliminary bouts for city boxing honors will add considerable interest to the bill.

The ring has been set up in the centre of the hall and a number of boxing fans who made a call last night, remarked on the big improvement made in the interest of the spectators.

BOARD OF WORKS TUG OF WAR TEAM

First Meeting of the Season Results in a Challenge.

The first meeting of the Board of Works tug-of-war team for the season was held for the purpose of completing arrangements for a programme of sports during the coming summer.

All the officers and a good many members of the team was present, with President Evans in the chair. Judging from the unbounded enthusiasm that prevailed among both officers and men, this team will give a splendid account of themselves against any they may meet this year and add fresh laurels to their already splendid record, with honor to the city.

It was reported at the meeting that the Toronto Police Force tug-of-war team intended sending their team to England this year to compete in the Olympic Games at the World's Fair, and it was the opinion of Captain Lytle, as well as all of the other officers, that there was just as good a team in Peterborough as there was in Toronto or any other place in Canada. After considerable discussion, it was moved by Bob Manley, seconded by Bruce Menzies, and carried unanimously, that the Secretary be authorized to write to Toronto and issue a challenge to their team, for a meet here on May 24th, the winners to get the trip to England.

Anchorman Murphy also wished to embody in that challenge the same challenge he issued last year, that he would undertake to hold any three men on their team. If they have any conceit in their strong men they will surely not let this challenge pass unnoticed.

The meeting then adjourned, to meet again at the call of the President, after the Secretary has heard from Toronto.

Timely Tips To Amateurs

SAYS MAX CAREY
Outfielder, Pittsburg Nationls

The critics insist, and rightly so, that the lively ball is making base running—the big thrill of baseball—a lost art.

Every player has a certain hobby. While I like my base hits as well as the next fellow, still I get even greater satisfaction in outwitting the catcher, often by getting the break at the expense of the pitcher.

Perhaps the value of the steal has been greatly minimized, yet the knack of geting a big lead is still a great advantage to my way of thinking.

In most cases the difference between out and safe at a base is a matter of a step or less.

It is possible to gain that step by acquiring the art of being able to take a big lead and still get back safely.

It is a feature that is being overlooked by most players.

Don't clog the bases when you get on.

PETERBOROUGH GUN CLUB HELD WEEKLY SHOOT

Squad Expected From Lakefield to Take Part in Shoot.

The Peterboro Gun Club opened their activities at the traps on Saturday last when several of the members were down getting their eye on the elusive clay birds.

Mr. E. V. Eldridge was the high man for the day and did some excellent shooting with a bad wind blowing. The Club intend to hold a shoot on Friday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. when it is expected a squad from Lakefield will some down and help the local boys break the blue rocks.

Roy Hutchison was the champion of 1923, with an average of 93% and is the winner of the cup donated by the Club. The Club expect to have a larger membership this year and all shooters who wish to become members are urged to get in touch with C. G. Graham, the secretary.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

By BILLY EVANS

Questions.

1. If a ball is fair when it passes over the fence but later goes foul before passing out of the sight of the umpire, is it a home run or merely a foul ball?

2. Can a player be taken out of the game after several balls have been pitched to him and a pinch hitter substituted?

3. When two runners are standing on the base, to whom does the base belong?

4. Can a batsman take first base when hit by a slowly pitched ball?

5. If a fielder drop a fly ball but the batsman is finally retired, is the fielder charged with an error?

Answers.

1. The umpire judges a hit over the fence fair or foul according to its position when it finally passes from his view.

2. A batsman can be removed at any time in favor of a substitute hitter. The substitute simply taking the ball and strike count on the original batsman.

3. A base always belongs to its original occupant unless he is forced to vacate.

4. The speed of a pitched ball is given no consideration when a batsman is hit. The question of the batsman going to first depends on whether or not the umpire believed he tried to avoid the pitch.

5. The fielder is charged with an error even though the batsman is finally retired.

EAST CITY MIDGETS.

The following are the officers of the East City Beaver Baseball Club:

Treasurer—Mrs. M. E. Brady.
All players wishing for a try-out with this team are requested to be present at King George School grounds on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the opening practice.

RECORD OPENING DAY CROWDS IN NATIONAL; 44,000 IN NEW YORK

Giants Lose First Game to Brooklyn—Chicago and Pittsburgh Other Victims — Cincinnati and St. Louis Win, While the Phillies and Boston Played Till Dark.

GAME ENDED TIE.

NEW YORK, April 16. — Playing a strong game behind Ruether's efficient pitching, Brooklyn defeated the New York Giants in the opening game on Tuesday, 3 to 2, before a crowd of 44,000, the greatest that ever saw a National League opening in New York.

Ruether had complete control of the situation for the first six innings, allowing only one hit. New York rallied in the seventh and scored two runs but Southworth was retired with the bases full.

Brooklyn made all its hits and runs off Ryan in the early innings. Two left handers, eGarin and Nehf, held Brooklyn hitless during the last five innings.

Mayor Hylan threw out the first ball while the Giants raised the National League pennant of 1923.

The score:

Brooklyn	101010000	3	9
New York	000000200	2	7

Ruether and Deberry; Ryan, Gearin, Nehf and Snyder, Gowdy.

PHILADELPHIA, April 16. — Philadelphia and Boston engaged in an eleven inning deadlock in the first game of the 1924 season, the score standing at six runs each, when the game was called on account of the darkness. Twice the locals came from behind to tie the count but lacked the punch to win.

In the ninth inning Jess Barnes went into the box with the bases full and none out, and retired the side with only one run crossing the plate. This run however gave the Phillie a tie.

The usual opening day exercises preceded the game. The score:

Boston	20000130000	6	16
Philadelphia	01111001100	6	14

CUBS LOST TO CARDINALS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 15. — The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Chicago Cubs 6 to 5 yesterday in the first 1924 National game here. A crowd of about 15,000 attended the game.

A ninth inning rally with the score 5 to 3 in favor of the Cubs, turned the tide for the Cardinals. Baseball Commissioner Landis pitched the first ball, with Mayor Henry Kiel of St. Louis receiving. The score:

Chicago	002200010	5	11
St. Louis	120000003	6	13

Aldridge and O'Farrell; Pfeffer, Doak, North, Stuart and Holm, Vick.

REDS DEFEAT PIRATES.

CINCINNATI, O., April 16. — Before a record-breaking crowd, Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh in the first game of the championship season yesterday 6 to 5. Morrison was hit freely and his infield support was somewhat ragged. Donohue allowed only one hit in five innings, but was pounded hard in the sixth, when the visitors bunched four clean singles and a triple for four earned runs. Sheehan finished the game in good form. The Reds tied the score in the eighth on Hargrave's second triple and Bohne's sacrifice fly, and won off Meadows in the ninth on top passes, a single by Burns, and Roush's sacrifice fly. Hargrave was the batting leader with two triples, and two singles out of four times up.

The actual paid attendance was 35,747, the largest number ever at a ball game at Redland Field. The score:

Pittsburgh	010004000	5	8
Cincinnati	101200011	6	9

Morrison, eMadows and Schmidt; Donohue, Sheehan and Hargrave.

HECKLING BY RADIO.

Heckling done by radio! It's possible, but it's a greater nuisance than the heckling in an auditorium. It was tried recently during a Democratic meeting in Kansas City, when the speeches were broadcast. A "heckler" attached an oscillator to an antenna and so "hased up" the program as to make its reception unintelligible.

"Yes, Sir, these brown shoes have discolored, haven't they, but then you have been using unsuitable and probably inferior dressing. Take my advice and use only "Nugget" Dark Brown Polish, it keeps shoes in condition and restores them to an even tone when they are rubbed or knocked.

DIAMOND DUST

The big leagues got away to a great start yesterday.

Record-breaking crowds featured the opening day. At Cincinnati a crowd of 37,000 was in attendance.

Close games featured in both leagues yesterday. There was no walk-away scores as is usual at the start of the season.

The Mercantile League expect to have six teams this year. The Quaker Oats is expected to enter a team.

Walter Johnson, the iron man pitcher of Washington, auspiciously opened the season yesterday by scoring a shutout over Philadelphia. Washington won 4 to 0.

The International League opens today. The Toronto Leafs are playing at Rochester.

Cleveland lost the opening game to Detroit, 4 to 3.

The New York Giants, National League champions lost the opening game while Cincinnati the runners-up won theirs.

Some of the boys are out already tossing the old pellet around and in a week or two practices by the senior teams will likely get under way.

FIRPO REFUSES RICKARD OFFER

Argentine Reiterates His Intention to Retire From Ring—Wouldn't Listen to Details.

BUENOS AIRES, April 16.—Luis Angel Firpo has refused to listen to the latest overtures of Tex Rickard, made through the promoter's agent, Juan Homs, for fights in the United States this summer with Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey, and has reiterated his recently announced intention to retire from the ring.

Homs, bearing an attractive offer from New York on behalf of Rickard, was met by Firpo at Montevideo where the Argentine battler several years ago bade farewell to Hugh Gartland, his business manager, who sailed for the United States. Returning here Tuesday, Firpo said that he had read a letter from Rickard empowering Homs to sign him to an agreement, but had refused to listen to details of the offer.

Rumor of Half Million.

NEW YORK, April 16. —Tex Rickard's latest offer to Firpo was understood here to guarantee the South American approximately $500,000 for fights with Wills and Dempsey. Details could not be learned, however, as Rickard has left the city for a vacation.

Rickard's original offer to Firpo of $200,000 for a Wills battle was rejected by the South American several weeks ago.

If Australia could be placed in the Atlantic Ocean it would fill up all the space between Great Britain and America.

SMOKE ENDS TRAINING FOR OLYMPIC CANTER

Lifted His Traps Last Week and Has Been Doing Road Work For Preliminary Event to Decide Canadian Marathon Candidates.

News from the Windsor Hotel credits Albert Smoke with being in good shape for the Olympic Marathon preliminary in Toronto on Good Friday. He ran to Lakefield and back on Tuesday in a little more than two hours, was out on Monday and wound up his road work today. Usually in fine physical condition, Smoke has not been worrying about his wind and his recent training has tested his legs. Friends of the Curve Lake runner believe that he has the stamina and speed to carry him into the front rank of the best company in America, but there has been a feeling that he does not take his training seriously enough.

Last week Smoke was trapping on the Trent River above Hastings, but when the catch began to fall off he picked up his traps, wrapping his good clothes into a knapsack bundle which he strapped on his shoulders Smoke hopped the ties to Peterboro a distance of probably twenty miles, in something around two hours and that afternoon went on to Curve Lake.

Art Johnston has been giving him the best of attention during the week's conditioning and will take him up to the Danforth course Friday morning.

Lacrosse

A meeting of all those interested in lacrosse is called for tonight at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce. Every player should be present. It is unnecessary to point out the importance of this meeting to the game. The season's activities depend on what is decided.

Vic Hamilton president of the club will preside.

Nearly 300,000 applicants for life insurance were rejected by the insurance companies in this country in 1922.

FOOTBALL NOTES

There was a full attendance at the Junior executive meeting on Monday eveping.

Ruls governing the league and cup competition were adopted.

His Worship the Mayor, J. J. Turner, has consented to become Honorary President of the junior organization.

G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons, has kindly consented to provide medals for the winners of the County Cup.

J. Montgomery and H. Hotson appeared before the committee and stated they wished to play with the juniors and were given permission to play in all competitions.

Frank White is going to enter a team and all players wishing to wear the uniform of this team are invited to leave their names at the Sports Depot, Charlotte Street.

PETERBORO HOCKEYISTS BANQUETTED BY CITY

Intermediates and Juniors Are Guests at Most Enjoyable Civic Function.

SERVICES RECOGNIZED

Civic recognition of the exploits of Peterboro's intermediate hockey team in reaching the O.H.A. finals and of the junior squad in going as far as the semi-finals and of the clean, gentlemanly and sportsmanlike conduct of the players of both teams was accorded at a most enjoyable banquet tendered to the teams by the city council at the Empress last evening. The affair was a most thorough success and Ald. Crowe chairman of the Reception Committee and those who co-operated with him are to be congratulated upon the arrangements so effectively carried out.

Mayor Turner presided and the guests included Harold Parker, Grover Halpin, Frank Collins Wilfred Ranger, Bert Burgess, S. McPherson, Jimmy McMartin and Douglas Brennan of the intermediates, Eddie Wright and Frank Convery of the intermediate executive, Ed. Dugan, intermediate trainer, Dr. E. H. Wood, R. M. Glover, J. P. Bond, Ald. Phelan, Ald. Crowe, Ald. Meyers, L. Lebarr Jr., Jack Thornton, Pete Mulholland, F. Holland, F. Holland, N. Collins, H. McDougall, Harry Cheu, Jack Lebarr, L. Collins of the Juniors, L. W. Lebarr junior president, Walter Jackson junior manager and Harry Dugan, junior trainer.

Some fifteen members of the Symphony orchestra under the direction of Mr. Gliddon very kindly furnished the musical portion of the programme and their numbers were thoroughly appreciated by the gathering. The piano solos of Ken Blood were also greatly enjoyed.

After the toast to the King had been heartily honoured, Mayor Turner in a neat speech expressed the gratitude of the citizens generally for the splendid showing of the hockey teams during the past winter. His Worship emphasized the fact that their conduct both on and off the ice had been that of sportsmen and gentlemen and the council as representing the citizens of Peterboro felt that the members of the two teams had brought great credit to their home city and he thanked them heartily for what they hod done for Peterboro.

The Intermediates

Ald. Nagle Phelan in proposing the health of the intermediate team referred to the fact that out of 87 intermediate teams in the province, only Niagara Falls and Peterboro were left to play the finals and referred to the circumstances under which the Peterboro team were deprived of a chance to play the final game on their own ice—a condition that alone kept them out of the championship. He congratulated the players heartily upon their showing and expressed the conviction that next season they would go the whole distance.

Mr. Eddie Wright in reply thanked the City Council for their splendid banquet and the Symphony Orchestra for their kindness in supplying the musical programme. He also expressed his appreciation of the co-operation accorded the executive by the players.

Dr. E. H. Wood, the club's physician related some interesting reminiscences of the season, telling of incidents that showed the fine spirit of the players and he stressed the fact that there had been harmony and good spirit shown through out. Dr. Wood made an earnest plea for the co-operation of the Manufacturers and other employers in keeping in Peterboro good athletes who might be compelled by lack of employment to seek positions else where pointing out that such men were assets to the community and would prove assets to their employers if given a chance.

The Junior Team

Ald. Joseph Crowe welcomed the members of the junior team and referred to the much greater interest in sport at the present time than in days gone by giving some amusing history of early days in sport. He wished the juniors to feel that their work had been appreciated, just as much as if they won the championship and proposed the health of the players, the toast being heartily honoured.

Walter Jackson, manager of the team expressed the thanks of the junior players to the City Council and to Mr. Lew Lebarr, who had financed the team and been a father to them during the season. He emphasized the willingness of the players throughout the winter and pointed out that they had always given their best.

Ald. J. W. Meyers proposed the health of the O.H. A. after first congratulating the two teams on their showing. He referred to the fact that practically all the members of the Canadian Olympic team who had won the world's championship were O.H.A. players and that there were several other teams in the O.H.A. who could have duplicated their feat: a circumstance that showed the status of the Ontario Hockey Association.

Mr. J. P. Bond, member of the O.H.A. executive gave some interesting figures as to the size of the O.H.A. showing that last season it controlled 4000 players and handled ove, 600 games. Mr. Bond paid a tribute to the Secretary W. A. Hewitt for his 21 years of service and emphasized the desire of the O.H.A. to he fair to all clubs. He brought a message from that body thanking the Peterboro executive for the co-operation accorded the O.H.A. during the season.

Mr. R. M. Glover, past president also stressed the fact that the O.H.A. constantly sought to be impartial and just in its rulings and after congratulating the players on their record during the season pointed out the pleasure there was in being able to participate in such sports He reminded the players that when they passed off the active list, they would realize how much the game meant to them.

His Worship proposed the health of the ladies after which Frank Collins on behalf of the intermediates presented Dr. Wood with a pair of silver candle sticks as a mark of their appreciation of his services as the club physician.

The National Anthem concluded a most enjoyable function.

HOME BANK CASE HEARD IN OTTAWA

The Transactions That Led to the Downfall of the Home Bank Will Not Be Confined to Toronto After Today.

OTTAWA, April 16. —(Canadian Press.)—Interest in the inquiry into the various transactions that led to the downfall of the Home Bank will not be confined to Toronto after to-day, when the Royal Commission, appointed by the Dominion Government to investigate these phases of the bank failure, set out in the petition submitted to the Federal authorities by the depositors' committee some time ago, will open its hearing in this city, under Hon. H A. McKeown, of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick. The inquiry will be held in the Royal Bank building.

Two eminent counsel have been retained by the Dominion government in Eugene LaFleur, K.C., of Montreal, and H J. Symington, K. C., of Winnipeg, W. T. J. Lee, of Toronto, is one of the counsel for the depositors, and associated with him will be R. J. McLaughlin and A. J. Browning, also of Toronto. Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance, is expected to return to Toronto this week from his visit to South America and it is understood he will be summoned to appear before the commission at his earliest convenience. The evidence to be taken in this city will be confined largely to the examination of Sir Thomas White and Sir Henry Drayton, former Ministers of Finance, and, too, it is expected that the Prime Minister will appear before the commission.

QUEBEC STUDENT WINS $35,000 JURY PRIZE

BRINTON CARPET LEAGUE

Last night at Solomon's Alleys in the Brinton Carpet League, the Carltons by virtue of winning three straight from the Dominions tied them for first place in the second half. The play-off for the championship of the second half took place right after and the Dominions won out by taking two straight. The Dominions meet the Ardebils, who were first half winners, for the championship of the league.

Taylor was high man of the evening with 582 and Thomas next with 576, while Leether followed him with 541. Taylor had the high single of 254.

Following are the scores:

Dominions—

DOMINIONS WIN OUT.

After being thoroughly whitewashed in the first three games by the Carltons the Dominions turned around and landed the Carltons a similar dose taking two straight and by so doing won the second half championship. The first game was closely contested only sixteen pins separating both teams. But the second one was a walk-away for the Dominions.

The Carltons could not stand the strain of winning three straight and were due to break, and they broke right at the critical moment for by dropping two it cost them the second half championship. Five games in a row was evidently too much.

Rose was high man of this rolling with 439 and had the high single of 260. Taylor who was the high roller in the games before was next with 422. He rolled 1004 for his five games giving him more than 200 a game. As captain of the Carltons he tried to bring victory to his team, but some of the other boys could not stand the five games in a row and slipped a little.

Following are the scores:

Dominions—
Rose	170	269	...	—439
Murray	171	174	...	—345

ACCUSED HAS HIS DEMANDS GRANTED

Charged With Vagrancy, James Huard Put Court Through Third Degree.

A conference with the Mayor of the City of Peterboro, trial by jury, permission to write letters from the jail, the use of a telephone, and one week's remand, were some of the demands made in the police court this morning by James Huard, who was charged with vagrancy.

The remand was granted, and Magistrate O. A. Langley promised to use his influence in obtaining the other concessions, as far as consistent with the rules of the county court.

"If I fail to see the mayor before next Wednesday, what will be the outcome?" demanded the prisoner.

Magistrate Langley: "Ask to see a lawyer. I know they have to let a lawyer in to interview you if you request it."

Magistrate Langley: "I'll personaly see that the mayor is telephoned to not later than to-morrow night."

James Huard: "The governor of the county jail has informed me that no one may be communicated with from the jail, and only one letter may be sent a week. Also I have no money at the jail to pay for any stamps, and I wish to communicate with some people before my trial."

Magistrate Langley: "I don't think that applies to a man under remand. You have a right to communicate with anyone to get ready for trial. I will talk with the jailer and see that you are given every chance. I will not have a man coming up for trial—before me at any rate—handicapped in any way."

Huard: "I can't see how they have a charge of vagrancy against me when I am registered at a hotel with all my bills paid I don't owe a penny in Canada."

The charge was laid over until Wednesday next, and in the meantime Chief Newhall will investigate the mans' record. Letters and papers were produced this morning showing that Huard was employed by the Farm and Dairy to solicit subscriptions.

CONSTABLE BROMLEY RESIGNS.

Police Constable Graham Bromley has been released from the local police force at his own request, and will take a position in Oshawa. Last night was Constable Bromley's last beat in Peterborough.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

HIGH LIGHTS AND DARK SHADOWS OF NIGHT LIFE ON GREAT WHITE WAY ABOUND IN "BRIGHT LIGHTS OF BROADWAY."

If you enjoy a thrill grab your hat and make a bee line for the Royal Theatre where "Bright Lights of Broadway," the B. F. Zeidman production, is now being shown. The engagement of this colorful drama began Monday and closes its engagement to-night, and, if we are to judge of what the public wants, it will in all probability prove to be a record breaker, for there is no form of advertising so potent as what the showman calls "word of mouth advertising," which means the verbal opinion of those who have seen a picture expressed to their friends and acquaintances who have not.

Emotion, thrills, tears, smiles, sighs and suspence—oh, what suspense! These are the ingredients of which the photo-love-drama is constructed. That Webster Campbell, to whom the direction is credited, is a past master in the skill of mixing and serving his ingredients is proven beyond a doubt. Lowell Sherman, Doris Kenyon and Harrison Ford play the leads, and they are most ably aided and abetted by Edmund Breese, Tyrone Power, Effie Shannon and Charles Murray. And after providing this bountiful feast of names, Mr. Campbell has added vivacity, beauty and zest by introducing in his cabaret scenes the entire Beauty Chorus from the famous New York Hippodrome and the sixteen Tiller Girls from the Ziegfeld "Follies," and this, in turn, is topped off by a most laughable interpolation by Charles Murray—he of Keystone Comedy fame.

"Bright Lights of Broadway" tells the story of Irene Marley, a young girl born and raised in a little country town in the upper part of New York State. At the opening of the story she is cherishing two dreams—one of a stage career and the other of luxury and a home. When the famous New York theatrical manager, Randall Sherrill, played by Mr. Sherman, chances to pass the little country church and hears her singing, he marvels at her beautiful voice; and when he sees the singer he knows that he has made a "find." He promptly offers Irene the chance for which she has always longed and she accepts. Thus, as time passes, one of her dreams comes true—and the other is forgotten. It would not be fair to those who have not seen the picture to divulge more of the plot here, so we shall content ourselves by repeating out admonition not to miss this sterling picture. Take our word for it, a treat awaits you.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE PLAYS DUMBELLE WIFE IN "DULCY" ROYAL TO-MORROW.

How many wives who wonder why their husbands turn to drink or other women, stop to think that they themselves may have driven them to it?

Constance Talmadge asks the question. It isn't often that a woman can be brought even momentarily to consider this question from the man's point of view. But Connie has just had an impressive lesson during the filming of some of the episodes of "Dulcy," her filmization of the Broadway stage success.

In "Duley" Constance Talmadge plays a wife who would drive many a husband to the lunatic asylum. And all because she insists on trying to help her husband with his business. "Many wives make the mistake of thinking that their good intentions entitle them to meddle in their husbands' business affairs," said Miss Talmadge. "They are entirely practical in the management of household matters, but cannot be brought to see that their husbands' affairs are so much more complicated. What on the surface appears to be a plain, matter-of-fact plan may in reality be a piece of subtle strategy. Yet so many wives will insist on meddling.

"'Dulcy,' whom I play in my new picture, is a wife who insists on mixing in, despite her husband's pleas, just when he is making a bluff for big stakes. She means well, but her mistakes nearly drive her husband and the others involved to the madhouse. Wives should respect the privacy of their husband's business affairs."

"Dulcy" was directed for Producer Joseph M. Schenck by Sidney Franklin and is a First National picture. It will be shown at the Royal Theatre commencing To-morrow.

The adaptation is by John Emerson and Anita Loos. Jack Mulhall is Miss Talmadge's leading man in "Dulcy," and the supporting cast includes also Claude Gillingwater, John Harron, May Wilson, Anne Cornwall, Frederick Esmelton, Andre de Beranger, Gilbert Douglas, and Milla Davenport.

AT THE CAPITOL

PICTURE PATRONS WANT VILLAIN TO HAVE NEW NAME

Resent Use of Known Names!

Are patrons of the Motion pictures resentful when their surnames are given to fictitious villains on the screen? This interesting point was raised during the making of "Fashion Row," Mae Murray's new Metro picture, that opns at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

The villain in "Fashion Row" is a Russian, who seeks revenge on Olga Parinova, a famous Broadway tragedienne, for a scar she gave him in long years previous when she was only a humble dancer in a Russian dive. His Russian identity simplified the matter of giving him a name that would not, on account of his villainous actions, offend any number among the American public, but in these times when motion pictures play to universal audiences, care had to be taken to choose a name not so common that it might be resented by Russian patrons.

"We have to be very careful in matters like this," said Robert Z. Leonard, director of "Fashion Row," "It is surprising at what little things some of the public will take offence.

Names Mean Little.

"There are probably as many villains in real life by the name of 'Smith' or 'Brown' or 'Johnson' as there are 'Smithkorsky' or 'Browndinning' or 'Johnsontog,' but if we were to call the villain in our picture 'Smith' or 'Brown' or 'Johnson' we'd receive a hundred protests.

"It is not an original discovery with us," said Mr. Leonard. "You remember the anecdote about Mark Twain's experience in a similar situation. Twain once declared that for his next book he would give his despicable villain such a name as the public never heard of. Twain did just that thing, gave his villain the most outlandish name he could conceive, only do you know what happened? He was sued for libel by an obscure character who suddenly and angrily sprang into the limelight."

Russian, But Still Common.

The villain of "Fashion Row" originally bore the name in the script by Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin of "Kaminovitch." This was decided too common a Russian name.

"What about 'Kaminovsitsky'?" suggested Earle Foxe, who is an important member of the cast.

"Worse! Awful!" groaned Bob Leonard. "This is a drama, not a comedy."

"Well, make it Kaminoff," interposed Elmo Lincoln, who plays the role in the picture, and certainly ought to know something about the villain. So Kaminoff it became and Kaminoff it remained, and for this production at any rate, the eternal problem was disposed of.

THREE PEOPLE IN BIG MUSICAL ACT AT CAPITOL THURS., FRI., SAT.

The Three Hutters, a big singing and musical novelty act, will be the vaudeville attraction at the Capitol Theatre the last three days of this week, starting to-morrow. This act, which presents popular song hits, comes direct from Montreal to Peterboro, and is considered one of the most select musical offerings yet booked into the Capitol Theatre.

POLICE HAVE CLUES TO QUEENSTOWN SHOOTING

DUBLIN, April 16.— (Canadian Press.) —Patrick Coonan, aged 25, of Tipperary, surrendered to the civic guards at Drogheda last night, declaring he was implicated in the shooting of the British soldiers at Queenstown on March 21st. Coonan was brought to Dublin, and it is stated the police have obtained important clues from him.

DIRECTORS OF DEFUNCT BANK SCENT DANGER

First Evidence Before the Home Bank Commission Today.

OTTAWA, April 16 (Canadian Press). — Documentary evidence showing that three Western directors of the Home Bank in 1916, Hon. T. A. Crerar, and Messrs. John Kennedy and John Persse, protested repeatedly against certain transactions of the bank, was presented at the opening sitting of the Royal Commission here this morning.

Correspondence which passed between the Western directors and the general manager and certain of the Eastern directors, was read by B. J. Roberts, secretary of the Finance Department, from Departmental files.

This showed that during the latter part of 1915 and 1916 the Western directors were much exercised over some of the bank's transactions. They even went so far as to state that they might have to communicate with the Minister of Finance in regard to the condition of the bank.

A large part of the correspondence developed over a loan to the Prudential Trust Company, Montreal, which Western directors evidently regarded with a great deal of suspicion.

Western men asked repeatedly for information regarding this loan.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM ANDREWS.

WILLIAM JAMES.

The death occurred yesterday of William James, 404 Park Street, in his 86th year. The deceased was confined to his bed for two days, and prior to that was apparently in good health. He was born in England and came to Canada when 12 years of age. For the past 27 years he has resided with his son.

There are left to mourn his loss seven sons and two daughters, his wife having predeceased him 27 years ago.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his son, 404 Park Street, and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery, where interment will take place. Adj. Smith of the Salvation Army will officiate.

Society

Dr. E. V. Frederick paid a flying visit to Peterboro this week. The doctor informed friends in the city that he has disposed of his Toronto practice and is making arrangements to sell his property in this city prior to removing to the Southern States.

Mrs. (Justice) Orde of Toronto, who has been the guest of the Misses Hall, Charlotte street returned home yesterday.

The friends of Miss Phyllis Cumberland, formerly resident in Peterboro, now living in New York city, will be pleased to hear that she recently had a film scenario accepted by an American moving picture concern.

Mr. James Doris of Detroit, is spending some time at his home in the city.

Madame Merriam has just returned from Ottawa, where she has been the guest of Miss Helen Doherty Secretary of the Women's Liberal Association, for the past week.

A cable message has been received by Mr. W. H. Pretty, Ashburnham, City, informing him of the death of his father, Mr. H. Cooper Pretty, Leicestershire, England, after a protracted illness, and for which there had been promising hopes of recovery.

Mrs. T. H. Bullied and children of Toronto, are visiting Mrs. Bullied's sisters, Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Flannery of this city.

EXCELL MISSION CIRCLE HAD ENJOYABLE EVENING

A very enjoyable evening was spent last night at the home of Mrs. Thomas Brown, Lock street, when the annual Easter meeting of the Excel Mission Circle of St. James' Methodist church was held at Mrs. Brown's residence. There was a splendid attendance during the evening and the young ladies in charge spared no pains in their efforts to make the affair a success. Guests were received by Mrs. Brown, the hostess, Mrs. J. D. Richardson, superintendent of the Circle, and Miss Nina Andrews, president of the society. Mrs. Faulkner and Mrs. E. Hotstone also assisted in the drawing room, and Mrs. Richardson poured tea at the pretty table, daintily arranged with pink carnations, pink ribbon streamers and green ferns. Assistants in the tea room were the Misses Edith Wright, May Ritchie, Margaret Bennett and Margaret Robinson.

During the evening, a programme was given, including an interesting address by Mrs. James Kendry, who spoke on the opportunity of girl members of the Circle in advancing the missionary programme of the church, and alluded to some of the home and foreign work being carried on, in the endeavors among the foreign population in Montreal, and the church's efforts in China.

A musical programme consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Elmer Frost and Miss Reynolds; a pianoforte selection by Miss Mary Wood, and a violin solo by Mrs. E. Hill. Mrs. E. Hotstone acted as accompanist.

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, April 16. — There is an undercurrent of optimism in the market. The approaching holiday has slowed down business, nevertheless bargain hunters are about in the market, and are taking stocks in the way down. There has been a slowing down of motor production during the last ten days. It will require spring days to get the sales back to normal.

Noyes and Jackson say: We do not see any change in the trend of the market in the long range but at the same time we would not let ourselves be open to any sharp run up against the short interest by selling stocks on weakness. When the market rallies, as it is bound to do for the very reason that too much short selling is being indulged in. Then will be the time to sell, sell again.

UNKNOWN MAN DIED IN THE TORONTO HOSPITAL

TORONTO, April 16 (Canadian Press). — A man who gave his name at St. Michael's Hospital as William Wallace, died last night from lockjaw.

On 8th April he was found unconscious, with his feet frozen, in York Township, by the County Police.

He was brought to the hospital, and the doctors believed he was demented at the time of his entering the hospital.

He gave his age as 40, and said his home was at 256 Arthur Street, Weston.

Inquiries made by the County Police showed that there is no such street address.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

It is contrary to common-sense reasoning for a religious leader, who claims that he believes in the authority of the Bible, to make the statement that man is immortal, that is, cannot die; that when he is dead, he is more alive than ever; when there are so many definite statements in the Bible to the contrary. Man was made from the dust of the earth, and God breathed into him the breath of life, and he became a living soul. He was not given a soul. Gen. 2:7. Every creature that breathes is a soul, Gen. 1:30 (margin) The reason why the lower animals are designated souls is that they are living, breathing creatures. In Num. 31:28, oxen, asses and sheep of the flock, are called souls, in common with the people. Paul exhorted Christians to seek immortality. It would be folly to seek for that we already possess. However, there is one statement in the Bible which says that man is immortal, that is cannot die. You will die it in Gen. 3:4. Read it carefully, and note who makes this one, and only, assertion, that man is immortal.—M. T. Butcher 1d

IN MEMORIAM.

HERKIMER. — In loving memory of my dear mother, Harriet Herkimer, who departed this life, April 17, 1923:

Quickly and suddenly came the call,
Her sudden death surprised us all,
But only those who loved can tell
The sorrow of not saying a last farewell.

In the still hour of the midnight,
When all was peace and quiet,
The angel of the Lord came down
And bore our loving mother to the Saviour.

I have stood beside the grave,
With heart both sad and sore,
But in the gloom a still voice came,
"Not dead, but gone before."

Sleep on, dear mother, and take thy rest,
And wait for us coming by and bye,
Then we shall see your loving face,
Where parting shall be no more,
And we will never say "Good-bye."
—Inserted by daughter, Christina Williams, Peterboro.

McGARRY TELLS OF HAVING PLACED PROVINCIAL FUNDS IN HOME BANK TO IMPROVE ITS FEDERAL REPORT

No One Was Entitled to Commission and None Was Arranged For, Declared the Former Provincial Treasurer to Public Accounts Committee—M. J. Haney, President of the Bank, Denied Statement That He Had Taken $25,000 in Legals to the Parliament Buildings.

MATTHEWS ELUDED DETECTIVES

TORONTO, April 17 (Canadian Press). — There were more sensations before the Public Accounts Committee of the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Inspector of Provincial Police Alfred Cuddy, under oath, stated that the police were unable to locate C. A. Matthews, former Assistant Provincial Treasurer, who was suspended following evidence that he had split a commission with two others.

Mr. Matthews was shadowed by the police, under instructions from the Provincial Treasurer, but evaded his watch by going in the front door of a downtown office and out the back n 28th March. Warrants for his arrest were all ready to be sworn out when he was located.

Hon. W. H. Price, the Treasurer, gave the opinion that if he was in the United States he could be brought back.

G. T. Clarkson, liquidator of the defunct Home Bank, gave a statement to the bank that he had been told by an officer of the bank last week that J. S. Mason had told him that $25,000 in legals had been paid to M. J. Haney, president of the Bank, in December 1919, and he was taking it to the Parliament Buildings.

Mr. Clarkson, following this, saw Mr. Haney, who is sick at his home, and Mr. Haney denied that he ever got the money or ever went to the Parliament Buildings with it.

J. O. Whittaker, the supervisor of the Home Bank, who made this statement to Mr. Clarkson, was called, and repeated it under oath as having been told to him by Mr. Mason. Under examination he admitted that he thought now that Mr. Mason told him such a story as a blind. He said he would rather believe Mr. Haney than Mr. Mason.

McGarry Examined.

Hon. Thomas McGarry, former Provincial Treasurer in the Hearst Government, said he knew nothing of any commission on a loan of four millions floated by him with the Home Bank just a few weeks before his Government resigned to make way for the U. F. O. regime.

Mr McGarry under examination by W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader said representations were made to him when he was treasurer that the Home Bank was not getting its share of deposits from the government and in 1914 he increased them by a couple of hundred thousand.

"What reason had you to favor the Home Bank?"

"None except that the directors were co-religionists of mine."

"There was no other reason?"

"None at all. The bank was perfectly solvent at that time." Mr. McGarry said he would make no excuses for putting money in the Home Bank as none were needed. In 1919 he had put money in the Home Bank near the end of the fiscal year of the bank.

Better Bank Showing

"Was it to make a better showing of the bank in its report to the Dominion government?"

"Yes."

"You shifted provincial funds to bolster up the funds of the Home Bank for their fiscal year?"

"Yes."

Mr. McGarry said he did not do the depositing for the province personally. He denied that any special inducements were offered in the loan made through the Home Bank in late 1919. He said no one but himself and the late Col. Mason of the Home Bank knew anything about the loan although certain officials knew he was negotiating. The province he said had to have a promise of money because other big loans for other governments were being arranged about the same time. The money on the loan was not paid while Mr. McGarry was treasurer.

"Was there any arrangement for a commission?"

"None whatever."

"Was anybody entitled to any commission?"

"No."

"You and Mason were the only ones who knew anything about it."

"Please make no imputations."

"There was $25,000 in legals drawn at that time. Did you hear or see anything of that?"

"No. The first I knew of it was the evidence here the other day before this committee."

Mr. McGarry said he would be glad to find out where the so-called commissions totalling $42,000 on this deal went. He said no rebate was ever intended when the loan was made. He said he would like to hear Mr. Matthews give evidence.

Denied by Harvey

Mr. Clarkson then called said that last Friday afternoon an official of the bank had told him that Mason told him in 1919 that $25,000 in legals had been paid to Mr. Haney the bank's president who was taking it to the Parliament buildings. "I saw Mr. Haney to-day and I may say he has been a very sick man for two months and unable to do business. He told me he had never got any such money from Mr. Mason and that he had never taken any to the Parliament buildings.

"Was there any doubt concerning Mr. Haney's statement?" he was asked.

"No it was an absolutely positive denial."

Is Bank Money

Mr. Clarkson said that as liquidator of the bank he figured that the $42,400 was bank money and he wanted to get it if possible. He also though the missing $15,000 cheque bank money if there had been no arrangements about commission. He also told the committee that in June 1919 Col. Mason drew $10,000 in hundred dollar bills. Nine of these bills were traced to Mr. Mason's personal accounts but 91 bills disappeared.

The deposit of the nine one hundred bills was in Mr. Mason's account in the Central Loan Company. Mr. Clarkson was asked by the committee to make an investigation of this account and report to the committee to-morrow.

Whittaker's Recollection

J. C. Whittaker former supervisor of the Home Bank was then called. In September 1919 he said when the four million dollar loan was going through Mr. Mason told him that $25,000 just drawn in money was being taken to the Parliament Buildings by Mr. Haney the president of the bank. Witness had not seen the money.

"Did Mr. Mason tell you how the money was going?"

"He said it was going to the buildings via Mr. Haney."

Witness said, Mr. Mason said nothing beyond that. "Where were you when he told you this?"

"In my own office."

"You didn't remember that when you gave evidence before?"

"No."

Prize Winner Is From Big Family

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 17.—(Canadian Press).—Arthur Cormier, winner of the $35,000 international Caligraphy prize, was born in Cocagne and is the fifth child of a family of 12 children, ten of whom are living. His father, Malcolm Cormier is a carpenter and is engaged in the C.N.R. shops at Moncton. The winner received his education at St. Joseph's College, Nemrascook, and it was while he was studying there that he took up handwriting as an art. He studied with A. C. Tamblin, of Kansas City, who was winner of the Paris Caligraphy Award in 1908.

Young Cormier is expected home in a day or two for the Easter vacation and preparations are already under way to give him a rousing reception. His brother Alyre, holds a responsible position with the Boston and Maine Railway in Boston and two sisters are school teachers. All the other children of the Cormier family live in Cocagne.

BRITISH SETTLERS IN FAMILY GROUPS

Canadian National Railways Will Assist In Purchasing Stock and Equipment For Newcomers.

OTTAWA, April 17. — British settlers are to be located on lands owned by the Canadian National Railways in groups of, twenty families, under an arrangement entered into by the railway and the overseas settlement committee of the Colonial Office under the British Empire Settlement Act, it was stated in the House of Commons on Wednesday afternoon, in answer to a question.

The Canadian National undertakes to have advanced an amount not to exceed 300 pounds to enable the settlers to purchase stock and equipment and the British Secretary of State guarantees payment of the full amount of any loss incurred through such advances, but the total guarantees will not exceed 50 per cent. of the total amount advanced to all settlers.

THROWN FROM CAR KILLED INSTANTLY

Jean Ferguson a Scotch Girl Met Death Last Night When She Was Thrown From a Fast Moving Automobile.

TORONTO, April 17. Canadian Press. — Thrown from an automobile on North Yonge street before midnight last night, according to a single eye witness of the tragedy, Jean Ferguson, 22, a Scotch girl, suffered a fractured skull, and died instantly.

The police officers are endeavoring to locate her companions, who are believed to share the responsibility for her death.

The eyewitness of the tragedy was Miss Doris Slade, east orough St. East, who was walking to her home when she saw the woman fall from the swiftly moving automobile, to the road.

Miss Slade could not catch the number of the automobile nor get a view of its occupants.

Miss Ferguson resided at Stop 9, Metropolitan Railway, and boarded at 201 Gerrard street East. At the latter address it was stated that she had left there at 5 o'clock, saying she was going to visit her parents. She came to Canada a year ago from Scotland.

FIRST SESSION SAW 190 HOURS WORKING TIME

Sir William Mulock Officiated at Prorogation of Sixteenth Legislature of Ontario — Public Accounts Committee Worked Until Late—Hon. F. C. Biggs Shadowed by Police.

ASSENT TO BILLS

TORONTO, April 17.—(Canadian Press.)—Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of Ontario, and administrator of the province, in the absence of Lieut. Governor Cockshutt, this afternoon officiated at the prorogation of the first session of the sixteenth parliament. The ceremony was delayed until four o'clock because of the work of giving royal assent to 165 of the 233 bills introduced during the session.

In addition some time was taken up by the tabling of the Public Accounts committee report.

The ceremony was marked by the pomp and brilliance which featured the opening on February 6th.

Gaily attired women, men prominent in church and state, together with judicial representatives of province, crowded the floor of the legislative chamber while the galleries were filled with guests.

The session extended through eleven weeks, this being the fiftieth day of the actual sitting of the House. Altogether the legislators worked 190 hours and 35 minutes.

The progrogation speech from the throne merely noted some of the developments of the session and was entirely formal in character.

Public Accounts Committee.

The Public Accounts committee of the Legislature practically finished its meeting for the session at noon to-day.

Its report will be a statement of the facts gathered by the committee during its several weeks of sitting and hearing evidence. Later there is to be added a special report of the Clarkson firm on the personal accounts of Mrs. Geo. R. Harris, wife of the principal in the Provincial Securities Company, which made huge profits on the sale of bonds to the late government.

A motion was passed to have the banks accounts of C. A. Matthews, the missing Assistant Provincial Treasurer, investigated by the Clarkson firm. Hon. W. H. Price told the committe that the case of Mr. Matthews was now in the hands of the Crown ,but did not object to the motion. Hon. F. C. Biggs produced some of his bank books, but said he wouldn't like to get them all. He also said he was being shadowed by Provincial Police.

WORD APPRECIATION

At the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association last Monday morning a full financial report of the World Missions' Conference was given. All expenses were met by the offerings and a substantial balance left for further work.

The committee of arrangement was most appreciative of the courtesy of the Examiner. The space allotted was generalous and ample. The reports were exceptionally well given by Miss Kathleen McCarthy who is an expert at this kind of work —C. W. Rose, chairman of Committee.

EXPENSIVE KISS.

GULFPORT, Miss., April 17. — Two hundred and forty-nine dollars and fifteen cents were the amount of damages fixed by a jury here against Mitchell Owen, Gulfport grocer, for kissing an 11-year-old girl against her will. The girl's father brought suit for $2,000.

Five new freight locomotives of the Santa Fe type, possessing ten drive wheels and designed for the heaviest freight service, will be built for the National Railways by Kingston Locomotive Works.

MUSICAL SERVICE ON GOOD FRIDAY

Great Work to Be Sung Tomorrow Night in George Street Church --Musical Event of the Season.

As was the case last year, Good Friday will be observed in George Street Church by the holding of a musical service in the evening. This promises to be one of the outstanding musical events of the year in Peterboro, and is being eagerly looked forward to by all music lovers.

The work to be sung this year is one of the great classics of Good Friday music, Dubois' "Seven Last Words." This is a musical setting of the seven words that the Saviour uttered while hanging on the Cross, and it is universally recognized as one of the greatest of modern musical compositions. The arrangement of solos, duets and choruses is most dramatic and impressive, and the work brings to mind vividly and in a reverent way the great event connected with the day. This is thought to be the first time that this work has been sung in the city.

The choir is being augmented to over 60 voices for this event. Some of the best-known of local singers are assisting in rendering the work. The solo parts will be in capable hands. Soprano parts will be sung by Dorothy Allan Park, whose ability is well-known to all in the city. For the baritone parts the choir has secured Mr. Arthur Brown of Toronto. Mr. Brown is most favorably known there as one of the finest baritones in that city, having sung important parts in many of the great works sung there. He has figured largely in similar events in Old St. Andrew's and St. James' Cathedral, as well as with other famous choirs. The tenor solos will be sung by Maurice H. Park, who needs no introduction to Peterboro music-lovers. George H. King will preside at the organ, and Miss Bessie Elcome, A.T.C.M., at the piano. Mr. J. H. Renwick will conduct.

The service will begin at eight o'clock, and prior to that hour there will be a short organ recital. Admission is fixed at fifty cents, only ticket-holders being admitted until 7.45, after which hour admission is open to all.

CHILDREN FROM OLD LAND MAKE GOOD CITIZENS

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, Says Inspection of Juveniles Becomes Stricter Each Year —Rumor of 50,000 Coming, Merely a Canard.

NOT CHEAP LABOR.

OTTAWA, April 17 (Canadian Press). — Protests against juvenile immigration were heard in the House of Commons yesterday. The question came up on a motion by Joseph Archambault of Chambly-Vercheres, for the production of papers in regard to a proposal to bring 50,000 children from British institutions.

J. S. Woodsworth (Labour, Centre Winnipeg) declared he was forced to the conclusion that hte real reason for juvenile immigration was the provision of cheap child labour.

"We were bringing children into Canada in the guise of philanthropy," he said, "and turning them into cheap labourers." He thought Canada ought to exercise as much care in its selection of immigrants as she did in the selection of import cattle or seed grain.

Bar Undesirables.

Hon. Charles Stewart gave the House a description of the procedure followed in selecting and placing children in Canada. Every effort was made to prevent mental deficients or other undesirables coming in. Children were placed in homes and properly supervised. There were a few thousand of them in Canada already. The experiment was still very much of an experiment, but it was working out satisfactorily on the whole. Where children under fourteen were brought out they were adopted outright, and there could be no suggestion that they were imported as labourers.

Strict Inspection.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Immigration, thought Canada should have more inspectors rather than a more rigid inspection. This country had not suffered from immigration from the Motherland. Each year the inspection was made stricter. The instructions issued to immigration officials were to protect Canada first. Criticism of the work of societies in bringing immigrants was apt to be unjust. Many splendid Canadian citizens had been brought out through the work of organisations. Last year the Department had four times as many applicants for child immigrants to be taken into homes than the Department could supply.

Miss Agnes MacPhail (Progressive South-east Grey) protested against lax immigration of children. If farm conditions in this country were improved there would be no desire to import cheap labour. Miss MacPhail was sorry for the children and for the people who had to put up with some of the children who came in. The Department should be exceedingly strict in allowing only the strong, intelligent children to enter the country.

Exploit Children.

E. J. Garland (Progressive, Bow River) criticised the Government for lending its ear to those who are endeavouring to secure labour by this means of immigration. The Government should not be a party to any form of the exploitation of child labour.

Hon. Charles Marcil (Liberal, Bonaventure) thought the Government would be wise to consult with Provincial and civic authorities before entering into any extensive child immigration scheme.

Mr. Archambault, on the assurance being given that there was no such correspondence at that referred to, withdrew his motion.

JAPANESE IN DEEP REGRET

Premier In Press Interview Regards United States Exclusive Immigration Law As Drastic Action — Friendship Is Impaired.

TOKIO, April 17 (Canadian Press). — Premier Koyiura, in a statement to newspaper correspondents yesterday, expressed deep regret "that the Congress of the United States has seen fit to deal with United States Japanese so drastically."

Premier Kiyoura, continuing, said: "It seems to us hardly to have been necessary in view of the fact that our whole history has shown us to be willing to be reasonable. We were willing to accept ony a nominal privilege. If we have not made this clear in a language which is foreign to us, we have at any rate shown it by that long record of friendship which may now be impaired but not broken.

"It is right that the United States should arrange her own immigration. If this is denied us, we shall regret it because we had hoped that a further act of consideration was to be added to several that your nation has previously shown us. You gave us moral and financial support in the greatest crisis in our history; you gave us impressive sympathy in our greatest disaster. These things we shall not forget."

NIGHTCAPS FOR MEN.

LONDON, April 17.—Former generations showed wisdom in their use of warming pans and nightcaps, according to Sir James Cantlie, 73-year-old physician. When nightcaps were worn, the doctor said, men kept their hair to a very old age.

DRAYTON ASKED TO PRODUCE HIS PRIVATE FYLES

The Former Minister of Finance Appearing Before Royal Commission Investigating the Home Bank Collapse--Directors Had Protested to Sir Thomas White.

MOVE TO TORONTO.

OTTAWA, April 17.—(By Canadian Press.)— Sir Henry Drayton, former Minister of Finance, was to appear to-day before the Royal Commission investigating the defunct Home Bank. He was requested to bring with him any correspondence he had in his possession in regard to the bank, which does not appear on the files of the Department of Finance. Following examination of Sir Henry Drayton, the commission will probably adjourn, to open hearings in Toronto next week. It is the intention to examine liquidator Clarkson, and it is felt that such an examination cannot be conducted unless ready access to the books of the bank can be secured.

Department Records.

Examination of M. J. Roberts, secretary of the Department of Finance, in regard to Home Bank correspondence on the files of the Department occupied practically the entire sitting of the commission yesterday. Mr. Roberts read letter after letter from a file which had been forwarded to Sir Thomas White by James Fisher, K.C. Acting on behalf of the three western directors of the bank at the time Mr. Fisher made his application for an investigation of its affairs. These letters showed that the western directors, Hon. T. A. Crerar, John Kennedy and John Peress became much disturbed in the latter part of 1915 and the early part of 1916 in regard to certain transactions of the bank. They forwarded numerous letters of protest to the general manager of the institution, General Mason protesting against certain advances, notably one of $695,000 to the New Orleans and Southern Railway Company. This advance they claimed had been made originally to the Prudential Trust Co. of Montreal, and when without their knowledge transferred to the name of the New Orleans Company.

Complaint Lodged.

The official file of communications on the Home Bank as read by Mr. Roberts, gave a continuous record of the correspondence which passed between the western directors and others up to the time that a formal complaint was lodged by Mr. Fisher with the Minister of Finance, Sir Thomas White. On receipt of this complaint, Sir Thomas, according to the correspondence asked the Acting General Manager of the Home Bank J. Cooper Mason, the son of General Mason, to furnish him with full information in regard to loans complained of.

These included advances to the New Orleans and Southern Railway Company, Pellatt & Pellatt and The Time is Drawing near for the Motor Show

REMEMBER—
April 23, 24, 25

Things you can do to help are:

Clean and decorate your car and get into the Big Parade on April 23, or opening night.

Arrange your household affairs so that every one can attend the Show on all three nights.

There will be something different every night to amuse you, and don't forget this—Every time you enter the Show you are helping the Health Association in caring for the under-privileged children.

M'GARRY TELLS

"What brought it to your memory?"?

How He Recalled it

"Inspector Greer asked me if the bank had a chauffeur and I said the bank had one and I remembered that he drove Mr. Haney on the day I think of.

"Where is the chauffeur now.",

"He is in California."

J. A. Currie asked if Mr. Mason was a reliable man when he made statements around the bank and the witness said he was not.

"Would you rather trust Mr. McGarry than Mr. Mason?" asked Mr. Currie. "Who would you believe first?"

There was much objection to the question but witness said he would rather believe Mr. McGarry. Witness remembered that Mr. Haney saw Mason that day. At this stage the witness was told to take the gum out of his mouth and answer questions more promptly. He declared he had seen from his window the car leave with Mr. Haney in it.

At the time he accepted Mr. Mason's statement that he car was then leaving for the Parliament buildings with Mr. Haney who had $25,000.

Witness told Mr. Price that there was nothing unusual about Mr. Haney being driven away in an auto from the office of the bank.

"It was what Mr. Mason said to you that brought it to your attention?"

"Yes."

Mr. Mason's remark might have been a blind?"

"I am inclined to believe now that it was."

"Would you believe Mr. Haney if he said he didn't go to the buildings and didn't have the money?"

"Yes."

"You came to the conclusion that Mr. Mason was yarning?"

"Yes."

Matthews Missing

Inspector Cuddy on request of Mr. Sinclair, then made his first statement concerning Mr. Matthews, and Mr. L. C. Mason, his son-in-law of Mr. Matthews. 'I am sorry I cannot find them,' he said. "We have done everything to serve them and searched everywhere we thought they might be.

"Can we expect them in a day or two?"

"I don't think you can expect Matthews in a day or two," was the reply.

Harris Recalled

George R. Harris of Hamilton, who was the main man in the Provincial Securities which made big profits selling bonds to the Ontario government, was then recalled. Out of the $31,000 profit made on one deal he had sworn previously that certain accounts were paid and Mr. Price showed him from the books that these accounts were not paid out of this profit. Mr. Harris said he had so many accounts and deals that he could not remember them.

"But of the profits of the Provincial Securities you bought bonds that cannot now be traced. Who did you give them to?" asked Mr. Price.

"I kept some myself and gave some to my wife."

"Was that the whole account?"

"I think so."

"Were they bearer bonds?"

"Yes."

"What amount did you take and what amount did you give your wife?"

Gave None to Friends

Witness didn't remember stating that he handled so many bonds in his business that he could remember no such details. Mr. Price asked him concerning several bond purchases but witness could not remember what he did with any of them.

"Did you give bonds to some of your friends?"

"No."

"Did Mr. Peter Smith get any?"

"No."

"Did your friend Mr. Biggs."

"No."

"What we want to know is the final disposition of these bonds you bought with your profits?"

"Witness said he could not tell without consulting his wife's accounts as he was handling thousands of securities.

Did you tell Mr. Bigg of your big profits."

"No." He was aware that Mrs. Biggs had been a shareholder in his brokerage company which had gone smash. Mrs. Biggs had $10,000 stock in it. Witness said it would be a complete loss and that he had lost $20,000 himself in the same company.

Mr. Harris said he had secured no introduction to the government to sell his bonds and had got into the deal because it was common knowledge that the government was buying in bonds and inscribed stock. Witness could not tell why he had started a separate account for business done with the province and why this account was not audited by the auditors who audited the books of the company on its other transactions. He persisted that he could tell no reason and the chairman warned him that he was rapidly putting himself in a position where he would be reported to the legislature.

Trying to Deceive

The witness still failing to answer the question the chairman stated that he was satisfied that he was deliberately trying to fool the committee. "I think he should be left with Mr. Cuddy or one of the officers of the crown,' said Chairman Finlayson. An officer was despatched to stay with Mr. Harris in the lobby and Mr. Denman a present partner of Mr. Harris' was called. He knew nothing of deals with the government he said. He stated that Mr. Harris was trying to clear off old debts still and that he could not remember certain deals because of the bad shape of books and documents.

Mr. Price suggested that Mr. Harris be left with the provincial officers until the night session of the committee.

It was decided to have a medical man look at Mr. Haney and see if he was capable of giving some evidence about the story that he took $25,000 to the Parliament buildings.

Further Enquiries

Col. Currie stated that in view of the fact that there were some who thought that the committee was trying to stop certain information from coming out that the committee should go on as long as there was anything to investigate.

"I think the treasurer should lay this matter before the cabinet," he said, "and arrange further sittings if necessary."

Mr. Price said he would bring the matter before the Prime Minister Mr. Sinclair thought the committee should not rise until Mr. Matthews and L. C. Mason had given evidence.

Shadowed Matthews

At the suggestion of Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney General, Inspector Cuddy then made a statement concerning Messrs. Matthews and Mason. "On March 27," he said, "we were instructed to have a shadow placed on these two men. We detailed two men for the job. They saw him home and watched his house that night. On March 28 they followed him down town. Between five and six Matthews got out of a car on Bay street and went into an office. The car remained on the street until 2 or 3 o'clock the next morning. The vigil was kept outside his house for the next two days. Matthews apparently went out the back door of the office and got away. We searched everywhere."

"What steps were taken if he were found?" was asked.

'Warrants were ready to be sworn but for him and the instructions were that if he tried to get away to hold him.

"The bird has flown?" asked Sam Clarke.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Can he be brought back from United States?" asked one of the committee.

"Yes I think so." said Mr. Price.

Following Wittaker's evidence, the committee empowered Chairman William Finlayson and G. T. Clarkson expert to visit Mr. Haney at his hotel, where he is laid up by sickness and obtain from him a sworn statement respecting the charge. When the committee re-assembled last night a signed declaration from Mr. Haney was produced which stated:

"Province of Ontario,
County of York, to wit

In matter of an inquiry before the Public Accounts committee of the Legislative Assembly of Ontario.

Michael John Haney, of the City of Toronto, in County of York, gentleman, do solemnly declare:

1. That I was president of the Home Bank of Canada during 1919 and I well know J. Cooper Mason Mason, who was general manager of said bank during that year.

2. That I never at any time, in September 1919, or any other time, received $25,000 or any other amount from said J. Cooper Mason or anyone in connection with said Home Bank of Canada, for any person or party at Parliament Buildings or to be sent there.

3. That I never at any time paid any sum whatsoever to Hon. Thomas McGarry for commission or any other payment or contributions, either directly or indirectly or for any contribution to any party fund."

Liberal leader Sinclair declared that: "This is simply a declaration taken before Mr. Finlayson. Those who have other views have had no opportunity to examine Mr. Haney and can have no opportunity of examining him. It is valueless as evidence. Any person familiar with court practice will know that such a document could never be admitted in any tribunal."

It was pointed out to Mr. Sinclair that he had not registered any objection to the proposal to send Messrs .Finlayson and Clarkson to secure an affidavit.

A motion was then passed to attach the affidavit to the report of the committee to the House, Messrs. Sinclair, Laing (Liberal, Cochrane), and Clarke, (Liberal, West Northumberland), dissenting.

It was then, he said, that Mason had told him of $25,000 going to Parliament Buildings.

Did you know that four million dollar loan was going through that day? he was asked.

"No," said Whittaker.

To J. A. Currie, Whittaker said that Col. Mason "Told me as gossip, casualy in my own office," the story of the $25,000.

Replying further to questions by Mr. Currie, he said that Cooper Mason was not a reliable man when he told stories around the bank."

To another questioner, Whittaker said respecting Mason's statement, "I am inclined to believe now that it was a blind."

It transpired that Col. Mason got the money from the Home Bank, which was later deposited in his personal bank account at the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company.

Mr. Clarkson told of a $100,000 cheque drawn by Mason, the proceeds of which he had endeavoured to trace. He found that nine one hundred dollar bills went into Mason's personal account at the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, and that ninety one hundred dollar bills disappeared—sunk without trace.

Hon. T. W. McGarry had given his evidence and left Parliament Buildings before the sensational disclosures of Messrs. Clarkson and Whittaker.

Cross-examined by W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, Mr. McGarry admitted making deposits of Government moneys in the Home Bank to help the showing of that bank in its financial statements to Ottawa. He believed the bank to be quite sound. These deposits were made at the behest of Michael J. Haney, a co-religionist, and president of the Home Bank.

Mr. McGarry told of "meeting Col. Mason three or four times in my office."

He stated that he directed and negotiated all loans himself, and contended that the price of 94.48 which the Home Bank paid him for the $4,000,000 issue of Ontario Bonds was a "good price at that time."

WOMEN ARE ASKING

How They Can Regain Lost Strength and Energy.

"Is there anything that will give me back my natural color and the strength I once had?" That is the question many over-worked, thin-blooded girls and women are anxiously seeking. Worry, and in many cases work beyond their strength have sapped their vitality. Tired and run down all the time, getting through their day's work only by strength of will, it is surprising that they avoid serious illness. They eat little, and do not properly digest that, while weakness increases until merely going upstairs causes breathlessness and palpitation. All these sufferings arise from bloodlessness, which is probably woman's worst enemy. It is well known, too, that nervous disorders have their beginning in thin blood.

The most reliable blood enricher and nerve tonic is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Far better than anything else, they meet the need of pale, weak, nervous women who drag about never quite well and never strong enough for their day's work. These pills renew and enrich the blood, and the best evidence of their value is the praise given them by happy, healthy girls and women in every part of Canada.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams 'Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

COUPLE ARRESTED AT CAMPBELLFORD

Mr. and Mr. H. Wood Were Taken to Belleville Jail Last Evening, Charged With Housebreaking.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 17. — H. Wood and his wife Phoebe were taken to Belleville last evening by Provincial officers and spent the night in jail in that city on their way to Bracebridge, where they will be charged with housebreaking.

These arrests are the outcome of a case on which Chief Duncalfe has been quietly working for several weeks, and which has resulted in the recovery of several hundred dollars' worth of property alleged to have been stolen.

Some time last winter a summer cottage near Gravenhurst, belonging to a resident of Toronto, was broken into and goods of value, including silverware, bedding, clothing, and dishes were stolen. The usual circulars, notifying the police throughout the Province of the affair, were sent out, and Chief Duncalfe, after a patient search, located what he believed to be part of the stolen property. These goods had been purchased by parties in town from a woman who gave as her reason for disposing of them at a sacrifice, that she and her husband were separating and that she was about to return to the home of her parents.

The Chief reported his suspicions to the police in Muskoka.

On 4th April Chief Duncalfe received a telephone distance call from a Toronto resident, who informed him that he was led to believe that his summer cottage in Muskoka had been broken into and that Chief Duncalfe had located some of the stolen property. He asked the Chief to hold the property for identification until he, the Toronto man, could go to Muskoka and see what articles were missing.

Goods Identified.

Provincial Constable L. F. Hardwick, of Bracebridge, a short time ago notified the Chief that the property located here corresponded with the articles stolen from the ransacked cottage.

With Provincial Constable Aikens of Belleville, the Bracebridge officer arrived in Campbellford yesterday.

Search warrants for five residences in town were taken out and goods identified by the Bracebridge constable as property stolen from the cottage, were found in four of these places and were removed to the police station. The name of the owner had been carefully removed from each article. Citizens who had purchased the articles did so, the police are satisfied, in perfectly good faith, and without the slightest suspicion that they had been stolen.

Wood and his wife, who came here last fall, have been living in a small house on the outskirts of the town. Wood was seldom in town and it seems that the sale of the goods was made by his wife, who is about 30 years old.

The house in which the couple lived was filled with all kinds of clothing and other articles of value among which Constable Hardwick identified a quantity of womens' apparel. The lamp which the couple were using was also identified and removed.

The property taken from the residences of those who had purchased it consisted of counterpaines, clothing, blankets and dishes, the whole value of the recovered articles being estimated at about $500. It is believed that the goods still left in the Woods' house may yet turn out to have been stolen; at least they will be held for further investigation. The property recovered yesterday will be shipped to Bracebridge to-day.

Officer Hardwick stated yesterday that Woods and his wife are former residents of this district from which they disappeared about six months ago, although the husband made frequent trips back during the winter.

Mrs. Woods, it is alleged, acted as receiver, and disposed of the goods, quietly and quickly, as purchasers could be found.

In France, the Mayor of Toffe plans to engage a town physician whose duties it will be to keep the natives in good shape and who will be paid only as long as the community is healthy. He is to give lectures on hygiene and the prevention of disease and will be given permission to refuse medical assistance to any of his wards whose illness or injuries resulted from willful neglect or disobedience to his orders.

NO CANCER CURE FROM RADIO YET

Hopes Dampened When Dr. Schmidt Defines Limitations — Has Its Uses.

CHICAGO, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—Hopes that radio surgery, first tried out in Chicago on Tuesday will prove a cure for cancer, were dampened yesterday when Dr. Louis E. Schmidt, who demonstrated the new process, said radio surgery has its limitations. It will not cure cancer, but can be used practically wherever the knife can. Dr. Schmidt and Dr. Wochinski, his assistant operator, both expressed doubt that the new method would revolutionize surgery or that it would come into general practice, at least for a long time.

The chief advantage the radio needle has over the knife is that it prevents loss of blood, unless a large artery should be severed, in which case ligaments would have to be applied.

OBITUARY

MRS. ROSE ROWE.

Death came very suddenly yesterday morning to Mrs. Rose Rowe, in Lakefield. The deceased, who was thirty-six years of age, had been ailing for some months. She returned from Rochester a few days ago, and was in Peterboro on Tuesday. She was a native of Leeds, England.

Survivors are her husband, Edward Rowe, her mother, Mrs. La Rush, both in Lakefield, also three sons, two living in the village, Royden Harold and Elwood, and one in Rochester, Edward James.

The funeral will take place on Good Friday from the residence of the deceased woman's mother, Concession Street, Lakefield, to the Lakefield Cemetery, with services at two o'clock, conducted by the Rev. W. Cox, of St. John's Anglican Church.

INCOME TAX EXEMPTIONS.

The amendment to the Budget resolution announced by Hon. J. A. Robb providing for increasing the normal tax exemption for each dependent child under the age of 15 years from $300 to $500 in respect of income for the period of 1923 and subsequent periods, will be generally welcome, not only for the immediate relief it will bring to many famiies, but because of the hope that it gives that there may be gradual increase in exemptions as the country's financial status returns to normal.

Strict economy, a trimming of expenditure everywhere that it is possible to use the pruning knife, will make it possible to lift much of the present burden of taxation from the shoulders of the Canadian people.

It is true that no country can hope to engage in a world war on a large scale without having to pay for it afterward.

Canadians will have to continue to pay for the war, but as time passes and expenditures are reduced and the national debt decreased, there is reason to hope that the burden may be lessened.

The income tax payer with dependent children is the first to gain, and rightly so, but eventually the whole people can count upon relief.

WHAT IT MEANS TO PETERBOROUGH.

Mr. E. G. Patterson's declaration of his belief that inside of the next ten years the local General Electric Company's plant will be double its present size, is most encouraging, and will strengthen the conviction of the voters of Peterborough that a vote for the bylaw next Wednesday is a vote for a bigger Peterborough.

It has always been realized that the plant has done much for Peterborough, but the extent was never perhaps fully realized until the record was set out by Mr. Patterson on Tuesday night.

An industrial concern that in the last seven years has paid over eight million dollars in wages to Peterborough citizens, that has paid in taxes over two hundred thousand dollars in fifteen years, that has paid for water service in the same period $41,564 and for gas $11,000, has paid out over a million dollars for lumber, hardware and other supplies in this city and has given employment to many hundreds of people, is worth holding, especially as there is every indication that, as the local superintendent says, if the General Electric Company starts building in Peterborough there will be no end of building in the future.

The General Electric Company employs 175,000 people in its 47 factories.

To ensure a firm of that magnitude embarking upon a big programme of expansion here, the first step will be to vote for the bylaw next Wednesday.

THE YIELD OF AN ATTIC.

If only all attics yielded the treasure just discovered at Roubaix, France, where an unsuspected Rubens canvas was brought to light, what family would not go about the spring cleaning with great joy? says the tOtawa Journal. The accumulation in the top storey would be carefully combed—and just dealers would be deprived of what is said to be in cities a very profitable source of income.

From the spring cleaning of this French attic came a tiny picture, only ten inches by seven, representing a sleeping Venus and a faun. It is valued at more than $200,000 and is now in the hands of an antiquary at Roubaix. One of fifteen old canvases inherited by a local man from his great-uncle, Henri Robelin, auctioneer for the Drouet salesroom in the reign of Napoleon III., it was considered of little value.

So little, that the heir stowed them in a corner of the attic and forgot that portion of his legacy. In the cleaning they were resurrected and sold for a small price to the antiquary. An artist friend looking over the pictures, did some cleaning, and from the face of one emerged the signature of the great Flemish painter, "P. P. Rubens." An art authority of Brussels pronounced it authentic.

Thus is the world once more enriched by a Rubens, almost three hundred years after his death.

THE RESEARCH INSTITUTE.

In its fourth annual report, a copy of which has just reached the Examiner, the Citizens' Research Institute truly says that at a time when the people are vitally interested in economy and efficiency of administration in all fields, and when taxation and assessment, civil service reform, housing immigration and similar problems are pressing, the supplying of Canadian citizens with information on these subjects should promote national stability, well-being and prosperity to a degree which would be hard to estimate.

That the institute has made a valuable contribution along these lines is undoubtedly true.

It has been able to amass a vast quantity of most useful information in regard to civic govvernment, taxation and other problems.

Its bulletins during the past year, many of which have been commented upon by the Examiner, have been timely and instructive.

The tax conference department dealing with research in taxation and publicity based thereon has covered a wide field.

It is now announced that a department of research in civil service and purchasing will now be inaugurated to interest itself exclusively in civil service and in the re-organization of methods of purchasing control.

This should prove a most useful service.

One of the heaviest items in public expenditure, as the institute points out, is "personal service," i. e., the provision for salaries and wages of those engaged in public employment.

This item is perhaps the most difficult of all to control, as the units to be dealt with are human beings and not inanimate objects.

The difficulty of effecting control has resulted in tremendous inefficiency through unscientific methods of appointment, promotion, transference and dismissal.

These have led to overmanning, under or overpaying, and defective espirit de corps, insufficient initiative and ambition, and indifferent loyalty on the part of employees.

Parallel with the difficulty of securing adequate control of personnel is the difficulty of controlling contracts for various construction works and purchases of supplies and materials.

In both cases defective control always leads to patronage, the insidious enemy of all efficiency in Governments and a mighty force demoralizing, not only to those actually engaged in the processes of government, but to the people themselves who do not realize that in the last analysis they bear the burden of increased expenditure due to patronage and inefficiency.

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.

Even a casual reading of the headlines of the daily papers makes us pause to think. Is the standard of integrity among us becoming lower? We can't blame all we hear and read on the war or on the general unrest.

Particularly are we interested in the question: What will our boys do when they have positions of public trust?

How will they handle other people's money?

Unquestionably the general standard depends on that of the individual and is probably lower.

We always console ourselves with the trite remark, "But the world is growing better."

Undoubtedly it is in many ways, but does our system of training boys give us any considerable number of men who are willing to unselfishly devote themselves to the service of the State?

We know we are not getting them, and we want to know the reason.

In our opinion, one of the chief, if not the chief, causes of this is the lack of religious training in our public schools.

Have we not, in Ontario, deliberately deprived the growing boy of the opportunity of knowing his Bible?

The influence of religion at the adolescent age is incalculable, the imprint made then is almost ineradicable.

Sunday schools do not produce familiarity with the Bible, and the modern home certainly does not.

The only way is to have the Bible read and studied in our public schools.

In the Province of Quebec Protestant schools' Scripture is on the curriculum and daily instruction is given.

A Bible for school boys has been published in England, omitting undesirable portions of the Old Testament; something like this could be used in Ontario if our Christian brethren would devote to this cause a tithe of the zeal now displayed in furthering prohibition.—The Grove Chronicle.

AN ECONOMIC FANTASY.

Stephen Leacock had better look to his laurels. He has proved that a professor of political economy may be endowed with imagination, and that the exposition of what Carlyle termed "the dismal science" is not incompatible with the exercise of a highly developed sense of humor.

But he has a rival in the United States who seems to possess these qualities in a degree not surpassed by the popular professor of McGill University. Certainly, nothing that Leacock has written is more fantastic than a contribution which Professor Scott Nearing, an American economist of some repute, has made to our stock of knowledge concerning Canada's economic position.

It would appear that while we are flattering ourselves upon the ever increasing strength of the ties that bind us to the British Empire, "a dramatic struggle is being carried on between British and United States finance for the domination of Canada," with the odds decidedly in favor of the latter. Indeed, it is the opinion of Professor Scott Nearing that the issue of this "race for capitalist supremacy" is virtually a foregone conclusion. "The economic title to Canada's foreign investment field," he says, "has passed from British to United States bankers"; and he adds that, while the political title still remains in British hands, "history shows that economic possession ultimately carries with it political control." In other words, Canada is in process of being annexed through the medium of American money bags.

This fantastic conclusion is based on certain figures submitted by the professor to the Rand School of New York, which shows that while in 1914 British investments in Canada exceeded £500,000,000 and United States investments were less than £130,000,000, in 1920 the proportions were—Britain, £350,000,000; United States, £400,000,000, with unofficial estimates for 1923 showing a balance of 25 per cent. in favor of the United States.

Assuming that these figures are approximately correct, Professor Scott Nearing must be credited with wonderful powers of imagination to be able to read in them either the process or the result which he suggests. British investments in Canada declined during the war for reasons which even a professor of political economy with Socialist leanings might have been expected to appreciate. On the other hand, United States investments in Canada increased because, with Britain's financial resources, taxed to the utmost, Canada had to look elsewhere for the money necessary to meet her war obligations and maintain her industrial activity; and she offered a field for investment of which United States financiers were not slow to take advantage, with profit to themselves and benefit to the Dominion.

That, in spite of the war and the tremendous strain imposed upon her by taxation, Britain has recovered her position as an investor in Canada to the extent admitted by Professor Scott Nearing is a striking tribute alike to her powers of recuperation and Canada's attractiveness.

Professor Scott Nearing may be a very able economist, but his picture of a dramatic struggle for the domination of Canada, having as its inevitable issue political control of the Dominion by the United States, would seem to suggest that he is also a dreamer, or a humorist unconscious of his gift.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Two things to remember next week—the C.G.E. bylaw and the Motor Show. Both should be heartily supported.

So far there have been no casualties and few fireworks in the debate on the Budget—probably because there is no doubt of the result of the division.

Lindsay reports that the future of the O. F. O. movement in Victoria is in doubt. So far as politics is concerned, however, there can be no doubt after the recent disclosures.

Two duties lie before the people of Peterborough next week, to support the Motor Show and to vote for the Canadian General Electric bylaw.

Winnipeg receipts light. Dealers quoting country points extras 22, firsts 20, seconds 17 delivered.

United States Government report April late cold storage holdings of eggs amounted to 569,000 cases as compared with 455,000 cases on the same date last year. Frozen poultry storage holdings April 1st amounted to 76,035,000 pounds as compared with 34,920,000 pounds on the same date last year.

WINNIPEG LIVE STOCK.

WINNIPEG, April 16.—Receipts 1,084 cattle and calves. The market opened with fairly active trading in most classes with bidding holding steady.

Hog receipts—1,880. The market showing slightly weaker tone with thick smooths at $7.00 and selected bacons $7.70.

Sheep receipts— 15. No lambs. Trading on this market was inactive with a few sheep being disposed of for $9.00.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 16. — The wheat market was very active after opening unchanged to-day and prices advanced under the influence of some good buying, May wheat touching the dollar mark, for the high of the day. At the close all three futures were 3-4c. higher. Seaboard advices placed yesterday's sales between 500,000 and 750,000 bushels, including one full cargo for Greece.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Cattle, receipts 8,000; beef steers unevenly steady; better grades yearlings about steady; light weight steers and common and medium yearlings weak to unevenly lower; top matured steers 12.35; relatively few loads weighty steers here of value to sell at 11.00 and above; best yearlings 11.25; bulk fed steers and yearlings 8.50 and 10.50; light beef heifers very slow, weak to 15c. lower; other fat she stock slow, about steady; canners and cutters and bulls steady; bulk fat she stock 5.50 and 8.25; canners and cutters 2.85 and 3.90; bulk bologna bulls 4.75 and 5.15; stockers and feeders unchanged; vealers steady to weak; bulk to packers 8.00 and 9.00; few up to 9.50; outsiders upward to 11.00 and above.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Corn led a sharp advance in grain values today. Wet weather likely to delay corn receipts brought about a sudden reversal of outlook on the part of previous sellers, and with offerings scarce, the market began to soar. Corn closed firm, 1 3-8 to 1 5-8 and 1 3-4c. net, higher, May 78 1-4c. to 78 1-4 and 3-8c. The wheat finished was unsettled, 3-4c. to 1c. up, May 1.02 1-4 and 3-8 to $1.02 3-8 and July $1.04 1-2 to $1.04 1-4 and 3-8, with oats at 1-3 and 1/4c. to 7-8c. gain, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 16.— Prices were up 1-2 to 1 1-2 cents per bushel in each grain to-day. There was no change in the condition of the local flour market. A good steady business continues in millfeed but demand shows no improvement in rolled oats. Trade in baled hay is steady. An active trade was done in eggs. Demand for potatoes shows no improvement. The butter market was without feature. Business in cheese continues exceedingly quiet.

Why Gum-Dipped Cords Carry You Farther at Less Cost

How far a tire goes depends upon how much friction is generated inside the carcass, for friction causes wear in a tire just as it does in your motor.

In Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords a special Firestone process thoroughly insulates each cord in a solution of new, live rubber. Cords cannot rub together, so friction is guarded against and wear minimized.

You can reduce your tire expenditure this season by equipping with Gum-Dipped Cords. They will carry you farther at less cost and help make every mile safe and pleasant.

There is a dealer near you who likes to give value. He sells Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes—the tube that increases mileage because it is leak proof.

BLIZZARD OVER CANADIAN WEST

One of Worst Storms In Years Raged From Great Lakes to Saskatchewan—Winnipeg Cut Off From East.

WINNIPEG, Man., April [illegible] Western Ontario, Manitoba, many districts in Southwestern Saskatchewan were in the grip of the worst blizzards experienced in recent years Wednesday. One reported a fifteen inch fall of snow in 48 hours, while between Winnipeg and the head of the lakes snow was general Tuesday night and yesterday. Winnipeg experienced all kinds of weather during the night, heavy rain, thunder and lightning and sleet, which later turned to snow, which is still falling.

As a result of the storm Winnipeg was isolated from Eastern Canada and the south Wednesday morning, all telegraph wires going down under the weight of sleet and wet snow.

At noon weather reports received by railroad officials indicated the storm east of Winnipeg was abating with the temperature generally above the freezing point.

CLIMAX AT PORT ARTHUR.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 17.—Port Arthur and district were treated yesterday to practically all of the unpleasant offerings of the elements. A stiff north-easter set in about noon Tuesday accompanied by a heavy fall of snow. A little higher temperature at three o'clock Wednesday morning brought swirling rain, which changed to sleet at six o'clock and by nine o'clock hail was pattering on the streets of the city. At noon a driving rain caused pedestrians to remain under cover. During the noon hour vivid flashes of lightning, followed by crashes of thunder, completed the assortment of weather.

The ice field which cleared the harbor a week ago has returned, but is pretty well broken up.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 17.—Adolphe Mathot, single, 35, was burned to death shortly after the noon hour yesterday, when lightning struck and fired his home in McIntyre township, eight and a half miles from Port Arthur on the Oliver Road.

The house, which was a frame structure, was burned to the ground.

EVEREST FILMS.

LONDON, April 17.—Elaborate preparations have been made to take motion pictures of the third expedition to climb Mt. Everest, which is soon leaving this country. The film camera is to be concentrated in one box and carried by a mule. When lofty heights are reached a small camera, operated by lockwork, will be used.

BEES KILL HORSE.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 7.—A swarm of bees, drifting into an orchard where Lee Watters was harrowing, settled on Watters' team of horses. The bees stayed until they were driven off with a hose. One of the horses died; the other was severely hurt.

Miss McPhail on Vets' Committee

OTTAWA, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—The parliamentary committee on soldiers civil re-establishment this year will have Canada's only woman M.P. on its roster. A motion by the Prime Minister, adding Miss Agnes McPhail to the committee was adopted by the House.

Boy Followed Ball Crushed by Wheel

MONTREAL, April 17. — (Canadian Press).—Running after a rubber ball which he had been playing with and which had rolled into the street, Antonio Warren, four and a half years of age stepped in front of a street car on St. Catherines Street East yesterday afternoon, was knocked down, rolled beneath [illegible] killed.

WILL INCREASE TAX EXEMPTION ON EACH CHILD

Exemption From Income Tax Granted For Each Child May Be Raised to $500 — Resolution Asks For Lower Rate on Salaries.

WIFE'S OWN INCOME.

OTTAWA, April 17. — Canadian Press. — The House of Commons yesterday afternoon adopted a motion proposed by Joseph Archambault of Chambly-Vercheres favoring consideration by the government of amendment to the income tax act (1) to increase from $300 to $500 the exemption granted to each child; (2) to differentiate in the amount of taxation against invested capital and that placed against revenue derived from salaries or wages; (3) to grant to people married under the community regime an exemption equal to that which is granted to people married under the regime of separate maintenance.

Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance, has already provided by resolution for an increase in the exemption for each child.

As for the rest Mr. Robb informed the House that the government was willing to give the proposals consideration—which was all that the resolution asked.

Marriage Contract.

Regarding the last proposal, Mr. Archambault explained that in the Province of Quebec, two persons married under the regime of separation as to property, that is, having a marriage contract, would have a double exemption, $2000 each, or $4000 in all. If married under community of property, that is, without a marriage contract, they would have only one exemption of $2000. He proposed that in both cases the double exemption should be granted.

When Mr. Archambault was speaking upon the distinction between earned and unearned income, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen asked whether Mr. Archambault thought a a farmer who was living on his savings should be charged a higher rate of interest than the salaried man. Mr. Archambault suggested in reply that income from inherited investments should be taxed at the rate of 6 per cent.; income from savings at the rate of 4 per cent., and income from salary up to $10,000, at the rate of 2 per cent.

Mr. Archambault's resolution was seconded by J. E. Fontaine (Liberal, Hull) who joined the member for Chambly-Vercheres in congratulating the government upon increasing the exemption granted for children. Mr. Fontaine went on to emphasize the injustice of the different exemption between the two classes of married people and to urge the adoption of the amendment in that regard to the differentiation between earned and unearned income.

No Income Distinction.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen supported the increased exemption for children. He did not think the resolution placed the exemption on this account too high. He could not however support the proposal to differentiate between income from investments and income from wages. He could not see that distinction could be made in incomes honestly come by. The proposal would put a high salaried railway or bank executive on the same basis as the worker who had accumulated a nest-egg against old age. In countries where the proposed system had been tried it had operated against individuals so much so that some people with tiny incomes became liable to tax who would not be liable under the present Canadian system.

Separate Incomes.

As to the third provision, proposing distinctions between separate incomes of married people, he also could not see how this could be equitably worked out. It would involve monumental calculations and it would certainly impose hardships in some cases. The present system provided for cases where separate incomes were clearly derived by husband and wife, without desiring to set any hard and fast rule, because he came from a section of the country where there were few distinctions in the marriage relation, he thought one exemption for a family income, besides that for children, was the best way to deal with the matter.

E. C. St. Pere Liberal, Hochelaga) advocated the extension of the $500 exemption beyond the age of 18 up to 21 or 22. It was needed to enable the young men to go to university and the young woman to stay at home instead of going out to work.

He. E. Lavigueur (Liberal, Quebec County) who has over twenty children, proposed that the father of a family of twelve, should be totally exempted from income tax.

Hon. J. A. Robb said the government had no objection to the resolution which asked only consideration by the government of the proposal. The first clause, raising the exemption for children, was already provided for in a government resolution. As for the provision for distinction between husband and wife in tax assessment, the Minister agreed with Mr. Meighen that the best way to deal with the matter in general cases was to consider the family as a whole.

The resolution then carried.

WILL BE RAISED.

MONTREAL, April 18. — Montreal payers of income tax were informed to-day that the dependent child exemption will be raised from $300 to $500.

George C. Leroux, the assistant inspector of the income tax office here, stated that the amendment had not as yet been made, but local tax-payers will pay on the preseumption that the $500 basis will be part of the act. If however the amendment does not go through they will be called upon to make further payment later.

Those who have paid their tax on the old basis of $300 exemption will receive a refund in the event of the amendment being adopted.

Frost Co. This information Mr. Mason promised to obtain. Before it had been submitted, however, a telegram was sent by Sir Thomas to L. A. Lash, counsel for the Home Bank, saying that he could not allow the bank much time to improve its condition and that it might be necessary to ask for an investigation by the Canadian Bankers' Association.

Need Private Fyles.

At this point the official record closes. Mr. Roberts explained that there was a private fyle belonging to Sir Thomas on which there were further communications in regard to the Home Bank. He could not trust his memory to say just what these consisted of, and explained that he had sent this fyle to Sir Thomas following the failure of the bank. Sir Henry Drayton who succeeded Sir Thomas in the Finance portfolio, also had a private fyle on which there might be communications in regard to the Home Bank.

Eugene Lafleur, K.C., one of the counsel for the Government, expressed the opinion that both Sir Thomas and Sir Henry would be quite willing to appear before the commission. Sir Thomas, he understood, would be in Toronto to-day.

My Experience is that DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN Is just what you need

This Will Make Digestion Easy

WHAT the dyspeptic needs is not soda and charcoal and breath perfumes but a medicine that will help his bowels to move regularly, for dyspepsia and constipation are allied. If you will take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin systematically as the directions on the package call for you will soon digest your food properly and pass it out normally, and heartburn, belching, dizziness, nervousness and bloating will vanish. In time you can dispense with all medicines as Laxative Syrup Pepsin will have exercised the intestinal and stomach muscles so they act for themselves. Mr. E. N. Gagni, 338 St. Patrick St., Ottawa, Ont., Mrs. Uhriah Stewart of Crousetown, N. S., and hosts of others will verify this.

World Acclaims Success

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the prescription of a well-known physician of that name who practiced successfully for 47 years. It has been on the market 30 years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Thousands of families have it in their medicine chest ready when any member shows signs of dyspepsia, constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, biliousness, coated tongue, offensive breath, headaches and such ailments that indicate deranged stomach and bowels. Many serious diseases are prevented by this timely aid.

Formula Plainly Stated

Have no hesitancy giving Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to anyone young or old. It is a mild, gentle laxative free from narcotics. It will not cramp or gripe. The formula is on the package, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and simple aromatics. A bottle can be had at any drug store and averages less than a cent a dose. Economical for families and fully guaranteed. You will find it a great improvement in taste and action over castor oil, or "candy cathartics" made from coal-tar that cause skin diseases, calomel that loosens the teeth, salts in water or powder that concentrate the blood and dry the skin.

WHY DOCTORS ADVISE TONIC IN SPRING!

This is the season when your system is trying to adjust itself to warmer weather. Your liver becomes sluggish and your bowels clogged up with poisonous, sickening wastes. As a result, many suffer from such symptoms as sour stomach, coated tongue, bad taste, biliousness, irregular movements of the bowels, sick headaches, pains in the back and sides.

Make this test! Cleanse and tone your liver and bowels with Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup. Put your stomach in condition—soothe your tired and over-taxed nerves, brace up your system and send purer and healthier blood coursing through your veins.

Notice the quick difference in way you look, eat, sleep and feel—improvement in less than 14 hours. You, too, will be satisfied, as others have, or no cost.

Dr. Thacher's is sold and recommended by J. P. Bond, McDermid & Jury and the Warne Drug Company, Ltd., in Peterborough; The Tanner Drug Company, in Lakefield, and by leading druggists in every city and town.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B. C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have." —Mrs. J. McDONALD, 2947 26th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C.

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. G

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, April 16.—The April meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong. After the usual opening business items were discussed and it was decided to make a canvass for members in the immediate future, collecting of dues from those already united with the Institute and soliciting others to join the organization if such could be secured.

The list complete, plants will then be ordered to supply the membership who will be asked to state their preference when called upon by the canvassers. A limited amount will be allowed each one for plants, and more may be ordered to be paid for by the recipient.

It was also decided to have the flag, which the Institute is purchasing to replace the worn-out one for the flag-pole in front of the Town Hall, from Toronto on approval. If it fulfilled requirements it will be kept and paid for; otherwise, it will be returned to the firm.

A number of the members went to the station at the conclusion of the meeting to go through the "Better Live Stock" train and hear the lectures.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Thorndyke, the regular date being the second Wednesday in the month, though it has been found a better attendance is sometimes secured by having it on Saturday evening instead. Announcement will be made the previous week anent this matter.

Special Services.

Special services in the Methodist Church on Easter Sunday when the choir, under the leadership of Miss S. Hetherington and Miss Ethel Richardson, will include in their offering of song the following selections:—

At the morning service, when the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, Mission Circle and Mission Band, will attend in a body and occupy the centre front pews, Miss E. C. Hawken, missioner, on furlough, to be the speaker.

A Capable Pastor.

Rev. J. Harvey Strike, who, in his early manhood, was a popular teacher at Cairo School, North Monaghan, and was one of the leading speakers speakers when that school celebrated its golden jubilee about three years ago, is now having a most successful pastorate of the Ottawa South Methodist Church. His many friends in this vicinity will be interested to learn that at the anniversary services held recently, the congregation was asked for a thank-offering of $3,500, and gave nearly $4,000, showing that Mr. Strike is a capable pastor and has surrounding him a band of men and women willing to work and give to advance the interests of the Kingdom.

The Ottawa South Church was built just sixteen years ago in a sparsely-settled section of the city, not then served by the car-line, but the faith which led to its erection has been more than justified, and it is today in a most flourishing condition.

Social Gathering.

Miss S Dean was hostess for a pleasant social gathering at her cosy home on Friday evening, when the local clergymen and their wives were her guests. Those present included—Rev. Joseph and Mrs. Wilks, Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen, Rev. S. T. and Mrs. Tucker, Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan. Rev. M. G. B. and Mrs. Williams, who were also invited, were unable to attend.

Mrs. H. Rea, Mrs. A. Kennedy, and Mrs. John Allen, sen., assisted Miss Dean during the afternoon and evening.

The annual meeting of the Rink Company, which was to have been held on Monday evening, was postponed because of the small number present.

Personals.

Mr. M. Staples was a visitor to Warsaw over the week-end.

F. C. Paterson, of the Department of Agriculture, Port Hope, was in town on Saturday in connection with the visit of the "Better Live Stock" train.

The many friends of Miss Graham, Mrs. W. E. Russell's sister, will regret to learn that she is seriously ill, having been confined to her room for more than a week, and still with no prospect of being able to be up again.

Mrs. Dr. Wightman, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. and Miss May O'Brian for the past week, returned home on Monday. Miss O'Brian accompanied her for a short visit.

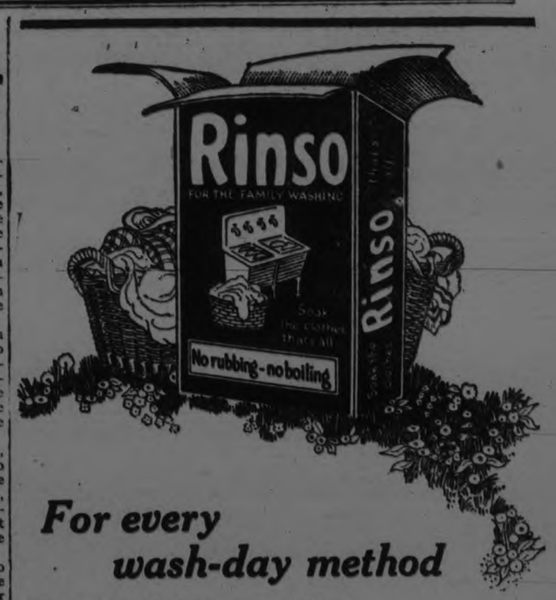
Mr. and Mrs. T. McWilliams motored out from Peterborough on Sunday and were guests of Mrs. W. O'Brian.

Misses Kathleen Sutton and Francis were in Peterboro on Friday evening, and were among the pupils of Mr. Gliddon who took part in the recital at the Conservatory of Music, under the auspices of Mr. Gliddon and Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park.

FEED FLOWERS ASPIRIN.

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—Cut flowers may be prevented from fading by giving them an aspirin tablet. Norman D. Keefer, pharmacist at the State Sanatorium at Mt. Alto, Pa., says that by this method he preserved flowers for several days beyond the time when they ordinarily would fade and has revived them when wilted.

Cultivation of sem-arid lands does not cause any apreciable difference in the rainfall of that region.



For every wash-day method

RINSO is ideal for any wash-day method you use. You do not have to change any of your usual steps—just use Rinso where you used to use ordinary soap.

If you like to boil your white cottons, Rinso will give you just the safe cleansing suds you need in the boiler. If you use a washing machine, follow the advice of the big washing machine manufacturers—use Rinso.

Just soaking with this new kind of soap loosens all the dirt until a single rinsing leaves the clothes clean and spotless.

However you do your wash, make it easy by using Rinso.

If you use a Washing Machine, soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual. In the morning add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Then rinse and dry—you will have a clean sweet snow-white wash.

Rinso is sold by all grocers and department stores

WEDDING BELLS

DRUMMOND—BALL.

The following account clipped from a Saskatoon paper records the wedding of H. W. Drummond, brother of Mrs. H. Emery, of Birdsalls, and well known in Peterboro and vicinity, and Miss Vida Pearl Ball:

"An interesting event took place in Orange circles in Saskatoon on March 3rd, when Miss Vida Pearl Ball, of Naomi L.O.B.A. No. 159, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Wilson Drummond, Master of United Empire L.O.L. No. 2604, Financial Secretary of Saskatoon County L.O.L. No. C 55, Deputy Commander of Saskatoon County Royal Scarlet Chapter and Registrar of King Solomon R.B.P. No. 777.

"The wedding was solemnized in the Third avenue Methodist church, at half-past seven o'clock in the evening, by Rev. R. D. Millikan. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harry Ball, and was attended by her cousin, Miss Florence Fowler. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Stanley T. Ball, brother of the bride.

"After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ball, which was artistically decorated with lillies and ferns, bells and streamers. Mrs. F. W. Fowler presided over the table and Mrs. J. A. Ball cut the ices. Mr. and Mrs. Drummond left under showers of confetti on the midnight train for Moose Jaw. The bridegrooms' gift to the bride was a beautiful necklace, to the bridesmaid a string of pearls, and to the best man a Dufold fountain pen. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a beautiful scarf pin.

Mr. Drummond attended the annual session of the R.W. Grand Black Chapter of Saskatchewan, while Mrs. Drummond attended the annual session of the R.W. Grand Lodge L.O.B.A. of Sask. Sir Knight and Mrs. Drummond received the congratulations of the R.W. Grand Black Chapter and Sir Kt. Drummond was elected Grand Auditor of the Grand Black Chapter of Sask. The Saskatoon brethern and sisters join in extending to R.W. Sir Kt. and Sister Drummond the best wishes for a happy and prosperous future."

BLIZZARD OVER CANADIAN WEST

One of Worst Storms In Years Raged From Great Lakes to Saskatchewan—Winnipeg Cut Off From East.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 17. — Western Ontario, Manitoba and many districts in Southwestern Saskatchewan were in the grip of one of the worst blizazrds experienced in recent years Wednesday. Brandon reported a fifteen inch fall of snow in 48 hours, while between Winnipeg and the head of the lakes heavy snow was general Tuesday night and yesterday. Winnipeg experienced all kinds of weather during the night, heavy rain, thunder and lightning and sleet, which later turned to snow, which is still falling.

As a result of the storm Winnipeg was isolated from Eastern Canada and the south Wednesday morning, all telegraph wires going down under the weight of sleet and wet snow.

At noon weather reports received by railroad officials indicated the storm east of Winnipeg was abating with the temperature generally above the freezing point.

CLIMAX AT PORT ARTHUR.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 17. —Port Arthur and district were treated yesterday to practically all of the unpleasant offerings of the elements. A stiff north-easter set in about noon Tuesday accompanied by a heavy fall of snow. A little higher temperature at three o'clock Wednesday morning brought swirling rain, which changed to sleet at six o'clock and by nine o'clock hail was pattering on the streets of the city. At noon a driving rain caused pedestrians to remain under cover. During the noon hour vivid flashes of lightning, followed by crashes of thunder, completed the assortment of weather.

The ice field which cleared the harbor a week ago has returned, but is pretty well broken up.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., April 17. —Adolphe Mathot, single, 35, was burned to death shortly after the noon hour yesterday, when lightning struck and fired his home in McIntyre township, eight and a half miles from Port Arthur on the Oliver Road.

The house, which was a frame structure, was burned to the ground.

EVEREST FILMS.

LONDON, April 17.—Elaborate preparations have been made to take motion pictures of the third expedition to climb Mt. Everest, which is soon leaving this country. The film camera is to be concentrated in one box and carried by a mule. When lofty heights are reached a small camera, operated by lockwork, will be used.

BEES KILL HORSE.

WILL INCREASE TAX EXEMPTION ON EACH CHILD

Exemption From Income Tax Granted For Each Child May Be Raised to $500 — Resolution Asks For Lower Rate on Salaries.

WIFE'S OWN INCOME.

OTTAWA, April 17. — Canadian Press. — The House of Commons yesterday afternoon adopted a motion proposed by Joseph Archambault of Chambly-Vercheres favoring consideration by the government of amendment to the income tax act (1) to increase from $300 to $500 the exemption granted to each child; (2) to differentiate in the amount of taxation against invested capital and that placed against revenue derived from salaries or wages; (3) to grant to people married under the community regime an exemption equal to that which is granted to people married under the regime of separate maintenance.

Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance, has already provided by resolution for an increase in the exemption for each child.

As for the rest Mr. Robb informed the House that the government was willing to give the proposals consideration—which was all that the resolution asked.

Marriage Contract.

Regarding the last proposal, Mr. Archambault explained that in the Province of Quebec, two persons married under the regime of separation as to property, that is, having a marriage contract, would have a double exemption, $2000 each, or $4000 in all. If married under community of property, that is, without a marriage contract, they would have only one exemption of $2000. He proposed that in both cases the double exemption should be granted.

When Mr. Archambault was speaking upon the distinction between earned and unearned income, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen asked whether Mr. Archambault thought a a farmer who was living on his savings should be charged a higher rate of interest than the salaried man. Mr. Archambault suggested in reply that income from inherited investments should be taxed at the rate of 6 per cent.; income from savings at the rate of 4 per cent.. and income from salary up to $10,000, at the rate of 2 per cent.

Mr. Archambault's resolution was seconded by J. E. Fontaine (Liberal, Hull) who joined the member for Chambly-Vercheres in congratulating the government upon increasing the exemption granted for children. Mr. Fontaine went on to emphasize the injustice of the different exemption between the two classes of married people and to urge the adoption of the amendment in that regard to the differentiation between earned and unearned income.

No Income Distinction.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen supported the increased exemption for children. He did not think the resolution placed the exemption on this account too high. He could not however support support the proposal to differentiate between income from investments and income from wages. He could not see that distinction could be made in incomes honestly come by. The proposal would put a high salaried railway or bank executive on the same basis as the worker who had accumulated a nest-egg against old age. In countries where the proposed system had been tried it had operated against individuals so much so that some people with tiny incomes became liable to tax who would not be liable under the present Canadian system.

Separate Incomes.

As to the third provision, proposing distinctions between separate incomes of married people, he also could not see how this could be equitably worked out. It would involve monumental calculations and it would certainly impose hardships in some cases. The present system provided for cases where separate incomes were clearly derived by husband and wife, without desiring to set any hard and fast rule, because he came from a section of the country where there were few distinctions in the marriage relation, he thought one exemption for a family income, besides that for children, was the best way to deal with the matter.

E. C. St. Pere Liberal, Hochelaga) advocated the extension of the $500 exemption beyond the age of 18 up to 21 or 22. It was needed to enable the young men to go to university and the young woman to stay at home instead of going out to work.

He. E. Lavigueur (Liberal, Quebec County) who has over twenty children, proposed that the father of a family of twelve, should be totally exempted from income tax.

Hon. J. A. Robb said the government had no objection to the resolution which asked only consideration by the government of the proposal. The first clause, raising the exemption for children, was already provided for in a government resolution. As for the provision for distinction between husband and wife in tax assessment, the Minister agreed with Mr. Meighen that the best way to deal with the matter in general cases was to consider the family as a whole.

The resolution then carried.

WILL BE RAISED.

MONTREAL, April 18. — Montreal payers of income tax were informed to-day that the dependent child exemption will be raised from $300 to $500.

George C. Leroux, the assistant inspector of the income tax office here, stated that the amendment had not as yet been made, but local tax-payers will pay on the preseumption that the $500 basis will be part of the act. If however the amendment does not go through they will be called upon to make further payment later.

Those who have paid their tax on the old basis of $300 exemption will receive a refund in the event of the amendment being adopted.

My Experience is that DR. CALDWELL'S LAXATIVE SYRUP PEPSIN Is just what you need

This Will Make Digestion Easy

WHAT the dyspeptic needs is not soda and charcoal and breath perfumes but a medicine that will help his bowels to move regularly, for dyspepsia and constipation are allied. If you will take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin systematically as the directions on the package call for you will soon digest your food properly and pass it out normally, and heartburn, belching, dizziness, nervousness and bloating will vanish. In time you can dispense with all medicines as Laxative Syrup Pepsin will have exercised the intestinal and stomach muscles so they act for themselves. Mr. E. N. Gagni, 338 St. Patrick St., Ottawa, Ont., Mrs. Uhriah Stewart of Crousetown, N. S., and hosts of others will verify this.

World Acclaims Success

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the prescription of a well-known physician of that name who practiced successfully for 47 years. It has been on the market 30 years and is today the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Thousands of families have it in their medicine chest ready when any member shows signs of dyspepsia, constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, biliousness, coated tongue, offensive breath, headaches and such ailments that indicate deranged stomach and bowels. Many serious diseases are prevented by this timely aid.

Formula Plainly Stated

Have no hesitancy giving Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to anyone young or old. It is a mild, gentle laxative free from narcotics. It will not cramp or gripe. The formula is on the package, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and simple aromatics. A bottle can be had at any drug store and averages less than a cent a dose. Economical for families and fully guaranteed. You will find it a great improvement in taste and action over castor oil, or "candy cathartics" made from coal-tar that cause skin diseases, calomel that loosens the teeth, salts in water or powder that concentrate the blood and dry the skin.

WHY DOCTORS ADVISE TONIC IN SPRING!

This is the season when your system is trying to adjust itself to warmer weather. Your liver becomes sluggish and your bowels clogged up with poisonous, sickening wastes. As a result, many suffer from such symptoms as sour stomach, coated tongue, bad taste, biliousness, irregular movements of the bowels, sick headaches, pains in the back and sides.

Make this test! Cleanse and tone your liver and bowels with Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup. Put your stomach in condition—soothe your tired and over-taxed nerves, brace up your system and send purer and healthier blood coursing through your veins.

Notice the quick difference in way you look, eat, sleep and feel—improvement in less than 14 hours. You, too, will be satisfied, as others have, or no cost.

Dr. Thacher's is sold and recommended by J. P. Bond, McDermid & Jury and the Warne Drug Company, Ltd., in Peterborough; The Tanner Drug Company, in Lakefield, and by leading druggists in every city and town.

YOUNG DAUGHTER MADE WELL

Mother Tells How Her Daughter Suffered and Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Vancouver, B. C.—"My daughter is a young girl who has been having severe pains and weak and dizzy feelings for some time and had lost her appetite. Through an older daughter who had heard of a woman who was taking it for the same trouble, we were told of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My daughter has been taking it for several months and is quite all right now. It has done all it was represented to do and we have told a number of friends about it. I am never without a bottle of it in the house, for I myself take it for that weak, tired, worn-out feeling which sometimes comes to us all. I find it is building me up and I strongly recommend it to women who are suffering as I and my daughter have." —Mrs. J. McDONALD, 2947 26th Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C.

From the age of twelve a girl needs all the care a thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

MILLBROOK, April 16.—The April meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. H. J. Armstrong. After the usual opening business items were discussed and it was decided to make a canvass for members in the immediate future, collecting of dues from those already united with the Institute and soliciting others to join the organization if such could be secured.

The list complete, plants will then be ordered to supply the membership who will be asked to state their preference when called upon by the canvassers. A limited amount will be allowed each one for plants, and more may be ordered to be paid for by the recipient.

It was also decided to have the flag, which the Institute is purchasing to replace the worn-out one for the flag-pole in front of the Town Hall, from Toronto on approval. If it fulfilled requirements it will be kept and paid for; otherwise, it will be returned to the firm.

A number of the members went to the station at the conclusion of the meeting to go through the "Better Live Stock" train and hear the lectures.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Thorndyke, the regular date being the second Wednesday in the month, though it has been found a better attendance is sometimes secured by having it on Saturday evening instead. Announcement will be made the previous week anent this matter.

Special Services.

Special services in the Methodist Church on Easter Sunday when the choir, under the leadership of Miss S. Hetherington and Miss Ethel Richardson, will include in their offering of song the following selections:—

At the morning service, when the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, Mission Circle and Mission Band, will attend in a body and occupy the centre front pews, Miss E. C. Hawken, missioner, on furlough, to be the speaker.

Response—"The Easter Alleluia."

Anthem—"The Day of Resurrection," Carrie B. Adams;

Anthem—"The Rays of Victory Dawn," Ira B. Wilson.

At 7.30 p.m. a special song service will be given with the following selections:—

Response (unaccompanied), "Risen Lord we bow before Thee."

Anthem—"Grave, Where is Thy Victory?" Marie Hine.

Solo by Mrs. G. W. Sayles.

Male Quartette—"The Eye of Faith" (John J. Thomas), Messrs. W. H. Coombe, F. N. Alcorn, G. McDowell, and V. Lambert.

Anthem—"Down in the Lillied Garden (Ira B. Wilson).

Mixed Quartette—"'Tis Midnight" (Mrs. Billingsley), Miss Richardson, Mrs. F. P. Johnston, Messrs. W. Coombe and G. A. Duncan.

A Capable Pastor.

Rev. J. Harvey Strike, who, in his early manhood, was a popular teacher at Cairo School, North Monaghan, and was one of the leading speakers speakers when that school celebrated its golden jubilee about three years ago, is now having a most successful pastorate of the Ottawa South Methodist Church. His many friends in this vicinity will be interested to learn that at the anniversary services held recently, the congregation was asked for a thank-offering of $3,500, and gave nearly $4,000, showing that Mr. Strike is a capable pastor and has surrounding him a band of men and women willing to work and give to advance the interests of the Kingdom.

The Ottawa South Church was built just sixteen years ago in a sparsely-settled section of the city, not then served by the car-line, but the faith which led to its erection has been more than justified, and it is today in a most flourishing condition.

Social Gathering.

Miss S Dean was hostess for a pleasant social gathering at her cosy home on Friday evening, when the local clergymen and their wives were her guests. Those present included—Rev. Joseph and Mrs. Wilks, Rev. Canon and Mrs. Allen, Rev. S. T. and Mrs. Tucker, Rev. G. S. and Mrs. Gervan. Rev. M. G. B. and Mrs. Williams, who were also invited, were unable to attend.

Mrs. H. Rea, Mrs. A. Kennedy, and Mrs. John Allen, sen., assisted Miss Dean during the afternoon and evening.

The annual meeting of the Rink Company, which was to have been held on Monday evening, was postponed because of the small number present.

Personals.

Mr. M. Staples was a visitor to Warsaw over the week-end.

F. C. Paterson, of the Department of Agriculture, Port Hope, was in town on Saturday in connection with the visit of the "Better Live Stock" train.

The many friends of Miss Graham, Mrs. W. E. Russell's sister, will regret to learn that she is seriously ill, having been confined to her room for more than a week, and still with no prospect of being able to be up again.

Mrs. Dr. Wightman, who has been the guest of Mrs. W. and Miss May O'Brian for the past week, returned home on Monday. Miss O'Brian accompanied her for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. T. McWilliams motored out from Peterborough on Sunday and were guests of Mrs. W. O'Brian.

Misses Kathleen Sutton and Francis were in Peterboro on Friday evening, and were among the pupils of Mr. Gliddon who took part in the recital at the Conservatory of Music, under the auspices of Mr. Gliddon and Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park.

FEED FLOWERS ASPIRIN.

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—Cut flowers may be prevented from fading by giving them an aspirin tablet. Norman D. Keefer, pharmacist at the State Sanatorium at Mt. Alto, Pa., says that by this method he preserved flowers for several days beyond the time when they ordinarily would fade and has revived them when wilted.

Cultivation of sem-arid lands does not cause any apreciable difference in the rainfall of that region.

For every wash-day method

RINSO is ideal for any wash-day method you use. You do not have to change any of your usual steps—just use Rinso where you used to use ordinary soap.

If you like to boil your white cottons, Rinso will give you just the safe cleansing suds you need in the boiler. If you use a washing machine, follow the advice of the big washing machine manufacturers—use Rinso.

Just soaking with this new kind of soap loosens all the dirt until a single rinsing leaves the clothes clean and spotless.

However you do your wash, make it easy by using Rinso.

If you use a Washing Machine, soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual. In the morning add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Then rinse and dry—you will have a clean sweet snow - white wash.

Rinso is sold by all grocers and department stores

WEDDING BELLS

DRUMMOND—BALL.

The following account clipped from a Saskatoon paper records the wedding of H. W. Drummond, brother of Mrs. H. Emery, of Birdsalls, and well known in Peterboro and vicinity, and Miss Vida Pearl Ball:

"An interesting event took place in Orange circles in Saskatoon on March 3rd, when Miss Vida Pearl Ball, of Naomi L.O.B.A. No. 159, was united in marriage to Mr. Harry Wilson Drummond, Master of United Empire L.O.L. No. 2804, Financial Secretary of Saskatoon County L.O.L. No. C 55, Deputy Commander of Saskatoon County Royal Scarlet Chapter and Registrar of King Solomon R.B.P. No. 777.

"The wedding was solemnized in the Third avenue Methodist church, at half-past seven o'clock in the evening, by Rev. R. D. Millikan. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Harry Ball, and was attended by her cousin, Miss Florence Fowler. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Stanley T. Ball, brother of the bride.

"After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ball, which was artistically decorated with lillies and ferns, bells and streamers. Mrs. F. W. Fowler presided over the table and Mrs. J. A. Ball cut the ices. Mr. and Mrs. Drummond left under showers of confetti on the midnight train for Moose Jaw. The bridegrooms' gift to the bride was a beautiful necklace, to the bridesmaid a string of pearls, and to the best man a Dufold fountain pen. The bride's gift to the bridegroom was a beautiful scarf pin.

Mr. Drummond attended the annual session of the R.W. Grand Black Chapter of Saskatchewan, while Mrs. Drummond attended the annual session of the R.W. Grand Lodge L.O.B.A. of Sask. Sir Knight and Mrs. Drummond received the congratulations of the R.W. Grand Black Chapter and Sir Kt. Drummond was elected Grand Auditor of the Grand Black Chapter of Sask. The Saskatoon brethern and sisters join in extending to R.W. Sir Kt. and Sister Drummond the best wishes for a happy and prosperous future."

Good Education Is a Wonderful Thing.

Education is a wonderful thing. Witness the following reply to an advertisement in a newspaper, received by a Canadian grocery firm in search of a specialty salesman: "Your advertisement in today's.... has come to my attention. In reply, I wish to state that I feel completely qualified to initiate the position you offer. Fortunately I am well educated, having graduated from the ..... University. It is of particular interest to you to know that my curriculum included a commercial course.

"My age is twenty-seven, and I have the concurrent ambition to become identified with a substantial business house, such as your advertisement reflects.

"It will be a pleasure to present myself, but, necessarily it must be at my convenience, as I am now employed. For your sake I regret these circumstances, but will be prompt to comply with any arrangement .You might phone me. In all sincerity, I am, etc."

We have all heard of the man who calls a spade a spade. J. J. DUFFUS ATTENDED ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

Resolution to Party Leaders Asked Economy In All Departments.

Mr. J. J. Duffus reported to the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday on his work in the National Economic Conference, which believes everyone in Canada should practice economy. As a result of the deliberations of this body the following resolution was presented to the Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King. Rt. Hon Arthur Meighen and Robert Forke:

Sir:

This deputation represents the Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of the Dominion.

Our presence here today is a reflection of the concern felt by the business community throughout Canada over the state of the National finances and of their desire for the introduction of such economies as will result in a reduction of the National debt and relief from the present heavy burden of taxation.

We do not come in an unfriendly spirit or with any desire to discuss the responsibility for the debt as it stands nor are we actuated by any political considerations. Our purpose is simply to convey to the Government a sense of the anxiety felt by the business community which sends us here, and to add the assurance that a strong body of public opinion will support any administration which pursues a policy of strict economy.

It is in this spirit that the following resolution was passed.

Whereas we have the greatest confidence in the financial stability of Canada and in its future development, nevertheless we feel that the present burden of taxation is hampering business, preventing the influx of capital and immigration and, therefore, retarding our national progress. It is recognized that consistent with a policy of rigid economy there must and should be expenditures on public works necessary for our national development, but there should be no expenditure which cannot be justified on the basis of national requirements and sound business principles.

Therefore, be it resolved that the National Economy Conference representing the commercial interests of Canada as expressed through Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce throughout the Dominion, urge all Governments to unite in an effective effort to curtail public expenditure both as to capital outlay and administration costs.

In the judgment of this Conference economies can and should be made in administration.

It is for the Governments to say how these can be best effected, but it is believed that much can be accomplished by departmetnal amalgamation and closer co-ordination, by the adjustment of staff and working conditions to present day requirements and by close study of every detail of administration including such matters as the publication of reports whose value may not justify the cost.

The Conferenc requests the Dominion Government to consider the advisability of calling together representatives of the nine Provincial Governments to determine whether substantial savings in the total cost of governing the country cannot be obtained by closer co-operation and the elimination of duplication and overlapping in taxation and other services.

In the opinion of the Conference the periodical publication of the figures of the public accounts including railway accounts should give the essential facts in brief and simple standardized form that the electors can readily understand.

This movement for economy is non-political. It is nation wide, and is directed towards a united effort on the part of all citizens. This Conference will recommend that every Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce shall actively carry on a campaign of education in their respective localities that a full appreciation of the importance of the matter may be brought home to the people at large as well as the governing bodies which represent them.

(Sgd.) Cecil Bethune, Chairman.
(Sgd.) A. E. Parker, Secretary.

'Y.' Girls Practice Hard For Coming Exhibition.

The gymnasium of the Young Women's Christian Association is a hive of activiity these days. Every afternoon and evening sees the juniors and seniors of the various classes hard at work practicing for the coming big Exhibition.

Yesterday, a dozen or more small boys were having a wonderful time going through the maneouvres that constitute one of the junior numbers. In bright hunter's green, with Robin Hood caps, red feathered, they stalk a half hundred tiny 'bunnies' in soft suits of grey and white, in a funny little pantomine effect.

A class of small girls, ranging in years from seven to ten, will do the Sailor's Hornpipe. This is the youngest class which Miss Littlefield has ever trained for the graceful, popular evolutions of the favorite dance.

Another clever exhibition by the same little girls is a dumb-bell exercise. In excellent time and formation, they go, through a series of quick movements in well-trained fashion. Swedish calisthenics, wand and reed drills and an elaborate interpretive dance programme are being practiced assiduously.

Kiss is Branded By Insurance Man As An Extra Hazardous Occupation

NEW YORK, April 16 (Canadian Press).—The kiss, already discovered to be spiced with danger, has now an added and less piquant menace. Its practitioners have been classed as engaged in an "extra hazardous" occupation. If you kiss and tell, you may have also to pay, when you apply for life insurance.

That is what Dr. Donald B. Armstrong said yesterday. Not just in those words, for Dr. Armstrong is assistant secretary of a large life insurance company, and he was addressing the regional conference of the American Red Cross, and the dignity of his diction is transcended only by the authority of his actuarial knowledge.

The conclusion Dr. Armstrong put before the Red Cross workers was derived by a group of physicians from a recent study of respiratory and other diseases at Saranac Lake.

It was reached by observation. None of the investigators was described as having undergone scientific martyrdom by undergoing tests, so that he might report his reactions, and if Dr. Armstrong's hearers expected, he would submit exhibits showing the proximate effects of kissing on respiration, they were disappointed.

The speaker dwelt on the doleful and skipped the delectable aspects of the art.

He did say that kissing in the afternoon or evening is less dangerous than kissing in the morning. But again he was speaking of what might be termed remote effects.

GRAB HIDDEN CASH.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 17. — Hereafter Aluis Rifauls, lunchroom operator, will keep his money in a bank. Two strangers entered his place and ordered a huge meal. He went into the kitchen to prepare it, leaving his hat on the counter. When he returned the hat and the customers were gone. In the sweatband of the hat Rifauls had secreted two $10 bills.

TEACUP GOSSIP MUCH IMPROVED

Perhaps Making of Good Tea Has Something to do with it.

"Gossiping isn't what it used to be" declare the optimists among the sterner sex and the pessimists among the weaker, but neutral authorities maintain there's quite a lot of it done yet. Not the harmful kind that tears reputations to shreds; glory be to radio, bobbed heads and women in parliament there's enough else to talk about without dragging in petty personalities or cattish criticisms in this advanced age. But as the poet said, women is still women, and many a pleasant hour is still spent over the tea cups, and the tea cups retain their positions as symbols of hospitality, which brings us to our subject, which is "Tea," green or black and with or without lemon.

It is hard in 1924 to believe that anything so refreshing and so universally accepted as the standard beverage was at first used as a medicine. Samuel Johnson in his day never thought of the beverage in that way, for he confesses himself "a hardened and shameless tea drinker, who for twenty years diluted his meals with only the infusion of the fascinating plant, who with tea amused the evening, solaced the midnight and welcomed the morning."

Okakura-Kakuzo says "Tea is a work of art and needs a master hand to bring out its noblest qualities." But tea is not always spoiled in the making, for buying tea is an expedition into the realm of the unknown to most people, and the tendency is to take what the grocer hands out. The selection of a tea to one's taste is a matter for the individual, and there are as many grades of tea and blends as there are spring hats, coming here from India, Ceylon, Formosa, China or Japan. Roughly, they are classified as green, black, or oolong. The same leaves may be used to produce any of these teas, but some leaves are better for one kind and some for another. Black tea means rich color and mellowness; green, pungency; and oolong, delicate flavor and aroma. Black teas are feremnted in the process of manufacture and contain less tannin than green. Green teas are unfermented, so that the leaves retain some of their green color and are not artificially colored, as is sometimes thought. Oolong teas are partly fermented and stand between green and black teas in color and flavor. China produces green, black, and oolong teas; Japan, only green; Formosa, oolong; and Ceylon, India, and Java produce mainly black.

Teapot Is Important

The selection of the teapot is very important, and many a vendor of tea has a good comeback when complaints are made because the teapot was not suitable. A tin teapot or a broken enamelled one in which the metal is exposed will give the infusion a peculiar metallic taste due to the action of the very minute amount of tannin acid on the metal. If the tea has been allowed to stand in the pot for several minutes where the temperature is almost at boiling heat the tannin will be extracted and will give a very bitter flavor that altogether overcomes the delicious.

In making tea, measure it carefully. The amount of tea to use depends upon the individual taste and the kind and quality of tea bought. Use fresh boiling water, as it has sparkle and life. To make tea the ideal way, use two earthen pots, both warmed by pouring hot water into them, steep the tea three to five minutes in one without boiling. Strain the infusion from the leaves into the other pot and keep hot, still being careful not to boil it.

The best iced tea is made by pouring hot freshly brewed tea over chipped ice. Lemon and sugar should be served with it.

Tea is the universal solacer of nerves, the workman's pick-me-up and the housewife's friend. The world's affairs are settled over the tea cup, as witness the prediction in the following poem from the pen of the English poet, Laureate, of 1702:

"You Statesmen, who in storms, the publick helm
Wou'd guide with skill, and save a sinking realm,
Tea, your Minerva, shall suggest such sense,
Such safe and sudden turns of thought dispense,
That you, like her Ulysses, may advise,
And start designs that shall the world surprise."

PETERBORO MAN IN DISTANCE RUNNING

Albert Smoke is Up for Olympic Trials Over 19 Miles-Races Tomorrow

TORONTO, April 17.—(Canadian Press.)— With a number of representatives of Canadians and Ontario Olympic Games committee in attendance to witness the Ontario marathon trials heer to-morro wafternoon, some thirty-five of the best long distance runners in the province will start sharp at 2.30 p.m. over a modified marathon course of 19 miles. Those making the best showing will be selected to apear in the Canadian marathon trials a t Montreal in June. The race will be over nine and and one-half mile course, twice around, and weather conditions will have but little effect on the course, as with the exception of one and a half miles it is over paved roads.

Ten out-of-town runners, including T. B. Ellis, Francis Hughes, Charles Morton and Adolphus Laplante of Hamilton, John Cuthbert, Guelph; Andrew Lewis, Woodstock; Albert Smoke, Peterborough; Ernest Edgell, Cobourg; James Begley, Lakeview Park, and James Moore, formerly of Toronto, but now residing in Detroit, will endeavor to make Toronto's 25 representatives take their dust—or mud— as the case may be.

FRENCH ATTITUDE DANGERS ENTENTE

LONDON, April 17. — United Press. — Something like consternation was caused in British ministerial and diplomatic circles on Wednesday, by the report of Premier Poincare's speech of Tuesday, reiterating France's determination to hold on to the Ruhr until the last cent of German reparations had been paid.

This is regarded by the British as a direct insult to the Dawes Committee, which based its whole scheme on the restoration of the Ruhr to Germany ,and made the special point that the scheme was one and indivisible.

The Comte de St. Aulaire, the French Ambassador to Great Britain, called on Prime Minister MacDonald on Wednesday afternoon. It is said that Mr. MacDonald then warned the French Ambassador that the maintenance of this attitude would be dangerous to the continuance of the entente.

Canadian Stock Exchange and Mines | New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

MINING LETTER.

The mining market was quiet this morning with prices a little off from yesterday. Hunton got down a cent from the opening, while Holly WD and TOB remained about the same as the opening prices. The Toronto and Montreal markets were quiet, with Steel of Canada being the most active. The stock was strong and gained a point. The paper stocks were also inclined to a larger volume of trading. Toronto Rails got up to 87, but there was no news on this stock to account for any rise in price.

The New York market was quiet and outside of Cast Iron Pipe trading was dull, this stock sold up to 76 3-4. This company reports a good previous years' statement and is in a position to pay $21.42 a share on the common stock.

SENT DOWN FOR TRIAL ON CHARGES OF MURDER

MONTREAL, April 17 (Canadian Press). — Guiseppe Rafiai and Cirenieri alias Neigro, the two men who are alleged to have been members of the gang of bandits who held up and robbed the Bank of Hochelaga collection car of $12,288, and mortally wounded Henri Cieroux, bank messenger, with whose murder they are charged, were to-day committed by Judge Perrault for trial.

Their case will come up at the May term of the Court of King's Bench.

KIWANIS HELD MEETING TODAY

Rev. Walter Cox of Lakefield Was the Speaker --Individual Effort.

The aims and objects of Kiwanis were set forth in the course of an inspiring address at to-day's Kiwanis Club luncheon. The speaker was Rev. Walter Cox of Lakefield who, until his removal from Toronto to Lakefield a few months ago, was an active member of Torontos' downdown Kiwanis Club. Kiwanian Cox is an effective speaker and his message to-day was an appeal for individual effort and a deeper appreciation of life's responsibilities and possibilities. Referring to the great tragedy of the ages which this season of the year commemorates, the speaker said that had Kiwanis existed years ago this event would not have happened in the way it did.

"We are the architects of our own circumstances, said Kiwanian Cox. Every man stands on his own feet and is responsible for his own destiny. To carry this out a man must first have a good opinion of himself. This does not imply false pride. No stream will rise against his own source. In the plan of the Great Architect we all have a place to fill and no one can fill it as well as we can. Life's responsibilities must be met. We cannot disown or shift them. That is one of the secrets of the success of Kiwanis. If we fail in those precepts as Kiwanians then Kiwanis cannot fill its place in the community. We are living in one of the best countries under the sun. Coming to this country are all sorts and conditions of men. They must pass through the melting pot in order to become good citizens in this land of opportunity. That is one of the duties of good Kiwanians. Through the medium of our organization we are brought together. We realize our dependence on each other. It is not so much how much we can do but how well can we do it. I once visited a stoneyard and asked a man what he was doing. He replied I am working for five dollars a day. Another man made a similar reply. A third man who was doing exactly the same kind of work as the other two said he was helping to build a cathedral. That, said the speaker, illustrates the viewpoint of different men. Given the proper viewpoint three parts of the difficulty now existing between capital and labour would pass away. Too many men are thinking of what they are going to get out of it, not what they are going to put into it," said Kiawnian Cox in conclusion.

A vote of thanks to Kiwanian Cox was moved by Kiwanian G. N. Gordon, who commended the speaker for his excellent address and expressed the hope that he would be a frequent visitor to the Peterboro Club. In seconding the vote of thanks to the speaker and entertainers, Kiwanian Isaac McNabb reminded the members of their obligations to the Peterboro Motor Show, which opens next week for a three days' run.

Kiwanian George Henderson, who occupied the chair at the invitation of President John R. Marshall, outlined the part Kiwanis will take in connection with the promoiton of the show. Committees have been formed and Kiwanis will co-operate with Rotary in providing many of the features.

The booster to-day was Kiwanian Carl Weber, who gave the Motor Show a good boost and the prize-winners were Kiwanians J. Johns, George Henderson and G. N. Gordon.

Mrs. Wagner, a visiting pianist, delighted the gathering with two piano selections, and also addressed the club on the subject of bringing a concert company to Peterboro under Kiwanis auspices. Rotarian R. A. Browne contributed two solos that were appreciated, and also spoke briefly on the subject of co-operation between the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs.

To-day's guests included Mrs. Rupert Gliddon, of the Conservatory of Music, and Kiwanian Bert Wallace of Barrie.

CAPITAL SENTENCE FOR BANK WRECKER

Minister of Justice Will Have Question of Increasing Penalty Drawn to His Attention.

LONDON, April 17.—(Canadian Press). Acknowledging receipt by the department of Justice of the letter sent by J. M. Donahue, London barrister, suggesting that the criminal code be amended to make men deliberately responsible for bank failurs liable to the death penalty the secretary to Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, states that the suggestion will be brought to the attention of the Minister at the first opportunity.

In his letter, Mr. Donahue advocated that Bank officials who deliberately break the law or even by carelessness or negligence are responsible for bank failures be amenable to capital charge. He suggested that there was little difference between men responsible for bank failure which result in suicides and deaths due to worry over financial losses and bandits who attempt to rob banks by force of arms. The penalty for bank wrecking now is five years.

JOPLINGS'

EASTER GREETINGS

TO their many friends and customers Joplings extend the heartiest of Easter greetings, and best wishes to all for a joyous Eastertide abounding with full and plenty.

Coupled with those greetings goes a cordial invitation to inspect Joplings' Easter offerings of holiday meats, all reflecting that all-round goodness which fittingly marks the spirit of Easter itself. A glance in the windows of Joplings' two stores to-morrow and Saturday will prove an arresting revelation of tempting viands.

And the interior of the stores will be found laden with Easter meats irresistible to an old-time Epicure — the choicest of beef, super-tasty veal, spring lamb rich in flavor, and the whole display dominated by that daintiest of all meat tidbits, the wee porker of tender age, fit to grace the Easter boards of kings and princes.

Remember in this connection that Joplings' quality is beyond criticism, and that their cash and delivery policy prevailing at the north store makes possible the best meats at lowest prices.

Two Stores: 340 and 461 George St.

RICE LAKE SLOUGHED OFF ICE LAST MONDAY

Had Drifted Around, Piling Up on Shores Until Strong West Wind Blew It Down the Trent, Clearing Lake Before Sunset.

BAILIEBORO, April 17. — On Monday the residents living along the lake front had the satisfaction of watching the ice float gradually but surely down the lake, and with the strong wind blowing from sun rise in the morning, the lake was practically cleared of its heavy winter cover by sunset the same evening. For several days previous to this, it had been drifting from side to side piling up huge mountains of broken ice on the main land.

On account of the ice staying on the lake so long this spring it has made the trapping very poor along the lake shores. Also owing to the extremely low water in the lake and marshes it has made it hard to get the rats. The water in Rice Lake is the lowest this spring that it has been in years. Those who have been trapping in the creeks, and on the Otonabee river report excellent success so far, but are discouraged by the way that the hides are falling in price.

Farmers on Land.

Some of the farmers who like to be among the early birds have commenced spring work. But it is not in general as yet. There is no growth yet, and the majority of farmers are waiting until the warm weather comes.

The sap season is done for this year. This has only been a fairly good season for syrup making.

WHAT THE PACKAGE DOES.

Tea growers have found from experience that it is necessary immediately to pack tea in air-tight metal-lined chests, to preserve the flavor and goodness of the tea. Equally so is an air-tight package necessary for the small lots of tea for individual consumption. Bulk tea is always inferior tea because it is exposed to air. The "SALADA" air tight aluminum package is the most efficient way of preserving tea known.

Mr. Chas. Sherwin and family have moved into their new home on Spring street.

USURY CHARGE FAILS.

VIENNA, April 17.—On the ground that Vienna banks commonly charge traders 2 per cent. a week, or 100 per cent. a year, for loans, a Vienna money lender who had charged a poor couple 140 per cent. was acquitted in Appellate Court on a charge of usury. The judges agreed that if he were to be convicted, few banks would evade prosecution.

BANK PRESIDENT DID NOT APPEAR

Health Would Not Permit Giving Evidence Before Committee.

TORONTO April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Before evidence was started at Public Accounts Committee this morning, Chairman Finlayson read a letter from Dr. Amsden that Mr. M. J. Haney, former president of the Home Bank was sick and that his appearance before the committee would do his health an injury. W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal Leader who moved to have Mr. Haney before the committee said his absence was to be regretted as he could no doubt add materially to the evidence now submitted. The committee decided to consider the matter and decide later in the day how Mr. Haney's evidence would be secured. W. S. Haney read a report from a sub-committee consisting of himself and Messrs. Biggs and Proulex on the accounts of D. K. Ridout. There was little new in it that had not developed in earlier evidence except detail of various cheques paid out.

Col. J. A. Currie moved that in opinion of committee any one of service who had been found to have obtained money be dismissed. Mr. Haney seconded.

A. M. Rankin asked if Government had not already taken action Hon. Mr. Price agreed with the principle of the motion and stated that Mr. Matthews, deputy treasurer was no longer in the public service.

A. E. Nash of the Clarkson firm gave evidence about the books of firms with which George Harris was connected. In giving names of stock holders in Morgan, Dean, Harris and Mulvaney Limited, which was formed in April, 1920, and operated till May 1921, witness named Mrs. Biggs.

"Who was Mrs. Bigs," asked Mr. Price.

"Wife of Hon. Mr. Biggs, I believe."

"How much stock did she hold?"

"Ten thousand."

This stock said witness was later transferred to George Harris, but he could find no documents stating the consideration. In discussing the affairs of the Provincial Securties he said the profit made by the company on provincial business was $31,821. Many papers were not available so a complete statement could not be made of all transactions.

Hon. Mr. Biggs took the stand and said the stock had been bought and transferred to Mr. Harris because as a minister of the crown he did not want his name to appear in the liquidation proceedings. Mr. Biggs denied that he knew anything about dealings of Mr. Harris with the province. His stock was held in his wife's name in the Harris Company was months before that firm started to do business in Ontario bonds. Mr. Biggs had an account with the firm in buying and selling stocks, for several months. Mr. Nash reported sheets of this account were missing from the books of the company. Mr. Biggs said he was sorry they were gone as they simply showed other sales of stocks and purchases by himself in an ordinary business way. He promised to bring his bank books and what papers he could to help the committee. Mr. Nash figured that the Provincial Securities in which Harris was interested made $125,000 in its dealings in bonds with the Government.

OMEMEE U.F.O. HELD A MEETING

A. A. Knight of the Ontario Department of Agriculture Gave an Address.

OMEMEE, April 16.—The Omemee organization of the U.F.O. were favored with a visit from Mr. A. A. Knight, of Lindsay, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, at their regular meeting last week. Mr. Knight delighted the audience with lantern views on the industries and outstanding places in Canada. Mr. Weir also gave a short address.

Easter Week Affairs.

The citizens of Omemee and vicinity are to be entertained Easter week. On Monday evening, under the auspices of the Anglican Young People, a varied programme will be given in Coronation Hall by Toronto talent—Miss Clara Butt, contralto, Mr. Duncan Cowan, with Mrs. Westlake as pianist—all of whom come highly recommended.

Scarlet Fever Rumor.

On Sunday a rumor was afloat that a number of children in the village were suffering from a mild form of scarlet fever. The medical health officer, Dr. G. N. Earle, made a thorough examination of the public school on Monday, but found no cases or any symptoms of the disease among the school children. Two mild cases are reported in the village. The patients are under school age.

MAY EXTEND THE EASTER VACATION

Progressives Will Visit the Maritimes in the Meantime.

OTTAWA, April 16 (Canadian Press). — If the House of Commons approves, the Easter adjournment will be extended for two or more days. Instead of reassembling next Tuesday, as originally intended, the House will meet a week from today.

Premier King gave notice last evening that he would move that the period of adjournment be extended.

He referred to the fact that Progressive members had been invited by the Governments of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia to visit the Maritimes, and that it would be difficult for them to get back to the Capital by Tuesday.

The Government would also welcome an extension, he said.

The debate was continued yesterday on the Budget, Hon. J. E. Sinclair, J. D. Chaplin (Lincoln), A. W. Neill (Comox, Alberta), Frank Cahill (Pontiac) and Hon. Charles Marcil participating.

The latter described the Budget as being inspired by a desire for the development of the basic industries of Canada, agriculture, forests, fisheries and mines.

Unless these four foundations of national prosperity were successful no manufacturing industry could attain success.

Mr. Cahill said that for the first time in his parliamentary experience a Budget had been presented which he would have pleasure in supporting.

Questioned by Mr. Meighen he said he would be glad to see a reduction in the tariff on boots and shoes.

Mr. Chaplin thought that if the Government was sincere and honest it would tackle boots and shoes which were under high tariff. He was not, however, in favour of reducing the tariff on boots.

There were cheers of "Oh, Oh" from the Progressive benches, and Mr. Chaplin turned to them and said he knew what to expect from the Party which had "ceased to be an attenuated annex and become an outgrowth." He said he noticed there was no suggestion of a cut in the tariff on some articles manufactured in the constituencies of some of the Cabinet ministers.

OTTER ADVANCED

NEW YORK, April 16.—(Canadian Press).—Otter did best at the New York Auction Company's fur sale yesterday, reaching $36.50, and advancing twenty per cent. over the winter auction. Broadtail also advanced twenty per cent., but all the other skins ranged from unchanged to thirty per cent. under the winter prices. Bidding for otter was very keen, and skins from all sections did well.

Wolf brought up to $17.25, the bulk of it selling for export. Canadian and north-western wolf declined twenty per cent. from the prices paid at the January sale, and south-western and southern wolf was 30 per cent. off. Best skunk brought $3.90. Michigan and eastern skins were unchanged. All other skunk was fifteen to twenty-five per cent. off. Wolverine reached fifteen dollars and timber wolf fifty dollars. Both declined.

Sales for the day were $650,000, making the grand total to date $3,425,000. The selling concludes today.

CANADIAN SHOE MAKERS HANDICAPPED BY EUROPE

OTTAWA, April 16.— (Canadian Press.)—A large delegation of shoe manufacturers and allied trades waited upon the government this morning with a request for the legislation to deal with the handicap which they claim is imposed on Canadian manufacturers by competition of imports brought in at values fixed in depreciated currencies of Europe.

The deputation was the representative of some fifteen cities and towns of Ontario and Quebec, including Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers, in Province of Quebec, and Toronto, Kitchenr, Whitby, London, Tilsonburg, Galt, Kingston and Waterloo in Ontario.

At 80 Years of Age Was Troubled With Shortness of Breath Palpitation of the Heart And Fainting Spells

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitestone, Ont., writes:—"I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and fainting spells. I was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since.

I am 80 years of age and always keep them in the house, and when I feel any symptoms of my old trouble coming on all I have to do is to take a few doses. With the help of your Pills I expect to see many years yet. I always recommend them to any one who is suffering from heart trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price, by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CHILDREN TRAPPED IN BURNING HOUSE

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 16.—Samuel Ehrik, aged 11, who died of burns in the hospital to-day, was the sixth victim of the fire which late last night destroyed the home of Frederick Ehrik, and snuffed out the the lives of five other children. The children, who were trapped and burned to death in the home, which was formerly a barn of the Greenlawn club on Fairfield avenue, were Ernest, aged 2, Ida, 13, Charles, 7, Raymond, 6 and Louis 9.

Ehrik, the father of the six children is in the hospital, seriously burned. The mother died a year ago. Ehrik, who was asleep in the bedroom with his son Samuel, fought his way through the flames to the street with the boy, but was unable to save other children, who were asleep in a bedroom in another part of the house.

WOMEN'S ART ASSOCIATION

The final meeting for this season of the Art and Literature Study Club a section of the Women's Art Association which has devoted its attention this winter to a study of the work of the world's famous painters, up to the nineteenth century, was held on Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. C. C. Cragg, Rubidge street, with an attendance of twenty-eight members. The school of English art was considered last evening, with papers on Sir Joshua Reynolds, Joseph Mallard Turner and William Hogarth, given by Mrs. C. D. Adair, Mrs. James MacKintosh, and Mrs. C. C. Cragg, respectively. The papers were interesting and instructive, and finished in apt style a series of educational evenings, much enjoyed by the members.

Mrs. Adair took as a subject Sir Joshua Reynolds, the first president of the Royal Academy. Reynolds was apprenticed in his youth to the great Hudson, a painter of London, and in two years mastered his art, becoming very thorough in his work He went abroad for three years, visiting the Orient and spending two years in Rome. He copied Old Masters at the Vatican galleries, where, through the dampness of the corridors, he contracted deafness which afflicted him through life. Returning to England, he achieved a great success in his portrait work, painting two generations of English court beauties, being knighted by the King, and piling up a fortune of half a million dollars. His technical work was as near perfection asi it is possible to come, and he achieved much popularity through a habit of very very diplomatic handling of his fair subjects. When a lady's bust and arms did not please him, he simply engrafted a picture of her lovely face above the torso of a shapely dancer or actress and thus pleased his patroness. He died unmarried, it being said that it required too much trouble to make love through the medium of an ear trumpet.

Mrs. James MacKintosh gave a paper dealing with the life and work of the great Turner considered one of the most notable landscapists of all time. Turner's art, which was influenced to a certain extent by that of the French artist, Claude Lorraine and by his several tours through France, Italy and Switzerland, is remarkable for his notable use of color, his atmospheric and perspective preeminence, and his marvellous skies. He was also a master as a draughtsman, an attribute of its work being its perfect architectural proportions, noticeable particularly in "The Grand Canal of Venice." His most successful picture was probably the well-known "Fighting Temeraire," and one of his central works was of a mythological subject: "Ulyssess Deriding Polyphemus." Turner also proved to be a good financier, and died worth three quarters of a million dollars.

A brief review of the career of Hogarth was given by Mrs. C. C. Cragg. Hogarth was the founder of the British art and of the National Gallery. Although a painter of note, his fame arose chiefly from his work as an engraver. He was thoroughly British and was the first to break away from the influence of the foreign schools. Apprenticed in his youth to the great engraver, Sir James Thornhill, he eventually ran away with his employer's daughter. His father was greatly enraged, but was mollified later by the success achieved by Hogarth in his "Marriage a la Mode," a series of painting and engravings which brought him at once into prominence. "The Rake's Progress" was another notable series, and "The Idle and the Industrious Apprentice," the twelve originals of the latter being in Dr. and Mrs. Cragg's possession, an inspection of which formed an interest ing portion of the address last evening. Hogarth maintained a studio in Leceister Fields all his life. He was essentially a moralist in his work, and also a satirist, portraying the artificial manners and customs of his time. On account of the copies of his work which took place dur ing his lifetime, he was compelled to petition an Act of Parliament which was passed, protecting his original ideas. In the originals in Dr. Cragg's possession, the note regarding this Act appears. One of the best-known of Hogarth's paintings is "The Shrimp Girl."

LOCAL MEN FINED.

On pleading guilty to being drunk, five young men were sentenced this morning to fines of $10 and costs. Another man pleading guilty to having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling was fined $200 and costs.

Charges of obstructing police officers, keeping for sale and trafficking had previously been laid, but were this morning withdrawn and the drunk charges substituted.

AN ARTISTIC JOB.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 17.—Theodore Tuttle waited in the prisoners' pen in district court, his face swathed in bandages. The deputy called Tuttle's case, crying in a loud voice, "plain drunk."

The judges looked at the prisoner. "Plain drunk, nothing," he said. "Highly decorated, I would say. One dollar and costs."

Local Price Changes Show Downward Trend

The Sugar Market Weak--Shipments of New Fruits to Peterboro — Business Picking Up.

According to Mr. J. E. Adams, wholesale grocer of this city, business conditions in general at the present time are encouraging. The volume is fair, there is a promising outlook for business in the summer months, and collections, although not up to the mark in some quarters, are fairly satisfactory Reductions and revisions in the sales tax have not yet begun to react on the wholesalers.

In general merchandise, sugar is recorded as being in a bad position, with a weak and uncertain market. On Monday a further drop of 20c on the hundred was registered, making the price of refined sugars in Montreal $9.50, with further reductions indicated. Raws also are in a weak market, with stocks continuing to pile up at producing points. Stocks at all Cuban points now total 1,080,366 tons, as compared with 944,192 tons at the same date last year. The production in Cuba continues to be of large size; the season's production so far exceeding a corresponding period last year by 122,213 tons. A confirmation of increased sowings of the beet crop of Europe is also reported, showing an increase of about 21 per cent. or nearly a million tons over last year's beet crop. The European crop harvesting starts in September or October, which allows sugars to be available for delivery during October and succeeding months.

Strong Markets.

A strong market in rice is another of the season's phases, owing to a shortage in Oriental markets, where this season's crop is less than that of last season by 11,740,510,000 lbs.

Teas also continue firm, with possibilities of higher prices, and the canned goods situation is causing the purveyors generally a deal of concern. Almost depleted stocks are facing the coming brisk season for canned goods, when tourists and steamers, summer hostelries, and summer homes will be piling up a demand for every variety of tinned food and dainty articles.

Canned vegetables, especially are at a low ebb. Owing to bad weather conditions last season the pack was much smaller than usual, and a scarcity of peas, corn and tomatoes in cans, with consequent high prices, faces dealers.

Coffees indicate a possibility of advance. As an indication of the interlocking nature of the world's markets a loan of ten million pounds from London, by the government of Brazil, will tend to increase coffee prices, as the Brazilian authorities intend to place a tax on every bag of coffee exported from Brazil to pay off the loan. A reason given also for higher prices on molasses is the fact that many factories that previously made fancy molasses are this year making sugar, or the producers are selling cane to the sugar factories.

Fruits.

In the wholesale fruit circles bananas have been coming in to the city in carloads, and of good quality. From the Central Americas come reports of a good crop, with the prices lower than for some years past. The first carload from Jamaica for some seasons arrived in the city recently from a district where a disastrous wind storm damaged the banana crop for several seasons.

Oranges are firm again, with slightly higher quotations. The rains that usually come to California in November or December were later than usual this year, with a consequent bad effect on picking. Recent frost, also, is said to have caused considerable damage, to such an extent that higher prices on peaches, apricots and pears are anticipated for the coming season.

Shipments of lemons from Italy are just as regular an occurrence in wholesale fruit shipments as the citrus yellow globes from California. Lower prices for labor and less expensive upkeep of the groves in the Old Country make the price just as low, or lower, than of the lemons from the United States. California lemons are graded by a better system and boxed more attractively. They suffer in comparison with the keeping qualities of the Italian lemon however, which has a tougher skin, and higher resistance to climatic conditions.

A carload of assorted apples from Grimsby came to the city recently. Kept in government cold storage since last Fall, they were in good condition on arrival. Imported green vegetables are in big demand.

In local greenhouses an early crop of tomatoes is maturing that is expected to be available for sale before the imported variety is on sale.

In the fruit stores, strawberries are coming in from Louisiana, and pineaples, which fell off for a while, are back again, from Cuba. Another green newcomer in the stores is the big, light green leaf lettuce from Hamilton, in an emerald shade a few degrees lighter than the ordinary lettuce.

New maple sugar from Southern Quebec is a recent arival, at 35c and 40c a pound.

Dairy Products.

In dairy circles prices are on the down grade. The butter market with new make, and fairly large stocks, shows low quotations. Eggs also are fairly cheap. Evidently the great Canadian hen at large is not producing as well as might be expected, or else the Canadian public is using more eggs. A report declares that in January and February Canada consumed 3,536,910 dozen more eggs than she produced, the difference being made up by eggs imported from the United States.

Indications of the great Easter season are in the florists' window where the big perfumed lilies reign supreme. In one store are French lilac trees in white and mauve, gorgeous crimson rhododendrons, feathery spirea in delicate pink and cream, and hydrangea in white, pure mauve and deep pink. A lack of perfume characterizes these forced blooms, but they are beautiful harbingers of the vernal season.

Rose Brand

In the flower world the rose is an emblem of purity and sweetness; and that is the reason the Canadian Packing Company have adopted the rose as their trade mark for many of their products.

Rose Brand hams, bacon and other tasty edibles for which this local company are widely famed, stand in the premier class for purity and all-round goodness.

At Easter, when the average household reflects that joyous season in a generously laden table, Rose Brand ham or bacon will be found to give an epicurean touch altogether satisfying.

THREE FINES ON O. T. A. CHARGES

Havelock Visited by Magistrate Langley Yesterday.

Magistrate O. A. Langley held court in the Town Hall in Havelock yesterday, when three men were charged under the O.T.A. by Inspector Joseph Stewart and Inland Revenue Officer William Buller.

Robert Seeney, pleading guilty to selling liquor, was fined $200 and costs. Arthur Zufelt pleaded not guilty to having a mash, but was convicted and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, failing payment of a fine of $200. He was brought to the county jail last night by Provincial Constable R. F. Davis.

William McQuigg, charged with having a still, was fined $200 and costs. He pleaded guilty but was convicted on evidence submitted.

TRADES COUNCIL HELD A MEETING

The C. G. E. Bylaw Was Discussed--Letters Received.

The Trades and Labour Council held their regular meeting in the Labour Hall last evening, with a full attendance of delegates, President McMurray in the chair.

A communictaion was received from the City Clerk requesting support for the C.G.E. by-law. The subject received quite a lot of attention and it was finally left in the hands of the individual members to act as they thought fit.

A communictaion from the Guelph Trades and Labour Council, asking the local body to endorse a resolution which they were submitting from the stationary engineers in Government institutions in Guelph, who were asking for a living wage and a few hours away from work to enjoy it, even one day a week would be a help. At present they are working 7 days a week in some cases at an average rate of about 20 dollars a week. The request was complied with by Peterborough Trades Council.

The Trades Union Label Committee cicularized affiliated lodges to request their members to demand the union label when making purchases.

A committee was appointed to consider the arranging of a euchre party, and it was decided to hold same on Friday, April 25, at 8 p.m., in the Labour Hall, and requesting all friends of the labor movement to support same.

Other business received consideration and accounts were passed, the meeting to meet again at its next regular meeting on May 7.

MRS. ELIZA KILLINGBECK

COULD HARDLY LIFT HER HANDS

Terrible Weakness Caused by Digestive Disorders Quickly Relieved by Dreco—Peterborough Lady Now Has Splendid Appetite, Sleeps Soundly and Strength is Returning Every Day.

"For years I had suffered from stomach trouble and indigestion," says Mrs. Eliza Killingbeck of 200 Edinburgh street, Peterborough, Ont. "I had a very poor appetite and would bloat terribly after eating. I had frequent dizzy spells and felt very weak and run down. My nerves were all on edge and I couldn't sleep at night. Sometimes I was so weak I could hardly lift my hands to my mouth. My kidneys, too, were bad and I suffered no end of misery from them. I was also chronically constipated.

"I took all kinds of medicines and dear knows how much money I spent trying to get relief, but nothing did me any good. Finally, my son advised me to try Dreco, and after taking four bottles, I can truthfully say that I feel 100 per cent. better. While I still have to watch my diet, everything I do eat agrees with me, and my nerves are steadier than for years. I sleep soundly, have no more dizzy spells or bloating and my kidneys are in good condition. My constipation is also relieved and I feel that my experience with Dreco justifies me in recommending it very highly."

Dreco, is the most reliable corrective and tonic for digestive disorders made. It stops suffering by stopping the cause of it, which in most cases is nothing but weak, lazy digestive organs. Dreco strengthens and regulates these organs till they do their work properly. It contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs, being a purely herbal preparation with absolutely nothing injurious in it.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold as follows:
Lakefield—E. H. Northey.
Campbellford—J. E. Birks.
And by a good druggist everywhere.

CANADIANS SHOULD BE TAUGHT OWN COUNTRY

Knowledge of Resources of Canada and Great Potential Wealth Might Help Check Emigration to the United States — Educate the Young.

MONTREAL, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—Canada's need to-day is for all classes of citizens to realize their responsibility and educate the young to the advantages of their own country, to prevent emigration, Russell T. Kelley of Hamilton, Ont., told members of the Montreal Publicity Association, at the luncheon of the association held here yesterday.

The speaker said he had learned that no less than 10,000 Canadians from the Maritime Provinces had left Canada last month. He pointed out that in Buffalo, New York, there were 33,000 Canadians, in Boston almost 400,000, and a huge percentage in Detroit.

"It is unfortunate that many of us do not realize how wonderful a country we have," stated Mr. Kelley, "and frequently we do not realize our own wonderful opportunities. We have a world export trade of two billion dollars per year, deposits in Canadian banks and trusts of two billion dollars and we are the greatest wheat-producing country in the world. We are third as a gold-producing country; third as a nickle-producing country, and only one in five acres of our tillable land is being worked."

If Canadians, he declared, bought their own coal rather than sending out one hundred million dollars yearly to the United States, it would mean a much greater population for Canada and more prosperity. To do this would require a change in transportation methods to cheapen freight rates, but the speaker contended that this could be done so that Alberta coal could be marketed in the East.

Oil in considerable quantities recently has been discovered near Mandali, Mesopotamia.

HEARTS AFIRE

by May Christie

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO:

Prudence Page, a pretty country girl who has awakened from a brief and unhappy love-affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philander.

Janet Mercer, Prudence's 28-year-old friend, plain but genuine, is a trained nurse and masseuse to the delicate child of

Mrs. Vansittart, a wealthy women who owns Winston Towers. One of her guests is

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor, interested in Prudence. Prudence has given up Traymore, and is beginning to return Armstrong's interest, when she is accused of theft at Winston Towers, and runs away from home, heart-broken. She has lost her purse, and arrives penniless in New York, not knowing where she can find refuge for the remainder of the night. She stops in front of a huge church used as a House of Refuge.

Prudence is unable to get a job in the big city.

Prudence's father visits Mrs. Vansittart and tells her that she is responsible for his daughter's flight from home.

Prudence gets a room on the eighth door of an office building, and wakes up to find the place ablaze.

She is rescued and taken away in an ambulance.

CHAPTER XLVII.

The Plotter.

After an encounter with Prudence's father in the morning-room of Winston Towers, Mrs. Vansittart had annoyed Virginia, "the-guest-who-outstayed-her-welcome," more than the good lady thought.

'Baiting' the spoilt beauty was a rare occurrence. Virginia's natural conceit was so colossal, so impregnable, that it took many harsh truths to 'go home.'

Indeed, Virginia had cultivated the fine philosophy that she was above criticism.

But, to-day, some of Mrs. Vansittart's remarks had penetrated even her thick skin.

Like the heel of Achilles, Peter Armstrong was the one weak spot in her armor of conceit.

And her blunt hostess had as good as said that Peter loved the unfortunate Prudence Page, and had no interest in herself!

"You don't know much about real men!"

That wouldn't have hurt Virginia in the slightest were it not for the implication it contained.

Mrs. Vansittart had meant that she hadn't got the key to Peter's heart.

"That strong typ of man always sides with the under dog."

Ah! that made Virginia pause and think!

Most certainly at the present juncture of affairs, Prudence Page was the 'under dog.' Last night, everyone's hand had turned against her. Virginia had enjoyed the scene.

She had enjoyed seeing Mr. Page's face this morning, too.

But, afterwards, Mrs. Vansittart's words had rankled. If she(Virginia) wasn't going to have a chance with Peter, what good of overthrowing Prudence Page?

Her hostess had criticized her for setting forth to break the news about the theft to Peter.

"You'll only drive him all the e aster towards the girl!"

As she walked along the country roads in her frilly gown of lavender organdie—carefully chosen because Peter liked quaint gowns of a bygone period, and Virginia thought the revived fashion reminded him of his mother—the girl's brain was busy with a host of schemes.

She was an expert plotter, was Virginia,

Some simple little souls, like Prudence Page, were born to love and trust, and make one man extremely happy.

But Virginia was a subtler type, real adventuress. Scheming was second nature to her.

And always—always—did Herself come first!

Yet—curious fact!—it was the chivalry in Peter Armstrong's nature that caught her vagrant fancy.

"I may be a rotter myself, but I'd never marry a rotter," she had once flung at Bert Traymore, in a rare moment of complete frankness, when the latter had annoyed her by some shady trick and then came whining for comfort.

But—to herself—she admitted that Peter's rapid advance in the scientific world, and the fact that one day he would doubtless make a fortune through his inventive skill, were distinct drawing cards in his favor.

He was making lots of money now, she ascertained through various channels. (Virginia had her scouts out everywhere.) He could have bought one of the nicest houses in the neighborhood had he so fancied, instead of living like a humble recluse at Pear Tree Cottage.

But—once married to him—she'd soon spend his money!

The day was unusually warm for this season of the year, and as Virginia sauntered along the country roads, the wren in the beech-wood burst into ecstatic singing, and the hedge-warbler in the reed-beds piped up, too.

The warmth—(for Virginia was a regular salamander, and adored the hear)—gave her a sort of sentimental feeling which was foreign to her.

"I do believe I'm actually in love with Peter Armstrong!" she told herself, with an excited laugh.

In that case—hateful though Mrs. Vansittart's plain-spoken words had been—it would be well to keep them in mind when dealing with the chivalrous Peter.

"I must play the clinging kitten," thought the plotter, and thanked her lucky stars she hadn't yielded to an impulse to try and borrow money from the man when her losses at bridge had driven her rather hard, and he had seemed a 'soft mark.'

When she reached Pear Tree Cottage, old Nannie grumpily informed her that Mr. Armstrong was out, and that she'd no idea when the inventor would be home again.

"She's lying," thought Virginia, but contrived to keep a dazzling smile upon her lips, for it would be best to 'keep in' with this old woman who was Peter's servant. "I'll tip her, and that will unloose her tongue."

Old Nannie took the tip, but unfolded no further information beyond the fact that Mr. Armstrong hadn't said when he would be back, and she herself was going home as usual to her little cottage in the woods 'round eight o'clock,' after the place was 'fixed up for the night.'

"So you don't stay here after eight," remarked Virginia. Old Nannie didn't hear her, nor could she guess the plan that was forming in the visitor's mind.

Out in the woods a restless cuckoo called. Virginia smiled an odd little smile as she heard it.

"To-night the nightingale will sing," she told herself. Oh, yes, the setting would be perfect! What with Peter's chivalry, and the nightingale, and her own appealing beauty, the plot would work all right!

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor, The Examiner.

Sir,—Kindly give me a little space in your columns as I have been a reader of your paper for the last 28 years, and a taxpayer of the City of Peterboro and also of North Monaghan.

On Monday night I was coming home from work about 5.20, going west on Albert Street. A dog bit me on the leg, leaving a blister, and tearing my underpants and overalls. I questioned two children across the road, and they said it was our dog, so I got the number.

Can you give me any legal advice as to what I can do, or do I have to take things as they come? I was going to throw a stone at it, but did not know if it would cost me one hundred dollars or a torn pair of pants and a sore leg, or can I take the law in my own hands. I would like a reply to my statement if possible.—Yours sincerely,

RATEPAYER.

P.S.—I work in the city and reside in the township.

In answer to the above letter would say that no citizen could take the law into their own hands without getting into trouble, and the proper course would be to speak to the Chief of Police regarding the matter, if any action is going to be taken.—Editor.

FOUR YEAR OLD BOY RESCUED FROM WELL

CHATHAM, April 17.—(Canadian Press.)— Held by the legs by his mother, Wilfrid Rose hung down a well at the rear of their home and rescued his nephew, Garnet Crow, aged 4, who had fallen in, from drowning. The young boy was going down for the third time when Rose was able to grab his clothing. He is recovering. The child, whose mother is dead and whose father lives in Windsor, is being raised by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rose.

Longshoremen Want Seventy Cent Wage.

MONTREAL, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—Hon. Jas. Murdock, Minister of Labor, has approved the nomination of C. Bujold, secretary-treasurer of the Syndicated Longshoremen of the Port of Montreal, as representative of the employees on the board of arbitration appointed on the wage dispute between shipping companies whose boats run to this port and those of their employees who are members of the Syndicated Longshoremen.

The longshoremen are asking seventy cents an hour for days and eighty cents for night work. The companies offer fifty cents an hour for day work and sixty cents for night work, the rates as paid last year. About 4,000 men are affected.

Montreal's New Mayor Announces Programme.

MONTREAL, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—In his inaugural address delivered at the first meeting of the new City Council here yesterday afternoon, Mayor Duquette dwelt upon public health, better police protection in view of recent attacks on life and property, the awakening of civic pride by making the city more beautiful, in accordance with modern town-planning projects, and economy in the administration of the city's affairs.

The Mayor read his programme in both languages. At its conclusion, Alderman Sansregret, leader of the Council, assured the Mayor that he could count on the support of the aldermen in his plans for the administration of the city.

Difficulties Halt Russian Conference.

LONDON, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—The Anglo-Russian conference here has encountered difficulties sooner than was expected. Three sessions have failed to bring about an agreement on the organization and agenda of the conference, and after the third meeting of the delegates at the Foreign Office Wednesday afternoon the conference adjourned over the Easter holidays, to meet again April 24.

Swarajist Leader Mayor of Calcutta.

CALCUTTA, India, April 17. — (Canadian Press)—C. R. Das, leader of the Swarajists, or Indian Home Rulers, has been elected Mayor of Calcutta, defeating his European opponent, Mr. Willson, by a vote of 59 to 13.

After his election, Das denied that his party contemplated an anti-European or obstructive policy in city affairs.

Brothers Fined $300, Beat Tax Collector.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 17. — (Canadian Press).—The tax collector may be an unwelcome person but he mustn't be ill-treated. In court here Tuesday Judge Lavell fined Charles and Cecil Baker, brothers, of Kennebec Township, $150 each on the charge of assulting and doing grievous bodily harm to Ross W. Barr, tax collector of the township. The accused were also bound over to keep the peace.

CROP REPORTS

The following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Fall wheat has come through the winter in good general condition and fields promise at present an average yield should favorable weather continue.

Clover and alfalfa have also wintered well, although there are scattered complaints of slight heaving in the case of the former crop.

Plowing was done in a few counties last week, but will be pretty general by the end of this week if spring weather continues. Some seeding has also been done in a few favored localities.

Reports continue to come in of more or less injury to young orchard trees and fruit bushes by cotton-tail rabbits and field mice. Several representatives speak of rabbits as becoming a serious threat to orchards.

The labor situation is considered an improvement over that of the same period last year. The demand has been fairly strong for men both with and without experience. The latter class have been fairly easy to procure, at wages running from $15 to $25 a month, with board. Really good men are insisting upon rates ranging from $30 to $40 a month.

It is estimated that the acreage of tobacco grown in Elgin this year will be fully the double of that raised last season. The representative, however complains that the San Jose scale is doing more injury than ever to orchard trees in that county.

Kenora.—Farmers who have sunflower silage continue to be much pleased with it as a cattle feed. It has been keeping well, and compares very favorably with the Eastern Ontario ensilage in odor.

Middlesex.—The flow of syrup stopped very suddenly during the past week, and makers have been unable to fill their orders.

Hastings.—There is a very noticeable increase in the demand of clover seeds of all kinds, especially alfalfa seed. Most farmers are using nitre-culture with their clover seed, and have found in the past that it pays to use them.

North Simcoe.—I visited a truck gardener on Thursday who has had radish, spinach, lettuce and onions in for several days, on his light soil. There is increasing interest in poultry husbandry.

Middlesex.—There has been more pruning done this year and there will be more spraying than usual. Small fruits appear to be in good shape.

Lambton.—A great many old, neglected orchards have been scraped and pruned this spring. This evidences a greater interest in orcharding. Spraying will follow.

Halton.—Fruit men are giving their orchards a little better care in the way of fertilizers and cultivation and due to the injury done by mice and rabbits fruit men in the future will be more particular about cultivation and protection to trees by wire screens.

Milk production is increasing rapidly, and a number of patrons are being shut off from the dairy plants. The price being paid at the Toronto City Dairy is $2.11 per cwt. Salford Cheese Factory paid their patrons $1.08. Milk is worth just about $1.00 per cwt. less now than it was a year ago at this time.

Brant.—Dairying continues to be a popular branch of farming in most sections, each year seeing an increased number of dairy herds. An old garage in the town of Paris here has been overhauled and equipped as a butter factory, and it is expected will be ready for the handling of milk in a very short time. This is the first of its kind in this vicinity, and no doubt will be welcomed by the farmers generally.

Lambton—Dairying is becoming more in practice. The local creamery made double the amount of butter in the months of January, February and March this year over same months of 1923.

Hastings.—There have been more calves sold at local shipping points than ever before. Over 300 were shipped from Stirling this week. Ordinary calves are selling for about $6. It would appear that the majority of farmers are not raising even their heifer calves.

Frontenac.—The milk flow is continuing to increase and factories are gradually opening up throughout the county. Prices are so poor, however, for cheese, that there is little inducement making of cheese. According to present prices, milk will only be worth from 60c to 70c per cwt. Creameries are running nearly to full capacity and paying from 34c to 36c per lb. for butterfat.

Ontario.—There continues to be an increased demand for horses. A carload of horses was loaded at Cannington on Thursday last, and some good horses were loaded.

MARMORA VETERANS' ANNUAL MEETING

H. R. Pearce Re-elected President—The Annual Decoration of Graves On Second Sunday In June.

MARMORA, Apr. 17.—The annual meeting of Marmora and Deloro branches of the G. W. V. A. took place in the club rooms on Monday evening under the presidency of Comrade H. R. Pearce. The annual election of officers took place and the result was as follows:

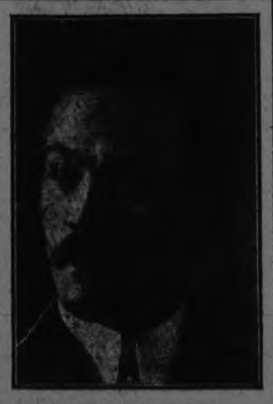
VOTE FOR THE C.G.E. BYLAW



ALDERMAN M. McINTYRE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The Canadian General Electric Company has passed under new control, as the General Electric Company of the United States now owns the controlling interest. The company not only proposes a considerable expansion now, but it was stated in the report of the recent annual meeting of the company "that this will mark the first step in what promises to be a fairly important construction programme." The officials of the company look forward to very large additions within a reasonable time.

The citizens of Peterborough should carry the Canadian General Electric Company by-law by a very large majority to demonstrate to the new control our desire to co-operate with them in the enlargement of their words, and thus not only secure the expansion now proposed, but also the future enlargements so that the works in Peterborough will continue to be the chief manufacturing plant of the company in Canada.

Yours truly,
M. McINTYRE.

YOUNG MAN BURNED SAVING FURNITURE

House Completely Destroyed and One Other Man Severely Burned

CARGYLE, April 17.—(Canadian Press.)—Ross Carter, aged 22, son of Joseph G. Carter, reeve of Greenock township, was burned to death while attempting to save some furniture from the upstairs rooms of their home which caught fire yesterday afternoon and was completely destroyed. Rickard McConkey, a young man of the neighborhood, who was assisting Carter to remove the furniture from the burning building, was severely burned and otherwise badly injured, but may recover.

AVIATORS PICKED UP BY DESTROYER

Major Martin of Globe-Circling Squadron Forced to Descend on Portage Bay, Alaska.

CORDOVA, Alaska, April 17.—A leak in his crank case, causing a waste of fuel, forced Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of a United States Army round-the-world expedition, to alight Tuesday in Portage Bay, according to word received here from the destroyer Hull, which found him Wednesday.

Major Martin and his mechanician, Sergeant Alva Harvey, were found by the Hull in Portage Bay, this side of Cape Igvak, where the Seattle disappeared Tuesday while the four planes of the squadron were on their way to Chignik, Alaska, in a snow and wind storm characteristic of the region.

Major Martin, his mechanician, and their machine are to be taken to Kanatak ,at the head of Portage Bay.

The Joyous Years From 7 to 15

AT the age of seven the boy leaves kindergarten and starts to school. At fifteen he is getting ready to climb into long pants.

The eight years between seven and fifteen are the joyous years of his life. They will pass all too quickly.

Why not help your boy crowd all the enjoyment possible into them? —help make them the memorable, fadeless years of his life.

Like all boys, one of his dearest desires is to possess a real, classy bicycle—a C.C.M. Then he can join in all the boyish games and sports that require a wheel.

How a real boy does love to get out into the open spaces where he has room to let himself loose. How he loves to fly along on his easy-running C.C.M., imagining he is an express train as he coasts down a hill.

And when he comes home happy as a lark, bright-eyed and rosy-cheeked, how glad you'll be you got him a C.C.M. Bicycle.

A bicycle is a mighty good thing for a boy or a girl—especially a C.C.M. — with its smooth, easy-running Triplex Hanger, its quick, sure Hercules Coaster Brake, its strong, sturdy frame of English Seamless Tubing that stands the rough and tumble wear of care-free boyhood, the bearings of tough flint-hard steel that a file cannot cut.

Drop in and see the new, dashing, sparkling C.C.M. models for Boys and Girls—including the Curved Bar model, the bicycle a boy won't outgrow. Prices are $15 to $20 less than the "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's Value for every dollar you invest in a C.C.M.

C.C.M. JOYCYCLES, too, for the little folks too young for bicycles. Joycycles are high-grade tricycles, built to run as smoothly and easily as C.C.M. Bicycles. They've made a wonderful hit! Just the thing for birthday and other gifts.

If MONTEZUMA had tasted MOIR'S!

The Emperor Monteruma of Mexico, in ancient Aztec days, was "exceedingly fond of chocolate"—so historians tell. No less than 50 jars or pitchers of chocolate were prepared for his own daily consumption and 2,000 more were allowed for that of his household.

Supposing Montezuma lived to-day and tasted of the highest development in chocolate making — Moirs would be compelled to sell to his Aztec Highness the complete output.

The Spanish invaders probably ended Montezuma's indulgence in his favorite confection, but they quickly acquired the habit themselves and introduced it into Europe.

And thereby the "gladness of living" was multiplied many times because the sweet tooth of humanity is as universal and ancient as its love of beauty—and the chocolate is the "king of sweets."

The world is abundantly supplied with chocolate. The cocoa bean grows in many tropical countries, and the finest varieties are those from favored islands that seem to possess the humidity desirable for the most delicious product. It is in islands such as Ceylon and Jamaica that Nature does her best with chocolate, so naturally Moir's Chocolates are made from the finest cocoa beans that these islands grow.

Moirs have gone to the ends of the earth to acquire and maintain the high quality and delicious flavour so long identified with their famous chocolate coatings.

MEXICO

The high state of civilization among the dominant Aztec tribe astonished the first Spanish invaders of Mexico early in the 16th century. Cortez found nations with courts, armies, and stone buildings of such elaborate design as to astonish the architects of Europe. The disappearance of this civilization dates from the time the white man heard of and coveted the rich minerals and rare products of Montezuma's kingdom.

COOMBE WON DECISION OVER TORONTO BOXER

Floored Devine of the St. Helen's Club, Toronto, In First Round, and Also Had Advantage In Third — Harvey Smith Lost to Dullage.

Peterboro boys made a good showing against the Toronto boxers last night at the P.A.A.A. smoker, except in the Dullage-Smith bout which was awarded to Dullage the St. Helen's boy.

Lorne Coombe with Micky Devine of St. Helen's Club, Toronto, staged the main bout of the evening in the 135 lb. class. Coombe nearly had the decision in his grasp in the first round when he floored Devine with a stiff right to the jaw that laid his pluck opponent on the floor for the count of eight. Devine gained his feet, but only to land on the floor once more a few seconds later and again before the round had ended. Devine showed lots of gameness for the rest of the first round and took lots of punismment. He same back very strong in the second round and landed several rights and lefts to Coombs jaw and body. Coombs who is known as a punishment-taker took all Devine had and came back for more, which he generally got. Devine worked in close for the rest of the round and when the gong sounded he appeared to be in much better shape than in the first. Both went at it "hammer and tongs" in the third round but Coombe who lost his temper when Devine hit him in a clinch forced the fight for the rest of the bout.

Although Devine had the better of the second round he did not make enough points to overcome the lead which Coombe set up in the first three minuts. Several times in the last round Devine appeared to be groggy but Coombe showed good sportsmanship when he allowed Devine several times to get away from the ropes. Referee George Graham handled this bout very satisfactorily and had the honor of giving Coombe the decision.

Jordan Won Decision.

Joe Jordan who has been showing great improvement in last few bouts, bumped into a second Willis Cutt last night when he tackled Jeane Carr of St. Helen's. Carr is an infighter like Cutt while Jordan appeared to be satisfied to wait for Carr to come in, and then bounce one off his jaw with his right. Jordan took a lot of punishment in the first round but came back strong in the second and third. He landed rights to Carr's jaw and face all during these rounds but could not hit him hard enough for the knockout. Carr kept coming back fast in an effort to even up the fight but his efforts were fruitless as Jordan was used to his style of fighting by the second round and landed a punch at every opening. Although Jordan was beaten in Toronto by Jackie Johnston he redeemed himself last night and no doubt if he sticks at the game he will make a better showing next year. George Graham awarded the bout fairly to Jordan.

Awarded to Dullage.

Roy Dullage who appeared here before in the squared ring with Lorne Coombe met Harvey Smith the game Peterboro boy who will take on anybody in his class and give them a tussle. Smith takes of punishment but he also gives some. Dullage had the better of the fight the greater part of the way but Smith stood up gamely and took the punishment from the more experienced boxer. Dullage landed numerous punches to Smith's head and body but Smith also sent home several clean cut lefts and rights to the Toronto boy's face. Dullage had the best of the bout in the first three minutes, while Smith warmed up a little in the second and gave Dullage severl exciting moments. Smith did his best in the last round and when the gong sounded both were exchanging lefts and rights to the head. The judges awarded the decision to Dullage satisfactorily to the audience. Both boys clinched frequently which slowed the bout up considerably.

A Tame Affair.

For the second time this year Elliott appeared in a love tap affair which was supposed to be a boxing bout. Farmer Cole was his opponent this time and neither exerted themselves in the least but stood up in the ring and tapped each other for nine minutes. These boys who fought in the 156 lb. class stepped into the ring like two Jack Dempsey's and the crowd expected to see a slugging match but thy were badly disappointed with the showing both boys made. Elliott was given the decision but the crowd wasn't interested in the fight to care who was decided the better man.

Ronco Loses His First.

Joe Lemoyne of St. Helen's Club, Toronto, refereed the bout between Woodgate and Ronco in the 110 lb. class. Woodgate who was the larger of the two was the aggressor most of the way but Ronco the cool little Italian fighter, who made his first appearance in the ring last night put on a very scrappy bout. He hit hard and often but seemed to be willing to ward of Woodgate's trip hammer punches which seemed to be heading for Ronco's face 75 per cent of the time. Woodgate was given the decision for his aggressiveness.

Youngsters In Draw.

Tobin and Smith in the 90 lb. class put on one of the scrappiest bouts of the bill. Smith was the aggressor all the way but Tobin's coolness carried him a long way and his both gloves seemed to land often on Smith's jaw. Smith's gameness carried the bout to a draw.

In the 80 lb. class Cole was given the decision over a game lad who packs a healthy blow by the name of Dorrington. This was Dorrington's first appearauce in the ring and he made a good showing. Another Dorrington boy who is a promising lad made his debut last night when he fought a draw with a boy by the name of Larome who is also a promising looking boxer.

CASEY STENGEL IN LIMELIGHT

Former Giant Cracked Out Circuit Clout In Tenth—Luque Loses First Game By One In Ninth.

PHILADEPHIA, April 16.—Boston and Philadelphia played another extra inning game to-day, the Braves winning in the tenth 4 to 3, when Casey Stengel put the ball in the left field bleachers for a homer.

A ninth inning rally by the Braves tied the score. Tierney's sacrifice fly scored Cooney with the tying run in this inning. Score:

Philadelphia 120 000 000 0—3 7 1

Marquard, McNamara, Stryker and O'Neil, Smith; Carlson, Glazner and Wilson.

Cubs on Rampage

ST. LOUIS, April 16. — Batting three pitchers out of the box, the Chicago Cubs evened the series with St. Louis here to-day 13 to 6.

Haines wes retired in the first inning, after he had allowed four singles, resulting in as many runs. North took up the pitching for the Cardinals and lasted until the sixth when Friberg doubled and Heathcote tripled, scoring Friberg Hartnett hit over the left field fence, scoring behind Heathcote. H. Bell then replaced North, but allowed a single and a double, which, with a wild pitch, scored two more runs.

The Cardinals threatened only in the fourth when Mueller tripled and scored on Bell's home run. The score:

Chicago .... 400 006 210—13 17 0
St. Louis....100 201 000— 4 12 3

Osborne, Alexander and Hartnett; North, H. Bell, Delaney, Haines and Holme, Vick.

Luque Loses Duel

CINCINNATI, O., April 16.—Pittsburgh won the second game of the season from the Reds to-day by the smallest possible score, after a great pitchers' battle between Cooper and Luque, in which the Pirate left hander had just the necessary shade. The only run was scored in the ninth inning on Carey's single, a sacrifice, Carey's steal of third, and a single by Traynor. The Reds got only one man to second base and none as far as third.

The score:

Pittsburg .....000 000 001—1 8 0
Cincinnati ....000 000 000—0 5 0

Cooper and Schmidt; Luque and Hargrave.

Frisch Hits Homer

NEW YORK, April 16—The New York Giants turned the tables on Brooklyn to-day and won the second game of the season 7 to 1. Jack Bently, former Baltimore southpaw, held the Robins to four hits, the first of which came in the seventh, and struck out eight men while Grimes, his opponent, was wild and accorded poor support. Frisch hit the first home run of the local season with Groh on base in the fifth. Groh's fielding and batting and a one-handed catch off Frisch by Wheat were features. The score:

Brooklyn . . . . 000 000 001—1 4 3
New York .... 200 022 01x—7 8 0

Grimes and Deberry; Bentley and Gowdy.

LOOKING OVER THE DISTRICT

OSHAWA, April 17.—Only twenty nine more working days before the opening of Central Ontario league baseball season. Wednesday, May 21st, Peterboro goes to Belleville with Hallinan of Toronto calling 'em at the plate and Boundy of Cobourg working the bases; Oshawa goes to Kingston where Sullivan of the Limestone will work the plate and Allen of Port Hope covering the bags. On the holiday, May 24, Kingston will visit Peterboro and Boundy of Cobourg will call balls and strikes with Collings of Belleville on bases; Bellevile goes to Oshawa with Hallinan of Toronto at pate and Thorne of Toronto on bases.

Guelph Maple Leafs are billed to pay an exhibition game in the Quinte City on Saturday, May 3rd. "Peeny" Mills and his Belleville ball tossers are to be in shape for when the Petes travel to the railroad city in the opening league fixture on Wednesday, May 21st.

With all Central League certificates in the hands of the different clubs th winter box stove league ball players will have to come from under cover and pen their monograms on the yellow slips for the senior division of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association. The secretary of the league will at least get a glimpse at many who were great ball players during the winter months, or at least a copy of their penmanship.

Providing the weatherman doesn't take the joy out of life for Saturday, April 26th, Oshawa is to have the earliest opening of the ball season in its history as the Osler's of Hampden Park senior league of Toronto are to visit the motor city. The Strollers of Toronto are down to visit Oshawa on Saturday, May 3rd. With two games under their belt Oshawa rookies shculd be weeded out and a real team ready for Kingston on Wednesday, May 21st.

How come or what's the matter with the old brigade of baseballers in Lindsay. In the list of officers of the Scugog town ball team only Hon. presidents John Carew and T. H. Stinson with Vice-President Tony Bacogeorge of the originals are again in harness.

The Durham and Ontario Intermediate league which includes Port Hope Black Diamonds, Orono, Bowmanville, Oshawa Red Sox, Oshawa Motors and Whitby added a clause to its constitution which excludes players outside the two counties playing in league fixtures. The delegates were evidently thinking 'an ounce of prevention, etc." in case of senior players from Cobourg tripping over to the neighboring town of Port Hope. The league is adcpting a single schedule with the three leading teams at finish playing off for the championship innovated a new procedure in Eastern Ontario and no doubt the fight to get into one of three places will be a merry one as the interest will be carried along until the final stage.

The new grand stand which will seat 1,200 people at Alexandra Park, Oshawa is in the second stage of completion. The steel construction is all in place and this week the interior work was being rapidly proceeded with. When ouptside baseball enthusiasts visit Oshawa they will have a comfortable place to squat and a good view of the playing field.

OSHAWA PLAYING JUNIOR LACROSSE

Entering a Junior Team In the O. A. L. A. — Bob Begley, Formerly of Peterboro, Is Vice-President.

OSHAWA, April 17.—Junior lacrosse was added to Oshawa's sport calendar for the coming season when a number of gutted stick enthusiasts met in the Y.M.C.A. last evening and decided there was enough material in the motor town to operate a franchise in the junior division of the O.A.L.A. and they will again send Fred E. Ellis, the father of lacrosse in Oshawa, who has not missed an annual meeting of the Ontario Association since the motor town became associated with gasoline buggies, and Carl Irwin one of the younger enthusiasts, to this year's annual to be held in Toronto on Good Friday. The following officers were elected to look after the interests of Canada's National game for the coming summer:

Hon. Presidents—C. W. McLaughlin, K. T. Keller, R. S. McLaughlin, Chas. Robson and Lawson C. Clifford.

President—Alderman R. C. Henry.
Vice-President—R. Begley.
Secretary—Paul Irwin.
Assistant Secretary and Treasurer —Harold Drew.
Executive Committee—Dr. F. L. Henry, Fred E. Ellis, James Kerwin, Jim Howson and Oliver Luke.

TOTTENHAM WON.

LONDON, April 16.— (Canadian Press.)— In a friendly soccer game played to-day between Tottenham and Combined Universities, the former won the match by a score of 7 to 1.

FINGERNAIL PICTURES.

LONDON, April 17.—Tiny pictures on the fingernails, carried out in harmless thin enamels, are a fashion fad now among London society women.

LOCAL TEAMS WERE ELIGIBLE

No Juggling of Players Here to Win the O. B. A. Honours.

"Our old friend from the Peterboro Examiner has burst forth once more with his joyous spring song. He modestly tells of the 'flock of O.B.A.A. titles' annexed by Peterboro last year. Will he please tell us how many Peterboro junior clubs the Lakeviews came from? And if the rumor that the intermediate team worked the same way is true? Truly we have learned a lot from Jakie Solomon." —Kingston Whig.

This uncalled for insinuation is hardly worth answering were it not for the fact that it may be credited in sections where the facts are not known.

The inference that the Lakeviews, last year's Junior Ontario champions, were strengthened by players from other Peterboro Junior clobs in, as everybody in Peterboro knows, a base libel. The Lakeviews went through the whole season with the players with whom they started. They used only a dozen men altogether, and nearly all were not only members of the club last season, but wore the Lakeviews uniform the previous year. Every player was eligible not only as regards age and residence, but also as a bona fide member of the Lakeview Club, and of no other club throughout the season. There was no juggling of players in the Peterboro Junior League. The Lakeviews, after winning the local honors, went through to the Ontario championship with the same players.

Is that clear enough, Mr. Whig?

As for the other O.B.A.A. winner from Peterboro, the same conditions exactly applied.

Every man on every Peterboro team was qualified in every partirular. In no series was the winning team strengthened by additions from other teams in the same series for the O. B. A. A. play-offs. They simply went ahead with the line-ups that won the local titles.

The Canadian General Electric team, in winning the Intermediate championship for the second time, it is true, signed up two Junior players before July 15th, as the O.B.A.A. rules allowed them to do, taking Hall from the Adanacs and McPherson from the C.G.E. Juniors. Junior players can always go up to a faster series provided they are signed before July 15th, and this was done in the case of these two youngsters. But the C.G.E. received no recruits from other Intermediate clubs, and their squad was eligible in every sense of the word.

Peterboro fans know these facts. They are simply printed here in the hope that the Whig, having made the insinuation, will have the grace to give equal publicity to this explanation.

TYGER RECRUIT TRIMS INDIANS

Earl Whitehill Outpitched Coveleskie—Joe Sewell, Cleveland Shortstop, Was Knocked Out — Rommel Wins For Mack

DETROIT, April 16. — Earl Whitehill, recruit lefthander, outpitched the veteran Stanley Coveleskie this afternoon and Detroit beat Cleveland 5 to 1. Whitehill lacked control, hitting four batsmen. He knocked Joe Sewell unconscious in the eighht inning, but the Indian shortstop was quickly revived and finished the game. Heilmann, champion batsman, hit a home run, with two out and Manush on base in the fifth inning. The score:

Cleveland .. .. .000100000—1 7 2
Detroit .. .. .10102100x—5 10 1

Coveleskie and Sewell; Whitehill and Bassler.

ROMMEL'S VICTORY.

WASHINGTON, April 16. — Philadelphia evened the series with Washington to-day by a 6 to 1 victory. A heavy bombardment by Dykes, Simmons and Miller in the first inning, coupled with a wild throw by Mogridge, gave the Athletics three runs and drove the veteran Washington twirler from the mound. Rommal allowed only five hits. The score:

Philadelphia.. .. .. 301110000—8 10 0
Washington .. .. .. .001000000—1 5 2

Rommel and Bruggy; Mogdridge, McCrew and Rual.

YANK RALLY LATE.

BOSTON, April 16. — John Quinn held the champion Yankees to six hits to-day and won his game for Boston 9 to 6. In the first two innings Jones was ineffective. The visitors scored five runs in the 9th on singles by Scott and Pinch Hitter Earl Combs, Dugan's triple, a pass to Schang, and muffs by Flagstead and Harris. Young Dudley Lee at shortstop for the Red Sox did some sensational fielding. The score:

New York .. .. 001000005—6 6 0
Boston .. .. .24011001x—9 11 4

Jones, Bush and Schang; Quinn and O'Neill.

COLLINS BROKE UP GAME.

CHICAGO, April 16. — Eddie Collins' single, which sent Hooper home from second base, broke up a ten-inning game to-day and gave Chicago a 3 to 2 victory over St. Louis. Manager Sisler again starred for the visitors, getting three hits. He also scored his first run of the season and gave another exhibition of fielding. The score:

St. Louis .. .. .0010010000—2 12 0
Chicago .. .. .0000110001—3 14 0

Danforth, Pruett and Severeid; Blankenship and Schalk.

TORONTO WINS FROM NEWARK

First Time in Six Years a Newark Team Has Played At Home — Baltimore Start Drive For Sixth Pennant.

NEWARK LOSE OPENING GAME.

NEWARK, N.J., April 17 (Canadian Press). — President John Conway Toole, of the International League, saw the Toronto Maple Leafs defeat the Bears in the opening game here yesterday, 8 to 2.

Jess Doyle, in addition to pitching a star game, made two doubles and a single.

Mayor Breidenbach tossed out the first ball. It was the first time in six years that a Newark team played in Newark.

The game was played at Meadowbrook Oval before 9,000 fans.

With two out in the ninth, more than a thousand youngsters rushed into the field and the game was held up for fifteen minutes until the police restored order. Ground rules were necessary. The score:

Toronto ..... 010003220—8 15 1
Newark ..... 000200000—2 10 4

Doyle and Vincent; Fileshifter, Ellis and Devine.

BALTIMORE'S HABIT.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 17 (Canadian Press). — Baltimore inaugurated its drive for a sixth International League pennant by trouncing Buffalo in the opening game here yesterday, 6 to 3. Groves and Ogden held the Bisons to five hits. The former was wild, however, and forced in two of the three runs on bases on balls.

Joe Cobb, Oriole catcher, hit two homers, while Hamel, of Buffalo, also had a four-bagger. Cool winds swept the park, keeping the attendance below the 10,000 mark. The score:

Buffalo ..... 000002001—3 5 1
Baltimore ..... 01310100x—6 12 2

Fisher, Williams and McAvoy; Groves, Ogden, and Cobb.

NINTH INNING RALLY.

READING, Pa., April 16 (Canadian Press). — Reading defeated Syracuse by a last inning rally, 8 to 7, after Syracuse had gone ahead in the first half of the ninth. A cold wind handicapped the pitchers, seven being used by the two clubs. Taggart got four hits in five times at bat. The score:

Syracuse ..... 000200104—7 14 2
Reading ..... 004000013—8 8 1

Reinhart, Montgomery, Ward, Pierotti and McKee; Mamaux, Smallwood and Lynn.

SKEETERS LOSE AT HOME.

JERSEY CITY, April 17 (Canadian Press). — Rochester defeated Jersey City yesterday, 6 to 1, in their opening game before a crowd of ten thousand people. Beall was effective for Rochester in all but the fifth inning, while Zellars was hit hard and accorded shaky support.

Mayor Frank Hague threw out the first ball to Jack Fields, who caught for the New York and Pittsburgh Nationals a score of years ago. The score:

Rochester ..... 12001002—6 11 0
Jersey City ..... 000010000—1 6 3

Beall and Luke; Zellars and Freitag.

DIAMOND DUST

The local Central Ontario League team will hold its first workout at Riverside Park, Saturday at 2.30. All players wishing to try out are requested to be on hand.

Casey Stengel, who was the hero of the 1923 world's series and former New York Giant yesterday won a game for Boston against Philadelphia when he slammed the ball into the bleacher for a home run. Boston won 4-3.

The local Junior Central League does not look any too rosy. Lindsay sent final word they would not be able to enter a team and Belleville are in another league. So far only Port Hope, Oshawa and Peterboro have entered.

The Toronto Maple Leafs defeated Newark in the opening game of the season, 8 to 2.

Jimmie Hall will do his stuff this year for the local Central League team. Hall was last year with the Adanacs at the start of the season and latter with the C.G.E. He is rated as one of the best outfielders in town.

Cooper and Luque engaged in a pitcher's battle in the game between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Cooper got the best of the argument scoring a shutout, while Luque only allowed one run.

The C.G.E. have practically the same team as last year to work with this season. They have lost a couple of men but have others to replace them.

Three of the veteran big league pitchers won their opening games. Shocker and Johson came through with wins Tuesday and the great Alexander won yesterday.

The Raybestos are gathering in material for their team and if the Intermediate Central League loop gets going they will have a strong team ready for the opening game.

Sisler again starred for St. Louis yesterday slamming out three hits. It looks as if the St. Louis first sacker is in for a great season.

With the announcement that the Central League team will hold a practice Saturday, the rest of the teams will fast follow suit.

The Quaker Oats is almost certain to have a team in the Mercantile League.

Boston defeated the New York Yankees yesterday. They should have won Tuesday's game, but were beaten by a one-run margin.

Cold weather prevailed in most of the International League centers. This cut down the attendance records quite a bit.

BOWLING

PROOFERS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP OF EXAMINER LEAGUE

Last night at Solomon's Alleys the Proofers won the championship of the Examiner League. There were three teams tied for first place, and it was decided that the team rolling the highest score for three games would take the championship. The Proofers won out rolling 2133. The Comps were next with 2033, just 130 pins below the champs. The Directors rolled 1948.

Ormond Sharpe's great rolling was responsible for the Proofers' win. Sharpe rolled a great score of 746, having a high single game of 325. Without this great rolling the Proofers would never had won, for the Comps did some great rolling too, Grey rolling 676 and Hayward 550. With these two teams going great guns the Directors were never in the race, although they had a couple of nice scores.

The following scores will show how great the battles were:

Comps—
Barringer	121	147	139—407
Thexton	146	115	175—430
Gray	230	196	190—616

ARDEBILS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP OF BRINTON LEAGUE

The Ardebils won the championship of the Brinton Carpet League last night at Solomon's Alleys. They won a clean-cut victory, taking the first two games playes. A third game was not necessary.

Rundle was high man of the evening with 345 while Shaughnessy was next with 305.

Following are the scores:

Ardebils—
Rundle	147	201	—348

BRINTON CARPET BOWLERS HONOR MR. D. LEETHER

The Brinton Carpet bowlers last evening honored Mr. Dave Leether, who looked after the scores and the averages of the players so well all season, by making him a presentation of a lovely fountain pen. Mr. Leether looked after the averages and the scores of the Brinton Carpet League in great style and richy deserved the gift that presented to him. Mr. Leether on receiving the gift thanked the bowlers for their kindness and also for their co-operation during the running off of the league. He also thanked Mr. Solomon for his co-operation during the season.

FINAL STANDING OF THE BRINTON CARPET LEAGUE

The Brinton Carpet have just completed one of the most successful season in the career of their five pin league. Great interest has been shown all season and some great battles were staged, and every game was closely contested right up to the last.

The Ardebils won the championship of the league. The Ardebils were first half winners and the Dominions second half. Last night by taking two straight the Ardebils copped the championship.

Cecil Shaughnessy was the winner of the high average. Shaughnessy finished with an average of 188 for 72 games. This is great rolling and is a wonderful average for the number of games he competed in.

Shaughnessy also won the high single prize, having a great game of 302.

J. Kelbrick won the high single game for new bowlers, rolling 269.

M. J. Rooney won the high average for new bowlers, having an average of 161 for 52 games.

Below will be a found a summary of the league:

DYSPEPSIA WAS SO BAD

Could Hardly Eat Anything

Mrs. C. Stone, Nanticoke, Ont., writes:—"Some time ago I had a very serious attack of dyspepsia, and was also troubled with gas on my stomach. I could hardly eat anything, and very often had pains after meals. I had used different medicine, but they didn't seem to do me any good. At last I happened to run on the track of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using it for a short time I felt a lot better. I continued its use until I was completely relieved and now I am ready to recommend it to anyone troubled as I was."

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LASHES REMOVED FROM BEAUCHAMP'S SENTENCE

OTTAWA, April 16.—(Canadian Press.)—Raoul Beuchamp, bank robber, who was sentenced at Montreal to 25 years in prison and 20 lashes, with the cat-o-nine tails, will not have to suffer the infliction of the lash. The solicitor-general, Hon. K. J. McMurray, to-day remitted penalty of the lashes.

Beauchamp was found guilty of having, in company with two other men, held up the staff of the Molsons Bank at Cote Des Neiges on February 14 last.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO CHICAGO

An announcement of unusual interest to all who have occasion to visit Chicago and cities farther west, has been made by the management of Canadian National Railways.

In addition to the already complete Canadian National Railways service operating from Toronto to Chicago there will be inaugurated on April 27th a new observation sleeping car service leaving Toronto daily at 11.45 p.m. arriving Chicago next day at 2.50 p.m. Central time.

Besides providing a most convenient leaving time, this new service is highly attractive in its time of arrival By using it passengers bound for points west of the Illinois metropolis will have ample time for business or pleasure in Chicago, and still make all connections for Western points that same evening.

CANDIED "SWEETS" IN THE REAL OLD SOUTHERN STYLE

The Southern housewife is the one who knows how to prepare sweet potatoes so beautifully golden brown and so deliciously candied that they fairly melt in your mouth.

Here is the way to cook them: Boil three or four medium-sized potatoes; peel and slice them and place the slices in an enameled ware baking dish. In a saucepan put half a cup of water, a cup of brown sugar and two tablespoons of butter and cook this mixture until it forms a thick syrup. Add barely a pinch of salt and pour this over the sliced potatoes in the baking dish. Cover and put in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes; then take off the cover and bake a few minutes longer to brown the potatoes on top. Serve from an enameled ware baking dish.

SOCCER NOTES

On Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, the Vets and Thistle will open the season at King Edward Park. Referee JJ. L. Howarth.

The Thistle team will be chosen from the following players: Curtiss, Rae, Bishop, Anderson, Jackson, Dawson, McBeth, Macphail, Melville, Hutton, T. Williams, Richmond, A. Williams and Burgess.

PETERBORO RIDING CLUB.

About fifteen members of the Peterboro Riding Club held their initial ride last evening, starting from the Market Square. The horses and riders made a very fine turnout, and it looks as if the Club was going to have a good membership.

Among the ladies who were present were Mrs. Noble Kelly and the Misses White and Parsons.

The Club will hold another ride on Friday morning at ten o'clock. Everybody will be welcome.

OPENING PRACTICE.

The Senior Central Ontario Baseball Club will hold their opening practice on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 on Riverside Park. All players looking for a berth are requested to be on hand. Batting practice will be the main part of the workout, but everybody will be given a chance to show their wares.

IRISH FREE STATE NEED LOAN TO BALANCE ACCTS.

LONDON, April 17. — (Canadian Press).—A second loan will be necessary to balance the 1924 accounts of the Free State, says the Morning Post. The loan, it adds, will be floated in the United States, probably about mid-summer.

OLIVER BALDWIN MAY OPPOSE LLOYD GEORGE

LONDON, April 17. — (Canadian Press).—Oliver Baldwin, Socialist member of Parliament, and son of the former Premier Stanley Baldwin, is said by the newspapers to be contemplating opposing David Lloyd George as Labor candidate in the Carnarvon district at the next Parliamentary election.

This is apparently one of the many "hostile acts" of which the Liberals are complaining.

NATURE AT HER BEST.

Those who appreciate nature at her best and revel in a wealth of variegated scenery, will find the route travelled by the Canadian National Railways between Toronto and Vancouver, one of never-to-be-forgotten beauty.

First through the inimitable lake region of Northern Ontario, skirting many placid, mirror-like lakes pocketed between tree-clad hills, catching a fleeting glimpse of many portentious, rock-strewn little waterways, dashing madly towards the quiet level of the lakes below. From Winnipeg the fertile Prairie Provinces treat the traveller to a type of gently undulating scenery not to be seen in any other part of Canada.

The ever-changing scenery of the Canadian Rockies never grows wearisome, no matter how often it is viewed. Jasper Park, with its protected wild game and beauteous Mt. Edith Cavell; colossal Mt. Robson, gigantic, slow - moving glaciers, stretching from snow-clad peaks, are only a few of nature's wonders the traveller by the Canadian National Route sees before descending to the balmy climate of Vancouver and the Pacific Coast.

There are two Canadian National trains leave Toronto daily for the West. The National, carrying standard sleeping car and compartment observation car departs at 10.45 p.m. Steel equipped, the National is luxurious in every detail. A standard sleeping car connecting with the Continental Limited, the train de luxe of the Canadian National System, leaves Toronto every evening at 8.45.

Travellers to California or other points on the Pacific Coast usually take the famous scenic route through Canada because of its beauty. Excellent connections are made at Vancouver with both steamship and train.

Make reservation or get further particulars from any Canadian National Ticket Agent.

MINSTREL SHOW ATTRACTS CROWD

Knox Church Bible Class Assisted by Mlle. Rose Shirley Have Good Annual Show.

Extra seating accommodation was needed in Knox church Sunday School Hall last evening to take care of the crowd that attended the Minstrel Show under the auspices of the A.S.K. Bible Class. There was scarcely a dull moment in the rendition of the programme, which was smoothly directed by Verne Morphet, acting as interlocutor. End men were Jim Turnbull, George Nicholls, Al. Trussler, Bill McKim, Al. Whyte and Vincent Young.

Part one of the entertainment was given over to the minstrels, who with a chorus of twenty-four, provided all that could be desired in the way of amusement and singing. The stars in this section were Al. Whyte, in "Spark Plug," Jim Turnbull, in "Love Me," and Vincent Young, in "Ain't Goin' to Rain No oMre." The last singer was recaled seven times.

Part two was featured by the presentation of a Musical Extravaganza in three acts by Mlle. Rose Shirley, whose gorgeous costumes and pretty scenery added a touch of color to the programme, and whose songs in intrigueing French style gave a spicy dash after the deep male voices of the earlier performers. The lighting effects in this act were well handled, throwing the permormer into shadow during the presentation of a storm scene, and developing her again in the folds of red, white and blue.

In the part of "Mlle. Rose Shirley," Sherman Preston, a Peterboro boy who served overseas some years has succeeded in creating a setting that fits his impersonation capabilities, and his presentation was of a high standard.

Others who contributed to the success of the show were: Ed. Rowe, James Japp, Percy Harrison, Ian McKenzie, George Wallace, Anthony Thorpe, Jack Primeau, George Clark and W. C. Ford. Several instrumentals round out the second part of the programme, and Ian McKenzie led the closing chorus in excellent voice with ability and ease.

The orchestra was composed of Messrs. Fred E. Smith at the piano; Wilbert McElhenney, cornet; Bob Allen, saxophone; Wilson Dunlop, drums; and Anthony Thorpe, trombone.

The entire show will be repeated to-night with added features.

BOAT BEATS TRAIN.

VIENNA, April 17. — A motor boat to carry 60 passeners and baggage, which will cover the distance from Vienna to Budapest—about 150 miles—in two and a half hours, is being completed near here. The fastest train takes four hours.

BREWERY ON LINER.

BREMEN, Germany, April 17.—A complete brewing plant has been installed in the North German Lloyd Stuttgart. The vessel will carry German beer for the outward trip, but as new stocks cannot be taken on, owing to prohibition, the beer will be brewed on ship for the passengeds during the return trip from New York.

ENGLISH CONCERT COMPANY COMING TO GRAND SOON

Some of the patrons of "London's Great Concert 8," the English concert party which is now visiting Canada for the first time, includes, amongst others, Sir Landon Ronald, Principal of Guildhall School of Music; James Glover, Editor of "Concert Worland,"; H. J. Balfour, conductor, Royal Albert Hall; John Bunting, chairman, Northwood Hall Catholic Club, and many other distinguished world famous authorities on music.

This concert company, which is the first of the world-famous English concert parties to visit Canada, is scheduled to appear at the Grand on April 22nd.

Music lover. all over the community are stirred by this announcement, and this company of England's premiere concert artistes can be assured that a royal welcome is awaiting their coming. The artistes include Tom Copeland, Scotland's Prime Minister of Mirth; Wilfred Virgo, tenor; Molly O'Moore, Irish soprano; Suzette Tarri, London's favorite soubrette; Dorothy Alynne, Scotland's leading female violinist; and Joan Duff, the sixteen-year-old classical pianist who has taken all London by storm the past year; also Walter Nunn, L.R.A.M. and A.G.S.M., brilliant 'cellist, and Richard Alexander, baritone, more familiarly known as "sergeant" among musical circles, being, as he is, one of the few surviving members of the old "con temptables."

AT THE CAPITOL

MAE MURRAY'S LIFE A TRIUMPH IN 2 ARTS

Screen Beauty Has Reached Fame as Dancer and Film Star

Mae Murray, star of "Fashion Row" at the Capitol today, Friday and Saturday, the brilliant Metro star, was born in Portsmouth, Va. She was brought to New York when four years old. The interval between her crawling and her dancing years was very small. As a youngster she used to run after street organs and dance to their music. When there were no hurdy-gurdies in sight, she danced anyway, to her own humming and whistling.

At the age of fifteen, she made her first appearance on the stage in the chorus of the Ziegfeld Follies. She wasn't very long in the number class—No. 3 from the end,' 'etc.—for soon she was known as the Nell Brinkley Girl, representing the type of girl made popular by Nell Brinkley in her drawings at that time.

She became one of the most remarkable dancers of a dancing era, and after scoring an individual success in "Her Little Highness," she became identified as the guiding spirit, with several of New York's most brilliant dance-and-dine rooms. Mae Murray's San Souci and Folies Maringy on Broadway were second only in popularity to the dancing rooms at the Castles

Jumps to Motion Pictures

At the height of the dance fever, Miss Murray showed her foresight in seeking to develop herself in yet another medium. She saw the possibilities of the screen. Her first opportunity came in 1915.

Miss Murray made her first picture, "To Have and to Hold" for Paramount then followed. "The Dream Girl" and "The Primrose Ring." "A Mormon Maid" was one of her conspicuous successes, after which she accepted a contract from Universal and was starred in "The Brides' Awakening," "What Am I Bid?" "The Delicious Little Devil" and "Modern Love" Pathe next obtained her services and she was seen in "Twin Pawns" and "The A B C of Love." Returning again to Famous Players she was starred in the following Paramount-Artcraft pictures: "On With the Dance," "The Right to Love," "Idols of Clay" and "The Gilded Lily." In June, 1918, Miss Murray and Robert Z. Leonard who has directed her pictures for Universal, were married.

Now Release Through Metro

Now she and her husband are associated with an independent company, Tiffany Productions, Inc., of which M. H. Hoffman is vice-president and general manager. Miss Murray stars and Mr. Leonard directs. Their productions and presented by Mr. Leonard and released by Metro.

The photoplays produced and released under these auspices have proved to be the most successful of Miss Murray's career First came "Peacock Alley," notable for brilliant settings, gorgeous costuming, and winning story; then followed "Fascination," "Broadway Rose," "Jazzmania" and "Then French Doll." Now comes her newest picture, "Fashion Row," which was written by Sada Cowan and Howard Higgin, and photographed by Oliver T. Marsh Horace Jackson was art director.

THREE HUTTERS BIG MUSICAL ACT AT CAPITOL TODAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY.

The Three Hutters one of vaudeville's big musical acts has been secured for the Capitol theatre the last three days of this week starting today. This act will offer their selected musical novelties, in piano selections, songs and xylophone numbers.

"FLAMING YOUTH" BOOKED TO CAPITOL THEATRE ON MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

In the picturization of Fabian's widely discussed novel of contemporary life the veil is torn aside and a glimpse is given of life as lived in certain circles of American society where life is lived to its fullest without any heed to the conventions

The picture tells a daring story of the loves and lives of a modern mother and her three ultra-modern daughters, and while it is not a preachment in any way a strong lesson can be drawn from it.

"Flaming Youth" which opens at the Capitol on Monday, is one of the outstanding pictures of the year. It is interpreted on the screen by a most brilliants cast including Colleen Moore, Milton Sills, Elliot Dexter, Myrtle Stedman, Slyvia Breamer, Betty Francisco, Phillips Smalley, Walter McGrail, Ben Lyon and others. It's a First National picture.

AT THE ROYAL

"DULCY," STAGE HIT, SAID TO BE A SCREEN TRIUMPH FOR CONSTANCE TALMADGE

A Story of a Delightful Dumb-bell at Royal To-day and Balance of Week —Facts about "Dulcy."

In Constance Talmadge you have the world's greatest comedienne.

"Connie" is "The Queen of Comedy." In the recent nation-wide canvass of high-school pupils, conducted by the National Committee for Better Films and the Russell Sage Foundation, "Connie" was first among comediennes by an overwhelming majority.

Joseph M. Schenck, producer of Constance Talmadge comedies, waited a long time after Constance appeared in "East IS West" before he chose another vehicle for her. "Connie comedies" are chosen with the greatest care.

"Dulcy was chosen after a long search for suitable material, because it stood the acid test as a stage play on Broadway, New York. For months it played to tremendous business in New York. Mr. Schenck saw that it ideally fitted Constance, so he paid a record price for the stage comedy.

The next steps were to obtain a director with a national reputation and adapters who make the stage play into a film comedy which would surpass the stage version. As a result Sidney Franklin, director of Norma Talmadge in "Smilin' Through" and of Constance Talmadge in "East Is West," was chosen to direct "Dulcy." John Emerson and Anita Loos took the original stage play, as it was written by Marc Connelly and George S. Kaufman, and put a thousand more laughs in it; and C. Gardner Sullivan wrote the continuity.

"Dulcy" is Connie's first release since "East Is West." And no expense was spared to make it a top-notcher. Long location trips were made to Big Bear Lake, Mojave Desert and into Yosemite Park for proper atmosphere.

The cast was chosen with the greatest care, Jack Mulhall, who made such a sensational hit with Norma Talmadge in "Within the Law," being signed up as Connie's leading man. Others in the superb cast include Claude Gillingwater, May Wilson, Johnny Harron, Anne Cornwall, Andre de Beranger, Gilbert Douglas and Milla Davenport.

The sets, an important item in a production of this kind, are of the most elaborate character and were designed by Art Director Stephen Goosson, of the Ecole des Beaux Arts of Paris; while all costumes were created by Walter Israel. Don't forget, Mr. Exhibitor, that your patrons like beautiful gowns—and Constance has a dozen Paris "creations" to show them in "Dulcy."

"Dulcy" is a clean, light comedy, with furiously fast action, sparkling humor, delightful settings and side-splitting situations. It is modern in every respect with real, human beings and not a single "problem" for the audience to solve.

"Dulcy" proves that a modern play need not be encumbered with sex complexes and social problems to hold the interest of audiences. To husbands and wives, girls and boys, "Dulcy" will be one long hysterical giggle.

AT THE REGENT

SCREEN STAR PLAYS ROLE ONCE ENACTED IN REALITY

Betty Bouton is Met by "Joy-riding" Cowpunchers, as She Was Years Ago, But She Was Frightened Then

The scene in which Betty Bouton is introduced in the William Fox production of "Not A Drum Was Heard," from the story by Ben Ames Williams, presents a young girl fresh from the east, attracted to the door of her home by a pair of wild riding cowboys off for a "time." One of them is shooting holes in the blue sky, and to the girl's startled inquiry concerning his target, he sweeps a broad combrero from his head and replies: "I'm shooting at the man in the moon, ma'am."

Which is just part of the picture. But when Miss Bouton graduated from the Sargeant School of Dramatic Art, before her first engagement with Nat Goodwin in "The Merchant of Venice," she went west on a pleasure trip. There was engine trouble at a Montana water tank, and, with a little group of friends, she started out for a walk in the light of the rising moon while repairs were being made.

But let Miss Bouton tell it, as she did to members of the cast after the particular scene was "shot."

"We were half a mile from the train perhaps, when the rattle of shots in the distance came to our ears. We paused and decided it would be wise to turn back. But," she continued, "we had gone scarcely half of the way when we were overtaken by three of the craziest men I ever heard or saw. They were yelling at the tops of their vocies and shooting into the sky.

"Then, suddenly, they quieted and rode close. One of them bared his head and smiled. He was a good-looking devil, too. And he was just as polite as he could be. Someone in out party asked him what all the noise was for.

"'Well, that's just a way of ours,' he replied. 'We don't make much noise exceptin' when we're on our way to town. But we don't mean no harm,'" he hastened to add.

"And so," concluded Miss Bouton, "I knew just how to do this part when the men come riding up at top speed, blazing away at the stars."

Then she added: "But in my part, the girl is really a westerner and she is not frightened. That part of it is different than my own experience, because I was never more frightened in my life."

Miss Bouton will be seen in "Not A Drum Was Heard," opposite Charles Jones, when the picture comes to the Regent Theatre for three days.

U.S. MAY INCLUDE CANADA IN QUOTA

WASHINGTON, April 17.—(Canadian Press).—Secretary of Labor Davis backed a move to apply the immigration quota law to Canada in a letter put into the House record to-day during the debate on quota provisions of the new immigration law.

Secretary Davis said that he had been advised by "prominent men in Canada," whom he does not name, that the Canadian people would gladly submit to a uniform rule with reference to the admission of aliens to the United States if that rule would exclude large number of people with a number of standards of living.

WEDDING BELLS

BURTON—CHURCH.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, April 16, at St. Paul's Manse by the Rev. Robt. Pogue, when Frank Edwin, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Burton, 489 Driscoll Terrace, City, was united in marriage to Dorothy Lillian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Church, of 96 Bond Street, Orillia. They were attended by Miss Lillian Bridgewater and Mr. Chris. Jay. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Orillia and points West. They will reside in the city.

BRITAIN SILENT ABOUT AMERICAN LEGISLATION

Thinking Soberly of Situation Created--Abrogated Japanese Alliance to Favor United States and May Be Now Further Drawn From Eastern Nation.

By Charles M. McCann, United News Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 17.—British officials are silent regarding the new American Legislation looking to the exclusion of Japanese but they are believed to be thinking soberly of the situated created.

A disagreement between the United States and Japanese would have serious repercussions throughout the British Empire, notably in Canada and Australia.

It would almost certainly renew the demand for creation of a great British naval base at Singapore.

Britain's embarrassment over the present situation is increased by the fact that when Britain abrogated the Anglo-Japanese Alliance she deliberately chose between the United States and Japan in the matter of picking her closest friend among the nations.

The British do not conceal the fact that they consider Anglo-American friendship the basis of their Foreign policy. There is no chance of an early change in this attitude as the British regard themselves and the United States as the only solid nations among the great western powers.

They consider that the two peoples are the greatest factors for world peace, which to Britain means trade and recovery of her economic system The British, however, like the Japanese. They know that Japan was deeply hurt when Britain abrogated the Anglo-Japanese treaty, although care was taken to emphasize that the Washington agreement meant that a quadruple alliance was replacing the old one.

Britain is thus likely to see herself drawn further from Japan, as she feels that she must maintain the friendship of the United States what ever happens.

Australia will certainly approve of the American action and if serious difficulties should arise between the United States and Japan, Australia will let Britain know publicly that she expects the mother country's co-operation in preparing for the future.

Japanese Indignant

A dispatch from Tokio says:

If Japanese exclusion provision is made a law by the United States, "we Japanese will feel that the Americans have spat in our face," Sadatsuchi Uchida, former Japanese ambassador to Turkey, declared to-day at a luncheon of the Pan Pacific club Another speaker, Viscount Shibusawa, eminent financier asserted that the action of the United States congress in adopting the Japanese exclusion clause has tempted him to revert to the "Americanophobia" of his youth.

Another Japan View

TOKIO, April 17. — (United Press).—"Friendship between Japan and the United States will remain unbroken although the record may be impaired by the passage of the the Japanese exclusion measures by Congress," Premier Kiyoura said yesterday.

The Premier indicated that the letter of Ambassador Hanihara which created a sanstion in the United States may have been interpreted in a way not intended by Japan and pointed out that it was written in a "language foreign to us."

SIR G. FOSTER TO VISIT CITY

He Will Give an Address on the League of Nations in the Capitol Theatre on Friday, April 25th.

Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and the executive of the League of Nations of this city Sir George Foster will be brought here on Friday, April 25th., to give an address at the Capitol Theatre at 7.30 o'clock on the League of Nations.

The date that was chosen happens to be the same night as the Motor Show but it has been arranged so as not to effect the Motor Show, which it is believed should be well supported. It is hoped that His Worship Mayor Turner will be available to occupy the chair.

EMPIRE EXHIBITION NEARS COMPLETION

LONDON, Apr. 17. Canadian Press Cable. — Visiting Wembley yesterday after a month's interval brought strong convictions in certain directions, principally that the British workingman when he is minded to "get a move on" can do things handsomely. The removal of the ban on over time has affected wonders and a really efficient hustle is visible every where. Nevertheless, it would be sheer exaggeration to assert that everything would be complete for the opening of the Empire Exhibition on Wednesday next.

The Canadian, Australian and the South African shows are all but complete.

On the opening day the King and Queen will motor from Windsor to the exhibition, and a fanfare from the Household Cavalry will announce their arrival. The Guard of Honor for their majesties will be comprised of representatives of the Home and Dominion forces.

The Prince of Wales, as president of the Exhibition, with Premier MacDonald and his cabinet, will receive the King and Queen. The Prince will read an address of welcome to which the King will reply. After prayer by the Bishop of London, the King will declare the exhibition open.

SMALL FIRE.

The Fire Department was called out yesterday afternoon to a grass fire on Sherbrooke street started by some small children playing with matches. The fire was extinguished before it did any damage.

They were also called out to a chimney fire at 10.30 this morning at 581 Chamberlain street. The stove pipes were also on fire, but no damage was done.

IN MEMORIAM.

DEWDNEY.—In loving memory of my dear sister, Mrs. Maud Dewdney, who departed this life on April 17th, 1923.

"She is with the angels, whiter than the snow,
Watching and waiting for loved ones below.
One year has gone since that sad day
When she we loved was called away.
It is enough, earth's struggles they had ceased,
And Jesus called her to Heaven's perfect peace."

SALVATION ARMY MEETINGS.

Good Friday morning the Salvation Army will parade through the principal streets from the Temple at 10 o'clock. The band will play hymn tunes, reminding the people of Good Friday, and what it has meant to the world, the great event, which took place some two thousand years ago. After the parade there will be a special service in the Temple at 11 o'clock.

Friday evening there will be a special song service given by the Temple Songsters, entitled "The Resurrection," at 8 o'clock. All are welcome.

INTERESTING SERVICE.

A very interesting service of the Women's Missionary Society of St. James' Methodist Church took place last evening in the Church School Hall, with a good attendance. After the devotional part of the program, an instrumental duett was rendered by the Misses Amy Fairbrother and Greta Welbourn, and an address given by Mrs. J. D. Richardson, who spoke on the Easter thankoffering, its significance and meaning to the W.M.S.

The feature of the evening followed, in a pageant entitled "The Spirit of Easter," a dramatic presentation of the need of women of non-Christian lands and the response of the Christian women of the world to that need. The pageant was well presented, and reflected credit on those taking part and upon Mrs. George Rowe, who trained them.

A substantial thankoffering was realized at last night's meeting.

Senate Rejected Amendment to Apply the Quota Law to Migrant Canadians—Theory and Spirit of Pan - Americanism Keeps Ports Free to Neighbors of Continent.

WELCOME MAT OUT.

WASHINGTON, April 19. — (Canadian Press).—By a vote of 69 to 12, the United States Senate late Friday afternoon threw out an amendment to the Immigration Bill which would have provided for application of the quota laws to countries of North and South America. The amendment, proposed by Senator Willis of Ohio, aroused vigorous opposition from both sides of the Chamber and was declared unnecessary in view of the small amount of immigration received from North and South America, as well as "subversive of the theory and spirit of Pan-Americanism."

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, insisted that countries of South and Central America bore a different relation to the United States than did those of Europe and were entitled to a radically different treatment. From the practical standpoint, he added, the proposal was faulty because of the trouble and expense it would entail in the guarding of the long Canadian and Mexican borders.

No Barriers Up.

"I hope," he said, "we can extend to Mexico the same system which has worked so well in Canada. That is, to have a free trade in persons across the border, and establish in Mexico, with her consent, immigration offices to inspect aliens landing there."

Senator Willis argued the pending bill would effectively shut the front door, but without his amendment would leave the "back gate" wide open. He declared more than 85,000 persons came to this country last year from Mexico. Mr. Willis said he regretted there would be no way to permit more free immigration from Canada, but added that under the quota basis that country would be allowed at least 20,000 immigrants to this country annually.

Persons passing continually between the borders of this and contiguous territories under the proposal would be allowed unlimited travel on signed permits from immigration officials.

Senator Reed said net immigration last year from Central America outside of Mexico was 725. A total of 1,275 persons entered here from those countries, he said, while 550 emigrated.

Opposed By West.

Western Senators generally opposed the amendment, declaring it would prevent the bringing in of seasonal labor for operation of the beet harvest and sheep shearing periods.

Senator Foss, Republican, Ohio, insisted different treatment must be accorded Central and South American countries and Canada, principally because of their geographic positions and their "very friendly relations with this country."

Sudden Hysteria.

Senator Jones, Democrat, New Mexico, belittled "this sudden hysteria" which has developed regarding the neighboring countries. "Our citizenship is not being contaminated," he said, "either by our neighbors on the north or south."

Senator Trammell, Democrat, Florida, deplored the effect of such an amendment on regulations between the United States and Cuba, while Senator Hale, Republican, Maine, asked that the full effect of the exclusion on "our friendly neighbor, Canada," be considered.

Stolen Cars Are Sold to Farmers

MONTREAL, April 19.—According to W. J. Inns, secretary of the Merchants' Association of Montreal, stealing low-priced automobiles in Montreal and selling them to farmers in Quebec and Ontario is the highly profitable business of a theft ring in this city. Mr. Inns states that only about ten per cent. of these stolen cars are recovered and that he had found an instance where a young fellow was employed at a per diem rate to steal automobiles.

FRENCH HEARTS WON BY PRINCE

British Heir Captivates Parisians By Unassuming Dignity—Helps Patch Up Entente Cordiale Founded By Grandfather.

PARIS, April 19. — (Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wales left at 7.30 last night for Le Toquet, where he plans to spend the Eastertide, nearly 30 hours behind the schedule he had originally laid out for himself. The Prince is finding it very hard to tear himself away from Paris where for the past five days he has had a real royal time in a becomingly regal manner. Incidentally, he has probably made the fortune of a young restaurateur who recenly opened a dancing establishments in Montmarte which the Prince frequented on four successive nights.

The Prince has made a great hit in Paris and is now as popular in the French capital as his grandfather who was the first Prince of Wales to enjoy real popularity among the French people. "Edward the Seventh made the Entente Cordiale; his grandson has done more in the past five days to patch it up than all the inter-allied conferences," was the way one afternoon newspaper expressed the Parisian view of the Prince's activities.

The boyish, unassuming attitude of the heir to the British throne and his dignified bearing at all times, have endeared him to the population of Paris. It is hard to be every inch a king when engaged in marathon dancing to the tune of ragtime music, but young Edward can come closer to it than many princes—and there have been many —who have visited Paris in the past five years.

OFFICE STAFF RESENT MOVES

London and Northwestern Railway Employees Are Transferred to London and Derby — Can't Get Houses.

LONDON, April 19.— (Canadian Press Cable.)— Recent amalgamations among the great English railways have caused a great deal of resentment among certain grades of the workers, notably the clerical staff because of the shifting that has been found necessary. The old London & Northwestern for instance, used to have its northern headquarters at Manchester, but since the merger with the Midland railway the northern control has been shifted to Derby and London. In the wake of the high officials who have been transferred there has naturally followed a considerable clerical staff many of whom, it is asserted, were bidden to move on the shortest notice, which, in the prevailing house famine, has caused dismay. It is asserted that many married men see no prospect of being joined by their wives and children for months and even years. The railway clerks' association which is now a powerful organization and is allied to the ordinary workers' unions, is making urgent representations to the companies.

GERMANS DELAY SENDING REPLY TO COMMISSION

Easter Recess and Prompt Invitation From Reparations Commission Found the Government Unprepared to Outline Program to Satisfy Experts' Proposals.

PRESS IS DIVIDED.

BERLIN, April 19.—(Canadian Press).—Just how soon the German Government will be able to submit a concrete program of the legislative and other official measures it proposes to enact in connection with its acceptance and execution of the reparation experts' proposals, depends on a variety of circumstances.

The unexpected promptness with which the Reparation Commission decided to invite Germany to give an immediate indication of the manner in which she proposes to put the new reparation plan into action, found the Government entering upon a four-day Easter recess. Until the Mark-Streesmann cabinet is in receipt of the official text of the Commission's resolution it will not attempt actively to envisage the entire range of issues involved in the scheme, and inasmuch as the Summons from the reparation body is apparently untimed, it is believed the Government will stress the obvious necessity of contemplating the relation of its legislative measures to the outcome of the forthcoming Parliamentary elections.

Government Censored.

The Nationalist newspapers are prompt to scent in the reparation board's speed action an indication of "French dominance" while on the other hand they charge the Government with having blundered into a blind alley in that it made unconditional acceptance of the experts' report a basis of the parleys.

The Socialist newspapers VORWAERTS takes a different viewpoint, declaring that "the resolution of the Reparation Commission is the most important political event since the conclusion of peace." It reiterates its demands that the German Government proceed forthwith to carry out the experts' recommendations and advises that the new Reichstag be convoked immediately after May 4, in order to give legislative approval to the Government measures. It pledges the undivided support of the Socialist Party in the Reichstag for the proposals, the acceptance of which it decalers initiates a fight against French imperialism.

Years of Extortion.

Dr. Helfferich, Nationalist leader, asserts that if the proposals are put into execution they will constitute a "second Versaillles" and the perpetuation of a policy of sanctions and extortions which Germany has been opposing for years.

The Tageblatt yesterday voices sharp objections to the proposal that Japan and Jugo-Slavia actively participates in the Reparation Commission, pointing out that such a procedure is at variance with the Treaty of Versailes and could only be adopted with the complete consent of Germany.

THE WEATHER.

Good Friday was a day of almost continuous rain. Several persons have asked me if it does not always rain on Good Friday. Being a little curious in that regard, I have looked up the conditions prevailing on Good Friday for over 25 years. On 14 occasions there was rain or snow; on five of the remaining days it was dull and overcast, and on but four occasions did the sun shine brightly. Easter Sunday on the contrary usually shows the reverse conditions. The rainfall yesterday totalled 1.31 (about one inch and a third). It brought joy to those who oversee our power and navigation, and to the lumbermen who have logs to come down, but it is hardly likely that the average farmer will show much elation. —W. P.

Father Nurse to Motherless Babe

MONTREAL, April 19—(Canadian Press).—The door of the Windsor Station which bears the sign "Women and Children Only" was pushed open this morning by a young Italian man and his four months' old motherless baby. They had travelled five days on the train from Lethbridge, Alberta, and are on their way to Italy. Learning there were facilities at the station not only for preparing the baby's food, but for washing his clothes, the father by noon had spread on two big radiators the child's complete wardrobe. The baby had been bathed also and its food made ready for the day.

"When did you learn to do this?" the father was asked.

"Three weeks ago I knew nothing. Now I have to do everything."

Then, referring to the baby, "He is called after his mother. Her name was Maria; he is Mario. See he can almost stand by himself," as the baby drew himself up, and father and baby both chuckled at the youngster's prowess.

ROYAL ASSENT TO 165 BILLS

First Session of Sixteenth Parliament of Ontario Was Prorogued Thursday—223 Bills Were Introduced.

TORONTO, April 19.—(Canadian Press).—The first session of the sixteenth Parliament of Ontario was prorogued Thursday afternoon by Sir William Mullock in the absence of Lieutenant Governor Cockshutt. Of the 223 bills introduced during the session 165 received the Royal Assent. The whole procedure except the short debate on the adoption of the report of the committees on Public Accounts was informal. Sir William Mulock was received with the usual salute. The galleries were not filled and no great crowd was present to see the closing.

In his address the closing the House the administrator of the province, Sir William Mulock, referred to the important bills which had passed the House. Before the formal closing proceedings, Hon. John S. Martin named the special committee which would sit during the recess on matters of economic as affecting agriculture. The members of the committee are as follows: Dr. Jamieson (South Grey), T. A. Thimpson (North Lanark) Trewartha (South Huron), Block (Addington), Keith (North York), MacBride (Brantford), Belanger (Russell), Lethbridge (Middlesex). Mr. Belanger is a liberal and Mr. Lethbridge a U.F.O. The others are Conservative.

AMBULANCE HIT BY TOURING CAR

Hospital Orderly Instantly Killed In Lachine—Glass From Windshield Severed Jugular Vein — Others Injured.

MONTREAL, April 19 (Canadian Press), — Ovila Chateauvert, 58, orderly of the St. Joseph Hospital, was instantly killed, the chauffeur suffered severe scalp wounds, and a motorist and two boys were injured, when the ambulance of that hospital, speeding to a sick cas in Montreal West, collided with a heavy touring car in Lachine on Friday afternoon.

Chateauvert met death when a piece of glass from the windshield of the ambulance was driven inches deep into his neck, cutting the jugular vein. He also suffered a fractured skull when thrown from the ambulance by the shock of the collision.

Giovanni Cuzzi, the motorist, was badly bruised and Phillip Cote, aged six, was cut about the face, while his companion, Paul Baudet, aged 7, sustained a broken leg, when the ambulance swerved across the sidewalk on which they were at the time of the accident.

The injured, with the exception of Cuzzi, were treated at the St. Joseph Hospital, and are not in a dangerous condition.

The ambulance was passing a corner when Cuzzi's car drove down on it at right angles. Neither could avoid the other and the ambulance was struck sideways, pitched on the sidewalk and turned turtle.

MUSIC WRITERS DECLARE RADIO TAKES PROFITS

Leaders Among American Song Writers Protest Against Bill That Would Permit Broadcasting Stations to Use Music Without Paying Royalties.

ASK PROTECTION

WASHINGTON, April 19. — Leaders among the popular music writers of the past and present, such as Irving Berlin, Victor Herbert, John Phillip Sousa, Gene Buck, Harry von Tilzer, Charles K. Harris, Raymond Hubbell, and William Jerome protested before the Senate Patents Committee against the Dill Bill which would allow radio broadcasting stations to use copyrighted compositions without the payment of royalties.

They begged the committee to report the Dill Bill unfavourably, saying that radio broadcasting had so destroyed the commercial worth of their products that song writing had decreased 50 per cent. in value during the last year.

The speakers for the composers also included Augustus Thomas, the playwright, and executive head of the Producing Managers' Association; E. C. Mills, chairman of the administrative section of the Society; Nathan Burkan, its counsel, and Ellis Parker Butler, author of "Pigs Is Pigs."

"There aren't but two song writers I know who own their own homes and an automobile," Mr. Burkan asserted.

"First the cabaret tried to steal our property, then the moving pictures attempted it, and now the radio is trying it,' said Mr. Buck. "We insist that the people who take our property and derive revenue from it must pay. The man who gives a thought to the world either through a book, a play, or a song, should be protected."

Played Ad Nauseam.

When Victor Herbert was introduced, Senator Ernst of Kentucky, the chairman, asked him to give his full name to the committee stenographer.

"Oh, I thought you had heard of me," replied Mr. Herbert with an Irish twinkle in his eye.

"I have heard one of my compositions, 'A Kiss in the Dark,' played eight or nine times in one night over the radio," he told the committee. "They play and play that ad nauseam. How can you expect anybody to buy it in printed form?"

"The Radio Corporation of America gets money doesn't it?" asked Mr. Sousa. "If they get money out of my tunes, I want some of it. That is all."

The era of "mechanical music," he added, had meant a loss to composers. He went on:

"My royalties in the days when sheet music was all that was sold used to run to $60,000 a year, but they have never touched that figure since."

When the song "Shoo Fly, Don't Bother Me," was famous, Benjamin F. Butler used the title in replying to one of his opponents in debate, Mr. Sousa said while speaking.

Augustus Thomas, who followed, said he remembered the exchange, as he was then a page boy in the he was then a page boy in the Senate. "Sunset" Cox was the member to whom Butler referred, Mr. Thomas said.

A song writer's songs might be more important even "that the farm bloc, the grain question, or the price of Fords," Mr. Thomas said, because "upon these materials things you subsist, but by song you advance."

Free Entertainment.

While radio was the greatest benefaction science had given to mankind, it was "the unfair competitor" of every other form of entertainment, Mr. Mills said. Radio was keeping 10,000 persons at home in the evening and giving to them free entertainment. Authors, as well as broadcasters, looked forward to a time when a charge could be made to persons hearing a radio programme.

"I love you," said Mr. Mills, looking straight at Senator Dill. "Now, Senator, there is nothing personal in that," he continued. "That's the name of a song that should have been a great money maker to its author. But it was strangled at birth by the radio in one night. The song was exhausted so far as I was concerned right then. Certainly no one would buy it after hearing it that often.

"It used to be that a song hit meant the sale of 3,000,000 or 4,000,000 copies of the sheet music, but now if we sell 700,000 we think we have made a great success. Boys and girls are not studying music nowadays. The mechanical instrument has taken the place of the piano. It's too easy to turn a crank or push a button, then roll back the rug and begin to dance to jazz.

Mr. Mills referred to the fact that Harry von Tilzer was the author of "Down, Down, Down Where the Wurzberger Flows."

Senator Ernest remarked, "That's a good one."

"You tell the world that's a good one—better than ever," replied Mr. Mills.

Mr. Butler took the ground that

JAPANESE JINGOES FROTH IN ANGER AT AMERICA AND URGE REPRISALS; EXCLUSION BILL PASSES U. S. SENATE

United States Vote 62 to 6 On New Immigration Bill, Which May Yet Be Modified in the Adjusting and Harmonizing of Difference in Phraseology in Senate and House of Representatives' Drafts.

COOLIDGE SILENT.

WASHINGTON, April 19. — (Canadian Press).—The Immigration Bill of 1924, carrying substantially the same provisions relating to Asiatic exclusion and other important changes in basic policy recently approved by the House, was passed last night by the Senate by a vote of 62 to 6.

On the final roll call, as upon every important test vote taken since the measure was first reported, the Senate registered its decision by a larger majority even than in the House, where the vote on passage was 322 to 71.

The six Senators opposing the bill in its amended form on the last roll were Chairman Colt, Rhode Island, and Weller, Maryland, Republicans, and Bayard, Delaware, Gerry, Rhode Island, King, Utah, and Walsh, Massachusetts, Democrats.

May Be Modified.

As it goes to conference, the new bill contains few changes which are expected to prolong discussion. Attention, however, has been called to the possibility of important changes being worked out there. Slight differences in phraseology exist between the House and Senate drafts in many sections, one of them the vital "Japanese exclusion" provision, and, while no evidence has been shown on either side of the capitol, of a disposition to recede in the slightest degree, parliamentary observers called attention to the possibilities offered for modifications in conference.

White House spokesmen declared President Coolidge had no comment to offer upon the Senate action, nor upon the situation which has grown out of the failure of Congress to accept the advice of the State Department against bringing the Japanese into the definitely excluded classes.

Senate's Restrictions.

The Senate bill was described by its author, Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, as "even more restrictive than that passed by the House." Both measures accept two per cent. of the census of 1890 as the basis for fixing quotas, but the House bill permits certain non-quota classifications which are not included in that of the Senate. Among the exceptions are the children and other dependent relatives of citizens, and skilled labor and families.

A maximum admittance of 150,000 a year is fixed by the Senate bill, against an estimated quota total of 162,000 in the Johnson Bill, exclusive of exemptions. Senator Reed estimated the House bill actually would provide for the legal admission of "twice the total" or 324,000.

Quotas Reduced.

These new estimates compared with the existing law, show a reduction of 220,000 under the Senate bill and of about 208,000 under the House measure.

Five points of variance with the House bill, which will be ironed out in conference, were pointed out to the Senate by Senator Reed.

Japanese Threats Would Be Foolish

PARIS, April 19.—"It is impossible to imagine any government or its representatives addressing a threat to the United States," said Viscount Ishii to the Havas Agency yesterday, commenting on the construction placed by some United States senators upon Ambassador Hanihara's note regarding the immigration question.

"Simple common sense prevents any such supposition," he added.

Viscount Ishii, who is now Ambassador to France, was formerly stationed in a similar capacity at Washington. Continuing, he said: "That is why no argument based on an interpretation of the Hamilton note as containing a threat toward the United States 'Government can be just or reasonable."

$20,000 POLICY DECLARED VOID

Metropolitan Insurance Company Wins Appeal On Ground Previous Medical Examination Was Delayed.

MONTREAL, April 19.—Because Dr. Bourgeois of Three Rivers failed to mention in replying to questions on an application for insurance that he had previously delayed a medical insurance examination on advice of a physician, the court of king's bench, appeal side has awarded a decision to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for twenty thousand dollars, the amount which the widow of Dr. Bourgeois, Dame Kiernan, claimed under an insurance policy issued on the life of her late husband. The appeal was made from a decision by Justice Dupleasis who had awarded the $20,000 to Dame Kiernan.

Dr. Bourgeois in reply to the question of whether he had ever been refused by any other insurance company replied "no," however, on January 24, 1918, five months before the last application, pourparlers had been started with the Canada Life Insurance Co., and on the advice of a physician he had delayed his examination on account of laryngitis.

Their Lordships claimed this fact should have been mentioned and that it rendered the policy null and void.

"Japan Is Last Nation to Tolerate a National Disgrace," Declares One Newspaper and Another Utters Minatory Comment on Disruption of Peace on the Pacific When Japan's Conciliatory Attitude Is Ignored

BUSINESS MEN ACT.

TOKIO, April 19.—(Canadian Press).—Definite reactions are coming from business men whose views on Japanese exclusion from the United States were expressed by the action of the Tokio Chamber of Commerce. Resolutions of the Tokio chamber were addressed not only to United States business bodies, but also to the Government. The urged further efforts to conciliate the United States and cause a reversal of Congressional action on exclusion. The Tokio chamber is drafting resolutions and program from presentation to the national meeting of Chambers of Commerce at Kyoto, April 22.

The renewed decline of the yen and drops of Japanese bonds on the New York market are causing some alarm in the business world, although the majority are confident that these phenonomae are temporary.

Jingoes' Chorus.

The Jingo newspapers appeared with fresh outburst Friday.

The Kokumin says: "The Japanese people must prepare for whatever sacrifices the adjustment of the situation demands."

The Yamato states: "The nation must decide now whether Japan will submit to this insult from America, or show the world that Japan is the last nation to tolerate a national disgrace."

"The case is hopeless," says the Nichi Nichi. "The question has become the gravest in Japanese foreign relations. American Senators attack Ambassador Hanihara's letter, but that is merely an excuse for their action. They are trying to shift the blame for exclusion to the Ambassador. How can peace in the Pacific be safeguarded if Japan's conciliatory attitude is ignored?"

SCHOOL GIRL BOOT-LEGGER

Employed By Ring of Rum Runners In Carrying Liquor Between Manitoba and Ontario.

KENORA, Ont., April 19.—A demure young school girl, 15 years of age, with a battered telescope bag, furnished the police of Kenora with the solution of a mysterious "liquor leak" between this province and Manitoba.

In the bag were four gallons of almost pure alcohol.

For some time local police authorities have maintained a close watch on all incoming trains in an effort to locate the traffickers, but until Wednesday their efforts had proved absortive.

As the bobbed hair young miss stepped from the train, one of the waiting police officers heard a faint clink from the bag she was carrying. When approached the girl claimed to be visiting a sick grandmother asd tried to evade further interrogation. Not satisfied, the police officer searched the bag where at the bottom reposed the key to the mystery.

The girl gave her home as Molson, Man., and said she had been employed by a Manitoba bootlegging ring, which specialized in using young girls as transporters of liquor She was placed in the custody of the juvenile authorities pending further investigation.

The Motor Show Messenger

Vol. 10 SATURDAY, APRIL 19, 1924 Price No Cent

We know it is a little trouble to clean your car, and it may inconvenience you to drive your car in the Motor Show Parade on opening night, APRIL 23RD.

But remember these two things—"It is better to give than to receive" and "Service before self."

The children love a parade, and it certainly awakens the public to the fact that there is a Motor Show.

Every cent that you spend at the Show goes to help an underprivileged child, and you cannot expect a few to do all the work.

We want ALL to help.

ASTHMA NEVER CAME BACK

Since Taking The Fruit Treatment in "Fruit-a-tives"

Read this letter from Mrs. J. M. Pennington of New Rockland, P.Q. "In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered during the winter. I began having choking spells and would just gasp for breath and could not speak. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

In the spring of 1920, I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" and soon the choking spells became easier and I have not had one since May 7th, 1920. It is such a relief to be able to go to bed and have no thought of having to get up in the night for an hour or more as I did all that winter, but never have to now, all because I take a "Fruit-a-tives" tablet every night.

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Campbellford Men Visit Hastings Lodge--Death of Mrs. Walker.

HASTINGS, April 19.— Mr. Robert A. Dunk, D.D.G.M., of the I.O. O.F., of this district, accompanied by Messrs. Percy Sherwin, S. A. Maguire, George Salter and Robert Buller, all of Campbellford, visited Hastings Lodge, No. 273 ,on Monday evening, and installed the following officers for the year.

After the meeting was over, lunch was served in Bird's restaurant. Those elected were:

I. E. Kelly, N.G.
S. Stickles, V.G.
R. C. Doxsee, R.S.
Alex. Wilson, F.S.
C. R. Fowlds, Treasurer.

The local Order will install the minor officers at a meeting here in the near future.

Moved to Toronto.

Mr. Sherman Scriver has rented his house and lot to Mr. W. Walsh, and has left here for Toronto, where he intends taking up his residence. Mrs. Scriver and sons Cecil and Lloyd, are leaving next week for Toronto to join Mr. Scriver there.

A Bush Fire.

A small fire of an unknown origin was found in the Roman Catholic cemetery on Wednesday morning about 10.30. A large space of the grass on the north side of the cemetery was scorched and before much headway had been made by the blaze sufficient help arrived on the scene, thereby etxinguishing the fire before any serious damage was done.

Easter Services.

Special Easter services will be held in the Methodist Church on Easter Sunday. In the morning the service will be taken by the children on behalf of the Mission Band.

Miss Helen Cairns, of Campbellford, will speak in the church in the evening in connection with missionary work, this service being in charge of the Women's Missionary Society and the Circle Girls. Readings, solos and choruses, will be a part of each service.

Class Entertained.

The Hustler Boys' Bible Class of the Methodist Church were entertained at the Parsonage on Tuesday evening by their teacher, the Rev. M. L. Hinton. About twenty-five members were present, and a very enjoyable time was spent in games, etc.

Before the close of the evening's enjoyment Mrs. Hinton served dainty refreshments.

Mrs. Walker Dead.

News was received of the death, in Smith's Falls, of Grace Sharpe, wife of Mr. Walker, of that town. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her sorrowing husband, three small children (one an infant, only a few days old), her mother and several brothers and sister.

Mrs. Walker is well-known in Hastings, having been born and brought up here until the time of her marriage, when she removed to Smith's Falls.

The funeral will be held in Hastings.

SPRINKLER.

A watering pot, such as you use for flower gardens, is an excellent device for sprinkling the clothes.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Richard Moore Dead from Pneumonia -- A Quiet Holiday.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 19. — The death is reported of Richard Moore, a farmer of Morganston, who passed away Thursday after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was about 65 years old. The deceased is survived by his wife and five children, four sons and a daughter. The sons are: James, in business in Michigan; Clifford, of Cobalt, and Frank and Percy at home. The daughter, who is married, lives in the township of Haldimand.

A Quiet Holiday.

Rain, which fell steadily all day, prevented the carrying out of all plans for the celebration of Good Friday and with all places of business closed, an unusually quiet day was spent. The football team that was to come from Peterborough for the opening game of the season, did not show up and there were no other athletic events.

It is announced that a meeting will be held some time next week to organize a lacrosse team, as there is plenty of material here. A number of local players will be taken over by other towns unless there is a call for their services in Campbellford.

Personals.

Ralph K. McGregor, of Streetsville, is spending the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McGregor, Front street.

Miss Mabel Anderson of the Northwest Lands Department, Ottawa, is spending the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, Canrobert street. Before returning to Ottawa, Miss Anderson will visit her sister, Mrs. Percy Gillespie of Toronto.

George L. Thring is spending a week with friends in Springfield, Mass.

FIREMEN KILLED IN CHICAGO FIRE

CHICAGO, April 19. — Canadian Press. — A huge four story brick wall crashed down and plunged nine firemen to death in a fire last night. A new steel water tower had been erected by the firemen just under the wall. Those who were killed were stationed on the tower. Fighting the flames with hose from an elevated position, without a note of warning the wall collapsed, burying the tower and the men under tons of debris.

The blaze was in a noted southwest side landmarket known as Curran's Hall. Fifteen firemen are reported to be injured.

The work of the rescue party was hampered when the entire neighborhood was plunged into darkness and by the fear that two huge side walls that tottered inward, might fall at any moment, burying the rescuers beneath them.

Ten patrol wagons and ambulances and squads from the detective bureau and whole corps of doctors and nurses from the county hospital were hurried to the scene.

White-robed surgeons flitted about in the smoke administering opiates to wounded men who could not be extricated from the smouldering ruins.

The water tower, which has been placed in front of the building, was wrecked when the building collapsed, and a dozen more firemen and spectators who had crowded through the police lines, were struck by bricks and stones. Some of these were believed to have been killed or injured so badly that they may die.

DEBATE ON INDIA HAS ROUSED THE NATIVES

BOMBAY, April 19. — Great disappointment is expressed by the native newspapers over the debate in the British House of Commons Tuesday. The Moderates are particularly cast down over the Government's rejection of the proposal that a commission be sent to India to inquire into the native grievances and arrange a plan as to how far they could be met.

Extreme journals bitterly attack the whole Indian policy of government since the Laborites came into power declaring that all hope of salvation through the present administration must be abandoned.

LIGHTNING HIT HASTINGS HOME

Strange Incident on Good Friday -- Occupants of House Stunned

HASTINGS, April 19.—A startling incident occurred in the early hours of Good Friday morning, when the home of Mr. L. T. Huycke on Water Street was struck by lightning. Only one crash of thunder was audible, and there was no sign of an electric storm. About 2.30 in the morning the lightning struck the west chimney of the house, passing through a rafter of the roof to the south side. In the room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Huycke the stove pipes were knocked down, the plaster being torn off the room and holes were pierced in the walls. A ball of fire is supposed to have passed over the foot of the bed. The occupants of the house were all stunned with the electric shock, and the telephone wires were burned. No fire resulted. The reason given for this is that the lightning followed the electric light wires to the ground. tOher telephones in the different residences along the same street are also out of order, which is possibly due to the effect of the flash that caused the damage done in the Huycke home.

School Meetings.

The meetings held in the four school sections here in regard to a consolidated school for Hastings were on an average fairly well attended. Dr. Karr, of Toronto, addressed the meetings, giving much the same explanations as he gave here some time ago.

On Wednesday afternoon he was present at Fleming's School in Percy Township. The ratepayers and those in attendance were very enthusiastic, and decided to vote on the question in January next.

In the evening he journeyed to the Dutch Line School in Percy. This meeting was fairly well attended, but very little interest was taken by those present, no questions were asked Dr. Karr, and nothing was done in regard to taking any interest in consolidation whatever.

The meeting on Thursday afternoon in Fife's School, Asphodel Township, was not largely attended. A sewing bee in the neighborhood was no doubt the cause of same. Those who were present were very much interested and the question was discussed with great enthusiasm. Here it was decided that as soon as it was convenient a deputation would go to Tweed to see the consolidated school in that place.

Elgin School in Asphodel Township was perhaps the most largely attended meeting of the four, and all present were very much pleased and interested in the matter. Many questions were asked by the ratepayers, and many things were explained by Dr. Karr which were not quite clear to those interested. Here also it was decided to have some of the section go to Tweed, the nearest consolidated school to Hastings, to inspect it and get any information possible regarding the school. No vote was taken at any of the meetings so that nothing definite was done.

Those interested here still intend to work on the school question and also intend going to Tweed at the earliest time convenient.

NEWS FROM CAVAN AND THE DISTRICT

Cavan Women's Institute Held Annual Business Meeting.

CAVAN, April 19.— The annual business meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Tinney on Thursday afternoon.

The weather was unpleasant but there was a good attendance.. One of the most important items on the programme was the arranging for the sewing class, which will commence May the fifth and continue each afternoon for two weeks.

The class will be held in Cavan community hall. Four or five sewing machines were offered by different members for the use of the class.

Each member who attends the class must provide herself with one twelve inch ruler, a note book, pencil, pins, needles, thimble, scissors and tape line.

During the meeting, Miss McNeil read a very interesting letter from Miss L. Rorke, Japan. This letter had been written as an acknowledgment of gifts received received from Fairmount and Cavan Ladies' Aids and the Cavan Women's Institute. The letter had been read at the two former societies and passed on to the Institute. In this letter Miss Rorke described, in a very interesting manner, the work being done to help those who suffered in the earthquake and also told how that part of Japan, in which her works lays, is being rebuilt and cleaned up.

She also told to what use the money sent had been put. This letter proved very interesting to all present, and the Cavan people are looking forward to meeting Miss Rorke when she comes home on furlough next summer.

On May 27th the Institute will have a lady delegate speak to them at the home of Mrs. J. D. Hunter. Afternoon tea will be served.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected. Miss Bertha McNeil was re-elected as President; Mrs. F. M. Staples is Vice-President; Mrs. Harry Tinney is Secretary-Treasurer, with Miss Lillian Syer as assistant.

At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess served dainty refreshments.

Those present were: Mrs. I. Kennedy, Miss Eileen Hunter, Mrs. H. Keegan, Mrs. J. D. Hunter, Mrs. C. Carr, Mrs. Sisson, Mrs. C. Fee, Miss L. Staples, Miss H. Staples, Mrs. I. Douglas, Mrs. A. Elliott, Mrs. E. Armstrong, Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mrs. L. Sutton, Mrs. E. Syer, Miss L. Syer, Mrs. W. Douglas, Mrs. F. M. Staples, Mrs. Houston, Mrs. Tinney, Mrs. I. Wood, Mrs. L. Newton, Miss B. McNeil.

ALBERT SMOKE IS NINTH MAN

Ran Well For Fourteen Miles But Made Poor Finish.

TORONTO, April 19 (Canadian Press). — Rain and mud combined to make totally undesirable conditions for the 19 mile modified Marathon run under the auspices of the Bloor Street Business Men's Association yesterday afternoon.

About four miles of the course was through sticky mud, and nine of the 32 starters failed to finish.

John Cuthbert, an unattached man from Guelph, but an ex-Scottish tenmile champion, finished first, followed after an interval of one minute by Art Scholes of Chadsheig (A. C., Toronto.

Competitors in the race included the Province's best long-distance men, and the fact that the winners are regarded as men to be sent to the Canadian Olympic trials in Montreal, gave increased interest to the event.

Thousands of spectators braved a raging storm to line the course, and the runners did not lack encouragement.

Cuthbert's time was 1 hour 52 minutes, good considering the handicap of weather and course conditions.

Albert Smoke .of Peterborough, after running well for about fourteen miles and keeping among the leaders, tapered off near the finish, and was ninth at the tape.

LOWERED VITALITY

A Condition Following Indoor Confinement of Winter.

There are very few people who do not need a tonic at this season of the year. The reason for this is that whether in the home, the office or the factory, people who have been living throughout the long winter months in an atmosphere more or less vitiated, and as a result find themselves not up to their summertime health. Through the long months of winter your blood has been growing thin and poor. Closer confinement and lack of exercise have used it up and exhausted it. You are not as energetic as you could wish. Your work tires you and perhaps your digestion is none too good. Your nerves may be shaky and your appetite poor. All these things point to poverty of the blood. It is a scientific fact that if the blood of the strongest is tested in the spring there is less of it and it is poorer than it was in September. The spring medicines of our grandmothers—sulphur and molasses, salts and the like—recognized the necessity for aid at this season, but were an unscientific attempt to cleanse the blood. Modern medical science has found a better way. Dr. Williams 'Pink Pills make new, rich blood at the first dose and at every dose afterwards. Thus they strengthen every organ of the body and give new vitality to the jaded system. Here is proof. Miss Clara Cheslock, High Falls, Que., says:—"I was in a much run-down condition and my blood was thin and poor. I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I must thank you for the good they did me. I never enjoyed better health than I have since I took them."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MUSIC WRITERS

legislation such as the Dill Bill should be delayed five or ten years because the radio was still in its infancy. If the copyright was broken down in the case of music, written works might share a similar fate. Augustus Thomas had made the same point in regard to the use of plays over the radio without the payment of royalties.

Press Club Concert.

Reaching Washington last night, the group of about twenty-five music and song writers put on a "curtain raiser" at the National Press Club, where about 30 members heard them play and sing hits that have been famous during twenty years.

Victor Herbert played on a 'cello not only some of his own compositions, but lilting Irish melodies such as "She Sat in the Low-backed Chair," written by his grandfather and sung by him in this country years ago.

There was a whirl of applause when Gene Buck, as president of the society, introduced Charles K. Harris, who sang "After the Ball," "Just Break the News to Mother," "In the Vale of Shenandoah," and other of his successes.

Harry von Tilzer sang his Wurzberger song.

William Jerome rose when he was pointed out as the author of "Bedelia" and "Mr. Dooley."

Just after Irving Berlin sang his new Music Box song "Lazy," there were cries for "Alexander's Rag Time Band" and "That Mendelssohn Tune."

Irving Caesar sang some of his songs: Con Conrad played and sang a medley of "Barney Google, "Mama Love Papa," and "Margie"; Walter Donaldson, "Carolina in the Morning"; Raymond Hubbell, "Poor Butterfly," and "Just My Style"; and Ollie Speaks, "On the Road to Mandalay."

Others who entertained were Jerome Kern, Silvio Hein, and Otto Harbach.

MEAT SUBSTITUTE.

Macaroni, noodles and spaghetti when combined with cheese, which contains the elements they lack, makes a perfect substitute for meat.

BLASPHEMY LAWS BEING ATTACKED

LONDON, April 19 (Canadian Press). — Home Secretary Arthur Henderson has given a sympathetic reply to a deputation which advocated the abolition of the laws against blasphemy.

An agitation to bring this about has proceeded intermittently for at least thirty years.

Perhaps the most persistent advocates of the abolition are high churchmen, their main objection being that laws against blasphemy work for the protection of one particular religion, not for religion in general. They also maintain that speakers making statements which outrage decency can be dealt with under common law.

CLEANING BRASS.

Unlacquered brass can be cleaned by washing in warm soap suds, then rubbing with salt and vinegar.

THE MOTOR SHOW.

Although the plans for the annual Motor Show are more ambitious than ever before, and insofar as the exhibits and entertainment features are concerned, it is safe to prophesy that a new level will be reached, the success or failure really depends upon the people.

There is one primary object in holding the Motor Show—to make money for the Peterborough Health Association.

That puts the issue squarely up to the citizens.

Without a large attendance each night the desired result cannot be attained, and it is the duty of every citizen who recognizes the value of the Health Association—and who is there who does not?—to patronize the Motor Show all three nights if possible.

There will be something new at each visit, for the Kiwanians and Rotarians are taking a hand in the entertainment features and dull moments should be few.

The Health Association is deserving of wholehearted support from the community, and that can best be offered by a record attendance next week.

THE SECOND BATTLE OF YPRES.

The Great War Veterans' Association will observe the anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres and honour the memory of the men who laid down their lives in that engagement by attending service at St. Peter's Cathedral tomorrow morning.

It is fitting that this anniversary should be recognized by Canada's veterans.

It was the Second Battle of Ypres that brought the war to Canada—and to Peterborough.

Before April 22, 1915, it was difficult to realize that this country was really involved in a world war.

True, the First Division had been mobilized, had crossed the Atlantic and finished its training in England, and the Second Division was also a reality.

It was known, too, that the Canadian troops were in France and had had some front-line experience.

But it was not until the word came that the Maple Leaf division had filled the gap in the line at Ypres and had suffered heavy losses in a terrific battle, in which "their gallantry and determination undoubtedly saved the situation," to quote from the official statement, that the Canadian people first realized what the war meant and was going to mean to them.

The anniversary of the Second Battle should never be forgotten in this country, and the G.W.V.A. in attending divine service on the Sunday nearest to the actual anniversary each year is to be thanked for its part in bringing the significance of the occasion before the public.

VOTE FOR THE BYLAW.

On Wednesday of next week the municipal voters of Peterborough will be asked to express their opinion of a bylaw extending the present assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company for about three and one-half years, in return for which the company undertakes to spend between $380,000 and $400,000 on an addition to the plant.

The Examiner unhesitatingly voices its opinion that it is in the best interests of Peterborough that this bylaw should be passed, and by a very substantial majority.

The Canadian General Electric Company has been a factor of the first importance in the development of Peterborough.

It is true that this city has dealt generously with the company, but the concessions that have been made have been in the nature of an investment that have earned rich dividends.

Without a plant of this magnitude Peterborough's status today would have been vastly different.

The city and the plant have grown together, and it is reasonable to assume that the expected expansion on a large scale of the General Electric establishment will continue to be matched by a corresponding growth in the size and importance of Peterborough.

The chance of anchoring the new company here is too good to be missed.

The General Electric Company, which has taken over the Canadian company, is a huge industrial concern, operating 47 plants and employing 175,000 people.

When an industry of that calibre starts in on plant expansion there is no telling to what extent its plans will develop, and Peterborough cannot afford to take any chances of not being chosen as a suitable location for the bigger factories that will undoubtedly be needed.

Vote for the bylaw next Wednesday—it opens the way to a bigger city.

WASTED MERCY.

The action of the Solicitor-General in ameliorating the sentence of 25 years in penitentiary and 20 lashes imposed by a judge upon a bank bandit has been condemned by a Montreal jurist as "a serious blow to the good administration of justice."

The circumstances would seem to suggest that the judge is justified in his remark.

The prisoner had been convicted of holding up and robbing a branch of the Molsons Bank, and the trial judge inflicted a sentence that he thought would have a deterrent effect upon other criminally-inclined people who might consider banditry as a profitable and fairly safe occupation.

Hence the lashes—which, according to the opinion of most law-enforcement officers and the statements of more than one crook, are more feared by criminals than a long term in prison.

For some reason or other the Hon. Mr. McMurray has seen fit to order the lashes lifted from the sentence, and most people will agree with Judge Monet that this action is "excessively regrettable."

The bandits infesting this Continent at the present time cannot be dealt with on humanitarian lines, such as might well be used in treating with ordinary offenders.

These gun-toters are killers.

They do not hesitate to shoot down bank messengers in cold blood without giving them a chance for their lives.

The recent outrage in Montreal shows that they are ready to kill in order to execute their plans.

No half-measures will do in dealing with such men; mercy is lost upon them.

They must be punished in a way they dread most in order that their brothers in crime may be made to understand what they are facing.

THE DAWES REPORT AND CANADA.

Germany has signified her intention of giving assent to the report of the Dawes commission. Britain will do the same, says the London Advertiser.

Britain has all along been prepared to meet the spirit in which this report is written, viz., placing the whole matter on a business basis.

German officials in some instances are inclined to think that the nation will not be prepared to stand the reparations payments, there being, according to one Provincial Premier, "a pronounced feeling of depression over the burdens that eventually will be imposed on Germany."

There can be no question but that Germany will have to carry her share of the burdens; any report that did not include that could hope for nothing but short shift. Britain has been carrying and paying her full share of the war burden and more. When Germany gets under her own burden on terms that are fair and just she will be able to carry the load.

When she gets to the stage where she can start to pay off her indebtedness from her own efforts, Germany will begin once more to rebuild her fortunes on a fair basis, and that is all Britain has ever desired.

The general acceptance of the Dawes report should mark a turning point to better world conditions. Business has staggered on in spite of conditions, rather than by their assistance. It has waded through depreciated currency and paper money that had a value in comic opera terms only.

Now there seems to be a chance to make the turn. It will be good news for the world when consideration gives way to acceptance. It will be good news for Canada, because Canada, in her world trade, feels every depressing influence, and is equally receptive to favorable events.

Canada is particularly interested because this country, of all others, is prepared to take advantage of any favorable turn in the world's markets. We have a producing population and we need markets.

TALKING BUSINESS WITH RUSSIA.

Ramsay MacDonald did well to clear the aid by plain speaking yesterday at the opening of the Russian conference. The striking thing about his speech was his denunciation of the campaign of propaganda which he broadly hinted Russia was still countenancing and encouraging. Yet there are hundreds of people who will ask, if Russia has directed such a campaign for the express purpose of encouraging revolution in Britain, how it came about that MacDonald rushed so precipitately into a "de jure" recognition of Soviet Russia as the first public act of his administration. Few men in Britain had a closer or a more intimate knowledge of the Third International than Ramsay MacDonald, and he must have known when he first gave his official sanction to Russian recognition that the campaign of the Communists in Britain—to which party some of his own followers belongs—was financed and directed by Russian gold and Russian brains.

So having offered "de jure" recognition in the first flush of his victory, Ramsay MacDonald implements his promise by calling the conference which opened yesterday. Since February, however, there seems to have been a swing back of the penduium of British sentiment, and, headed by the bankers and financial houses, people are beginning to ask what they are to get out of a hard and fast trade treaty. So Ramsay MacDonald checks his horses. Ht still wants credit for the generous gesture of recognition which was nectar to his Communist followers and a pleasing draught to the pacifists, but Trades Unionism is apparently not so universally eager for the resumption of trade relations as it was.

Russia is the half-way house on the road of railway communications between Rotterdam and Vladivostock, between England and Japan. Moscow is a centre from which radiates an international system of railways which connect with important countries in which much of the future history of the world will be written, such as China, British India, Persia, Mesopotamia, the Balkans and the Danube States. It would be fatal to overlook the wonderful future in store for Russia. As a matter of strict business without sentiment, Britain is doing a wise thing to get in on the ground floor.

So the plain speaking of Mr. MacDonald may lay the groundwork for a commercial treaty. Perhaps it would have been more honest to have been a little more outspoken about it and to have told the delegates that the propaganda is not all confined to the one side, and that if Soviet money helped the organization of the Clyde Communists, then Die-Hard money helped Denekine, Kolchak and others.

"Strictly business" should be the motto hung on the conference door, for it is easier to assay profits in dollars and cents than in ruined hopes and tears.—Montreal Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Remember the C.G.E. bylaw on Wednesday and the Motor Show on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Both should be supported.

The Public Accounts Committee inquiry has at least shown that there are such things as $1,000 bills—although few people ever seen them.

It looks as if the Public Accounts Committee might spend the next month or two in delving into the administration of Ontario's affairs with benefit to the people of the Province.

The people as a whole are not worrying about political reputations. They do want to know the identity of those who were profiting at the expense of the Province.

Young ball stars may come and go, but it will be noticed that the names in the headlines following the season's openings included Walter Johnston, Tris Speaker, Ty Cobb and Dutch Reuther.

C.P.R. IMPROVING STONEY SERVICE

Rail, Bus and Boat Service Linked Up For Summer Tourists.

LAKEFIELD, April 19.— Last year's bus service to Stoney Lake connecting with the C.P.R. at Peterboro and making two daily round trips to McCracken's Landing will be continued this year and there will be also a bus connecting with the C.P.R. and running through to Karwartha Park and Burleigh Falls. This will mean even better service to Stoney Lake than last year. The motor boat service to other lake points will be continued. It will be possible to buy C.P.R. tickets to any Stoney Lake point.

Lakefield Cemetery.

The annual meeting of the Lakefield Cemetery Co. was held on April 7th and the statements show a very successful year. T. T. Milburn has been appointed chairman to succeed the late H. C. Garbutt. W. J. Hull is the secretary and J. H. Sherin the treasurer. A new wire fence will be erected along the front of the cemetery and other improvements will be made. The financial statement is gratifying and shows ample provision has been made for perpetual care of God's Acre.

The financial statement is as follows:

Invested in Dominion Bonds, $2,-7000.00; cash on hand in bank, $875.-20. Total $3,575.20.

Since the meeting was held a $500 Ontario Bond has been purchased.

The receipts for the past year were $959.40, and the expenses were $551.14.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will have charge of the evening service in that church on Easter Sunday night. Mrs. (Rev.) A. J. Langford of Peterboro will give an address and the ladies will present their Easter Thankoffering. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Blackheads Go Quick By This Simple Method

Blackheads—big ones or little ones—soft ones or hard ones—on any part of the body go quick by a simple method that just dissolves them. To do this get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist — sprinkle a little on a hot wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—and wash off. You'll wonder where the blackheads have gone. Pinching and squeezing blackheads only open the pores of the skin and leave them large and unsightly—while the simple application of peroxine powder and the water dissolve them right out, leaving the skin soft and the pores in their natural condition.

BLIZZARD BLOCKS WESTERN STREETS

WINNIPEG, Man. April 17 (Canadian Press). — With a blizzard of mid-winter proportions raging in Winnipeg, and district, the storm which began last Tuesday with a mild, drizzling rain, sleet and snow, reached its height to-day.

It is the first severe storm of the season, and is certainly the heaviest April snowfall in the history of the city.

A bleak north wind has swept this district for the past 36 hours, piling light snow into drifts along the sidewalks and roadways, rendering both pedestrian and street traffic difficult.

The electric railway service was partly disorganised this morning and for the first time during the winter season, the company has been obliged to call its snow ploughs into service.

Forecasts are for stationary or higher temperature, with the storm, according to reports, moving westward.

DEATHS BY SUICIDE REACH BIG FIGURES

Many Overworked Business Men Included in the List.

NEW YORK, April 19.—(Canadian Press).—Placing the number of deaths by suicide in the United States last year at between 15,000 and 16,000, Dr. Harry M. Warren, president of Save-a-Life League, in his annual report, attributed the majority of the efforts of self-destruction to the "jazz spirit of the times" and the failure of many parents, teachers and clergymen to impress upon children the sanctity of human life. "During the past five years," Mr. Warren says, "about 4,000 children, between the ages of five and eighteen, have been on the suicide list. One girl made twelve different attempts to die. Most of these children and young people ended their lives because of unhappy home conditions, unpleasant school experiences, youthful marriages (500 last year in the United States at the age of 15 being listed as widowed or divorced), and the jazz spirit of the times. The lives of many are highly emotional. Life becomes one whirl of gaiety and excess. So long as people, young or old, continue at this high pace of living we may not be surprised at even a greater harvest of suicides."

Statistics gathered by the League show that among the suicides last year were 62 physicians, 48 lawyers and judges, 14 ministers, 64 bankers and owners of large business concerns.

Withstands punishment

RAILWAY crossings, stony roads, curb bumps, sudden braking and steep down-grade are typical of the numberless punishments that cause internal heat so destructive to both rubber and cords.

In Dominion Cord Tires you have always had the greatest dependability—but now, by our exclusive new Web Cord process, internal friction and heat caused by cross threads are eliminated.

Our new Sprayed Rubber process increases the elasticity and strength of the treads and side walls, because Sprayed Rubber is the purest rubber in the world. It is used exclusively in Dominion Royal Cord and U-cord Tires in Canada.

The extra mileage and dependability of these new features in Dominion Cord Tires are thoroughly proven by years of actual road tests. They mean no increase in the price of Dominion Cord Tires.

FERGUSON ANNOUNCES AUDIT OF RECORDS IN ALL THE DEPARTMENTS

Public Accounts Committee's Report Adopted By Government Before Formal Closing — Further Prosecutions Will Depend On the Results of Examination of Books--Province Suffered Heavy Losses In Bond Transactions--Premier Promises No Guilty Person Will Escape.

CRITICISM BY OPPOSITION.

TORONTO, April 19.—(Canadian Press).—Although the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature finished its sessions Thursday, Premier Ferguson announced in the House before formal closing proceedings that the Government, by auditing, would carry on investigations into all Governmental departments. If criminal actions were necessary he said the Government would not hesitate to institute them. The committee reported to the House the evidence taken before it on its eighteen sittings and made several suggestions and recommendations.

W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal Leader, and Manning Doherty, U.F.O. Leader, both stated that they did not concur in the whole report of the committee, believing that there had been some things omitted that might well have been reported.

Gifts From Corporations.

The committee in its report, which was considered by the committee half an hour before the House met, drew the attention of the House to the fact that certain officials in the public service of the Province "have received certain gifts, donations or loans from corporations or persons who have benefitted by way of commissions or profits on the sale of securities to the Province, and your committee recommends that these cases be considered by the Government."

J. A. Currie, in the committee, thought the clause should be made stronger and the Government advised to take action against these persons. The committee by nine to four on a vote decided against the stronger recommendation on the ground that the Government should take any action necessary and that it was not the duty of the committee to do anything else but report on evidence.

Fabrbicated Testimony.

The next recommendation of the committee was: "Evidence was taken before your committee from Alexander Ross and G. M. Hart, which they afterwards admitted to the committee was a fabrication, and it is recommended that these facts be submitted to the proper officers of the crown for appropriate action."

A member of the committee reminded the Chairman that these two men were promised immunity if they came back to the committee and told the truth. The Chairman said that that was the reason the report read "appropriate action."

Another clause of the report dealt with the profit of $100,000 made by D. K. Ridout of Toronto on sales of bonds to the Ontario Government, the opinion was expressed that there was a corresponding loss to the Province.

Loss to Province.

The next concerned, George R. Harris of Hamilton, and the purchase of succession duty free bonds purchased of him under the name of the Provincial Securities Company. "Your committee submit that the whole circumstances were fraudulent and have resulted in heavy loss to the Province of Ontario," says the report, which continues to say that the prices paid for the bonds from this firm were above market value and resulted in the company making a profit of $125,229.

The committee also reported that that there were grave irregularities in the transactions of G. H. Hart with the Province, involving a loss to Ontario of $25,000.

The latter part of the report, after ammdment at suggestion of members of the committee, follows: "The Treasury Department submitted a statement to the effect that the Province had lost on the purchase of inscribed stock and succession duty free bonds in England through Messrs. Aemilius Jarvis & Co. the sum of $570,072. H. G. Pepall, manager of the company, stated to the committee that there was no record of these transactions in the Ontario office and that the business had been carried on entirely in England, and that there was no one in Ontario at present who had any knowledge of the details thereof.

Paid for Influence.

"The committee have investigated as fully as possible the method of selling Provincial bonds, and have found that very large commissions have been paid to Governmental officials and others, claiming to have influence with the Government, to procure such transactions, and your committee refrain from making any report thereon as the matter is now in the hands of the Crown for Prosecution."

The following motion was added to the report at the request of members of the committee:

"Your committee also regret to report that Messrs. C. A. Matthews and L. C. Mason, although subpoenaed, were not produced before this committee, and your committee recommends vigorous action against them."

This latter clause before being added brought the remark from D. Carmichael, M.L.A., that it was a clumsy piece of police work that allowed Mr. Matthews to escape. Chairman Finlayson said that other members of the committee felt as warmly as Mr. Carmichael on the matter.

Opposition Objections.

In the House after the presentation of the report, Manning Doherty and Mr. Sinclair objected to it not containing a direct reference to the Home Bank deal with the Government in September, 1919, of the four million dollar loan. Mr. Price pointed out that neither had there been anything said about the commission paid to the Aemilius Jarvis firm as there might be actions coming out of them. Premier Ferguson, after discussion on the report had ceased, said that the Government had auditors at work in the various departments and that the number would be increased.

"The courts are open to us, and if developments warrant it we will not hesitate to get the law in motion." The Government, he said, would not hesitate to take action against any man whether Conservative, Liberal or Farmer. He thought the report of the committee proper in not referring to criminal proceedings.

The report was adopted by the House after the Premier's speech.

MUSSOLINI MAY ALTER CABINET

The Ministers of War and Marine May Retire — Other Changes Rumored Is Post-Election Gossip.

ROME, April 19.—There is much gossip in political circles over the possibility of Cabinet changes as an outgrowth of the recent overwhelming Fascist election victory, with an insistent feeling that General Diaz and Admiral Count Thaon Di Revel, respectively the Minister of War and Minister of Marine, will retire from office. The likelihood is pointed to of Signor Federsoni, Minister of the Colonies, replacing Signor De Nicola, as president of the Chamber of Deputies.

Should the War Minister resign, it is considered likely that his place will be taken by General Giardino, Military Governor of Fiume, with General Cavallero, one of the Foremost Italian military men, also mentioned.

It is believed that the post of Minister of National Economy will be abolished and its functions absorbed by the Ministry of Finance, under Professor De Stefani. According to the gossip a new portfolio will be created—Air Minister—and it is expected that this will be held by Aldo Finzi, while the office which he will leave as Under Secretary of the Interior, will be abolished.

Has Your Husband Got Indigestion?

Nothing creates domestic discord quicker than an attack of indigestion, and nothing gets rid of indigestion quicker than Bisurated Magnesia. No man can be sweet tempered, good natured or even fair minded when his stomach is constantly sick, sour, gassy, and upset with after-eating distress. If your husband has stomach trouble neither scold nor pity him, but help him by seeing that he has a supply of Bisurated Magnesia (either powder or tablets) constantly at hand. A teaspoonful of powder or two tablets taken in a little water after meals will instantly neutralize the acids in his stomach that are causing his trouble and he can enjoy his meals with no more fear of indigestion. Bisurated Magnesia is the special form of Magnesia used by thousands to neutralize stomach acidity and quickly overcome Indigestion—do not confuse with Milk, Carbonate, Block or Citrate of Magnesia. Insist on Bisurated. Its action is safe, prompt and sure and it can be obtained at small cost from any reliable drug store.

COURT AWARDS HIGHER PRICE

Possible Development of Corner Property Considered Above Municipal Valuation In Expropriation.

QUEBEC, April 19.— Municipal valuation though it may be used to a certain extent as a basis for expropriation proceedings is not the only factor in setting the price at which property may be purchased in the public interest.

The court of appeal basing its decision on this principle, maintained an appeal entered by Colestin Cote against a decision of Justice Letellier putting the valuation of his property appropriated by the Catholic School Commission at $18,000.

Their Lordships maintained the appeal on the ground that the municipal valuation which had been the main argument in fixing the price was not the most important factor in such matters. The court stated the fact that the property owned by Mr. Cote was located at the corner of a street at a point where commercial development was possible justified him in seeking a higher price than the one granted though such development had not yet taken place and though it might not affect justly the expropriation proceedings. As a result the Catholic School Commission was ordered to pay $22,000 instead of $18,000.

JAPANESE RADIO.

Radio in Japan has begun to take popular interest only since December 20, when the government first authorized broadcasting. Newspaper and banks are planning such stations, but it is hard to tell to what extent this will go, according to a consular report to the U. S. Department of Commerce.

SATISFIED MOTHERS

No other medicine gives as great satisfaction to mothers as does Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets equally good for the newborn babe or the growing child and are absolutely safe. They cannot possibly do harm—always good. The Tablets are mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus relieve baby of any of the minor ills of childhood such as constipation, indigestion, colds, colic, etc. Concerning them Mrs. Arthur Fillion, St. Sylvestre, Que., writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets have been of wonderful benefit to my baby who was suffering from constipation and indigestion. I always keep the Tablets on hand and would advise all mothers to do likewise." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HON. PETER SMITH A RETIRED FARMER

Sold His Farm Early This Year, Having No Further Use For It—His Election Speeches Recalled.

STRATFORD, April 19.—In February of this year the Hon. Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer, evidently came to the conclusion that he need never go back to farming in order to make his livelihood. He cut himself off from his pre-1919 occupation by selling his hundred acres to a nephew. Four years had wrought a great change in the life and times of the Downie Township cattle breeder.

Before the U.F.O. agitation landed the Hon. Peter into control of the Provincial finances he was working along with a $3,000 mortgage on his land and professing a great love for the soil and his fellow-tillers thereof. He was constantly exciting them during the 1919 election campaign with stories of their downtrodden lot and the callousness displayed to ward them by the Government in power at Queen's Park. He predicted that his election would bring about a change for the better.

Change for Better.

The election did bring about a change for the better for one Downie Township farmer. That farmer was Peter Smith himself. A luxurious home in Stratford, a fleet of motor cars, payment of the mortgage on his farm and money to start a substantial glass and mirror factory were the outward evidences of the improvement. That was what his former farmer neighbors could see at the time. Since then they have, of course, discovered that he also accumulated fat bank accounts and other investments. And on top of that comes news that in February of this year he considered that he had reached a position where farming and cattle raising could be discarded forever.

"A Bleeder."

The former neighbors were reminded by the evidence of the Public Accounts Committee of Peter's oft-repeated promise to bleed the big corporations if he ever got a chance. They felt that he had made good on one of his promises, at least. The Province seemed to be the corporation to which he had administered the bleeding process, and the Province, of course, means all the people of the Province, including themselves.

FOUR YEAR SENTENCE FOR CHURCH ORGANIST

OWEN SOUND, April 17 (Canadian Press). — F. W. Timms, former organist of Knox Presbyterian Church here, and former Director of Music in Owen Sound Public Schools, was to-day sentenced to four years in Portsmouth Penitentiary by Magistrate Creaser after having pleaded guilty to serious charges growing out of his relations with two girls under sixteen years of age.

Timms admitted his guilt last week, but a Crown alienist was asked to report on his condition.

Examination showed that he was sane, and in a fit condition to be tried and sentenced.

Both girls were studying music under Timms.

BELMONT MOONSHINERS PAY $704 TOLL TO O. T. A.

Raid By License Inspector Stewart and Excise Officer Buller Bagged Three Farmers With Contraband Mash and Utensils--Pleaded Ignorance of the Law.

HAVELOCK, April 19.—Acting on information, License Inspector Stewart, accompanied by Excise Officer W. H. Buller, both of Peterborough, proceeded on Friday, the 11th day of April, to the homes of Robert Seeney, Arthur Zufelt and William McQuigge, who live in the township of Belmont, some 4 miles north of Havelock, and made search for illicit manufacturing and handling of liquor. The outcome of the visit was the arrest of the three men, who were brought to Havelock where bail was obtained guaranteeing their appearance for trial on the 16th of April and allowing the suspects to return to their homes.

The widespread interest created by the arrest was evidenced by the large crowd in attendance at the trial, which was held in the Town Hall, Havelock, on April 16th. Police Magistrate Langley presided.

The charge against Robert Seeney for selling liquor which was not legally made was the first case called. The charge was cut down to selling liquor withotu a license, to which the accused pleaded guilty through his solicitor, Mr. Wearing of Peterborough. The Magistrate drew the attention of the accused to the seriousness of the infringment of the O. T. A., and warning him of the more severe penalty should he again be convicted, handed out a fine of $300 and costs, amounting in all to $327.76.

Mr. Wearing asked His Worship to reconsider the fine as it appeared very severe for the first offence, and pointed out that the accused had pleaded guilty. His Worship reduced the fine $50, making it $250 and costs.

The charge against Arthur Zufelt for having in his possession wash or mash in process of fermentation suitable for the making of liquor was then heard.

Mr. Wearing appeared for the prosecution and accused pleaded his own case, The evidence of the Excise Officer and the License Inspector went to show that accused had about 30 gals. of mash in a milk can hidden under bedding in his bedroom. A sample of the mash was produced.

The accused in giving evidence on his own behalf claimed that he had set the mash to make beer for his own use and that he did not know that such an act was an infringment of the laws of the country.

The Magistrate in handing out the verdict of guilty said the court could not credit Zufelt's claim of innocence as to the wrongfulness of the action. Zufelt was fined $200 and costs, $12.40.

William McQuigge was charged with having in his possession a still.

The evidence of the prosecution went to show that a tin can fitted in such a manner as to act as a still and a quantity of copper tubing which fitted the opening from the can had been found in the home of the accused. Attention was drawn to the fact that the still showed signs of having been used, the bottom of the can plainly showing that it had been over a fire and the odor from the inside indicating the nature of its use.

The explanation made by accused as to how the can came into his possession was that he had found it in his hay-mow where it must have been for some time prior to his finding it, as it became uncovered while taking out hay to feed his stock. Accused claimed to have no knowledge of what it was or to what use it could be put.

The evidence of Mrs. McQuigge, the wife of the accused, supported this line of defence. The story told by accused and his wife at the time of the arrest was shown not to agree with the story as told at the trial.

The Magistrate in passing judgment said he would have to find the accused guilty under the Act and would fine the minimum penalty, $200 and costs, $14.15.

Why do you eat Bran?

TO FIGHT CONSTIPATION—the most dangerous condition your system can become chained to—to get free from bleary biliousness, dull headaches, nauses—etc., etc.!!!

Rid yourself of this dangerous condition—or start "slipping" and become a prey to any one of the most dreaded human ailments which have their beginning with constipation and toxic poisoning!

Fight constipation as you would fight fire! Fight it with bran—Kellogg's Bran—BECAUSE IT IS ALL BRAN! Don't temporize! Don't waste time and health by going half-way! You need ALL BRAN; you need the bulk, the "roughage" of ALL BRAN, because it sweeps, cleanses and purifies!

REALIZE THIS—foods with a part bran content can only relieve constipation in proportion to the amount of bran they contain! If they are 25 or 50 per cent bran—you may get 25 or 50 per cent relief!

REMEMBER THIS—Kellogg's Bran is ALL BRAN and is guaranteed to give you positive and permanent relief if you will eat two tablespoonfuls daily, or as much with each meal in chronic cases!

Don't delay; don't fuss with half-way measures! You have too much at stake! All grocers sell—

The Man Who Saves

At age 19 his bills exceed his income.

At Age 21 his Canada Life Policy creates an estate in event of death and saves his money.

At age 35—the age of extravagance—his "Lifis" include a "premium due," which, while counted as an expense, is really a saving.

At age 50 he can "spend" anything in reason.

At age 60 he has "saved" to some purpose, has no anxiety for the future, and leisure for his many interests.

If you look ahead you can easily picture how useful $30,000 would be to you.

This amount of money can be more easily saved than most people imagine, in this way:

If you were to start in and save $200 each six months and let it compound at 5½%—in 30 years you would have $30,000, but—you know of many people who could have set aside this amount, yet who are still "drudging along," with no hope of relief.

You know yourself how hard it is to save cash. Human nature is such that very few people allow ready money to remain untouched for any length of time. Therefore—

The Canada Life Plan

Provides that any sum you name will be delivered to you in cash at any age you desire, or to your beneficiary should you die in the meantime.

By this plan an IMMEDIATE ESTATE is created in event of death equal to the full face value of your insurance policy. You anticipate years of effort, capitalize your present health and earning power, and make certain of many years of progress now.

The Endowment at 65

issued by the Canada Life makes saving money attractive, systematic and very profitable.

You can be certain that the full amount—$2,000, $5,000, $10,000, or more—will be paid in any case, whether you live or not. Other investments may fail—the Canada Life Endowment is a certainty. It will take care of your home, your business, your children's future, or yourself, as nothing else can.

Profits Will Hasten Maturity

If the profits are allowed to remain each year, instead of being withdrawn and spent, a special clause provides that the face value of the policy will be paid some time well in advance of the due date.

Regular saving, an immediate estate in event of death, substantial profits, absolute safety—this is a combination that you should look into today.

EASTER'S RESURRECTION

EASTER means to us life—new life—new life, and it throbs through all nature Every tree-trunk has become an aqueduct, up which water is rushing out of the moist earth. And we had thought it the natural thing for water to flow down!

From the dark earth there spring millions of eager growing blades and leaves, from where last fall were buried sere, dead roots and bulbs and seeds. Life from the dead, the living dead!

For ages the Spring miracle recurred, telling men, as well as nature—which had not been made for that purpose—could tell them of the possibility of life in and beyond death for them.

But men were afraid to trust to analogy and parables in matters of life and death, and went on, for the most part, doubtful, despairing of the existence of aught beyond the grave.

Until Easter Came! Then, when trees were budding, life was springing from the soil, a Man really did come back from the dead! Came back with a body bettered, fitted for another sphere of existence, for immortality. "Planted," said one who knew, "a natural body, it was raised a spiritual body," able to walk, to talk, to eat, to rise above the clouds! Able to live independently of the world!

Since that Easter Resurrection we have no doubt of our destiny. What Jesus Christ, the new Head, Representative, and Leader of our race did, we shall do. We, too, shall have our Easter resurrection to eternal life.

Whether it be to an eternity of happiness or of misery, depends on what we are when we are sown: "Good seed, good fruitage," is sound logic. If buried "holy, acceptable unto God" through His merciful forgiveness, then shall we rise to the glory of a blissful immortality.

Today, the world keeps the feast celebrating the resurrection of the Savior with a collection of the most thrilling of the old customs and traditions. They are full of poetry, and of the wisdom of the ages.

THE FIRST EASTER

AND when the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him.

2. And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun.

3. And they said among themselves, Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?

4. And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away; for it was very great.

5. And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment, and they were affrighted.

6. And he saith unto them: Be not affrighted. Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth which was crucified; he is risen; he is not here; behold the place where they laid him.

7. But go your way, tell his disciples and Peter that he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall you see him as he saith unto you.—St. Mark, 16.

"Easter" By Herbert

Rise, heart! thy Lord is risen. Sing
His praise
Without delays
Who takes thee by the hand, that thou likewise
With Him mayst rise—
That as His death condemned thee to dust,
His life may make thee gold, and much more just.

Clergymen of every denomination in the city were asked to submit short "thoughts on Easter" for this Easter page. The following responded:

Rev. M. C. Mackinnon. Easter brings a startling message, as striking as the deepest rembrandt colour contrast. You may not believe it, but Easter means that a mother may be glad at the grave of her child, or a friend at the grave of a friend. It was so on the first Easter Day when mourners rejoiced and turned from the grave, glad because they knew their dead were not dead but alive and still their own. It is so today.

Rev. Robert Pogue. An ancient legend tells us that when Jesus rose from the grave and walked forth from the tomb the lilies blossomed in His footsteps and everywhere bloom and beauty sprang up. That legend but faintly illustrates the blessings which follow in the path of the Easter Message. Wherever it goes, light, joy, peace and new hope spring up in all hearts.

THE JEWISH PASSOVER

IF the Christian housewife thinks she has something to grumble about in the spring of the year, when the attic as to be turned out and bureau drawers explored for obscure particles of dust, just let her think once of her Hebrew sister and she'll never say another word. For the Jewish housewife, on top of the spring house cleaning, has all the added duties which the celebration of the Feast of the Passover entails. And the Passover week practically involves a culinary revolution.

For some time now the women in orthodox Jewish families of this city have been busily engaged preparing for the biggest feast of the year, which commenced on Friday of this week and continues for seven days. It is not only the preparing of special food for this lengthy period of feasting, which involves additional labor for the women of the house, it is the Jewish custom which requires that all the dishes and cutlery of the house used during the year be packed away, and special Passover dishes, which have never come in contact with anything leaven, be brought up from the cellar and unpacked for use during this one week.

This regulation involves dishes for both cooking and eating. And as there are always two separate sets of dishes used in a Jewish household throughout the year, one set for meat dishes and, one set of dishes used to contain milk and its products, such as butter and cheese, the orthodox Jewish household must be provided in all with four sets of cooking and eating utensils. Throughout the year the Passover dishes are usually stored away in some out-of-the-way place where they are safe from contamination by anything "leavened"—that is, the customary food of the rest of the year.

Rev. J. D. Richardson. All the aspirations of mankind after immortality assume their most beautiful form and reach their highest realizations in Jesus. He changed humanity's vague and yearning hope into a clear and blessed assurance. He converted the future into a home, the Eternal City into a Father's House. He brought the assurance that man's faith in a future existence is no mere fond dream, but a well-grounded hope which shall yet be most gloriously realized.

This is the Easter message. The empty grave is the primary source of hope. It is the birthplace of an indestructible belief that death is vanquished and that life is eternal. It was from that rock-hewn tomb in the garden of Joseph of Arimathaea that there came the pure, calm, steadfast faith of the disciples. And it is from that same rock-hewn tomb, "empty, amid the beauty of the lilies," that humanity's highest hope also springs.

Rev. F. Bamforth. Easter brings to the mind the world's tragedy and victory which culminated in its greatest blessing. It swings the gates of the future ajar and fills the soul with a new life.

Rev. W. H. Young. The fact of the Risen Christ is God's answer to the fears of men. So it was to the first disciples, fearful that their Lord had met defeat in the Cross. So it is to us today. Sometimes it seems as if the forces of evil have a strangle hold on the life of mankind, as if the things we cherish as good must be submerged and lost in the darkness. But in such hours and moods of doubt comes the message of God's power victorious, of right triumphant, of love's ability to keep its own. Without the Easter message life must be dark, but with it an unquenchable hope is possible for every hour and every soul.

Rev. J. Douglas Paterson. The message of Easter is a message of courage, "Be of Good Cheer. I Have Overcome the World." Nothing can dismay the Christian who puts his faith in the Risen Saviour. There is now no longer room for doubts and questionings; we must press forward towards the prize your high calling in Christ Jesus.

Rev. W. R. Courage. The Risen Lord appeared to most reliable witnesses, again and again. He showed them the scars in His hands and feet and side. He ate and drank before them. He further instructed them. He invited them to touch Him to prove He was not a spirit. Even the very slowest to believe amongst them was entirely convinced. This certainty, that Christ who had been crucified and buried, had risen again, filled them with a joy, a faith, an enthusiasm that completely changed their outlook on life, and has been ever since and will continue changing the lives of countless others.

Adjt. A. J. Smith. The Resurrection Life of the Christian is one the power of which is realized here and now.

It is a resurrection to newness of Life, a present experience. See Christ's answer to Mary and Martha. "I am the Resurrection and the Life." Those who are united to Him by a living faith are now sharers of the power of His Resurrection Life. It is the living power of the living Christ in us which constitutes our Salvation.

Rev. C. W. Rose, D.D. The Easter Hope is the hope of endless life in fellowship with the Lord . . . It is the hope of finding again those from whom we have by death been separated . . . It is the hope of the weary laborer for rest after a long day of exacting toil . . . It is the hope of the mariner for a harbor and his home after buffetting the billows of the wide seas . . . It is the hope which the warrior has for victory and return home amid the jubilations of friends . . . We know that Christ triumphed over death. He Lives! As a result the highest hopes and purest joys abound and Easter is the brightest day of all the year.

Rev. James W. Gordon. If we are occupied with some great cause of God, with Jesus our risen Lord as guide and Savior we have neither time nor inclination to brood upon our personal future. Our life is full of these interests. So death should find us, and to such a life, death should be no more than an incident in life—a necessary incident in a growing life.

EASTER FESTIVAL.

EASTER in the Roman Church is the principal feast of the ecclesiastical year. Leo I calls it the greatest feast (festum festorum) and says that Christmas is celebrated only in preparation for Easter. It is the centre of the greater part of the ecclesiastical year. The order of Sundays from Septuagesima to the last Sunday after Pentacost, the feast of the Ascension, Pentacost, Corpus Christi, and all other movable feasts from that of the Prayer of Jesus in the Garden to the feast of the Sacred Heart, depend on the Easter date. Commemorating the slaying of the true Lamb of God and the Resurrection of Christ, the corner stone upon which the faith is built, it is also the oldest feast of the Christian Church, as old as Christianity, the connecting link between the Old and New Testaments.

That no mention is made of Easter by the Apostolic Fathers has been remarked, but this appears purely accidental. The connection between the Jewish Passover and the Christian feast of Easter is real and ideal. Real since Christ died on the first Jewish Easter Day; ideal, like the relation between type and reality, because Christ's death and Resurrection had their figures and types in the Old Law, particularly in the paschal lamb, which was eaten towards evening of the 14th of Nisan.

Easter has no fixed date, like Christmas, because the 15th of Nisan of the Semitic calendar was shifting from date to date on the Julian calendar. Since Christ, the true Paschal Lamb, had been slain on the very day when the Jews, in celebration of their Passover, immolated the figurative lamb, the Jewish Christians in the Orient followed the Jewish method. In the rest of the empire another consideration predominated. Every Sunday in the year was a commemoration of the Resurrection of Christ, which had occurred on a Sunday. Easter was celebrated in Rome on the first Sunday after the first full moon after the spring equinox, and this was adopted in 325 by the First Council of Nicæa.

Beautiful Liturgy.

In the early records of the Church and carried down to this day are many beautiful ceremonies. The gap left in the liturgical services after the solemnities of the night had been transferred to the morning of Holy Saturday was filled in France, Germany, and some other countries by a twofold new ceremony, which however, was never adopted in Rome. At midnight, before Matins, the clergy in silence entered the dark church and removed the cross from the sepulchre to the high altar. Then the candles were lit, the doors opened, and a solemn procession was held with the cross through the church the cloister or the cemetery, the beautiful old antiplion "Cum Rex Gloriæ" being sung while the acolytes rang small bells which they carried.

This ceremony is, with the approval of the Holy See, still held in Germany on the eve of Easter with simpler ceremonies, in the form of a popular devotion. After the third lesson of the Nocturn two clerics, representing the holy women, went to the empty sepulchre where another cleric representing an angel announced to them that the Saviour was risen. The two then brought the message to the choir, whereupon two priests, impersonating Peter and John, ran to the tomb, and, finding it empty, showed to the people the linen in which the body had been wrapped. Then the choir sang the "Te Deum" and the "Victimæ paschali". In some churches, including Rouen, the apparition of Christ to Mary Magdalen was also represented.

CHRISTIANITY

ARE you a church member? About 46 millions in North America answer, yes. Sixty-two millions answer, no. Such is the situation this Easter, holiest day of the year.

Whether church members or not, all of us owe a tremendous debt to Christianity. It has brought more good into the world than all other religions combined, past as well as present. And nearly all the evil we have is due to failure to live up to Christian teachings.

In recognition of all this, every one should make a special effort to attend church services on Easter, of all Sundays.

Easter, symbolic of the resurrection, is an excellent time for each individual to resurrect the best that is in him. Nothing will be more inspirational to this end than attending Easter church services.

Rev. R. C. Blagrave. The Risen Christ changes all the atmosphere of the life we live. He makes it joyous with His own victory, bright with His eternal sunshine and fruitful of glad service in His beauty and power. So let us on Easter Day rejoice in the "Beauty of Holiness," and rise to newness of life in Him "in whose presence is fulness of joy."

Rev. A. J. Langford When God came to earth in the person of Jesus Christ He came not so much to man's intellect as to his heart, not so much to explain the mystery of God as to lead men to Godliness. His appeal is ever to that spiritual nature, akin to His own, which is within us. And without understanding the mystery of His death and resurrection we may have life in Him and fellowship with Him continuously. For He is ever present, as He said He would be: "I will not leave you desolate (orphans): I will come to you." And so, this Easter day renews the glad message to all his children —He lives, He lives in our midst. "I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth on Me, though he die, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth on Me shall never die."

Alexander McLaren The dead are the living. Every man that has died is at this instant in full possession of all his faculties; in the intensest exercise of all his capacities, standing somewhere in God's universe, ringed by a sense of God's presence and feeling in every fibre of his being that life, which comes after death, is not less real, but more real, no less great, but more great, not less full or intense, but more full and intense, than the mingled life which, lived here on earth, was a centre of life, surrounded with a crust and circumference of immortality. The dead are living. They lived while they died; and after they die they live on forever.

Varying Dates Easter never occurs before March 22 or after April 25. In 1761 and 1818 it fell on March 22, but neither in this nor in the following century will such be the case again. In 1913 it fell on March 23, as it did in 1845 and 1856. Easter next year will be on April 12. In 1943 it will be on April 25.

When Is Easter? Probably no question regarding a date is so often asked as "What date does Easter fall on this year?" Here is the answer for ten years: 1925, April 12; 1926, April 4; 1927, April 17; 1928, April 8; 1929, March 31; 1930, April 20; 1931, April 5; 1932, March 27; 1933, April 16; 1934, April 1.

EASTER CUSTOMS

EASTER has given to the world many peculiar customs and practices, the connection of which with the sacred feast are difficult to explain. The inserting by the priest of funny stories in his sermon causing his hearers to laugh, is perhaps one of the most strange, being found in Bavaria in the fifteenth century. A favorite topic on which these stories was built was the description of how the devil tried to keep the gates of hell locked against the descending Christ. When his congregation had ceased to laugh the priest would draw a moral from the story. This Easter laughter, giving rise to grave abuses of the word God was prohibited by Clement.

The custom of bringing colored eggs to the table on Easter day probably had its origin in paganism, celebrating the return of spring. The sponsors in some countries give Easter eggs to their god-children. Colored and uncolored eggs are used in Canada by the children in various games.

In France, handball playing was one of the Easter amusements. The ball may represent the sun, which is believed to take three leaps in rising on Easter morning. The ball game was connected with the dance in which even the clergy took part and in some place the dance was performed in church. In England, also, the game of ball was a favorite Easter sport in which the municipal corporation engaged with due parade and dignity, and at Bury St. Edmunds, within recent years, the game was kept up with spirit by twelve old women. These customs have disappeared.

Right to Strike.

On Easter Monday the women had a right to strike their husbands, on Tuesday the men struck their wives, as in December the servants scolded their masters.

In the northern parts of England the men paraded the streets on Easter Sunday and claimed the privilege of lifting every woman three times from the ground, receiving in payment a kiss or a silver sixpence. The same was done by the women to the men next day. In parts of Germany the men servants whipped the maid servants with switches on Easter day; on Monday the maids whipped the men. They secured their release with Easter eggs.

In connection with the church observance of Easter, a peculiar custom existed at Purj in France until the tenth century. When at the first psalm of Matins a canon was absent from the choir, some of the canons and vicars, taking with them the processional cross and the holy water, went to the house of the absentee singing the "Hæc Dies". They sprinkled him with water if he was still in bed, and led him to the church. In punishment he had to give a breakfast to his conductors.

The Greeks and Russians make Easter a day of popular sports. At Constantinople the cemetery of Pera is the noisy rendezvous of the Greeks; there are music, dances, and all the pleasures of an Oriental popular resort. In Russia anyone can enter the belfries on Easter and ring the bells, a privilege of which many persons avail themselves.

One superstition which has lasted through the centuries is that it is unlucky to omit wearing new clothes on Easter Day.

Just as there is now a "Queen of the May" to grace May day there was formerly an Easter king who reigned for the day in Cornwall and in hamlets of continental Europe.

EASTER EGGS

CHILDREN are very sure that the bunny-rabbits lay the Easter eggs, and they will argue most earnestly to prove it. But why do we have Easter bunnies, and what relation are they supposed to have to the original Easter idea?

Going a long way back, we find that the Easter bunny is an echo of the old mythology where a rabbit was the fleet-footed messenger sent forth by Bertha, the Ceres, or goddess of agriculture, to the northern world. She sent him to awaken the sleeping plants and animals from their winter lethargy, and to tap the tree-trunks to give signal for the sap to rise in their branches and push out the leaf-buds and blossoms.

The bright eggs which bunnies are supposed to lay for the Easter feasts are symbols of the creation—or of the re-creation—of spring after the long winter death of the outdoor world.

This symbol is very ancient, going back to the days of the old Egyptians. There was an old tradition that, in the beginning, the world was hatched from an immense egg, and its first season was spring.

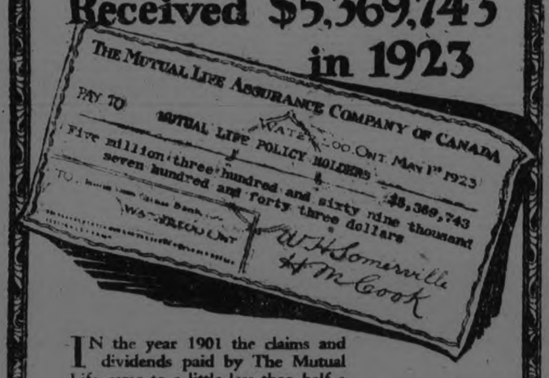
Mutual Policyholders Received $5,369,743 in 1923



IN the year 1901 the claims and dividends paid by The Mutual Life came to a little less than half a million dollars. Last year The Mutual Life of Canada paid to policyholders and their beneficiaries $5,369,743 —more than ten times the amount paid in 1901!

Who can say what sorrows were sweetened, what anxieties were eased, by the distribution of these great sums? Who is there that doubts the benefit of Mutual profit participation when $2,193,081 out of the above amount was paid in cash to participating policyholders in profits for one year.

Let our agent explain Mutual Profit Participation. Write us for literature.

Tailored Handbag

One may tire of the use of the word "tailored," but it has to be, for the prevalent vogue of the boyish tailleur presupposes the strictly tailored accessory. When it comes to handbags the possibilities are many—as they should be—for upon costume details depends the ultimate success of this type of apparel. We have been familiar with the envelope bag for many seasons, and of late with the under-the-arm purse of generous proportions, so it is only natural that the tailored type of handbag should ring many variations of this theme.

Materials are leather, silks of the moir variety and fabrics in general that lie flatly and take the flat trimmings kindly. For trimmings must be flat, and the braids, buttons, pleats, buckles and monograms of fashion are generously used. Strappings appear, and the fob, which is classed as an accessory of the tailored mode, is used on the tailored handbag. It is quite possible, and very probable, that the handbag will be a very lovley thing, for there is similarity so great, when it comes to suits, that the woman who would be individual must depend upon accessories to express that individuality. She may attain this end gracefully with a finely fashioned bag of rich material, really elaborately trimmed, yet so strictly in the spirit of the mode itself that it seems effectively plain in its manner.

PIE PASTE.

Materials for pie paste should be very cold to start with and, when the paste is mixed, it should be chilide again before rolling it out to insure flakiness.

TO HANG SON'S SLAYER

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 19. — The State will interpose no objection to a request by the aged father by Ted Grosh, slain university student, to spring the gallows trap to execute William B. Ward, who was convicted of the youth's murder.

The State Prison Superintendent announced to-day he would make no objection to Mr. Grosh as executioner.

NEWS FROM WARSAW AND THE DISTRICT.

Maple Syrup Season On Its Last Legs—Personals.

WARSAW, April 19.—Mrs. Bongard, Norwood, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Ellen Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Digweed were in the village Sunday.

Miss Olga Miller spent a few days with her brother, Mr. Stephen Miller, Otonabee.

Mrs. Finlay Forsythe and infant daughter, Detroit, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tighe. Mr. Forsythe accompanied his wife, but remained only four days.

Mrs. Charles Foster and two little daughters are visiting her mother in Raeboro.

Quite a number from the Methodist Church attended the morning union service in the Presbyterian Church and in the evening at the Methodist Church. There was a good representation at both churches. Rev. Mr Atkinson preached at both services.

On Sunday the annual missionary sermon will be preached in the Methodist Church.

Zion plans to hold a tea meeting on Easter Monday.

Womens Institute.

On Thursday afternoon last the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held. The room was full. It was asked the library books be returned.

Two very active institute members are leaving for Toronto, Mrs. and Miss Elsie MacIlvena. They were presented with a "Hotpoint" electric iron and the following address:

"Dear Mrs. MacIlvena and Elsie,—

"It is with feelings of the deepest regret that we, the members of the Warsaw Women's Institute, realize that you are shortly to leave us for your new home in the city.

"We have had many happy times together in our institute work. You have always been cheerful and kind and ready to help in anything we would undertake. Your untiring zeal as librarian has endeared you to us all. We have learned to know your worth, and we know what we are losing. But distance does not change true friendship. So, among the many friends you will make in your new home, we hope you will not forget the old ones here. Just that you may at times refresh your memory, will you accept this electric iron as a slight token of the esteem in which you are both held; and may our Heavenly Father's blessing go with you and yours to your new home.

"Signed on behalf of the institute —Mrs. Thos. Cooper, President; Cressa Crowe, Secretary."

Rev. Mr. Atkinson gave an address on the "Advantages of Travel."

Among other things, the speaker noted that we cannot keep the foreigner out. We do not want to—we want their trade—but we must Christianize them or they will be a menace.

News Briefs.

Sap pails are being brought in. By the end of the week the season will be over.

The land is drying off nicely. The cold frosts have been farmers a little uneasy about fall grains, but they still look all right.

Last Tuesday was the first day that the R. R. No. 2 mail-carrier could take his whole route on the road.

New telephone directories were distributed last week.

EASTER DAY

Yesterday, sorrow and silence, and gloom,
Despair, and deep darkness, encompassed the tomb,
And Hope, her bright beacon, no longed displayed,
For Jesus was dead, in cold grave was laid,
But to-day, ere the shadows of night, were withdrawn
Or appeared in the East, the first faint flush of dawn,
He calmly, as from soft, refreshing repose,
From the sealed, guarded prison, triumphant arose.

Death's power to detain Him, but vainly had tried,
The Lord of Life cast death's frail fetters aside.
And the Sepulcher's dim, dreary portal passed o'er,
From death's dire dominion, free, free evermore.
For He has despoiled death, and Hell's cruel sway,
And Hope o'er the tomb, sheds a radiant ray.
The blest Son of Righteousness, ne'er to decline,
The Light of the World, rose, in splendor to shine.

First, was He, from death's icy embrace to awake,
First, the boasting grave's bitter barriers to break,
First fruits of the Harvest, which yet shall abound,
From the wide fields of Earth, when the last trump shall sound.
His arising is pledge that we, too, from the tomb,
Shall likewise come forth, in fair immortal bloom,
And all who in Jesus now slumber in trust,
When He comes in His glory, shall rise from the dust.

Revivified Earth, with her myriad train,
Bedecks herself, too ,in fresh verdue again
With sunshine and flowers, and soft balmy breeze,
And the sweet song of birds in green foliaged trees,
All uniting their tribute of praises to bring
With one glad accord to the new-risen King;
And we haste to His House, our devotions to pay
To Him who has vanquished Death's terrors to-day.

NURSE CHAPPELLE SAYS TANLAC BRINGS MOST GRATIFYING RESULTS

Nurse With 15 Years' Experience Urges Use of Tanlac—Tells of Her Mother's Experience With World Famous Tonic

"I have direct and personal knoweldge of so many cases where TANLAC has restored health and strength and helped weak, rundown people to get on their feet that I know it to be an unusual medicine," is the emphatic manner in which Mrs. M. E. Chappelle, Blue Mount and Thomas Ave., Wauwotosa, Wis., a practical nurse of fifteen years' experience, pays tribute to the famous treatment.

"Time and again I have urged TANLAC'S use and it always brings the most gratifying results. My own mother, now eighty years old, took TANLAC five years ago, and it has been her standby ever since. Nothing helps her as TANLAC does and she is as strong an advocate of the medicine as I am. Only recently, mother became generally run-down. Her stomach was disordered, her appetite utterly failed her, and she came near having a nervous breakdown. TANLAC gave her a vigorous appetite, corrected all complaints and left her not only well and happy but so strong and active that she looks after the home and visits around, as well. And mother thinks the TANLAC Vegetable Pills are the greatest ever.

"In all my long years of experience as a nurse, I have never known the equal of TANLAC."

TANLAC is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Take TANLAC Vegetable Pills.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 19.—Real estate men and auctioneers state that there is not as much moving going on in Northumberland County as has marked the springtime of the past two years, but a considerable number of properties in town and country have been sold, and a number of changes of homes and environment are taking place.

Mr. Frank Herald, Gore's Landing has purchased a house in Cobourg from the estate of the late Mrs. M. E. Conlin. Mr. J. A. Noble put the deal through.

TRADE VOLUME HAS INCREASED

Toronto Wholesalers Report Generally Satisfactory Tone to Business—Fair In the West.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 19.—(Canadian Press.)—The weekly trade report of the Canadian Creditmen's Trust Association, Limited, states:

Halifax—No change is marked in either wholesale or retail trade. Prospects good for fair Easter business. Collections remain fair.

St. John—Wholesale trade only fair. Retail trade same. Collections fair.

Montreal—Wholesale business generally continues to hold up satisfactorily. Some lines are fairly brisk. Retail trade stimulated somewhat by the approach of Easter. Collections fairly good.

Toronto—An improvement is marked in wholesale lines. Orders which have been anticipated are now materializing. Millinery and spring wear good. Volume of business generally is very satisfactory. Retail trade also shows some improvement and a more cheerful tone among the trade, the consumers being a little more free. General feeling of confidence prevails.

Winnipeg—Quietness continues to prevail in wholesale trade. The unusual weather experienced this week has had a retarding effect on both wholesale and retail lines. Collections remain unchanged, being somewhat slow.

Regina—Wholesale business continues fairly satisfactory. Not much improvement in retail trade. Collections fair.

Saskatoon—Some improvement is marked in wholesale trade. The general conditions in retail lines also indicate improvement. Weather has been stormy. Collections show slight improvement.

Calgary—The improvement in business which has been marked for some time still continues. A general feeling of optimism prevails. Collections fairly good.

Edmonton—No material change noted in either retail or wholesale lines. Collections are holding fairly steady.

Vancouver—Trade generally is very satisfatcory. Collections holding fair.

NEWS OF BURNBRAE AND THE DISTRICT

Touring Car Caught Fire But Damage Was Light—Personals.

BURNBRAE, April 19.—On Monday evening the young people of St. Andrew's Church met in the basement of the church for their regular weekly meeting. The attendance last Monday night was the largest this year, there being 45 present.

Mrs. George Craighead was leader for the evening and the programme of the evening was greatly enjoyed. The meeting opened with the singing of a number of missionary hymns, followed by Scripture reading and prayer by the Rev. J. J. Black, B.D.; piano duet, Helen Oddie and Jean Craighead; recitation, "How Betsy and I Fell Out," by Mrs. Thomas Wetherell; song, Doris Rannie; violin music, accompanied by autoharp, by Mr. Frank Little and Miss Lottie Thain.

The topic of the evening was given by Mrs. John Thompson of Menie, "The Growth of the Native Church in Formosa," based on the sixth chapter of the Mission Study Text Book, "The Island Beautiful."

Leader for next week, Mr. Harvey Donald; topic, Mr. Charles Little.

News Briefs.

The Menie factory opened for the season on Monday. Mr. Frank Little is cheesemaker again this year, and made his first 5-cheese on Monday. He is just going to make cheese every other day this week. In another week the factory will be open every day.

A small touring car passed through the village of Menie Tuesday night, going at a good rate of speed. It stopped in front of the home of Mr. Sam Habbs. As soon as it stopped the attention of the driver was drown to the fact that it was on fire. He was fortunate, however, in controlling it and only slight damage was done to the car.

Special Easter messages will be given at Burnbrae and Rylestone churches next Sabbath by the Rev. J. J. Black. The choir is preparing special music. Morning service, 11 a.m. Burnbrae; 3 p.m. Rylestone evening service, 7.30, at Burnbrae. The choir and Sunday School children will present a sacred cantata at the evening service, entitled "The Pilgrim's Vision."

Obituary Notice.

Mrs. Fred. McMullen of Seymour Township, 8th Concession, passed away Tuesday morning after a brief illness. The deceased had been in failing health for some time, but her death came suddenly. She was a member of the Baptist Church. The funeral service will be held at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon in St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Burnbrae. Interment in Burnbrae Cemetery.

JANETVILLE AND DISTRICT

JANETVILLE, April 19.—These are busy days in the maple woods. Everywhere you turn your eyes there is a small cloud of smoke during the day, and at night the gleam of the fire, indicating that the "boiling down" is going on there.

The writer visited a number of these sugar camps on Saturday afternoon last, and the visit was well worth while. I will describe one of these. This camp is situated in a large grove of maples, sloping gently to the south and on the north is well protected. Seeing the smoke from the highway I entered the woods, and soon found myself at the door of a snug and well-built cabin. Near the door of this building stood a number of empty barrels and milk cans, placed in an orderly fashion and perfectly clean. Inside the hut I found large barrels full of freshly gathered sap, pure and clear as spring water. The sap was contained when boiling in a long, shallow, sheet iron pan, 14 feet long, 5 feet wide and one foot deep, which rested on a stone fireplace. This fireplace is so built that the whole surface of the boiling pan is covered by the flame, and very little heat is lost. The neatness and cleanliness of the man in charge greatly impressed me, for I had often seen quite the opposite.

Another thing I noticed in connection with this camp was this: A large pile of cordwood stood near the camp, showing that no dirt or rubbish or debris could find its way into the sap, as often takes place when half-rotten wood is used for boiling purposes, which has been gathered up anywhere in the woods.

Then I noticed that the buckets were all painted on the outside and on the inside—not a particle of rust was to be seen. As I came away the owner said: "This sap must be all boiled down tonight, for neither gathering nor boiling takes place on the Sabbath day. We lose nothing by letting it stand until Monday."

Spring Work Begins.

The great drifts that blocked the roads for three months are gone, the roads are dry and the cars are running once more, but not much is being done on the land thus far.

T. James Marshall is due the credit of filling in a few furrows preparatory to sowing.

The main activities are muskrat trapping on the big marsh east of Scugog Lake, wood sawing and sugar making.

A New Summer Resort.

We learn from good authority that a new summer resort will be established in the near future on the eastern shore of Scugog Lake, opposite Janetville Station. This resort will be for the sole use of C. P. R. officials and their families. The site is ideal, and the boating, bathing and fishing as good as could be desired. A number of cottages are already there and more will likely be built this summer.

A Mysterious Sheep and Dog Tragedy.

One morning a few days ago, on entering his sheep yard, Mr. Charles Armstrong of the 14th Concession of Manvers found two beautiful large collie dogs lying dead near each other in the yard. The sheep seemed terrified, and there were evidences of a struggle, some of the shep being torn, but none dead or seriously hurt. Just why the dogs have not been claimed, why more damage was not done to the sheep, and what killed the animals is a mystery. There were no marks on the dogs and the sheep have recovered.

Personals.

Mr. Ben Magill arrived in Janetville today on a visit. He is always welcome.

Mr. M. Thornton is very ill and has been for some weeks. Rheumatism is the trouble.

Miss Richardson, our esteemed teacher of North Janetville, has purchased a new car, which will be delivered in a few days.

BETHEL FARMERS PLAN BEEF RING

Proposal Discussed at U.F.O. Meeting Depends on Number of Shares Secured In District.

BETHEL, Otonabee, April 19.—The U. F. O. held their monthly meeting on Monday evening, a goodly number being present. They decided to have a beef ring this summer, if the desired number of shares can be secured.

Mr. W. Fife and H. Windsor were in Peterboro on Saturday.

Mr. C. Edwards was in Peterboro on Friday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Borland and family, from India, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reid.

George Patterson had a bee on Tuesday, hauling timber from the mill to his farm. Mr. Patterson is going to put up a new barn this summer.

A number attended the dance in Lang on Friday evening.

Harry Reid has a number of men at Keene Station peeling telegraph poles.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McLauchlin entertained a number of the Bethel people on Tuesday evening at the church, with lantern slides on the Canadian Rockies and on Japan. They were much enjoyed by all.

Mr. H. McKay and Miss Lila were in Peterboro on Wednesday.

Among the strange specimens discovered in Brazil are flat fish with a poison spike in their tails, and vultures which make noises like barking dogs.

THE JUDGMENT SEYMOUR CASE

Seymour Township Claim For Income Tax Upheld By Judge Huycke.

The following judgment in the case of the township of Seymour versus Miss Vera Squire will be of interest to many. The case, which was heard in Campbellford some days ago before Judge Huycke, concerns a claim made by the township for income tax against Miss Vera Squire, a school teacher of this city, who, as the judgment indicates, was under contract to teach school in Seymour Township for a period of one year. Miss Squire contended her place of residence was in Peterborough. The judgment follows:

"This is an action by the township of Seymour to recover taxes from the defendant, who was a teacher in one of the schools in the said township from September, 1922, to July, 1923. The assessment was made early in the year 1923 and the taxes levied were for that year.

"The defendant objects on the ground that she was not resident in the township of Seymour, but resided at that time with her parents at the city of Peterborough.

"I fear this defence under these circumstances cannot prevail. It is undoubtedly true that her home was with her parents in Peterborough, but she was under a written contract to teach the Seymour school for one year, which required her attendance there for at least five days of every week, and the mere fact that she went home to her father's in Peterborough to spend the week-end every two or three weeks does not help her. If she did not reside in the township of Seymour the assessment was wrongly made. (See Section 12 of the Assessment Act). The assessment must be made where she resides, and such cases as this have caused a good deal of difficulty. It has been frequently held by the courts that a person resides where his work requires him to live, that is if he is under a contract to work permanently for a certain fixed time in a place, that place then becomes his residence. It is different if he is just there temporarily working by the day, or perhaps even by the week. Then again the courts have held that many people have two places of residence. For example, a man living in one municipality with his wife and family, but his office and work being in another, it is there held that their legal residence is at the home with their families, but their personal residence is where their place of business is and their working time is spent. In this case that question does not arise, but the young lady was under contract which bound her to work in Seymour for the year stated. In addition, thereto, it was admitted by her in evidence that in June, 1923, she voted in Seymour at the Provincial election of that year. If she did not reside there she had no right to vote, as residence in the riding is the very fundamental of the right to a franchise; by exercising her franchise she asserted her residence in Seymour, and I cannot give effect to her change of mind or heart since that time. She further says the Assessor did speak to her about assessment, but gave her no notice of such assessment being made, or that he does not remember any notice ever having been given or sent her. The record shows that notice was given, but unfortunately the Assessor is now dead and cannot give evidence. This defence, however, cannot prevail. Section 70 of the Assessment Act is very specific. The Seymour Collector's roll was finally passed by the Court of Revision and certified by the court, and Section 70 provides positively and definitely that 'this roll shall bind all parties concerned nothwithstanding any defect or error committed in or with regard to such roll or any defect, error or mis-statement in the notice required by Section 49 of this Act, or the omission to deliver or transmit such notice.' Section 49 referred to is the one providing for the delivery of the assessment notice, so that whether sh got such notice or not when once the roll is finally passed and certified such defence is futile.

"At the trial I was under the impression the assessment had been wrongfully made and that it should refer to the work or income of the preceding year, 1922, and that year she did not earn enough to make her liable to assessment at all. On looking into the statute carefully since then I think this impression was wrong, and that the assessment made was for the current year 1923. (See Section 11 of the Revised Assessment Act). In her case the assessable income was salary, as referred to in Sub-section 2 of section 11.

"The result must be that the plaintiffs may recover the claim sued for and costs of action.

"Dated at Peterborough this 17th day of April, 1924.

"F. C. HUYCKE, Judge."

LOUVAIN CITED "MARTYR" CITY

Belgian University City Named in French Army Orders — Earned Gratitude of Allies.

PARIS, April 19.—The City of Louvain, Belgium, was cited in army orders Thursday as the "Martyr City which on August 25 and September 2, 1914, underwent without reason or by military order, all the horrors of fire and destruction and saw its celebrated library delivered to the flames."

The somewhat belated citation, after speaking of the remarkable manner in which the city bore its sufferings, ends:

"Louvain has earned the admiration and gratitude of the Allies by the dignity and courage of its population."

Canadians have a special interest in Louvain inasmuch as this Belgian city was an important centre within the area of the Canadian army corps, following the armistice, and to many thousands of Dominion soldiers the broken spires and ruined buildings of Louvain were a familiar sight. Additional to that is the fact that this country, through the medium of the Canadian Authors' Association, has played a not unimportant part in the rehabilitation of the once famous library of Louvain University. Louvain which lies about twenty miles due east of Brussels, in the Province of Brabant, was entered by the German army on Aug. 19, 1914, in the course of their victorious swoop from Liege to Brussels. It was systematically sacked, and nearly one-third of the city was destroyed by fire from August 25, to Sept. 2, 1914. The destruction embraced the university library containing 70,000 volumes and 500 manuscripts, and the Church of St. Pierre, an ancient edifice built between 1425 and 1497. Reared on the site of a former church, it was constructed in the form of a cross with a low tower to which the spire was never added. Three hundred civilians lost their lives during the eight days' "terror," many of whom were shot by the Germans.

A new stone library to the university which was founded in 1423 was laid in the presence of the King and Queen of the Belgians July 28, 1921. The city itself, according to local tradition, was established in Roman times and had been a permanent camp of Julius Caesar.

WOMEN COMMIT MURDER TO EMULATE MEN SAYS LAW UNIVERSITY DEAN

Broad Headed Animals Destroy Narrow Headed Ones Says Phrenologist, and Study Shows Women Killers to Have This Characteristic—Need for Excitement Evident.

"Feminism" is blamed by John Henry Wigmore, dean of Northwestern University Law School, for the seeming highly accelerated trend of Chicago women toward murder.

"Women are setting out to show they can do everything man does," he says.

"Those who are inclined toward the good things of life are emulating men in constructive achievement. But those who would lean toward the bad now are going as far as bad men go."

Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, doesn't concede an increase in the rate of crime by women.

"They are just bunching their hits at this time," he declares. "Another year and the rate will be about normal."

(By GEORGE BRITT).

CHICAGO, April 19. — "Women who shoot their men run true to type."

This assertion analyzing a photograph gallery of women slayers is from Dr. James M. Fitzgerald, famous phrenologist and success adviser.

He had just completed a study of Mrs. Beulah May Annan, Titian haired beauty, who is in the county jail for shooting Harry Kalstedt during a wine party in her husband's absence.

Rounding out his examination, Dr. Fitzgerald viewed also the photographs of other Chicago women slayers: Mrs. Belle Gaertner, now awaiting trial; Sabelle Nitti, child-like peasant, and Katherine Malm, "bandit girl," both of whom have been convicted, and Mrs. Lucille Kavanagh, who shot her husband and was acquitted.

Feelings Control Wills.

Here are the facial characteristics common to them all, according to Dr. Fitzgerald:

Broad nose and cheekbones, full chin and lips, contracted upper frontal skull development and prominent, bulging development of the forehead just over the eyes and nose.

This latter feature indicates keen perception and also accuracy in shooting. They are all of the motive-vital, the action-feeling type. Their feelings rule their will and they don't think of consequences when they act.

"They all have broad heads," says Dr. Fitzgerald. "You can put it down as a basic principle that the broad-headed animals eat the narrow headed ones. They have the destructive, acquisitive, passionate qualities. The way for people of this type to keep out of trouble is to keep at work.

"Mrs. Annan had a masculine spirit in a feminine body. She doesn't clearly understand herself, and no one was more surprised than she when she sobered up and found she had killed a man.

"She has a love of action and excitement. Experiments and experiences dominate her, while routine is unduly irritating. Her mental development was such that she couldn't entertain herself, and it did not inhibit spontaneous outbursts.

"Her husband couldn't satisfy her wish for excitement and her need to be jollied and flattered. Hers was not a sexual craving so much as a need for constant variety.

No Fear of Consequences.

"If she had been a millionaire's daughter, her temperament could have been given outlet without danger. She was simply the wrong one to have her type of personality.

"Mrs. Gaertner is the most highly developed mentally of the lot. Unless she were drunk, she never would have shot. But she loves romance and action.

"Mrs. Malm has great mental alertness and a large ego. Mrs. Kavanagh is of the same feeling-dominated type. Mrs. Nitti is the child, governed by instinct and impulse. She has powerful will but no comprehension.

"All these women are alike in having single track minds, with imperfect comprehension of consequences. They are 'show me' people, who have to experience to understand, and the jails are full of this type. Food and sexual interests make a strong appeal to them.

"A narrow-headed, reflective person, with the reasoning and moral centers of the upper frontal region well developed never would kill as these women did."

MAPLE SYRUP WAS PLENTIFUL TODAY

Buyers Were Plentiful and Trading Was Brisk Under the Mild Sunshine of a Real Spring Day.

The farmers' market had plenty of buyers this morning Trading was brisk under the mild sunshine of a real spring day. Maple syrup is still the most popular commodity, at prices ranging from 50 to 65 cents a quart. Potatoes this morning were $1.85 and $1.90 a bag, in good quality. Apples had a fairly good demand, there was little cut meat on view, and only a few vegetables. The fish man, with little fresh perch with orange gills, at 10 cents a pound, fresh pike and big white plaice, had his rival across the way, the voluble gentleman who dispenses "Lake Ontario mullett" or suckers" at a small price. "A good meal of fish is a fine thing," said a spectator of this gentlemans activities," but when you've had one, you don't need another for quite awhile."

A purveyor of baskets at 30 cents apiece had a crowd, there were two or three loads of wood, and little pigs, at $4 and $5 apiece were prominent exhibits.

Honey on the market this morning in five-pound pails was 55, 65 and 75 cents, in varying qualities.

Upstairs, in the basket section, an absent-minded remnant of the back-warming brigade still lingered about the cold black stove.

Dairy produce was very plentiful Eggs sold for 23, 22 and 21 cents a dozen; butter from 40 cents to 35 a pound, and chickens at 25 and 28 cents a pound. One lone turkey was priced at 35 cents a pound.

A feature of the upper market this morning was the many sales going on. The young man with the fancy work needle, continues to demonstrate his new idea to interested ladies; there were sales of home made cooking and candy, the latter in little bags priced by small girls at five, ten and twenty cents, respectively, and the lady who vended artificial flowers had a big and interested crowd of buyers. Beautiful waxed sweet peas were fifty cents a bunch, yellow roses were four for a quarter, and there were red rosebuds, yellow daffodils and Easter lilies, with ferns in delicate artificial fineness.

Weak, Nervous Men and Women Quickly Gain New Strength

They Renew Vitality and Nerve Force by a Home Treatment Costing Only Ten Cents a Day

The nerve power of our systems finds its life in our blood. Create more blood cells, make the blood richer and we rekindle the fire of bodily strength, for rich, red blood is the driving force of life.

If we are too easily exhausted, lack confidence and sustaining power are nervous, irritable, sleep fitfully and awake unrefreshed; if we are too thin, pale, anaemic looking, we should think first of our blood.

Build more red blood. Gain new strength. Nourish the body tissues. Rejuvenate ourselves. It is red blood that makes our bodies tingle with the pulsing of life.

Men and women who need a blood builder should go at once to their druggist's and obtain a generous size bottle of Wincarnis. Here is a home treatment that costs less than ten cents a day. Wincarnis gives your blood the vitalizing elements that it needs. In twelve days see the improvement that Wincarnis brings. You will worry no longer because of failing strength.

TWO MEN HELD IN FIRE CASE

Questioned Regarding Deaths of Nine Men

CHICAGO, Ill., April 19. Canadian Press. — Samuel Moore and Leo Unell, owners of a sporting and novelty concern, were in custody to-day for questioning in connection with a fire in which eight firemen and one civilian lost their lives last night.

Samuel Polnsky, said to have had insurance dealings with Moore and Unell, was declared by the police to have insurance policies aggregating $32,000 issued to Moore and Unell still in his possession.

Polinsky also was questioned, and he and Adolph Friedman are held as witnesses for the inquest.

Insure Easter Hat Against Rainfall

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., April 19.—United Press. — "The price of your Easter bonnet back if it rains one-tenth of an inch between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., Easter Sunday."

That was the offer made by a local insurance firm to-day.

It was the first time, the firm believed, that Easter hats have been insured against rain.

The rate is about 9 per cent of the cost of the bonnet—meaning the company bets aproximately 11 to 1 that fair weather will prevail to-morrow."

Kidney Troubles Often Follow Colds

Such Was the Experience of New Brunswick Lady

Madame B. Gaudet suffered with complications of Kidney trouble and found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

POINTE SAPIN, N.B., April 18. —(Special).—"My trouble was caused through a cold which left me with backache and rheumatism. I also had headaches and always felt tired and nervous, perspiring freely from the least exertion. I took four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I have found that they have done me a lot of good."

This statement is made by Madame B. Gaudet, a well-known resident of this place.

Madame Gaudet's trouble came from the Kidneys, which had become deranged as the result of a cold. This is evidenced by the relief she got from Dodd's Kidney Pills.

When the Kidneys become clogged or out of order, the circulation becomes sluggish, the impurities are not strained out of the blood and the result is weariness and lack of energy all over the body. This condition is not only disagreeable but dangerous as well. The impurities in the blood are the seeds of disease.

GOOD FRIDAY WAS OBSERVED LOCALLY

Churches Had Choral Services and Penetential Spirit Prevailed.

Good Friday was observed generally by the churches of the city yesterday. Even the weather, wet and gloomy, was in keeping with the penetential spirit of the occasion.

Several of the churches, including St. John's, All Saints', and George Street Methodist, had specially prepared choral evening services; the Catholic churches held their usual Good Friday devotions in the afternoon and evening: there were morning services in St. Paul's, Trinity Methodist, St. Andrew's and Knox Churches, also in Murray Street Baptist Church and the Salvation Army Temple, and on Friday evening the Salvation Army Temple Songsters held a special service entitled "The Resurrection."

WAR VETERANS PARADE TO ST. PETER'S CHURCH

The eighth annual church parade of the Great War Veterans' Association will take place to-morrow morning, when the Veterans will parade for church service to St. Peter's Cathedral. The gathering will take place at ten o'cock sharp at the G.W.V.A. Hall.

In this parade, the G.W.V.A. commemorates in fitting manner the observance of St. Julien's Day, on 22nd and 23rd April, 1915, when the Canadians met a gas attack for the first time, and stood up so nobly under fearful odds.

LADY S. CASSELS DIED IN LONDON

Since Sir Walter's Death Last March Mrs. Cassels and Her Daughter Miss Susie Have Been Residing in England.

LONDON, April 19. — Canadian Press Cables. — Lady Susan Cassels (widow of Sir Walter Cassels, Ottawa, who was judge of the Exchequer Court of Canada), who died here yesterday, had been in London for some time. She was a daughter of the late Robert Hamilton of Hamwood Quebec.

OTTAWA SHOCKED.

News of the death of Lady Cassels in London, England, came as a great shock to a multitude of friends and acquaintances in Ottawa, where she was exceptionally well known and highly regarded, a despatch from the Capital says. Relatives in Ottawa were aware that Lady Cassels had been stricken with paralysis about ten days ago, but they did not realize that her condition was so grave. After Sir Walter's death last March, Lady Cassels with her daughter, Miss Susie went abroad and spent the winter in London, England. They had planned to sail for Canada an the first of aMy and to take up residence in Toronto.

Lady Cassels is survived by two sons and four daughters.

SAFE FAT REDUCTION

Reduce, reduce, reduce, is the slogan of all fat people. Get thin, be slim, is the cry of fashion and society. And the over-fat wring their hands in mortification and helpfulness; revolting at nauseating drugs, afraid of violent exercise, dreading the unwelcome and unsatisfying diet, until they hit upon the harmless Marmola Prescription, and learn through it that they may safely reduce steadily and easily without one change in their mode of life, but harmlessly, secretly and quickly reaching their ideal of figure with a smoother skin, better appetite and health than they have ever known. And now comes Marmola Prescription Tablets from the same famously harmless formula as the Marmola Prescription. It behooves you to learn the satisfactory, beneficial effects of this great, safe, fat reducer by giving to your druggist one dollar for a case, or sending a like amount to the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., with a request that they mail to you a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets.

CHRISTIAN MOTHERS HOLD EASTER SALE

Charitable Work Will Be Carried On With Proceeds

The Christian Mothers' Society of St. Peter's Cathedral are holding an Easter sale of home-made cooking and sewing, also an afternoon tea, in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening of next week. The proceeds will be used for charitable work.

The ladies in charge of arrangements have gathered together a quantity of useful articles to suit varied tastes. Babies' and children's wear predominate. There are small, pretty white things embroidered in delicate pinks and blues; ginghams in plain and plaid combinations; a cunning repp romper, with a pussy cat and a pair of bunnies on its small front; pink, lace-trimmed small frocks, repp and serge dresses, prettily made, towels and sleepers and a few pieces of dainty fancy work.

WILLIAMS STILL WITH ROCHESTER

Former Belleville Southpaw Not Sure He Says in Letter as to Future

BELLEVILLE, April 19.—Jack Williams is still with the Rochester Colts and like another famous Johnny "still going strong," according to a letter, which Mr. Raymond Carr received late yesterday from the former Grand Trunk southpaw. Jack is not sure as to what will happen to him and rather has the idea that he may go to one of two places; to the Waterbury Club or the Syracuse Club. The latter is owned by Stallings and is a sort of farming out place. Waterbury wants Williams. Stalling has said nothing of this to Williams, the letter says but he had heard there is something doing. Stalling has told him he likes Williams' work and it is also reported via Knotty Lee that Williams is the best left-hander that the Colts have.

All that being indefinite, it is idle to conjecture for after all Williams might well be kept with the Hustlers. He pitched three innings the other day against Spartansburg and had only one hit registered off his delivery.

Williams, in his letter, said he felt fine after the workout and could have gone nine frames without hurting himself. He felt that he had turned in a good performance. Rochester lost the game in the tenth and it was Johnny's fault.

The reason opening tod-ay will bring some changes. Stalling has a raft of pitchers, a dozen and a half anyway, and a whole flock of them are to go somewhere. What will be done with Williams will, therefore soon be known.

McPhee is Released

Danny McPhee, the left handed pitcher of St. Thomas who has been in the south with the Brooklyn team has been released to Petersburg under optional agreement. Shortstop Stoneman on the same club goes with him. He will likely remain with the Virginia club for the season.

CITY LIFE IS CHILD'S JAIL.

Thirty Years Ago People Were Horrified at the Mention of Tenement Houses.

The apartment house is one of the greatest menaces to civilization, says H. T. Bailey, dean of the Cleveland School of Art. He gives several reasons, strongest of which is that the apartment does not furnish enough room for the individual child, let alone the raising of large families.

Living in apartments, children lose the education gained through co-operation in home chores and of nature study out where there are grass and trees and sunshine.

Thirty years ago, people were horrified at the mention of tenements. And yet cities are steadily congesting to the point where all will live in high-grade tenements—apartment houses.

The goal of cities, as now planned, seems to be streets lined with unbroken stretches of high brick apartments crowded as close to each other as the law permits. It used to be the custom to keep a strip of grass, the size of a living-room rug, out front. This is being done away with, apartments crowding the sidewalk.

Death lurks in the streets where auto-maniacs whiz by. No place for the kiddies to play except dangerous streets, sidewalks, back porches and parks that are miles away for most of them.

The alley, natural heritage and right of every red-blooded boy, is being climinated by soaring land values.

The city is becoming a jail for the child even more than the grownup.

Every problem, however, breeds its own solution, in time. People usually prefer to make their homes in the suburbs. The handicap is transportation. Autos, especially cheaper makes, are helping a lot along this line. Rapid transit is in sight for the more progressive communities. It's badly needed, for there isn't a city in America that isn't at least five years behind its transportation needs.

A childhood spent in the suburbs or, better still, out in the country, is worth more to boy or girl than a large cash legacy later. Get out near the fresh air and larger playgrounds if you possibly can. It may take an extra hour of your time, getting back and forth from work each day, but it's worth it times over.

Help get the children out of their jail—the congested part of the city.

To be a successful pitcher one must like his job.

The winning pitcher must concentrate on and off the ball field.

Many a ball game is won in the clubhouse. Skull practice, as the daily conference is called, often paves the way to victory.

In these sessions the weakness and the strength of the opposition is pointed out. No one profits more than the pitcher.

Asked to give a definite bit of advice I would say, don't hurry your pitching. Haste creates wildness, very often carelessness.

Study your batter. Dwell on his weakness. Consider every situation of the game and pitch accordingly. Put some thought back of every ball pitched.

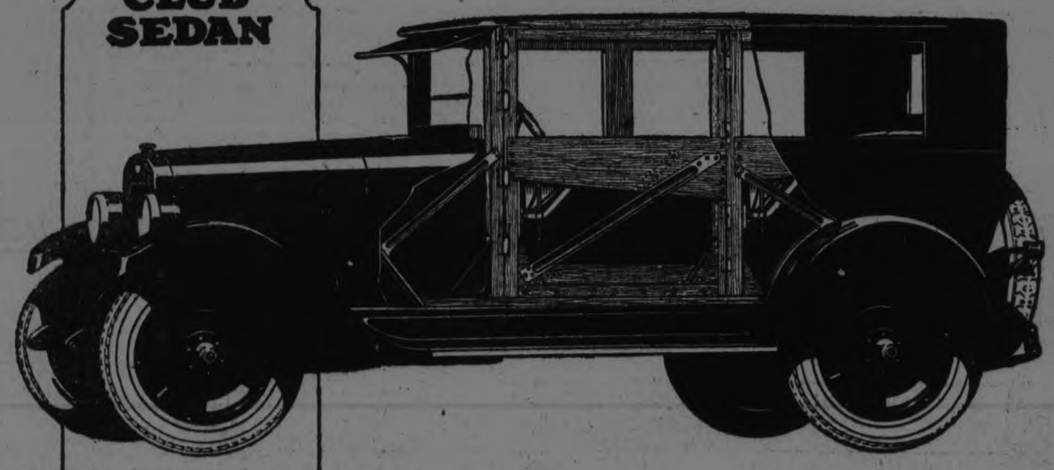
The CLUB SEDAN



Utility, first, last and all the time, is the big feature of the Club Sedan. A roomy body, ample for five full grown persons—so generous in space that a six-footer sitting in the rear seat can stretch his legs out full length. The wide doors give the car many uses in addition to passenger transportation, for heavy, bulky articles—goods of almost any kind—can readily be put into the rear and taken from it.

CLUB COUPE

The Best Buy On the Market Today

We say emphatically that the good Maxwell is by long odds the best buy on the market today.

It is the best simply because it delivers more useful, carefree service per penny invested than any other car of its class.

Such an unqualified statement must always rest on genuine in-built goodness.

Throw the searchlight on the good Maxwell and see for yourself how it emerges triumphantly superior in sturdiness and genuine goodness.

See the bridge-type construction of the Club Sedan body. Body and door framing is all hardwood, unusually substantial. Metal bracing is stiff, strong, heavily-ribbed steel.

Doors are hung on four sturdy hinges and supplied with double steel supporting wedges. They stay square and true.

There is little chance for rattle and rumble and squeak in such a body; and the world knows how splendidly dependable the good Maxwell chassis is, and how little the car costs to run.

These are just a few reasons why the good Maxwell is so superlatively good—why it is so dependable, enduring, economical—

Why every model earns a legitimate title to its popularity—

Why the good Maxwell is the logical—the inevitable—choice of every man who insists on investing every penny he spends to the very best advantage.

WOMEN COMMIT MURDER TO EMULATE MEN SAYS LAW UNIVERSITY DEAN

Broad Headed Animals Destroy Narrow Headed Ones Says Phrenologist, and Study Shows Women Killers to Have This Characteristic—Need for Excitement Evident.

"Feminism" is blamed by John Henry Wigmore, dean of Northwestern University Law School, for the seeming highly accelerated trend of Chicago women toward murder.

"Women are setting out to show they can do everything man does," he says.

"Those who are inclined toward the good things of life are emulating men in constructive achievement. But those who would lean toward the bad now are going as far as bad men go."

Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, doesn't concede an increase in the rate of crime by women.

"They are just bunching their hits at this time," he declares. "Another year and the rate will be about normal."

(By GEORGE BRITT).

CHICAGO, April 19. — "Women who shoot their men run true to type."

This assertion analyzing a photograph gallery of women slayers is from Dr. James M. Fitzgerald, famous phrenologist and success adviser.

He had just completed a study of Mrs. Beulah May Annan, Titian haired beauty, who is in the county jail for shooting Harry Kalstedt during a wine party in her husband's absence.

Rounding out his examination, Dr. Fitzgerald viewed also the photographs of other Chicago women slayers: Mrs. Belle Gaertner, now awaiting trial; Sabelle Nitti, child-like peasant, and Katherine Malm, "bandit girl," both of whom have been convicted, and Mrs. Lucille Kavanagh, who shot her husband and was acquitted.

Feelings Control Wills.

Here are the facial characteristics common to them all, according to Dr. Fitzgerald:

Broad nose and cheekbones, full chin and lips, contracted upper frontal skull development and prominent, bulging development of the forehead just over the eyes and nose.

This latter feature indicates keen perception and also accuracy in shooting. They are all of the motive-vital, the action-feeling type. Their feelings rule their will and they don't think of consequences when they act.

"They all have broad heads," says Dr. Fitzgerald. "You can put it down as a basic principle that the broad-headed animals eat the narrow headed ones. They have the destructive, acquisitive, passionate qualities. The way for people of this type to keep out of trouble is to keep at work.

"Mrs. Annan had a masculine spirit in a feminine body. She doesn't clearly understand herself, and no one was more surprised than she when she sobered up and found she had killed a man.

"She has a love of action and excitement. Experiments and experiences dominate her, while routine is unduly irritating. Her mental development was such that she couldn't entertain herself, and it did not inhibit spontaneous outbursts.

"Her husband couldn't satisfy her wish for excitement and her need to be jollied and flattered. Hers was not a sexual craving so much as a need for constant variety.

No Fear of Consequences.

"If she had been a millionaire's daughter, her temperament could have been given outlet without danger. She was simply the wrong one to have her type of personality.

"Mrs. Gaertner is the most highly developed mentally of the lot. Unless she were drunk, she never would have shot. But she loves romance and action.

"Mrs. Malm has great mental alertness and a large ego. Mrs. Kavanagh is of the same feeling-dominated type. Mrs. Nitti is the child, governed by instinct and impulse. She has powerful will but no comprehension.

"All these women are alike in having single track minds, with imperfect comprehension of consequences. They are 'show me' people, who have to experience to understand, and the jails are full of this type. Food and sexual interests make a strong appeal to them.

"A narrow-headed, reflective person, with the reasoning and moral centers of the upper frontal region well developed never would kill as these women did."

Kidney Troubles Often Follow Colds

Such Was the Experience of New Brunswick Lady

Madame B. Gaudet suffered with complications of Kidney trouble and found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

POINTE SAPIN, N.B., April 18. —(Special).—"My trouble was caused through a cold which left me with backache and rheumatism. I also had headaches and always felt tired and nervous, perspiring freely from the least exertion. I took four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I have found that they have done me a lot of good."

This statement is made by Madame B. Gaudet, a well-known resident of this place.

Madame Gaudet's trouble came from the Kidneys, which had become deranged as the result of a cold. This is evidenced by the relief she got from Dodd's Kidney Pills.

When the Kidneys become clogged or out of order, the circulation becomes sluggish, the impurities are not strained out of the blood and the result is weariness and lack of energy all over the body. This condition is not only disagreeable but dangerous as well. The impurities in the blood are the seeds of disease.

LADY S. CASSELS DIED IN LONDON

Since Sir Walter's Death Last March Mrs. Cassels and Her Daughter Miss Susie Have Been Residing in England.

LONDON, April 19. — Canadian Press Cables. — Lady Susan Cassels (widow of Sir Walter Cassels, Ottawa, who was judge of the Exchequer Court of Canada), who died here yesterday, had been in London for some time. She was a daughter of the late Robert Hamilton of Hamwood Quebec.

OTTAWA SHOCKED.

News of the death of Lady Cassels in London, England, came as a great shock to a multitude of friends and acquaintances in Ottawa, where she was exceptionally well known and highly regarded, a despatch from the Capital says. Relatives in Ottawa were aware that Lady Cassels had been stricken with paralysis about ten days ago, but they did not realize that her condition was so grave. After Sir Walter's death last March, Lady Cassels with her daughter, Miss Susie went abroad and spent the winter in London, England. They had planned to sail for Canada an the first of aMy and to take up residence in Toronto.

Lady Cassels is survived by two sons and four daughters.

SAFE FAT REDUCTION

Reduce, reduce, reduce, is the slogan of all fat people. Get thin, be slim, is the cry of fashion and society. And the overfat wring their hands in mortification and helpfulness; revolting at nauseating drugs, afraid of violent exercise, dreading the unwelcome and unsatisfying diet, until they hit upon the harmless Marmola Prescription, and learn through it that they may safely reduce steadily and easily without one change in their mode of life, but harmlessly, secretly and quickly reaching their ideal of figure with a smoother skin, better appetite and health than they have ever known. And now comes Marmola Prescription Tablets from the same famously harmless formula as the Marmola Prescription. It behooves you to learn the satisfactory, beneficial effects of this great, safe, fat reducer by giving to your druggist one dollar for a case, or sending a like amount to the Marmola Company, 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich., with a request that they mail to you a case of Marmola Prescription Tablets.

CHRISTIAN MOTHERS HOLD EASTER SALE

Charitable Work Will Be Carried On With Proceeds

The Christian Mothers' Society of St. Peter's Cathedral are holding an Easter sale of home-made cooking and sewing, also an afternoon tea, in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon and evening of next week. The proceeds will be used for charitable work.

The ladies in charge of arrangements have gathered together a quantity of useful articles to suit varied tastes. Babies' and children's wear predominate. There are small, pretty white things embroidered in delicate pinks and blues; ginghams in plain and plaid combinations; a cunning repp romper, with a pussy cat and a pair of bunnies on its small front; pink, lace-trimmed small frocks, repp and serge dresses, prettily made, towels and sleepers and a few pieces of dainty fancy work.

WILLIAMS STILL WITH ROCHESTER

Former Belleville Southpaw Not Sure He Says in Letter as to Future

BELLEVILLE, April 19.—Jack Williams is still with the Rochester Colts and like another famous Johnny "still going strong," according to a letter which Mr. Raymond Carr received late yesterday from the former Grand Trunk southpaw. Jack is not sure as to what will happen to him and rather has the idea that he may go to one of two places; to the Waterbury Club or the Syracuse Club. The latter is owned by Stallings and is a sort of farming out place. Waterbury wants Williams. Stalling has said nothing of this to Williams, the letter says but he had heard there is something doing. Stalling has told him he likes Williams' work and it is also reported via Knotty Lee that Williams is the best left-hander that the Colts have.

All that being indefinite, it is idle to conjecture for after all Williams might well be kept with the Hustlers. He pitched three innings the other day against Spartansburg and had only one hit registered off his delivery.

Williams, in his letter, said he felt fine after the workout and could have gone nine frames without hurting himself. He felt that he had turned in a good performance. Rochester lost the game in the tenth and it was Johnny's fault.

The reason opening tod-ay will bring some changes. Stalling has a raft of pitchers, a dozen and a half anyway, and a whole flock of them are to go somewhere. What will be done with Williams will, therefore soon be known.

McPhee is Released

Danny McPhee, the left handed pitcher of St. Thomas who has been in the south with the Brooklyn team has been released to Petersburg under optional agreement. Shortstop Stoneman on the same club goes with him. He will likely remain with the Virginia club for the season.

MAPLE SYRUP WAS PLENTIFUL TODAY

Buyers Were Plentiful and Trading Was Brisk Under the Mild Sunshine of a Real Spring Day.

The farmers' market had plenty of buyers this morning Trading was brisk under the mild sunshine of a real spring day. Maple syrup is still the most popular commodity, at prices ranging from 50 to 65 cents a quart. Potatoes this morning were $1.85 and $1.90 a bag, in good quality. Apples had a fairly good demand, there was little cut meat on view, and only a few vegetables. The fish man, with little fresh perch with orange gills, at 10 cents a pound, fresh pike and big white plaice, had his rival across the way, the voluble gentleman who dispenses "Lake Ontario mullett" or suckers" at a small price. "A good meal of fish is a fine thing," said a spectator of this gentlemans activities," but when you've had one, you don't need another for quite awhile."

A purveyor of baskets at 30 cents apiece had a crowd, there were two or three loads of wood, and little pigs, at $4 and $5 apiece were prominent exhibits.

Honey on the market this morning in five-pound pails was 55, 65 and 75 cents, in varying qualities.

Upstairs, in the basket section, an absent-minded remnant of the back-warming brigade still lingered about the cold black stove.

Dairy produce was very plentiful Eggs sold for 23, 22 and 21 cents a dozen; butter from 40 cents to 35 a pound, and chickens at 25 and 28 cents a pound. One lone turkey was priced at 35 cents a pound.

A feature of the upper market this morning was the many sales going on. The young man with the fancy work needle, continues to demonstrate his new idea to interested ladies; there were sales of home made cooking and candy, the latter in little bags priced by small girls at five, ten and twenty cents, respectively, and the lady who vended artificial flowers had a big and interested crowd of buyers. Beautiful waxed sweet peas were fifty cents a bunch, yellow roses were four for a quarter, and there were red rosebuds, yellow daffodils and Easter lilies, with ferns in delicate artificial fineness.

Weak, Nervous Men and Women Quickly Gain New Strength

They Renew Vitality and Nerve Force by a Home Treatment Costing Only Ten Cents a Day

The nerve power of our systems finds its life in our blood. Create more blood cells, make the blood richer and we rekindle the fire of bodily strength, for rich, red blood is the driving force of life.

If we are too easily exhausted, lack confidence and sustaining power are nervous, irritable, sleep fitfully and awake unrefreshed; if we are too thin, pale, anaemic looking, we should think first of our blood.

Build more red blood. Gain new strength. Nourish the body tissues. Rejuvenate ourselves. It is red blood that makes our bodies tingle with the pulsing of life.

Men and women who need a blood builder should go at once to their druggist's and obtain a generous size bottle of Wincarnis. Here is a home treatment that costs less than ten cents a day. Wincarnis gives your blood the vitalizing elements that it needs. In twelve days see the improvement that Wincarnis brings. You will worry no longer because of failing strength.

TWO MEN HELD IN FIRE CASE

Questioned Regarding Deaths of Nine Men

CHICAGO, Ill., April 19. Canadian Press. — Samuel Moore and Leo Unell, owners of a sporting and novelty concern, were in custody to-day for questioning in connection with a fire in which eight firemen and one civilian lost their lives last night.

Samuel Polnsky, said to have had insurance dealings with Moore and Unell, was declared by the police to have insurance policies aggregating $32,000 issued to Moore and Unell still in his possession.

Polinsky also was questioned, and he and Adolph Friedman are held as witnesses for the inquest.

Insure Easter Hat Against Rainfall

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., April 19.—United Press. — "The price of your Easter bonnet back if it rains one-tenth of an inch between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., Easter Sunday."

That was the offer made by a local insurance firm to-day.

It was the first time, the firm believed, that Easter hats have been insured against rain.

The rate is about 9 per cent of the cost of the bonnet—meaning the company bets aproximately 11 to 1 that fair weather will prevail to-morrow."

GOOD FRIDAY WAS OBSERVED LOCALLY

Churches Had Choral Services and Penetential Spirit Prevailed.

Good Friday was observed generally by the churches of the city yesterday. Even the weather, wet and gloomy, was in keeping with the penetential spirit of the occasion.

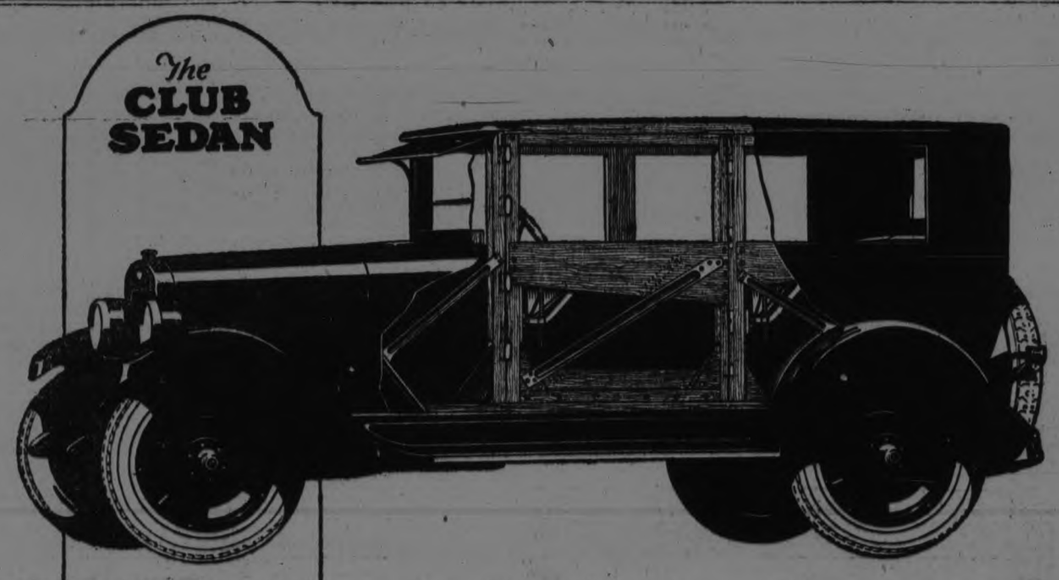
Several of the churches, including St. John's, All Saints', and George Street Methodist, had specially prepared choral evening services; the Catholic churches held their usual Good Friday devotions in the afternoon and evening; there were morning services in St. Paul's, Trinity Methodist, St. Andrew's and Knox Churches, also in Murray Street Baptist Church and the Salvation Army Temple, and on Friday evening the Salvation Army Temple Songsters held a special service entitled "The Resurrection."

WAR VETERANS PARADE TO ST. PETER'S CHURCH

The eighth annual church parade of the Great War Veterans' Association will take place to-morrow morning, when the Veterans will parade for church service to St. Peter's Cathedral. The gathering will take place at ten o'cock sharp at the G.W.V.A. Hall.

In this parade, the G.W.V.A. commemorates in fitting manner the observance of St. Julien's Day, on 22nd and 23rd April, 1915, when the Canadians met a gas attack for the first time, and stood up so nobly under fearful odds.

The CLUB SEDAN



Utility, first, last and all the time, is the big feature of the Club Sedan. A roomy body, ample for five full grown persons—so generous in space that a six-footer sitting in the rear seat can stretch his legs out full length. The wide doors give the car many uses in addition to passenger transportation, for heavy, bulky articles—goods of almost any kind—can readily be put into the rear and taken from it.

CLUB COUPE

The Best Buy On the Market Today

We say emphatically that the good Maxwell is by long odds the best buy on the market today.

It is the best simply because it delivers more useful, carefree service per penny invested than any other car of its class.

Such an unqualified statement must always rest on genuine in-built goodness.

Throw the searchlight on the good Maxwell and see for yourself how it emerges triumphantly superior in sturdiness and genuine goodness.

See the bridge-type construction of the Club Sedan body. Body and door framing is all hardwood, unusually substantial. Metal bracing is stiff, strong, heavily-ribbed steel.

Doors are hung on four sturdy hinges and supplied with double steel supporting wedges. They stay square and true.

There is little chance for rattle and rumble and squeak in such a body; and the world knows how splendidly dependable the good Maxwell chassis is, and how little the car costs to run.

These are just a few reasons why the good Maxwell is so superlatively good—why it is so dependable, enduring, economical—

Why every model earns a legitimate title to its popularity—

Why the good Maxwell is the logical—the inevitable—choice of every man who insists on investing every penny he spends to the very best advantage.

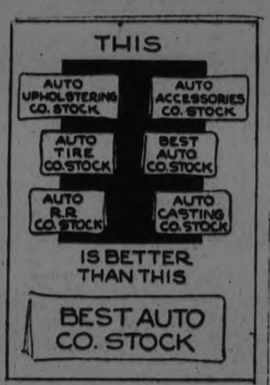
MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.



Many experts on investments advocate "buying into an industry" instead of just buying the securities of one company in that field.

If you believed that the automobile business was going to prosper in the next few years, what would be the safest way to invest in it?

The easiest way would be to choose securities in some of the best automobile companies. However, there is a more conservative way, called investing in the industry.

For instance, there are railroads which depend upon automobile shipments for the major part of their traffic. Certain equipment companies rely mainly on the automobile business. Other companies deal in materials which ultimately find their way into the automobile.

Of course, the automobile is the principal part of the industry, yet by distributing money over the rest of the industry you are not dependent upon the automobile business alone, because those companies have other business, too. At the same time if the automobile business does prosper they probably will, too.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

Instead of Meat.

You will like this dish of sphaghetti, with mushrooms and tomatoes and peppers and cheese. It is practical for an informal luncheon when many are to be served or for a home dinner.

If you are "having" an all-day meeting of your sewing circle, and must furnish something hot at noon time, try this baked spaghetti and accompany it with warm rolls, preserves or jelly, radishes, tea, coffee or cocoa.

Baked Spaghetti.

One pound spaghetti, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 3 onions, 1 can mushrooms, 1 quart tomatoes, 2 green peppers, ½ pound chopped cheese, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons catsup, 4 tablespoons butter or olive oil.

Put spaghetti slowly, without breaking, into 4 quarts of rapidly boiling salted water. Boil about twenty minutes. Drain and rinse with cold water. Put butter, or oil, in frying pan and add sliced onions. Fry until a golden brown. Add mushrooms and salute lightly.

Remove seeds and white fiber from pepers. Dip in boiling water for five minutes. Then dip in cold water and rub off the thin coating covering the pepper. Cut in shreds or mince. Add to onions and mushrooms in frying pan. Add tomatoes and bring to the boiling point.

Put spaghetti in baking dish, add tomato mixture with parsley and catsup and mix well. Bake in a slow oven for one and a half hours.

Add chopped cheese and bake half an hour longer or until the cheese is melted. This rule will serve fifteen persons.

Cheese Fondue is delicious for a small part or family. The recipe can be doubled and will serve eight.

Cheese Fondue.

One and one-half cups soft bread crumbs, ½ cup milk, 6 tablespoons grated cheese, 3 eggs, 4 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon peper, ⅛ teaspoon mustard.

Cook crumbs and milk, stirring constantly until hot and smooth. Add butter, cheese, salt, pepper and mustard and cook until cheese is melted. Remove from fire and add yolks of two eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold in whites of three eggs, beaten until stiff and dry on a platter with a whisk. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve at once. Creamed peas or asparagus or cauliflower could be served with the fondue.

The Hidden Quality of the Gray-Dort

THE beauty of the Gray-Dort line is apparent to every observer. It has long been the outstanding car of its class for appearance.

But underneath these beautiful bodies is a quality of materials and design and workmanship which is amazing in cars at Gray-Dort prices. Here is tangible evidence of the intention of the new Gray-Dort management to give the greatest automobile value ever offered in Canada.

Every vital part of the Gray-Dort has been checked and tested by engineers under gruelling conditions. Every change they recommended has been made. An entire new rear axle was designed. A new disc clutch was built into the car. New rigid inspection rules were established.

Every Gray-Dort car is now absolutely right in every detail. One drive will convince you that never before have cars of this class given such performance. And the performance is permanently built into the Gray-Dort for years and years of satisfaction to you.

See the new Gray-Dorts; find out what they will do; and learn the low prices.

COUZENS IS ALONE IN TREASURY QUIZ.

Secretary of War Weeks and Attorney - General Daugherty Hushed Up Charges of Army Aircraft Frauds.

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Senator Couzens is going to finish investigating the Treasury Department if he has to do it entirely alone. It looks as if he might have to do just that. His fellow-committeemen haven't seemed enthusiastic any of the time. At a recent session they "laid down on him" competely.

The only one to show up for work, he went right ahead all by himself. He'd received the tip that five big companies Secretary Mellon was interested in had enjoyed "preferential treatment" from the treasury in income tax matters. Would the secretary kindly "come across" with full information? he asked. Thus pointedly invited it's understood the secretary is going to do so.

* * *

The Daugherty committee has heard stories:

That Secretary of War Weeks and Attorney General Daugherty hushed up charges of army aircraft frauds, and that T. F. Lane, lawyer for the air service, was "fired" (he certainly was "fired" for some reason or other) because, against his superiors' orders, he testified before the committee.

That ex-Warden Dyche of the Atlanta penitentiary found "dope" was being peddled among the convicts and started an investigation (this is Dyche's own testimony) which was suppressed by Superintendent of Federal Prisons Votaw, Harding's brother-in-law, to shield "higher-ups."

That all the time the Chicago city administration was making a big hullabaloo about the (alleged) enforcement of prohibition there, eight breweries were making high-power beer and that Brice Armstrong, for trying to stop it, was shot through both legs—by a dry agent.

* * *

A Montana grand jury's indictment of Senator Wheeler, a leader among the Daugherty inquisitors, an a charge of taking money from applicants for oil and gas prospecting permits, which a member of Congress has no right to do, is spoken of in Washington official circles generally as just a piece of politics.

* * *

The oil investigators, having heard from witnesses who declared they were told by the late Jake Hamon, Oklahoma oil operator and Republican national committeeman, that he spent $400,000 helping to get Harding nominated, have undertaken to find out where the DEMOCRATIC National Committee got ITS money in 1920. They've accounted for $34,900 that Doheny contributed.

* * *

The House committee, investigating the Shipping Board, has been listening to accounts of British influence in the Emergency Fleet Corporation. There has been much testimony concerning graft by concerns to which the Shipping Board entrusted government vessels to operate. It's charged that Chinese are gradually replacing Americans as members of crews. And the investigators have discovered that, out of 1200 steel ships the government owns, 400 are to be scrapped soon. Through neglect, they're so dilapidated that repairs wouldn't be worth while.

CIRCUS BROADCAST.

Children far away from the circus to open soon in New York will have an opportunity to listen in on them—if they have a receiving set. Stations WJZ, New York, and WGY Scenectady, have arranged to broadcast the grunts and roars of the animals when the circus opens on April 10.

RADIO NEWS

HARTFORD, Conn., April 16. — Organization of the radio amateurs of the world has taken on big strides since the return recently of Hiram Percy Maxim, famous inventor and President of the American Radio Relay League.

According to Maxim, the International Amateur Relay League is an assured possibility for the near future. Plans for its organization were completed at the European amateur conference, from which he returned.

For some time, amateur radio enthusiasts, transmitting on low wavelengths, have been hearing one another across seas and continents. Reports come in to A.R.R.L. headquarters here almost daily of unique long distance reception experienced by American and foreign amateurs. Japan, Australia, the Philippines, England, France, other European countries, South America—in fact, almost all points of the globe are reporting great progress in amateur activities.

From Australia comes the offer of a genuine Australian boomerang, representing two-way communication, to the American or Canadian amateur who will be first to establish definite two-way radio communication on amateur wavelengths between New Zealand or Australia are endeavoring to organize throughout the world.

It is a sign of the unofficial interest of amateurs, which Maxim and others prominent in amateur radio and North America.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Auction Sale Was Well Attended and Very Good Prices Realized-- Praise For Public Library.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 19. — George Anderson, of Seymour West, who has disposed of his farm, held an auction sale of his stock and implements Wednesday afternoon, J. R. Battesby being the auctioneer. There was a large crowd in attendance, bidding was brisk and good prices were realized. Mr. Anderson will move into Campbellford and take up some other line of work.

The farm which Mr. Anderson is leaving has been in the family for three generations, his grandfather having settled on it over 60 years ago, when it was practically all forest land. It is now highly improved and equipped with a modern residence and outbuildings. The place still remains in the Anderson name, as it has been purchased by Will Anderson, cousin of George N., and who has been brought up on the adjoining farm.

Mr. Anderson last week disposed of a number of pure-bred Holsteins at the sale in Belleville. He sold the remainder of his dairy herd yesterday, the highest figure received being $93 for a grade cow. A pure-bred Holstein bull, the only objection to which was the color, this animal being nearly entirely white, sold for $41. This bull, two years old, was purchased about a year ago for $30.

A fine team of Clydes brought $311. How well these horses were watched can be inferred from the fact that one sold for $155 and the other for $156.

A team of horses brought from the Province of Alberta by John Currie, of Seymour West, were offered for sale, but the only offer received was $75 for the pick of the pair. The team formed part of a carload brought by Mr. Currie from the West, where at the present time horses can hardly be sold at any price. They are the progeny of a mare Mr. Currie sold in the West at a fancy figure some years ago, a mare of the Haig breed that made Seymour famous as the home of heavy horses.

Both horses were brooded, both were high strung and otherwise showed their prairie upbringing. Perhaps it was for these reasons that the farmers fought shy of them, and for once the persuasive eloquence of Auctioneer Battisby failed to make a sale. The price set on the team by Mr. Currie was $500.

It was demonstrated yesterday to what extent the price of farm implements has increased within the past few years. A three-piece iron barrow, purchased new about 15 years ago, was sold yesterday for $30, and it was considered that the buyer secured a bargain. The same make of barrow, new, could not be bought to-day for less than $60.

Fifteen tons of hay sold for $12 a ton, the purchasers to draw it themselves. This is the top price paid in Campbellford for the same quality of hay delivered.

Praise For Public Library

E. H. Greig, who all winter has acted as secretary of the Public Library Board, in the absence of Secretary S. J. Dolman in the South, has received the following letter from W. O. Carson, of Toronto, inspector of libraries for Ontario:

"I have just signed a recommendation for a grant of $260 towards your Public Library. I am pleased to observe that it is the maximum that can be given a Public Library. The patronage for 1923 was exceedingly good and much above the average.

Your financial statement is very creditable. I like it in every respect, your income was good for the population of the town and your expenditures were well proportioned. I hope 1924 will be a very succesful year with your Board.

Yours truly,
W. O. CARSON,
Inspector of Public Libraries.

Returns to Campbellford

Neil Morrison, for some years the local representative of the Metropolitan Insurance Company, has resigned that position and is now engaged in business selling gasoline and auto accessories in the building on Bridge street which he purchased last winter.

Mr. Morrison's successor is A. J. Wood, who was formerly an engineer in the employ of the Trent Canal. Up to a year ago he was stationed in Campbellford but last summer was transferred to Young's Point from which place he will move his family back to Campbellford next week. He took up his new line of work for the first time yesterday.

During his former residence here Mr. Wood took an active part in the social and athletic life of the town and he has a host of friends here who will welcome him back. He is a member of the Band and his services have always been in demand at dramatic entertainments, as he possesses histronic ability of a high order. He was elected president of the baseball club last year and will likely be chosen for the same position during the season of 1924. His services as an umpire never failed to give satisfaction to home and outside teams alike.

Cheese Factory in Operation.

The local cheese factory has been started up for the season and on the opening day three of the portions delivered a total of 3,000 pounds of milk. The maker in charge this year is Walter Latta who has had 27 years' experience in various factories in Ontario and who comes to Campbellford highly recommended. For the past four years he has been maker at Woodland, one of the largest factories in Seymour township. The outlook for a busy season here is exceedingly bright and the reputation of the output of the local factory will be kept up to the usual high standard.

Difference Was $250.

When James Farrel applied for the position of janitor of the High School he asked for a salary of $950 a year. The tender of Frank Blake who got the appointment was for $1,200. Mr. Farrell's offer was $250 less than that of the unsuccessful applicant, not $150 as inadvertently stated yesterday.

Football Friday.

The newly organized football team of Christ Church played their first game on the attic ... day on the exhibition grounds where their competitors will be the team from the Canadian Woollens, Peterboro. The local boys have been practicing steadily but they are not overconfident that they will in their first trial of skill be able to down an experienced team. ... ever, is certain, the young fellows will try hard ...

At The Regent.

The film of the Dempsey-Gibbons bout of 15 rounds will be shown at the Regent May 22, 23 and 24, not on these dates in April as stated in the advertisement Monday. Capt. Hyland reserves this picture for the crowd that is certain to be in town on the holiday.

EXCHANGED PRISONERS.

PARIS, April 18.— (Canadian Press Cable via Havas). —The French and German governments to-day exchanged at Kehl station, some of their nationals held for political reasons. Three Frenchmen, including Captain Pindaris Barmont, were exchanged against three Germans.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Annual Meeting of the Mission Circle --Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, April 19.—Mrs. P. Stinson entertained the "Golden Links" Mission Circle for their annual meeting, which was held on Tuesday evening, the returing President, Miss Marjorie Skitch, being in the chair.

Miss Laura Crocker read the Scripture lesson from the 46th Psalm, and Mrs. C. Hubbard, the Secretary, gave the annual report, stating that eight regular meetings had been held during the year, the attendance at each being a fair percentage of membership enrolled. The annual picnic, held in June, had proved an enjoyable outing, and it is hoped another may be arranged for this coming summer.

Mrs. Victor Lambert, recently moved to Millbrook from Oshawa where she had been an active worker in the Mission Circle of the King Street Church, was welcomed to the "Golden Links" Circle. Mrs. Lambert, who is a life member of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, was made a life member of the Mission Circle at Oshawa before her removal here. The other life members of the local circle are Miss Lottie Luxon, a past President; Miss E. C. Hawker, missionary teacher in the Kolekreeka Home and Boarding School, Alberta, and Mrs. J. W. Walsh, who has always been a warm friend of the circle and was active in its organization, giving it generous support financially each year.

The "Watch Tower" was responded to by Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. Harold Hunter, Mrs. P. Stinson and Mrs. Hubbeard. The news from Japan showed that when times were depressed along certain lines of industry some of the native Christian workmen voluntarily asked for a reduction in wages, with the result that when there was trade prosperity their leaders said: "The companies gladly accepted our demand for an increase in wages beacuse we were ready to help our employers in their struggle to make both ends meet." A similar action might help solve labor difficulties in the western world of industry.

Rev. S. T. Tucker took charge of the meeting for the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Superintendent—Mrs. V. Lambert.
President—Mrs. J. McKnight.
1st Vice-President—Miss Pearl Burnham,
Secretary—Mrs. Harold Hunter.
Treasurer—Miss Laura Crocker.
Organist—Miss May Byam.
Superintendent of Mite Boxes — Miss Marjorie Skitch.

Mrs. H. Hunter was appointed delegate to represent the circle at the meeting to be held in Port Hope on June 3, 4 and 5. The meeting was closed with prayer by the pastor.

Mrs. Stinson, assisted by a committee of the girls, served delicious refreshments at the conclusion of the business session and a very pleasant social hour was enjoyed before the members left for home. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Stinson for her hospitality, moved by Miss Burnham, seconded by Mrs. P. Smith.

The circle has now twenty-seven annual members and four life members. Their object each year is to raise fifty dollars toward the salary of Miss E. C. Hawken, who went to the mission field in Alberta from the Millbrook Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the Methodist Church.

Got Third Place.

In the record of production tests of Holstein-Fresian cattle for the month of March, out of 71 certificates issued, R. R. Stevens of Bowmanville, sales manager of the Durham County Holstein Breeders' Club, of which W. Fred. Faills, Millbrook, is President, received third place in the 365 days' test for mature cows, and second place in the four-year-old class. In the 305 days' division the mature class was led by Mr. Stevens' cow, 917.50 lbs. of butter being the record in this case, 946.25 lbs. in the four-year-olds and 953.75 in the first instance mentioned.

Personals.

Mr. Howard Lancashire left on Monday morning for Tantallun, Sask., where he will take up mission work for the summer months. The work of a medical missionary is what Mr. Lancashire has in view as his chosen profession.

Much sympathy will be felt for Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Might whose little baby boy, Samuel Gladstone, passed away at the age of one month and was buried this week in the Frazerville Cemetery.

THE NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL

The North Monaghan Council met in regular session on Monday, April 14th., at the Court House, all the members being present.

A communication was read from the Provincial Deptartment of Public Highways, stating that the price of crushed stone to the township would be $1.50 per cubic yard. The clerk was instructed to write the Department and ask why the price of crushed stone to the township is quoted at a higher rate than to private individuals.

A communication was read from the Drainage Department of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, enunciating the many advantages to the township of going into the financing of drainage for farmers, under the law of the Ontario Drainage Act, the rate of interest as fixed by the Province of Ontario for the benefit of farmers being five per cent.

A communication was read, from the Deputy Minister of Public Highways, in regard to new regulations governing the grants for money spent on township roads. Under the new Act, which will come into force in 1925, the township must appoint a township road superintendent, and statute labour, in its commuted form or otherwise must be totally abolished, in order that the township may participate in the grants.

Re Commuted Statute Labour

The clerk was instructed to write the Department of Public Highways and ask the department to send a man to Peterboro, to discuss with the Township Council the question of passing a by-law abolishing commute stature labour. The Council, in going into the problem, figured that the resident property owners, and particularly the farmers, will pay double the present amount that they are paying in commuted statute labour, if they are taxed at three and one-half mills on the dollar, which is equivalent to the total amount of statute labour money raised in 1923 on the whole township, the section of country surrounding the city in the suburban area being the hardest part of the proposition to handle.

Reeve Rye was instructed to purchase a rooter plow for the use of the township.

The follwing bills were passed and ordered to be paid: N. L. Patterson, groceries, (charity): $10.55; W. J. Byers, ditto $30.94; W. J. Byers ditto, $30.61; A. E. White, ditto $14.98; Peterboro Examiner, re Morrow street water main, $4.20; The Merchants Press, for diphtheria and scarlet fever cards, $5.04.

A special meeting of the township Council will be held at seven o'clock at the Court House on Monday, April 28th.

YOUNG'S POINT

DUNFORD—HOCKADAY.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the Methodist Parsonage, Lakefield, on Wednesday, April 16, when Roxie May, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hockaday of Young's Point became the bride of Clayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dunford of Dummer. Rev. C. S. Reddick performed the ceremony.

The happy couple who were unattended will reside in Dummer.

Mr. J. Johnston was in Peterboro Wednesday on business.

Miss Bertha Robinson of Lakefield spent a few days this week at her home.

Mr. Ed. Young was in Peterboro Wednesday on business.

Miss Doreen Johnston and Master Bernard of Lakefield are visiting their aunt Miss Laura McFarlane.

Misses Hilda Bullock, Margaret Young, Ethel and Bessie Wilson and Ettie Bullock who are attending Lakefield High School are spending the holidays at their home in the village.

Port of Montreal Officially Opened.

MONTREAL, April 19. — The port of Montreal officially opened its 1924 season of navigation Friday morning when the Government icebreaker Lady Grey arrived in the harbor shortly after ten o'clock and reported the ship channel free of ice from Quebec upwards. Below Quebec, navigation is also possible in spite of loose ice moving down stream, as is evidenced by the arrival at that port from Sydney, N. S., of the steamer Airedale.

SEWER GAS EXPLOSION CAUSED LOTS TROUBLE

WELLAND, April 19. — Sewer gas exploded with disastrous results on Ross street at noon yesterday. One house was wrecked, three set on fire, and several persons injured. Mrs. D. L. Weaver, who was standing on the rear porch of her house, was thrown several feet by the impact and sustained a fractured arm and other injuries. The Weaver house was badly damaged, and the entire south side of the home of William Walsh was blown out and the rest of the building was wrecked.

Mrs. Walsh and the three children were at dinner, and though the dining room was almost demolished neither Mrs. Walsh nor her children were seriously injured. The fires were soon brought under control.

CONTROLLER OF FINANCE NEED FOR ONTARIO

TORONTO, April 19.—(Canadian Press.)— Instead of oft-mentioned controller of provincial finance, it may be necessary to employ two men to guard the treasury, Hon. W. S. Price stated yesterday. On account of the large amounts involved it was pointed out that knowledge of banking, exchange, accounting and other branches was required, which would be extremely hard to find in one man no matter how capable. Mr. Price stated that Premier Ferguson had promised to allow whatever assistance was necessary. The matter would be definitely decided within two months.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Clive Roberts Barton

THE EASTER BUNNY ARRIVES

"Did you see a chocolate rabbit with one ear?"

A very unexpected person made a visit to Doofunny Land. You would think he'd be too awfully busy right at this time to go to such a far-away country, but there he was, long ears and short tail and all. It was the Easter Bunny.

Nancy and Nick and Mister Fuzz Wuzz met him on the road, peering this way and that as though he was looking for something.

"How do you do!" he said, "did you see a chocolate rabbit with one ear, and a hollow hen?"

Mister Fuzz Wuzz laughed. "With one ear and a hollow hen! What did he want with a hollow hen?"

"It's no time for joking," said the Easter Bunny. "I asked you if you had seen a hollow hen and a one-eared chocolate rabbit?"

"Well, why didn't you say so!" exclaimed Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "You said a rabbit with one ear and a hoi—"

"Oh, shush!" said the newcomer. "I haven't time to waste. My Easter baskets are all ready but one, and it was ready, too, but when I had my back turned to get some tiny eggs to put into the basket, the bunny and hen skipped off. All that was left was one of the bunny's ears and a few crumbs of maple sugar off the hen. I've been to Sugar Plum Land, but they are not there, and to Toy Land, but they are not there either! Doofunny Land was the only place I could think of after that so I came here. Are you sure you didn't see them?"

"No, we didn't," said the Twins.

"And I didn't," said Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "However, there are a lot of people in Doofunny Land you haven't asked yet. Come along, Bunny, we'll go with you."

"See a bunny and a chicken?" exclaimed the patent-leather cat. "Nope, I didn't. Did you, friend dog?" For the cat and dog had made it up and were now living peacefully.

"Nope!" said the dog. "But I like chocolate. I'm sorry I didn't. And I like maple sugar, too."

Next they met, let me see, I think it was the tin mouse.

"Did I see a chocolate bunny and a maple-sugar hollow hen? No, I didn't!" And he wiggled his long horse-hair whiskers. "Where did you say you left the basket with the chocolate ear in it? It might make a meal."

"Never mind where I left it," said the Easter Bunny sharply. "That's one reason I wish to find the runaways. Before they can tell my secrets. And just before taking the baskets around to the children's houses, I always warn the basket people not to tell, either."

"Well, I didn't see either of them," squeaked the mouse, running away.

"See a rabbit and hen?" cried all the Humpty Dumpty Circus animals. "No, we didn't, but we wish we had!"

And the way they licked their lips made the Easter Bunny shiver.

"I think I'll be going," he said hastily, thanking Mister Fuzz Wuzz and the Twins. "I'm sure the bunny and the hen were wiser than I was to stay away from such appetites."

"Why, that's what chocolate bunnies and sugar hens are for," laughed Nancy, "and I hope you will find them, so the child for whom the basket is intended won't be disappointed."

"That's so," laughed the bunny amiably. "But I don't mind the children eating them."

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO:

Prudence Page, a pretty country girl who has awakened from a brief and unhappy love-affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philander.

Janet Mercer, Prudence's 28-year-old friend, plain but genuine, is a trained nurse and masseuse to the delicate child of

Mrs. Vansittart, a wealthy women who owns Winston Towers. One of her guests is

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor, interested in Prudence. Prudence has given up Traymore, and is beginning to return Armstrong's interest, when she is accused of theft at Winston Towers, and runs away from home, heart-broken. She has lost her purse, and arrives penniless in New York, not knowing where she can find refuge for the remainder of the night. She stops in front of a huge church used as a House of Refuge.

Prudence is unable to get a job in the big city.

Prudence's father visits Mrs. Vansittart and tells her that she is responsible for his daughter's flight from home.

Prudence gets a room on the eighth door of an office building, and wakes up to find the place ablaze.

She is rescued and taken away in an ambulance.

Meantime Virginia is plotting to entrap Peter Armstrong.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

"Welcome, Peter!"

Peter Armstrong strode through the woods in a short cut to Pear Tree Cottage.

The afternoon was amazingly hot, and he was in a disappointed frame of mind, for his quest for certain chemical essentials to an experiment he wished to conduct to-day had proved fruitless.

That meant a trip to town to-morrow, and he hated New York.

He could telegraph, of course; but the manufacturers were so stupid that they'd probably misunderstand his order, and he'd better go himself instead.

Infernal nuisance!

All the more so as he'd planned to call on Miss Prudence Page to-morrow.

He couldn't call on her to-day because that thesis for the "Scientific News" must be finished and mailed to-night.

He drew his watch out. Nearly five o'clock. The last post went at half-past eight.

The bother was, that he wasn't in a writing mood!

Queer how his peace of mind had been assailed of late!

When he came down to this tiny haven—Pear Tree Cottage—little did he imagine it would be in any woman's power again to enter his heart.

Five years ago, his one and only love affair had ended with a smash. The girl valued money higher than hearts, and ruthlessly had thrown him over.

He had been badly hit. Forsworn all women for the future. His idealism, he told himself, had gone for good.

An now . . . ?

Odd how the sweetness and simple beauty of the little lady of Green Gables had touched him! She was just a girl—a child! Somehow, she called forth all his chivalry, his protective instinct.

When he saw at Winston Towers, for instance, among all the preening peacocks, he wanted to carry her off to safety, away from all the sound of their raucous laughter and their cackling tongues.

A white butterfly flickered across his path as he emerged from the woods. Before him the heated air quivered above the meadow grass. Extraordinarily warm for this time of the year, wasn't it? He wouldn't be a bit surprised if there were thunder, later.

Arrived at Pear Tree Cottage, he went into his laboratory to write.

Such a struggle to collect his thoughts! Prudence . . . the white butterfly . . . the sound of the wood wren trilling joyously in the high beeches—they were all jumbled together in his thoughts.

Prudence—and beauty! Everything in Nature that was lovely he connected with that pretty maid.

Such a contract to those women at the Towers!

Why did her mother let her visit there—a dove among the peacocks? Didn't Prudence realize how ready they all were—these less attractive women—to tear her to pieces?

But, no . . . she was too innocent, too good, to understand lesser natures.

And—here his heart gave an odd little stab—she trusted that unreliable, shallow puppy of a Bertram Traymore, although his character was patent to the world!

"I brought you a cup of tea, sir," mumbled old Nannie at the door of the laboratory, tray in hand.

Peter looked up from his papers absently.

"Oh, yes! Very good of you, I'm sure." He rose at once and took the tray from her, as though she'd been a duchess.

Old Nannie, in her queer way, adored him.

"I'll lay your supper out before I go, sir; in the sitting-room."

"Thank you. I shan't want anything till after half-past eight."

Should she—or should she not—tell him of 'that hussy's' advent?

She had taken Virginia's dollar, it it true, but, according to her code of ethics, that involved no special loyalty to the designing creature.

Her master went on scribbling, untouched tea beside him.

Yes, he'd be heaps better with a wife to look after him, thought the old woman, but never one like that Miss Virginia Dale, or whatever high-flown name she called herself. She was no good, not she. Hadn't the third housemaid at the Towers—who was Nannie's grand-daughter, and even though a bit flighty, like all young gals were nowadays, had good commonsense—hadn't Minnie told her grandma that Miss Dale was no real lady, despite her airs?

And it was plain to see; the way she chased young Mr. Armstrong, and he so unsuspecting . . .

He looked up now, smiling abstractedly at her.

"Well, what is it, Nannie? Anything you want to say?"

"Nothing, sir, except that this morning a lady called to see you. I told her as I didnt know rightly when you'd be back."

"Who was she?"

For a foolish moment he hoped it might be Prudence!

"The lady from the Towers, sir. The one with the grand clothes and perfume."

Disapproval was in every line of Nannie's old nut-cracker face. Peter could scarcely keep a smile back.

"That's all right, Nannie. You needn't wait. He nodded her away. "And don't admit any callers, please."

The visitor had been Virginia Dale, without a doubt. Odd how the girl sought out his company!

Then he forgot the incident in complete immersion in his task.

It was after eight o'clock when he had finished, and he just caught the last mail at the local post office, dropping his bulky envelope in the postman's sack.

He took a long walk after that, and it was almost half-past nine before he returned to his abode.

A light was burning in the sitting-room.

Now, that was odd! as old Nannie never stayed later than eight o'clock!

Peter let himself in by latch-key, and, to his amazement, heard a woman's voice gaily greet him with a

"Welcome, Peter!"

JUDGE SAYS REPRIEVE OF ROBBER IS INSULT

MONTREAL, April 19 (Canadian Press). — Caustic comment on the action of the Canadian Solicitor-General, Hon. J. E. Murray, who amended the sentence of 25 years in jail and 25 lashes, imposed on Raoul Beauchamp, convicted bank robber, by eliminating the lash, was indulged in last night by Judge Amedee Monet. He characterised this mitigation as "an insult to the judge" who pronounced sentence, and a "serious blow to good administration of justice."

He said that with the growing frequency of hold-ups, the penalty of the lash was not too severe chastisement, and that "there will always remain for those bandits the privilege and right of recourse to him who seems to wish to constitute himself their official protector — upon E. J. Murray."

HOW THE ENGLISH MAKE TOFFEE.

Speaking of children, was there ever a child who didn't like toffee? If more of these old-fashioned candies were made at home there would be fewer cases of spoilt stomachs in our households and fewer young men and women who take tablets for "indigestion."

The best toffee is made in this manner: Mix four cups of brown sugar and half a cup of corn syrup with half a cup of water, and put on the fire, stirring carefully until all the sugar is dissolved. Let this come to a boil and then take off the fire and add four tablespoons of butter. Put the mixture back on the stove once more and boil until the butter has penetrated throughout the candy. Pour onto a greased enameled ware tray of any kind and, as the candy cools, mark it into squares. When it has hardened break these apart and wrap each piece separately in wax paper. Incidentally, you will find that the labor of "cleaning up" is a great deal less if you have used an enameled ware saucepan for the cooking, since even the stickiest mixtures do not adhere long to its porcelain-like surface.

Hand-blocked designs on chiffon, voile, linen or silk are very smart. So are printed scarfs and accessories.

Canadian Revolutionizes Naval Battle Practice, "Casey" Baldwin Invents Amazing High-Speed Target

It was the Canadian destroyer, Patriot, that performed the first essential experiments that led to the high speed battle target. Above is shown H.M. C. S. Patriot towing the torpedo-shaped H.D. 4 at 30 miles an hour. Hitherto no boat had been towed at a greater speed than 10 miles an hour. It was from this experiment that Mr. Baldwin was sure that hydrofoils would solve the problem of speed for battle targets. In the centre diagram the Patriot is shown again towing Mr. Baldwin's model target in Baddeck bay, Capt Breton. Below is Red Wing, on the ice at Hammondsport. It was in this plane that "Casey" Baldwin made the first public flight on this continent in 1908.

After the firing. Commander Reid of the Canadian destroyer, Patriot, is examining one of the 58 hits on the model target. Mr. Baldwin's first target, a multitude of sticks, covered with a wire mosquito netting sheath, resting on hydrofoil pontoons, is seen below just before the Patriot made its tests.

Famous Toronto Sportsman Applies Hydrofoil Principle to Hull of Target and It Can Be Towed at Any Speed Without Drag

By C. R. GREENAWAY

IT will be a sensational heading. Some day soon you will see it in the papers, maybe from England, maybe from the United States. It will look like this: Battle Practice Revolutionized, Navy at Last Has High Speed Target."

Canada did it. F. W. "Casey" Baldwin—the famous "Casey" of Toronto University rugby fields—designed it—the same old adventurous Casey who sailed across to England on the 45-foot yawl, Typhoon, in the fall of 1920.

This is the story of the high speed target in advance, because the other one is sure to be wrong when it comes. Somebody, as usual, will get Canada mixed up with the United States navy or an English firm now making a model.

Even the Canadian navy played an indispensable part in the first critical tests. This, too, will astound a great many people who always thought of the destroyer Patriot as a fascinating pink tea shop.

It was one day last spring that people heard the Patriot firing in Baddeck Bay, Cape Breton people, as a matter of fact, don't pay much attention to what goes on in that vicinity, where the late Dr. Graham Bell's laboratories are situated conspicuously on the shore. One day, in the spring of 1918, it had been a weird-looking glider, a sort of aeroplane torpedo, that had shot down a track from its hangar and began tearing about the peaceful Bras D'Or lakes at the terrific speed of 71 miles an hour. Anything was apt to happen there, where Dr. Bell and "Casey" Baldwin were always building boats that seemed to sit on steel step ladders that mysteriously lifted the hull out of water to permit them to skim through the air.

Almost five years afterwards the Canadian Destroyer, then Canada's Atlantic fleet, slid into Baddeck Bay one morning, and took this same torpedolike hull, dismantled of its engines, in tow. Around the bay it zigg-zagged, circled and turned sharp corners, with the big cigar-shaped thing at the end of a line.

That was the beginning of the high speed battle target. There had never been a target that could be towed at more than ten miles an hour. Now they had pulled the old glider on steep step ladders, more technically known as hydrofoils, thirty miles an hour without any real drag.

There were busy scenes in the laboratory on Baddeck Bay for the next few months. Although Dr. Bell was dead, Mr. Baldwin had kept the staff together; and he now turned all his efforts to designing a model naval target on the hydrofoil principle embodied in H.D. 4, as the terrific speed boat had been called.

It was a strange V-shaped trestle affair that the H. M. C. S. Patriot took in tow in Baddeck Bay a few months later. It rested on two pontoons, each of them a miniature H.D. 4. Mosquito netting covered the whole roof-like structure, made up of a framework of wooden rods radiating from connecting metal joints. Crowning the whole structure was a sort of garden fence. Almost like a jump in a steeplechase it looked as it tore behind the torpedo boat without effort and the guns began to send up great spouts of water as the shots struck close. Punctured by 58 projectiles, the frame work still held solid even against the tremendous towing strain.

The HD 4 Idea

THE United States navy was interested. Two targets were ordered from Mr. Baldwin. Then one day, on June 18, 1923, to be exact, an interesting "show" was staged at Hampton roads naval operating base. Two tugs towed the strange roof-like structures out to sea in a thick fog. Naval board, camera and moving picture men, and reporters, followed in the U. S. S. destroyer Reuben James. Then the sun came out soon after noon, and the Reuben James, instead of the Patriot this time, began to tear through the sea at 25 knots, firing at the target in its wake. In brief reports that night a few American papers spoke of the wonderful new targets which had been built by the navy at Hampton roads.

Naval men were impressed. It could be called almost a glowing report compared with the usual run of such naval affairs. Not only did the target offer possibilities for torpedo defense, but solved the problem for aircraft bombing and torpedo gun practise. Hitherto nothing had been towed at a speed of more than ten knots. Here was a target that could go as fast as the fastest torpedo boat, a comparatively inexpensive frame work that might be driven by motors, that might in countless realistic guises be controlled by radio to imitate enemy torpedo boats or submarines.

The new targets will simply be the Baldwin twist to the successful development of the H.D. 4 idea of lifting the hull of a pontoon or boat clear out of the water by a system of submerged planes not a part of the hull itself. In other words, it uses the denser medium of water to obtain the lift, and takes advantage of the far lower resistance to propulsion offered by the air.

You will notice from the detailed diagrams of the H.D. 4 and the model target that the steel planes are arranged in sets like the rungs of a ladder and graduated from large rungs at the top to small ones at the bottom. The faster the craft travels the more of the planes rise out of the water until only sufficient surface to carry the load remains submerged.

When looking at these planes for the first time, your impression is that they are ridiculously small to support such a large hull. But it must be remembered that the specific gravity of salt water is nearly 800 times that of air. This means that the area of the submerged hydrofoils need be only one eight-hundredth the size of wings of an aeroplane to lift the same load. It is almost incredible to the ordinary person, though true, that at 60 miles an hour every square foot of hydrofoil surface of the H.D. 4 supported a weight of approximately 2,000 pounds. At this speed the entire machine used to be carried upon about four square feet of steel blades under the water.

William Washburn Nutting has described the whole miraculous business in a report for the Smithsonian Institute of Washington. "If you want to hear anything for the rest of the day, stuff some cotton into your ears before the engines are started. Over goes the starboard motor with the crackle of a machine gun and those on the dock scurry from the cyclone caused by the whirring propeller. Baldwin gives the air to the port motor and the exhaust becomes a continuous roar. At 15 knots, you feel the machine rising bodily out of the water, and once up, clear of the drag, she drives ahead with an acceleration that makes you grip your seat to keep from being left behind. The wind on your face is like the pressure of a giant hand and an occasional dash of spray stings like birdshot."

"Baddeck, a mile away, comes at you with the speed of a railway train.

Differs From Racing Hydroplane

"THEN you notice that you are traveling over waves a foot and a half high—waves that would take the bottom out of an ordinary hydroplane traveling at such a speed. There is no pounding or jolting with which anyone who has ridden in a racing hydroplane is familiar. A slight undulation like that you feel in a Pullman car is the only sensation.

"As you get accustomed to the speed your confidence grows, and soon you find yourself out of the cockpit, lying over the edge of the deck on your stomach, to see for yourself what is really going on below. Save for the tip of an occasional wave, all the main sets of the hydrofoil are out of water except for the two lower ones on either side. It is true that each square foot of submerged steel is carrying a load of 2,000 pounds.

"Baldwin designed the H.D. 4 to demonstrate the possibilities of the type for carrying loads at extreme speed efficiently in fairly rough weather," says W. M. Nutting. "I simply applied the idea to the battle target," Mr. Baldwin explained, very diffidently, to The Star Weekly.

Away back to the early days of aeronautics extends this idea of the steel hydrofoil to lift a boat out of the water to make speed. "I thought then, and I still think," says Baldwin, "that it is the only rational way of getting high speed over the water. It is a far better way than the flat bottom boat skimming over the surface. The idea is to go over the water, rather than in it."

It was in an attempt to develop a submarine chaser that the H.D. 4 was designed and launched. And for speed compared with horsepower it has never been excelled. Compared with the C.M.B.'s, the faster British submarine chasers making 35 miles an hour, the H.D. 4 was like an eagle racing a crow.

Naval targets are even worse than that. At the present time, they are deep displacement boats, built on the principle of a plank on edge.

"We designed a form of truss to go together like a child's meccano outfit and to be supported on a series of hydrofoils," Mr. Baldwin explained. Instead of the old, heavy structures, this was a light one.

"Always, too, the idea of replacing portions knocked away was kept in mind. It was, therefore, built on a unit scheme. Floats, hydrofoils and sticks were all of a standard pattern. To make a larger target you simply put together more units. To repair the parts blown away you screw in more units. It is like a Ford car with standard parts. Besides, when all unscrewed, it can be shipped in a very compact form. It is a very easy matter to assemble or knock it down in haste."

Bombing with the new target can become an exact science. No longer is it necessary to wait for long intervals until old ships going out of commission afford the only realistic objects approaching battle speed for the bombing planes. Timing bombs in relation to height of planes and speeds of objects with the hydrofoil target can be worked out in detail.

Biggest Navies Interested

FOR zigzagging ships and torpedo practice the new fast target is unexcelled. As Mr. Baldwin observed, "The only way to hit is to get a fast moving object and hit it. Sometimes the navy will shoot at a destroyer with a dummy torpedo. But that is full of danger, for, with plating of only one-quarter to five-sixteenths of an inch, a destroyer is like a tin can that even a dummy torpedo may seriously dint. Sometimes they shoot between two destroyers. But here, again, the trouble is that they can't observe the result with any accuracy. Sometimes, again, they tow small boats astern of a destroyer, from which some poor unfortunate spray-soaked observer tries to see where the torpedoes pass."

For torpedo practice with the new hydrofoil target a man can be put on the structure itself. He can see whether a real hit has been registered by the wake of the torpedo which passes under the target six to ten feet below the surface.

It was in 1907 that Mr. Baldwin became associated with the famous inventor of the telephone, an association which lasted until the death of Dr. Bell in August, 1922. Graham Bell was the moving spirit of the Aerial Experimental Association founded in 1907 to make a machine that would fly in the air. Associated with Dr. Bell were Glen Curtiss, Thos. Selfridge (later killed in a Curtiss machine), John McCurdy and Casey Baldwin. It was at Hammondsport, in January, 1908, that "Casey" Baldwin, piloting Red Wing, made the first public flight in America, rising from the ice of the lake for a distance of 319 feet 11 inches. "The thing was to get the machine up into the air," Mr. Baldwin recalled. "You generally got down in a heap." In the second flight, as a matter of fact, Red Wing was absolutely smashed.

From that experimentary flight, however, Baldwin got the idea for the ailerons, or wing controls, as they are known to-day.

One Habit that Makes a Woman Always in Style

As Dame Fashion decrees you may change the cut of your clothes--shape of your hat--your shoes--the way you wear your hair.

But there's one habit that is always in style.

Why, there are very many folks who acquired it 30 years ago, and still use it.

If it was a good habit for them to get into, and retain all these years, wouldn't it be a good one for you, too?

Try the habit, then, of using RED ROSE TEA--

For 30 years the same good tea--rich and fragrant.

The best for all occasions is RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA. T-9

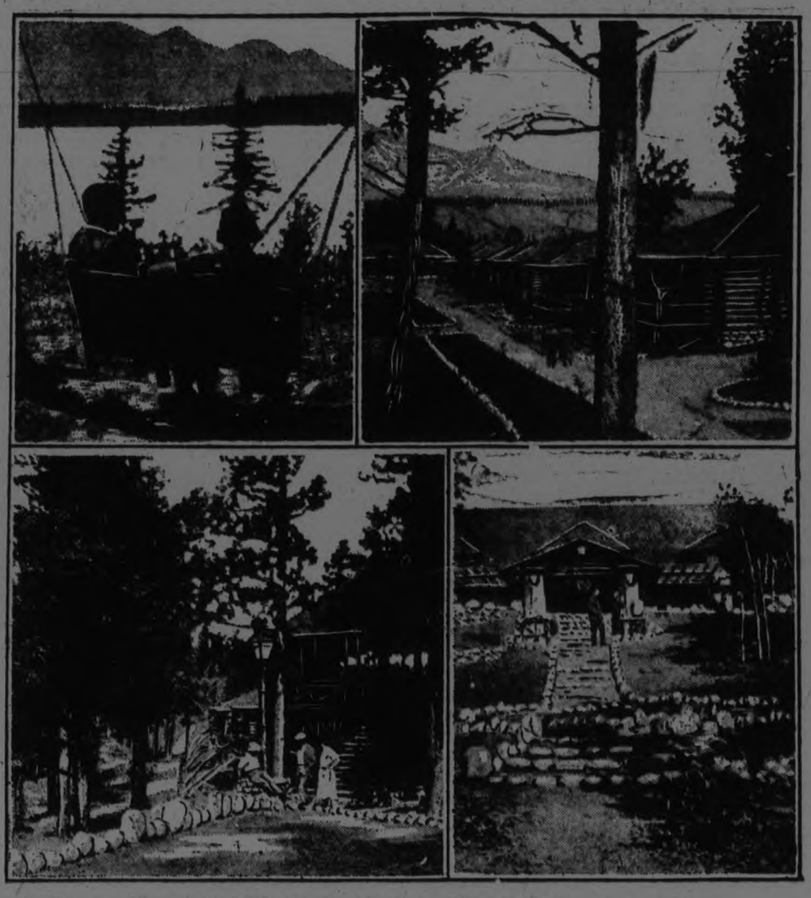
CANADA'S NATIONAL PLAYGROUND



Canadians are fortunate in their National Parks, in that they have within their borders Alpine scenery which is not equalled anywhere on the continent, and more and more they are realizing that holidays in Canada hold for the lover of out-of-doors all the thrills that could be found anywhere in the world. Jasper National Park contains many high peaks, eternally snowcapped, and on the sides of the mountains are glaciers which have stood the test of ages. Millions of tons of ice, stretching, in some instances, almost as far as the eye can see, lure the adventurous climber to new attempts, while in the calm, peaceful valleys, wild game of all kinds live at peace with mankind and the world.

Additional bungalows for the accommodation of guests are to be erected at Jasper Park Lodge, the log-cabin hostelry of the Canadian National Railways at Jasper National Park, in time for the opening of the 1924 season, it is announced by officials of the Hotel Department, Canadian National Railways. During last season the popularity of Jasper National Park was so great that the capacity of Jasper Park Lodge was taxed, and the additional bungalows being provided this year will take care of many more guests.

Four 4-room bungalows, each room with bath, and two 12-room bungalows, each room also having private bath, are being erected. In addition, a double-deck boathouse, with the upper floor for conventions, etc., is being constructed, and an octagonal curio building is being built near the main Lodge. Four new buildings are being erected to serve as employees' quarters, the kitchens are being extended and the main lounge is being enlarged to provide for a ladies' reception room and for a men's billiard and card room.

The lodge is one of the finest summer resorts on the Continent.

Closing Exercises of the Continuation School—Good Programme Provided.

MILLBROOK, April 19.— The closing exercises of the Continuation School took the form of an open meeting of the Literary Society which was held at 2.30 p.m. on Thursday, the vice-president, Miss Loretta Bernard, presiding in the absence of the president, Ewart Tucker who has been ill with 'flu for the past two weeks.

Owing to the rainy afternoon, and the fact that many of the parents and friends were either expecting visitors, or were going away for the holidays, the attendance was smaller than had been anticipated. The object of holding the open literary meetings had been to raise money for tennis equipment for the summer season, and the secretary, in reading the minutes, stated that same has been ordered and sufficient money was still on hand to buy baseballs and bats for the boys as well.

The following programme was much enjoyed:

Opening chorus: "British Grenadiers," by the School.

Minutes of last meeting read by the secretary, Jean Burnham.

Duet, "Comin' throuh the Rye," by Vera Weeks and Margaret Lang encore, "Bonnie Mary o' Argyll"

Dialogue, "Samuel's Proposal," Edith Deyell and Dickson Hutchison

Boys' Costume. Song. "Marry Travellers," by Ernest Burnham, Keith Barnard, Lawrence and Nelles Rowland Walter Sayles, and Jack Byam.

Piano Trio, Gladys Tucker, Marjorie Sayles, and Jean Burnham.

Boys' Signal Drill, R. Shaw, conductor, Henry Lancashire W. Sayles K. Barnard, J. Byam, E. Johnston, and W. Morton, leader.

Class Song by the School Choir (words original): School Choir, "Drink to me only with thine eyes" Loretta Barnard, Muriel Matchett, Gertie Gray, Jean Gervan, Elizabeth Russell, Kathleen Fowler, Vera Weeks J. Burnham, M. Sayles, W. Sayles, K. Barnard and Nelles Rowland.

Recitation, "Lasca," by Pearl Lamb.

Girls' Costume Song (Japanese Dress), "Chinatown," by E. Russell, G. Gray, Mary Woods, Alex. Johnston, Edna Gervan, K. Fowler, and L. Barnard.

Encore, "Since Me is playing Mah Jong."

Dialogue, "All's well that ends well," Alma, Vera Weeks; Aunt Mulviny, Margaret Lang; Mr. Tucker, W. Sayles; Tom N. Rowland.

Community Singing, Class Songs composed by the pupils.

Miss K. Sutton Miss G. Tucker, and Miss Alex. Johnston were the efficient accompanists during the afternoon.

Probably the most important feature of the afternoon took place at the conclusion of the programme when L. C. Russell, chairman of the school board, on behalf of that body, presented the "Dr. Norman Allen Scholarship" certificate to Allen Pitt, the first boy to have the honor of winning the Scholarship since it was generously donated to the Continuation School by Mrs. Allen in memory of her late husband, who in his obyhood days, was a pupil at the Millbrook school.

Mr. Russell's remarks, as he handed the neatly framed certificate to the recipient, were most timely, and Allen, in expressing his thanks, added a few words urging the boys to make a special effort to win the Scholarship another year.

The competition is open only to boys, the one having the highest all round standing each year winning the Scholarship, fifty dollars per annum being the amount of the endownment.

Miss H. Todd, principal of the Continuation School, made a brief address after the presentation, and the gathering closed with the National Anthem.

THROUGH SNOW TO START PLOUGHING

South Monaghan Farmer Had to Shovel His Way to Headland For Early Work.

BAILIEBORO, April 18.—Ever since the snow has left the roads this spring there have been practically no real bad roads. The provincial highway from this village to Fraserville has been extremely good all along.

The side roads although rather rough in places, have had no bad bog holes in them as they have had in previous years, and it is said that the reason for this is on account of there having been very little frost in the ground. The side lines have not been dragged this spring, and there the still some nasty ruts to be found in some places.

Farmers have not done very much on the land yet. The weather has stayed so cold and the winds have been so high that they feel that the time has not come to commence seeding. One farmer in this vicinity it is said, started to plough last week and in order to plough a head-land in the field, he was obliged to shovel a snow bank of first.

YOUNG'S POINT

YOUNG'S POINT, April 19.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham, of Lakefield, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cummings, on Sunday.

Misses Winnie Sage and Margaret Charlton, of Lakefield, passed through the village on Sunday.

Mr. Robert Sturgeon and daughter, Miss Eva, of Peterborough, visited their cottage on Clear Lake on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. DeForge, of Peterborough, visited friends in the village on Sunday.

Messrs. Walter and Frank Young were in Apsley, Monday, on business.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Crome and children, of Warsaw, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Reid, on Sunday.

Miss Mary Johnston, of Lakefield, spent the week-end with her aunt, Miss Laura McFarlane.

Rev. Cyril Carroll, of Peterborough, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll, on Sunday.

Mr. George Benton, of Peterboro, was in the village on Sunday.

Israel Church, of Burleigh, was in the village on Tuesday.

Rev. J. L. and Mrs. Hughes were visitors to Peterborough on Monday.

Mrs. Norman Hurl and children are visiting her sister, Mrs. A. Graham in Lakefield.

COBOURG AND THE DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 19.—Judge Ward has given judgment in two apple cases that awakened considerable interest throughout the locality, a dispute having risen largely, it would appear, on account of there not being a written contract. The cases were those of Wm. D. Haig and Alex. Rutherford, formers of Haldimand Township, against Clarke & Dudley, dealers of Colborne, in connection with the sale of their last season's apple crop. The trials occupied two days' sittings of Colborne Division Court. Mr. F. M. Field, K.C., represented the plaintiffs and Mr. W. L. Payne, K.C., the defendants. The plaintiffs claimed they sold the apples "tree run," which their witnesses claimed to be all of the apples on the trees when picking began. The defendants claimed they were to pay for apples grading "one, two, three or domestic."

The plaintiffs looked after the picking and barreling at the orchards and delivered the apples to the parties who purchased them. The defendants repacked the apples and put away as culls 40 barrels of Mr. Haig's apples and 12 barrels of Mr. Rutherford's.

Judgment in Haig v. Clarke & Dudley.

After going into the details of the case, Judge Ward gave judgment as follows:

"I find that there was no clear contract either for 'tree run' or 'one, two, three and domestic,' but that there was an agreement on the part of the plaintiff that certain culls should be thrown out. To what extent this culling should go I am unable to determine.

"The defendants, no doubt, rejected everything that did not grade 'one, two, three and domestic,' and this I have decided that they have not established a right to do.

"I think, under all the circumstances, that a fair disposition of the case will be that each of the parties shall share equally in the loss sustained.

"There will be judgment for the plaintiff against the defendants for $50 and interest without costs.

"There will also be judgment dismissing the counter-claim of the defendants without costs."

Rutherford v. Clarke & Dudley.

This was another action of the same character, and Judge Ward states in this also the parties hereto should bear equally the loss sustained. (The number of barrels of apples rejected by the defendants were 12). The judgment is as follows:

"There will be judgment for the plaintiff for $30.60 with interest, but without costs, the amount paid into court to be credited to and paid to the plaintiff on account of the judgment.

"There will also be judgment dismissing the counterclaim of the defendants without costs."

HULL BILL IS OPPOSED BY NEW YORK OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, April 19 (Canadian Press). — State officials in New York and Wisconsin joined in a protest before the House Rivers and and Harbours Committee yesterday against the Hull Bill, proposing authority for the greater diversion of Lake Michigan for Chicago sewage purposes.

Georget F. Barrett, counsel for the Chicago Sanitary District, appeared in support of the Bill.

Criticism by Mr. Barrett of the application of the 1910 Treaty with Canada, under which he said 4,000 cubic feet of water per second is being taken by the Welland Canal, with only 1,100 feet used for navigation and the rest for power, was replied to by both Herman Eker, the Attorney-Genral of Wisconsin, and C. N. Ferris, assistant Attorney-General of New York.

FABLES ON HEALTH

The only time that Mr. Mann of Anytown interested himself in the temperature was when it fell to 10 below zero in February and jumped to 101 in July.

When he felt chilly in the sitting room at home, he never stopped to reason whether his own state of health or the heating arrangement was to blame. He took it for granted it was the furnace. And meanwhile the thermometer lay in the garret.

Like most people, the word humidity was a word and nothing else. Yet lack of humidity causes ill health, catarrh, general discomfort and many diseases of the mucous membranc.

If a room, at 68 degrees, isn't warm enough for the occupant, it's not the heat, but the humidity, and water should be evaporated to bring the moisture up. In other words, it's water, rather than coal, that is needed. And water is cheaper.

When you think of temperature—think of humidity as well.

When, upon that momentous occasion, one of the Mann twins began to utter a few sputtering words such as only parents can understand, Mr. Mann of Anytown jumped delightedly from his chair, crying: "That must be Emily."

Mrs. Mann frowned at the inference.

"Well, the girl always starts talking . . ." he insisted.

"I thought you held that women have the last word?"

"And the first one, too."

Which is scientifically correct, for a girl baby begins to talk about six months ahead of her brother.

"Well, mudder's lil snookums ookums, etc." babbled Mrs. Mann to the child.

And this is the point of the story: Why will parents, who seem to want their children to talk clearly and normally throughout their lives, start them off with incoherent baby talk chatter?

What really happens is this the child has to learn two types of speech, normal and baby talk. The child's mind is confused. The child is actually given definite difficulties to surmount. The ear becomes accustomed to this chatter-patter, and the mind absorbs it. The task of teaching a child to talk well is a sufficiently serious one to merit careful consideration of the baby talk habit.

Talk to your child directly an simply. Cut out the baby talk.

JAMES CRUZE IS MOVIE DIRECTOR.

Snap Judgment Made a One Hundred Per Cent. Director Out of This Young Man.

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

HOLLYWOOD, April 19.—It took James Cruze less than five minutes to make the most important decision of his life—Cruze of Famous Players-Lasky who is accounted Hollywood's 100 per cent. director.

It was when he was 15. Barefoot and bareheaded, he stood hoeing in a Utah field.

As he stood hoeing and debating, a freight train halted near the farm o repair a hotbox. Here was the dare of opportunity to run away, which, he says, he had never seriously contemplated. Home or the horizon, now or never. Jimmy flung down his hoe, straddled the rods and rode out into the world.

This episode neatly illustrates his capacity to think and act fast, the trait which, coupled with an acute sense of fun and a repertorial flair for dramatic recital of the commonplace, has made him one of the most valuable men in his profession.

Time is the essence of picture costs. James Cruze usually does the job in about half the time required by his confreres. And does it without sacrificing quality.

That freight train flight from Utah projected him into a sharp scramble for existence. He landed in San Francisco half starved. He, the raw country lad, competed for bare-living jobs with those skilled in snatching such livelihood—in hotels, restaurants, factories, along the waterfront, on coastwise ships.

Cruze converted these experiences into valuable equipment for his later movie career through the filter of his humorous nature. In reciting his hardships he alludes to them as a good joke upon himself.

Cruze has a definite style in his pictures because he looks out upon life with its heroics and travesties from a fixed standpoint. For confirmation recall the peculiar savor of "The Old Homestead," "One Glorious Day," "The Covered Wagon," "Ruggles of Red Gap," "To the Ladies," "Hollywood" and "The Fighting Coward."

Cruze traversed repertoire and vaudeville on his way to pictures, becoming leading man in melodramas at the time Mary Pickford and John Bunny were the big names in movies, and receiving the then fabulous salary of $200 per week.

And injury laid him up for a year, while the industry passed him by. He began again in Hollywood as an extra at $5 a day. That indicates the quality of his courage.

GOING TO GOTHAM? TRY THIS.

On and after April 27, Torontonians will have the opportunity of travelling to New York City on a train which besides affording typical "Canadian National" equipment and service, will cover the route in fast time, via Canadian National-Lehigh Valley Railways. The new train will leave Toronto daily at 5.30 p.m. and land its passengers at the magnificent and centrally located Pennsylvania depot at 8.26 a.m., the next morning.

Besides the usual sleeping car equipment, there will be a drawing room-compartment car and exceptional dining car service.

The return trip should of course be made on the corresponding New York-Toronto train, which will leave the metropolis daily at 6.15 p.m., arriving Toronto 8.53 a.m.

Papering now costs less

YOU know that time means money in paper-hanging — that time, in fact, is the most expensive part of the job.

But do you know that the cost of papering has now been considerably reduced by the production of Staunton Semi-Trimmed Wallpaper—that this new paper simplifies the job throughout.

It eliminates all trimming! Its selvage is cut in course of manufacture. All you have to do is rap the ends of the roll on table or floor and the selvage falls off. You can realize what a big saving in time that means.

But Staunton Semi-Trimmed Wallpaper is also quicker to hang. Being perfectly trimmed, it is easily matched. Being 22 inches in width, it takes less rolls of this paper to cover your walls and consequently less time to hang. "Semi-Trimmed" saves you money — it saves all the muss and disorder too.

Ask your dealer to show you the patterns.

A STAUNTON IMPROVEMENT

The semi-trimming process was developed and perfected in the factory of Stauntons Limited, an industry which has been making wallpaper since 1856. The Staunton line has always led the field in improvements. In fact it is unsurpassed by the wallpapers of any country in the world. The Staunton Line of Wallpapers for 1923-4 is the last word in beauty of designs and coloring. It is perfect in finish.

CANADIAN COMMUNISTS WILL USE OWN COLORS

TORONTO, April 19.—(Canadian Press.) — The communists of Canada will in future sail under their true colours. The decision to set up a communist party in affiliation with the Third International, was made yesterday by the annual convention of the Workers Party of Canada, which opened in the Labor Temple. It was reached after a discussion of two hours behind barred doors, beyond which no one passed unless he presented the red card of party. Explanation of the change in title of the Workers Party was made by John Macdonald, who said the time had come to change the name, which had sufficiently identified itself with the communist party to become a member. Macdonald added that this was the thought of all delegates to the convention.

APPENDICITIS

Operation Not Always Necessary.

Hundreds of operations for appendicitis have been avoided by the "J. B. L. Cascade."

These letters from among many in our possession should convince you that Internal Bathing brings positive results. Mr. James McLaughlin, 91 Evanston St., Winnipeg, writes: "I bought a 'J.B.L. Cascade' for the cure of a bad case of appendicitis. My doctors told me I must have an operation at once. I had spent more than $50 in doctors' bills, but the Cascade completely removed, in a few days, every trace of soreness and pain. I eat and sleep well now, have regained my former weight, and am now in perfect health."

A mother from R.R. No. 1, Leamington, Ont., writes: "About two weeks ago our eldest son took sick with cramps in the bowels so bad he could not move. Our doctors gave him hypodermic injections and ordered him to the hospital to be operated on at once. Before doing so, however I induced him to use the 'J.B.L. Cascade', and in less than a week he was up and around, and has been well ever since. It also cured me of severe headaches and constipation. I cannot praise the Cascade enough. It certainly is a wonderful invention."

If you have constipation, headaches, appendicitis, or feel languid and not just right, don't drug yourself, bathe internally. The "J.B.L. Cascade" is being shown and explained at the Warne Drug Company.

They will come here to unveil Queen's University war memorial, afterwards going to Derry, where they will be guests of the Marquis of Londonderry and the Duke of Abercorn.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Now Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Washington, D.C.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which a physician said I would have to have for a very bad case of female trouble. My system was all run-down for two years after my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and after taking six bottles of the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I now do all my housework, also washing and ironing, and do not know what real trouble is. My health is fine, and I weigh 140 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any one who is suffering from female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am only too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. IDA HEWITT, 1529 Penna. Ave. S.E., Washington, D.C.

Such letters from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

On Parliament Hill

OTTAWA, Apr. 19.—If the observations in parliament of the Prime Minister regarding Canada's refusal to be bound by the Treaty of Lausanne mean anything, they mean, undoubtedly, that this Dominion is not accepting any longer, 'sight unseen', the products of old-world diplomacy. Mr. King's reading of a mass of correspondence exchanged between his gover nent and that of Great Britain made very clear that Canada, not invited to "sit in" at the Lausanne conference, had taken the ground that she would not accept responsibility for any treaty arrived at by that conference. The Canadian Government, from the outset refused any promise of concurrence in an instrument whose framing no Canadian has assisted in and, when a message came from Right Honourable Ramsay MacDonald, early in 1924, asking if this parliament were ready to vote concurrence, the government notified him that the matter would not even be laid before parliament, in that Canada was not deemed to be involved. The issue is not a vital one, perhaps, but the consistently reasonable handling of it by the King administration will tend to increase the estimation in which the senior Dominion is held by the Mother Country.

Thousands of Ontario citizens who, irrespective of political leanings, are friends of public ownership, and sincerely desirous of giving Sir Henry Thornton at least a "square deal" before abandoning Our National System, would have learned much had they spent a day or two of last week in the House of Commons. Most of them, after hearing the inter-partisan attacks on the National's management, would have agreed with Honourable George P. Graham in his summary of the arguments advanced against the branch-lines bills, viz.: that the speakers saw no objection to a National's branch provided it were to be built where it would give service but no dividends, but they objected very decidedly to the construction of any branch that was likely to take traffic from the Canadian Pacific and, possibly, pay its own way. In these phrases, the Minister crystallized in a subtle manner much of the opposition to Sir Henry Thornton's spring programme of construction.

The bills have not had an easy passage in the lower Chamber and their reception in the Senate will not be enthusiastic. Deprived this session of the excuse it gave, last year, for defeating the Branch Lines Bill, the Senate is apt to take its cues from the Commons and demand such detail as to embarrass the Nationals management. Already it is stated that Sir Henry Thornton will be summoned by the Senate and made to testify, on oath, as to the necessity for each proposed line.

* * *

No charges can be laid against the government, this session, of delaying legislation, or of failing to be ready with enough business to keep the House employed. Last year, the government was unprepared and dilatory; this year, it is "on its toes" and eager. It made every effort to shorten the debate upon the Speech from the Throne; it instituted night sittings from the day of opening; it has reduced private members' days to one per week; it has kept the order paper filled with government business ready for discussion; it has cut last year's Easter recess of ten days to about half that number; it probably will table the Budget before the Easter adjournment and aims to bring the session to a close by the end of June, at the very latest. Considering that parliament was summoned a full month later than in 1923, the record of the Ministry this session is highly deserving of praise.

* * *

In the corridors and the catacombs that serve as members' rooms, one hears more and more of the moot question of Church Union. Shunned at first by all as a topic of conversation, it gradually came to be discussed in discreet whispers, with here and there an outspoken opinion by some less fearsome individual. Proceedings in the provincial legislatures, however, —particularly the events in Queen's Park—have emboldened Federal members and now wagers are being laid, in instances, upon the fate of the bill. It is a matter of interest that Presbyterians bulk largest in number in the House, with 76 adherents, followed closely by the Roman Catholic group of 75. Methodists, Anglicans, Baptists and Congregationalists are more evenly divided, but the two denominations first named comprise fully two-thirds of the House membership.

* * *

Of particular interest to Ontario was Honourable Ernest Lapointe's statement, during debate on the Good resolution, that the government was prepared to bring in legislation in accord with the "single transferable vote" resolution, carried last session. In a skilful review of the situation, Mr. Lapointe urged the member for Brant to stake "all or nothing" in respect of his demand for adoption of the broader scheme of Proportional Representation, but to make haste slowly—provided the haste sent him in the desired objection. The House generally saw the reasonableness of Mr. Lapointe's argument, which paid a tribute to the manner in which Mr. Good had presented his case, but asked that he be satisfied to proceed by easy stages toward his goal. At all events, it seems a certainty that the next election will see the alternative vote idea given a trial in a number of constituencies.

* * *

Quite the liveliest division of the session, thus far, was that of last week on the resolution moved by T. L. Church (Toronto, Conservative), calling for a "National Policy in Coal," imposition of duties on that commodity entering Canada from the United States and preferential freight rates in Canada upon coal proceeding from the mines to market. The resolution for which Mr. Church had battled valiantly during two sessions was soon amended and sub-amended out of all semblance to the original It finally was adopted as its own. by the government (less the "duty" and "preferential rates" clauses) and carried by a large majority.

The fight preceding this ultimate happening, however, was full of excitements, not the least of which came about when the government, not the least of which came about when the government, sponsoring an amendment by W. F. Carroll (Liberal, Cape Breton), was defeated, on a vote of 82 to 81. The division stood, on the first count, a tie (82-82) but Conservative protests that Honourable R. E. Finn (Liberal, Halifax), had entered the Chamber after the question had been called, were upheld. The government lost Mr. Finn's vote, lost the division and sustained its first reverse. This, however, it quickly repaired by a brilliant piece of strategy.

Mr. Meighen, favoring a "National Policy" in coal—or anything else—but a little afraid of placing duties on anthracite coal needed in Ontario, was in a desperate strait. He could not support either of the amendments, nor the motion as it stood. He awaited defeat of both amendments and, just when the Speaker was ready to call the main motion, nodded to one of his followers to move it—less the duty and preferential rates clauses. A Liberal (Frank Cahill) "beat him to it." He caught the eye of the chair, moved exactly the amendment Mr. Meighen planned to move, adopted for the government a Conservative resolution (now shorn of its objectionable features), and gaily carried with him the tide of battle under colors temporarily "borrowed" from a less-clever enemy.

PARIS, April 19 (Canadian Press) —France will give up none of the means of pressure on Germany which she now possesses unless the Allies agree to replace them by pre-arranged concerted action between them, fixed in advance and to apply automaticalyl in case of new default by Germany, says Le Matin, which of late has been particularly well informed regarding Premier Poincare's intentions.

Constant Headaches And Dizziness.

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time, and in nine cases out of ten the persistent headaches are due to some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels.

Undoubtedly the cause must be removed before permanent relief may be had.

Burdock Blood Bitters removes the cause of the headaches, as it acts on every organ of the body and strengthens, purifies and regulates the whole system.

Mrs. Peter Curran, 27 Morrison St., Sydney, N.S., writes:—"I have been troubled for the last five years with constant headaches and dizziness. After trying several remedies, which I found to be of no avail, Burdock Blood Bitters was recommended to me.

B.B.B. did me a world of good, and I cannot praise this remedy enough."

OPERATOR SENDS CHEER ON 'PHONE.

For Years Victoria Markman Has Been Known As the Sweetest-Voiced Telephone Girl in New York.

By HORTENSE SAUNDERS

NEW YORK, April 17.—Sing as you work—it will make you happier, and it may be the means of getting Old Man Opportunity to drop around some afternoon.

That's the advice of Victoria Markman, known as the sweetest-voiced telephone girl in New York.

For years she's been supporting herself and contributing to the support of her family by operating a switchboard.

To be sure, answering telephone calls and getting numbers for other people all day isn't the most soul-satisfying job in the world.

"But it's not so bad if you sing between calls," Miss Markman assured me, "and if you can keep your voice low and pleasing it acts immediately on the person at the other end of the wire."

About a year and a half ago a Russian musician who had just come to this country heard Miss Markman singing at her board. When he found that she had never had a music lesson and was self-trained he was amazed and offered to give her lessons and fiet her for the concert stage.

She has just made her debut, and the sensation she created would justify her becoming quite "up-stage"—if she were that sort of a person. But she isn't. And she's back at her switchboard, receiving congratulations from her friend and getting numbers for those who want them, just as if nothing had happened.

"When I was very, very young," she explained, "I wanted a spectacular career, but there was no chance. I had to support myself. I accepted the situation, hoping that I might provide advantages for my younger sister I had not had myself.

"I made up my mind I wouldn't le the annoyances and trials of a telephon operator make a shrill-voiced, nervous women out of me. That's why I made it a point to sing and to cultivate my speaking voice."

Those who have heard Miss Markman declare that it is only a question of time until there's a new face at the switchboard and a new voice in grand opera.

THE PERIL OF NARCOTICS

(By Captain Richmond P. Hobson)

There is a passage in Scripture: "For want of knowledge my people perish."

In no domain is th s more true than in this "new env ronment of peril."

Another passage is Scripture, however, says: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

If the young man knew that this "snow," as narcotic addicts call cocaine and heroin, is more deadly than the venom of the cobra, the rattlesnake or copperhead do you think he won' attend a "snow party"?

And yet these drugs, full effect considered, are far more deadly than the venom of reptiles.

In addition to retarding organic functions, they degenerate the brain and lead soon to abject slavery. In the offspring of addicts, the tendency is toward subnormals, and in the end to sterility and a living death for the addict. Nature has her recourse.

The race must either find a remedy or take the road toward extinction.

The rising tide of crime is a thing against which the forces of law and order are combating.

Efforts to treat addicts and reclaim the wreckage gives but little hope.

The narcotic trust, or "dope ring," has a virtual monopoly on the narcotic supply for addiction purposes. Its members obtain the drugs at a few dollars an ounce. They charge addicts more than a dollar a grain, in most cases more than $500 an ounce.

The heroin addict is the most common. He cannot get money enough lawfully to supply himself with the drug which, to him, is the most necessary thing in life. To insure his own supply, he becomes a peddler.

It is now agreed that one addict often produces seven more. The captain of a company in the World War, in conversation with a scientist who mentioned the "one-producing-seven" estimate, said: "That is very conservative."

In an assignment of soldiers to his company was one addict, to whom little attention was paid. Soon there were other evidences of addiction in the company. The officers investigated. It was only 30 days since the first addict was observed, and they found 22!

WELL KNOWN TORONTO LAWYER DIED FRIDAY

TORONTO, April 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Several months of gradually failing health culminated yesterday in the death of A. Claude MacDonell, K.C., D.C.L., veteran Toronto lawyer, former senator and publicist. Mr. MacDonell retired from active participation in his law work about four years ago. Several months ago his health began to fail and about two months ago illness set in which resulted in his death on Good Friday. Mr. MacDonell ranked high in his profession, but he was more widely known in the political sphere. Primarily he was an advocate of public ownership and progress of national, provincial and municipal ownership of public utilities has been, in great measure, due to his activities in the House of Commons.

VOTE FOR THE C. G. E. BYLAW

W. H. BRADBURN.

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir:—I wish to commend the action of the City Council in making the efforts they did to secure the important expansion of the Canadian General Electric Company's Works in Peterborough. While in Toronto attending my Legislative duties I, on the invitation of the deputation from the Council, attended one of the interviews they had with the officers of the company. I know the difficulties the Council had to meet, and I congratulate the Council on the successful outcome of the negotiations.

The Council has done their part, and it is now the duty of us as electors to do our part by voting for the by-law on April 23rd and giving it as large a majority as the importance of the matter deserves. We have been waiting for something to occur to give an upward trend to employment and to the times in Peterborough. The opportunity has come, and no one should by neglect fail to assist in passing the by-law and taking advantage of the opportunity by securing this large expansion of the electric works with all the benefits it will bring.

Yours truly,
W. H. BRADBURN.

JOSEPH CROWE.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir: Money spent in Peterborough for building expansion finds its way into everybody's pockets. The proposed enlargement of the Canadian General Electric Company's works will start a healthy circulation in our industrial life, and will begin a sharp movement from the valley of depression to the hills of prosperity. The company is preparing to go ahead as soon as the By-law is carried by the electors on April 23rd. Every voter should mark his or her ballot for the by-law and help the upward movement.

Yours truly,
JOSEPH CROWE

TEA SERVED IN LONDON SHIPPING BOARD OFFICE

WASHINGTON, April 19. — Canadian Press. — Tea is served at four o'clock every afternoon in the offices of the shipping board in London, it was brought out at yesterday's hearing of the House committee investigation board.

G. B. Moore, European traffic manager for the fleet corporation, was questioned by Representative Connally (Democrat, Texas) relative to the practice of tea drinking.

Mr. Moore insisted that no time was wasted by this practice as tea is served while work is in progress.

Tea is furnished by the management of the office building, Mr. Moore said, at a cost of about 20c to each person for five days' service of tea and wafers. Because of the extreme cold in the London office buildings, Mr. Moore explained, tea was necessary for warmth.

BABY WAS ROASTED TO DEATH ON OVEN

QUEBEC, Apr. 19. Canadian Press. —The 8-months old baby of Mrs. A. Drouin, St. Joseph de Beauce, was roasted to death in the oven of a large farm house type stove at her home Thursday.

After having been out in the rain Mrs. A. Drouin placed her baby boy near the stove to allow his clothes to dry. She went to the second story of the house to change her own clothes, but had been there only a few minutes when she realized that there was something wrong, and running down stairs she found her baby roasting in the open oven.

TO THE ELECTORS
of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

We wish, on behalf of the City Council, to commend to you the By-law to extend the period of the Fixed Assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company, which will be voted upon on WEDNESDAY NEXT, 23RD APRIL, and to ask you, one and all, to Vote for the By-law—because

It will secure the erection of a substantial buiding of approximately 50,000 square feet of floor space by the company;

It will result in the expenditure of between $300,000.00 and $400,000.00 in the building and industrial equipment;

It will give the fillip so much required at the present time to employment and business in the city;

It will demonstrate to the new control of the company our desire to co-operate with them;

It will secure to Peterborough future expansions in Canada by this great company;

It will result in the Peterborough plant continuing to be the chief manufacturing plant of the company in Canada;

It will start a healthy circulation in our industrial life, and the money spent will benefit everyone;

It will result in more taxes being paid by the company, which now pays $19,137.05 a year, as the new buiding will be assessed for School purposes;

It will not cost the Citizens anything for civic improvements, as such improvements are now supplied;

It will back up the City Council in their efforts to add to the industrial importance of Peterborough.

And all this is being secured by an extension of the period of the fixed assessment of the company's property for about three and a half years.

We need this expansion; we want all the beneficial results that will follow the passing of the By-aw, and we should roll up a large majority for it.

Peterborough expects every Elector to do his duty.

"Stainer's Crucifixion"

(At ALL SAINTS)

Stainer's "Crucifixion," a sacred meditation on the Passion of Our Blessed Lord, was sung last evening in the Church of All Saints, with full choir and organ, and was listened to with deep attention by a very large congregation.

This music is perhaps the masterpiece of one of our more modern composers, Sir John Stainer, and has no equal in solemnity and beauty, to mark the story of the Crucifixion.

The choir, numbering forty-eight, with several absentees through sickness, had no assistance from outside their own members, and their rendition last evening reflected great credit to themselves and acted as a reward for the faithful hours devoted to practice, which must have been necessary to attain the perfection they displayed.

The opening chorus, "Jesu, Lord Jesu," was a splendid example of pianissimo singing, and was but the harbinger of better things to come.

In the chorus, "Fling wide the gates," the choir excelled themselves and gave evidence of the excellent and careful training they had received. They sang as one voice in response to the conductor's baton, the leads all being taken with the firmness and certainty which mark the trained singer.

The last chorus, "The Appeal of the Crucified," which depicts our Saviour appealing to humanity to come unto Him, and the ultimate answer of the crowds, as they shouted, "Crucify," was a revelation in choral singing, the choir working up to the climax in a manner realistic and compelling. Then the music dies away almost to a whisper, in response to the final appeal.

The solos for bass and tenor were taken respectively by Mr. T. H. Boddy and Mr. George E. Chandler, and their work throughout the evening was splendid. There was probably one outstanding feature, in the duet, "So Thou Liftest Thy Divine Petition," which was beautifully sung. It was indeed an impressive number.

The assisting artiste, Mrs. J. A. Foster, violinist, played as a solo number, Handel's celebrated "Largo" in fine taste and execution. Her work during the entire performance added a beauty to the accompaniment that was much enjoyed.

The other solos, those allotted to the two thieves on the cross, were taken by Messrs. W. Gatfield and S. Willis, with due care to expression and in excellent voice.

To the choirmaster, Mr. George E. Chandler, belongs the credit which is certainly due him for the long hours of arduous labour he must have have bestowed on chorus and solo work alike, to bring both to such a state of perfection as was evidenced last night.

The organ accompaniments were in the hands of Mrs. W. A. Logan, the church organist, and were all that could be desired.

The devotional portions which opened and closed the service were in charge of the new rector, Rev. Douglas Paterson.

SIR GEO. FOSTER HERE WEDNESDAY

He Will Explain the Advantages the People of Canada May Obtain From League of Nations

The question in the House of Commons last Wednesday by A. J. Benoit of St. Johns-Iberville, as to what advantages the people of Canada have derived from the expenditure of $818,355.78 on the League of Nations is one that all Canadian citizens should be interested in.

Sir George E. Foster, who was one of the Canadian delegates to Geneva will no doubt answer this question on Wednesday evening next, at the Capitol Theatre, at which time he comes to Peterborough in the interest of the League of Nations Society. The meeting will be open to the public, and will commence sharp at 7.30 p.m., so that those attending will have an opportunity of visiting the Motor Show.

MUSIC AT GEORGE STREET

"The Seven Last Words from the Cross," embodying the seven final brief speeches of Christ as he hung on the Cross of Calvary, was the subject of a Passion Meditation sung last night in George Street Methodist Church, by the choir of the church, augmented to almost sixty voices by assisting singers and choir members.

A congregation of nearly three three hundred people listened with silent, appreciative attention to the solemn, reverent rendition of the beautiful music.

As phrased by Mr. E. E. Ingall, moving a vote of thanks at the conclusion of the performance, "it is difficult to render adequately a slow, mournful andante," but the choir last evening were equal to the demands of even this type of exacting music, and succeeded in portraying the agony of the Saviour on the Cross in a manner convincing and realistic.

The devotioal parts of the service were taken by the pastor, Rev. H. W. Young, who gave also, as an introduction, a brief review of the life and work of the composer, Theodore Dubois, a great French musician of the modern school.

The solo work was rendered by Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, soprano, Maurice H. Park, tenor, and Arthur Brown, of Toronto, baritone, in a manner that left little to be desired.

Mrs. Park's beautiful voice was heard to excellent advantage in the introduction, "All ye that pass by."

Mr. Brown, whose voice is a full rotund baritone, of rich timbre, sang them, for they know not what they do," with the choir as a background, epitomising the shrill, menacing shriek of the infuriated mob.

Mr. Park took the recitative in this section, his clear, beautifully-enunciated words and his fine, warm tenor tones making his work, as always, particularly effective. Again, in the second phrase, in the words addressed to the dying thief, "This very day shalt thou be with Me in Paradise." Mr. Park took the lead, with obligato by Mr. Brown, and the three fine voices united in the words to St. John: "Woman, behold thy son." A reverent, sonorous rendition of the bitter cry, "My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me," was given by Mr. Brown, who also had the solo in the fifth phrase, "I thirst," with recitative by Mr. Park, and some wonderful work in the choir chorus in the mocking cry of "Aha," addressed to the dying Victim.

An unaccompanied chorus of men's voices was heard here in splendid effect, with a concerted loud response to the final plea, when the Jews scoff at Christ, telling Him to come down and save Himself. The cry of the weary Christ mingles with the vociferation of the infuriated mob.

The sixth section, "Father, into Thy hands I commend My spirit," was taken by Mr. Park in fine voice, the choir providing a hushed accompaniment to the clear singer.

The finale, "It is finished," was commenced by Mr. Brown, and completed by Mr. Park and the concerted voices, with an introduction by Mrs. Park, "And then said Jesus, crying with a loud voice."

A beautiful, soft-toned finish was the choral number, "We do adore Thee, O Christ, and praise Thee, Thou who has redeemed the world."

The work of the choir during the entire rendition was especially good. Under the baton of the conductor, Mr. J. H. Renwick, their concerted work was remarkably effective. In their dramatic presentation of the mob spirit, in the expressiveness and shading of their softer music, their artistic perception of the demands of the tragic drama was all that could be desired.

A background of accompaniment that could not be surpassed for intelligent appreciation and sympathetic understanding was provided in the beautiful organ and piano music.

The accompaniments to "The Seven Last Words" are singularly beautiful, and received adequate expression from the hands of the organist, Mr. George H. King, and the pianist, Miss Bessie Elcome, A.T.C.M.

The organ recital by Mr. King, preceding the musical setting was a rendition of reverent and devotional music, beautifully played, which formed a fitting introduction to an impressive service.

An eloquent vote of thanks, "for this splendid music, thoughtfully treated," phrased by Mr. E. E. Ingall, who included Mr. Renwick, the choir, the assisting singers, and the artistes, in his motion, was seconded by Mr. H. G. Walker, and presented by Rev. Mr. Young.

Beauty-Personality-Magnetism Gifts of the Healthy Woman

THE types of feminine beauty are so diverse that it is sometimes difficult to follow the judges' ideas in the many beauty contests.

But the charm is really in the personal attractiveness of the individual rather than in regularity of feature and on closer investigation it will be found that perfect health is an important factor.

Poise, grace of carriage and elasticity of movement are essential and these as well as beauty of the skin depend largely on the condition of the general health.

Weak blood and irritable nerves are not conducive to charm and beauty.

By overcoming these conditions you lay the only sure foundation for the improvement of your personality.

By making the blood rich and nourishing Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do much for the woman who finds her health in a run-down condition.

Such accompanying symptoms as sleeplessness, headache, irritability will soon disappear under this treatment.

As the blood becomes richer and purer you will find the healthful glow returning to the complexion and new vigor and buoyancy to the whole body.

You will find that you are taking a more cheerful view of life and the improvement in your physical condition will be manifested in your every movement.

Health and beauty go hand in hand. Improve your health by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 60 cents a box of 60 pills, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

"It is the Car for Everyone"

Says H. A. Tarantous, noted automobile authority in "MOTOR"

"The New Essex possesses many qualities which I did not believe could be incorporated in a closed car selling for the price.

"It is a type long needed in this country. It possesses grace and beauty, can travel at sustained high speed without passenger discomfort, is surprisingly economical to operate and does not cost much to buy.

"These qualities combined in a six-cylinder closed car selling at such a price, shows what can be done by an organization that can work just a little bit ahead of the market, and see public demand before it arrives.

"It is unusually smooth, accelerates better than the previous Essex, which is saying a great deal, and is 'the' car for everyone."—H. A. Tarantous, in MOTOR.

A WOUND IS AN OPEN DOOR

Absorbine Jr. enables you to shut the door quickly.

The skin is Nature's own protection against germs. When it is bruised, broken or cut, that protection is withdrawn. The door is open. As quickly as possible Nature closes it by forming what we call a scab and renders you comparatively safe against infection. But this scab sometimes takes days to form and until it has fully sealed the wound, even until the wound has thoroughly healed again you must furnish the required protection yourself.

A few drops of Absorbine Jr. in the water will give you an antiseptic wash that will kill all possibility of infection and help nature to heal the wound. As well as being a very powerful germicide, Absorbine Jr. will draw out the inflammation and bring instant relief.

Absorbine Jr. is antiseptic, germicide and liniment in one container—handy to keep always in the house; easy to carry around if you travel.

COUNCIL WOMEN HELD MEETING

Letter of Thanks Received From Dr. N. H. Sutton—The Ottawa Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women was a brief session, with a small attendance, on Thursday afternoon, in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. The president, Mrs. A. Stevenson, occupied the chair. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. N. D. Seaton, and the correspondence read by Mrs. A. Mowat.

Mrs. Mowat read a letter of thanks from Dr. N. H. Sutton, for the cooperation of the Local Council in the recent Social Hygiene Exhibit. A letter was also read from G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., replying to a letter from the Council, asking that a petition to remove a ban on certain objectionable literature coming into Canada be disregarded. Mr. Gordon promised his support along the lines of preventing literature of this class being brought into Canada.

In the absence of Miss A. Walton, convenor of the Objectionable Literature and Films Committee, Mrs. Stevenson reported the action of the Royal Theatre in discontinuing vaudeville to which exception was taken by the Council some time ago, and asked the goodwill of the Council toward the Royal Theatre on this account. Patronage of the Motor Show was also advocated.

It was announced that Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner will be convenor of the Committee of the League of Nations, which will procure speakers for various talks on the subject of the League and its work. Mrs. Stevenson referred to an article which appeared in MacLean's Magazine recently, when the writer mentioned the coming conference of women of the World to consider the Causes of War, and declared that the only reasonable action was to prohibit war by law, in the same way as duelling was prohibited. The causes of duelling had not been removed, but it had been made illegal, and such action was the course to pursue with war also. Mrs. Stevenson also referred to the action of the Provincial Department, in doing away with the September examinations, as working somewhat of a hardship to working entrants who desire to get their matriculation, also to teachers.

The Ottawa Meeting.

Mrs. A. Mowat read a lengthy abstract of the minutes of the executive meeting of the National Council, held in Ottawa on April 1st and 2nd, with the National President, Miss C. E. Carmichael, of New Glasgow, in the chair. The executive meeting considered matters of import to women, in a great variety of subjects, ranging from questions affecting morals to the consideration of treatment for goitre. Ladies of international organizations have been asked by the Government to contribute articles to a pamphlet issued in connection with the Canadian Show at the British Empire Exhibition, the pamphlet to be entitled, "Canada —a Call to Women."

It was announced that the annual meeting of the National Council had been postponed from June to October, as Toronto will be filled with various types of organizations in convention during June. A resolution from the Victoria, B.C., Council requested the Minister of Justice to change the environment of two boy offenders, now incarcerated with an old criminal. The honor conveyed in the appointment of a Council member, Mrs. Thorburn, as honorary commissioner to the British Empire Exhibition, was mentioned, also a resolution which petitioned the C. N. R. and C. P. R. Railways to prohibit smoking, by men or women, in the observation cars.

A resolution condemning hazing, one regarding the inclusion of the present soldier bonus in a total pension award, and a resolution regarding the institution of "habit forming" centres for lower-grade mental defectives, in centres where no accommodation for such is made in institutions; resolutions making adultery and bigamy crimes; petitioning the paying of prisoners, and the awarding to their dependents of a portion of such wages; the making of registration of divorce compulsory; a petition to refrain from cutting the grant toward the fighting of venereal disease; to allow the manufacture and importation of oleomargarine, and a petition with regard to pure bedding laws, were all considered at this meeting.

A Severe Attack Of Heart Trouble Was Relieved By MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills

Mr. S. E. Barnes, Athens, Ont., writes:—"Four years ago I had a very severe attack of heart trouble. I consulted my doctor; he treated me for some time, but I only seemed to be getting worse. I finally went to our druggist and purchased three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and derived immediate relief from their use, and I can truthfully say they are a wonderful medicine. I always keep a box on hand, and if I feel out of sorts I take a few pills and feel all right again."

IT'S UP TO YOU

The word philantrophy signifies the love of mankind, and one of the earliest philantrophists recorded in history was Basedow, a German by birth. An institution to inculcate the principles of philantrophy was founded under his auspices at Dessau, Germany, in 1774; that establishment was very appropriately called "Philanthropin."

A Great Heart.

One of the greatest philanthropists the writer has ever known was Quinten H—, scion of a noble British house, and brother of the colonel of the first regiment in the British Empire—the Horse Guards—about 38 years ago. His love of all mankind was practical as well as sympathetic, and overflowing in measure toward children and young folks in their teen age. Founder of a home for working boys in the city of London, where they were safe-guarded from the snares and pitfalls of the world's great metropolis, he never tired of contributing to their uplift and material and spiritual welfare. And so ardently did he enter into this great philantrophic hobby of his, so to speak, that he gave "his boys" two week's summer holidays at his own country home—a charming manor house and estate in Hampshire, one of England's most beautiful countries. Thither they were conveyed in platoons by train and there they were fed on the fat of the land and indulged in outdoor sports and varied recreations, to say nothing of a gloriously invigorating yachting trip or two on the sun-kissed waters of the Salent or English Channel, as occasion offered. These boys were the joy of Mr. H's life, their needs and interest his care during adolescence, and in many instances in early manhood and even later. And that "home" was the stepping-stone to a great semi-exclusive Young Mens' Institute, offering many of the privileges of a "club," together with advanced educational opportunities, clean entertainment, musical advantages and manly sport.

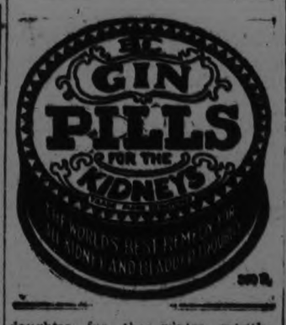
Love of Mankind.

Such was one great-hearted Englishman's conception of practical philantrophy—the love of mankind—and he went to his reward mourned by hundreds of his fellow humans, who had abundant reason to bless the day they found a sympathetic patron in Quinten H—.

Of course, comparatively speaking it is given to but few, the means and opportunity for individual philantrophy like that exemplified by Mr. H—; but, collectively, a somewhat similar work is being undertaken by Peterborough's Health Association. At least the principle of caring for underprivileged young folks is being applied in a very practical way indeed. And without detailing here, the varied branches of that exemplary organization's community endeavors, one finds a modest analogy in their summer camp for children at Jackson Park and Quinten H's country home and "his boy's" annual vacations. Both he and our Health Association made and make a summer holiday possible for those to whom it otherwise was and is unattainable. But unless generous public cooperation is forthcoming this year and each succeeding year these annual kiddies' outings may have to be restricted instead of extended in scope. In the absence of a great wealth philantrophist here like Quinten H—, collective association and personal support of this God-given prospect must be available that no child's hopes for Jackson Park vacation privileges be blighted. The local Health body, Kiwanians, Rotarians and their organizations have done and are doing their bits in this connection, and now appeal for collective community effort through the Motor Show.

Making the Welkin Ring.

So bear in mind that the receipts from the Motor Show next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday go toward maintenance of the children's summer camp. A generous attendance at the former event will combine in a collective movement costing the individual little, yet aggregating a total that will bring cheer to the hearts of many a little one. Therefor the success of the Motor Show means boosting that camp where each summer the welkin rings again and yet again with the happy, joyous, grateful voices of Peterborough kiddies in fullest enjoyment of those natural environments of which the Great Master intended each should have his or her share.



FRIDAY SERVICES ST. JOHN'S

The special services at St. John's church yesterday, were very well attended. The Rev. O'Conor Fenton of Norwood had charge of the three-hour service from 12 to 3 p.m.

In the evening there was a service consisting of sacred music with prayers and hymns. It has been the custom for many years past to hold such a service at St. John's, and although there have been many fine renditions by the choir in days gone by it is doubtful if there have ever been any to equal or surpass their effort of yesterday. From the first number to the last there was hardly a flaw to be noticed. This is more to be commended as the numbers were particularly exacting, as will be seen by the following order of service:

Processional, No. 140, O Sacred Head.
Lesson.
Collects.
Choral, "To Thee Great Lord"—Rossini.
H. W. Morphet, Tenor; H. Flowers, Bass.
Cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," Maunder.
Soprano, Mrs. A. L. Amys and Miss R. Quartermaine; Baritone, D. G. Melton.
Hymns in Cantata, No. 497 and 108.
Offertory (organ), Elegy in G—E. H. Lemare.
Choral, "All we like Sheep" (Messiah)—Handel.
Benediction.
Recessional, No. 225, "How Bright these Glorious."
Postlude, "War March of the Priests," Mendelssohn.

The opening selection, "To Thee, Great Lord," from the Oratorio of "Moses," by Rossini, was very well rendered, the solists being Mr. H. Morphet, tenor, and Mr. Flowers, the music was of a florid style, and well suited to their respective voices.

The cantata which followed, entitled "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," was the outstanding number. It was the first time that it had ever been sung in Peterborough. The principal solo part was taken by Mr. D. G. Melton, who is the possessor of a baritone voice of great range and power. He was heard to excellent advantage. His work was particularly heavy, but he was ably assisted by Mrs. A. L. Amys and Miss Ruby Quartermaine, who took the other solo parts, and by the choir who showed splendid coordination throughout. Mrs. Amys gave a very dramatic rendering, her work being especially noticeable in the sympathetic parts.

Miss Quartermaine undertook a part that is not often taken by an amateur and calls for a very large range of voice, but she rendered it with great smoothness and evenness of tone.

The choral number, "All we like Sheep," from Handel's Messiah, was easily the most exacting number of the evening. In this the choir surpassed themselves. Their attack was very fine in all the leads. The pianissima a Capella passages showed to great advantage the excellent tone quality and well balanced ensemble of the chorus.

The offertory voluntary by Mr. Mann was the Elegy in G by E. H. LeMare. It was played beautifully, softness of tone and reverence showing in every part of it.

Mr. Mann is choirmaster and conductor whose deep sense of reverence in the rendition of sacred music is very plainly shown in the success which he has achieved with the choir. Under his careful direction they gave a selection last night which reflects the greatest credit not only on themselves but on their conductor.

Rev. Dr. Blagrave at the conclusion of the service took occasion to thank the conductor and the choir for the great success which had attended their efforts.

PLEADS GUILTY TO MANY HOUSEBREAKING CHARGES

GALT, April 19. — (Canadian Press). — Chas. Weir, 26, pleading guilty to 15 out of 16 charges of house burglary in Galt and three charges of the same nature in Preston, was this morning sentenced by Magistrate Blake to 14 years in the penitentiary. He is also wanted on similar charges in London, Guelph and Kitchener, and will now go on trial in the latter place. It is estimated his loot ran into thousands of dollars, he having secured $535 from one place in Preston. Weir was the busiest burglar Galt has had in a long time. His wife and two children were in court when he received the sentence.

SPEECH TELLS DISEASE SAYS MEDICAL WRITER

LONDON, April 19. — (United Press).—Disease may be diagnosed from the human speech, declares E. W. Scripture in the medical magazine, "The Lancet."

Advertising the establishment of speech clinics for diagonise research, Dr. Scripture states that he has often properly classified cases of epilepsy by studying the peculiarities of speech in patients. He points out that, although surgeons do not know why, inability to say "third riding artillery brigade" is a sign of general paralysis.

WILLYS-KNIGHT

Now within reach of all

The Knight-engined car was for years a car available only to the privileged few.

But for years Willys-Knights have been multiplying rapidly on the streets and roads of Canada until today Willys-Overland, by combining tremendous production with the marvellous Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine, have brought this superb car within reach of all buyers of medium-priced automobiles.

YOU can afford to drive the Willys-Knight, and when you own this smooth-running car with its beautiful coach-work, luxurious comfort and tremendous power—tuned to a whisper—you own a car you want to keep. As the weeks and months and miles slip by, you are amazed and delighted to find yourself in possession of a car powered with an engine that actually improves with use. The same type of engine found in England's Daimler.

There are seven models, ranging from the roadster with its long, graceful, sweeping lines to the sedans, distinctive and luxurious, each priced within reach of all.

BOTH CHICAGO TEAMS WON ON THE HOLIDAY

White Sox Take Three of Their Four Games With the St. Louis Browns—Cleveland Gets First Behind Edwards.

ST. LOUIS, April 18. — Two home runs in the second inning by Grimes and Miller, started the Chicago Cubs on their way to victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, in the fourth and last games of the series here to-day. Rogers Hornsby drove out the first home run of the season. The game was played on a wet field after a drizzle had delayed the game for 18 minutes. The score:

Chicago	020300100	6	10 1
St. Louis	000120000	3	9 1

Keen and Hartnett; Dyer, Pfeffer, Doak, North, Haines and Vick, Holm.

RECRUIT WEAKENED.

CINCINNATI, O., April 18. — Cincinnati made it two out of three in the opening series with Pittsburgh by winning the final contest 3 to 2. Carl Mays, making his first appearance in a National League uniform, was very effective, but was taken out in the last half of the eighth for a pinch hitter. Kremer, a recruit from the Coast, pitched great ball for Pittsburgh until the ninth. The score:

Pittsburgh	010000010	2	7 1
Cincinnati	000001002	3	7 7

Kremer and Schmidt; Mays, May and Hargrave.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

DETROIT, Michigan, April 18 — Cleveland won the final game of the series to-day, beating Detroit 5 to 3. The Indians scored four runs off Cole, in the third inning on hits by Jamieson, Stephenson, Speaker, J. Sewell and Burns after two were out. They made their other run in the seventh off Pillette, who followed Cole. All Detroit runs were made possible by passes and errors. The score:

Cleveland	004000100	5	12 2
Detroit	100200000	3	6 1

Edwards and L. Sewell; Cole, Pillette, Holloway and Bassler.

COLLINS' HITS COUNT.

CHICAGO, April 18. — Chicago bunched hits off Ray Kolp to-day and made it three out of four from St. Louis, by winning the final game of the series 5 to 1. Eddie Collins led the attack with three hits, one of which was a homer. Hollis Thurston pitched in fine form. Score:

St. Louis	000010000	1	7 0
Chicago	20002010x	5	10 1

Kolp and Collins; Thurston and Burns.

COBOURG JUVENILE LEAGUE IS FORMED

Election of Officers Took Place and a Successful Season Is Expected.

COBOURG, April 19.—The Juvenile baseball league, which includes boys up to eighteen years of age, met for re-organization on Friday night in the Town Cucil Chamber. This league had a successful season last year, and are re-entering the baseball arena with good prospects.

The following officers were elected to carry on this year:

President—Charles Gummow.
Vice-Pres.—L. H. Wilson.
Sec.-Treas.—V. J. Butler.

The treasurer reported there was a balance carried over from last year of $38.44.

All entries to the league are to be in the hands of the secretary by April 26.

It was decided to again affiliate with the O.B.A.A. and the league is to be carried on this season in accordance with last year's constitution.

A meeting of the new executive will be held on April 29th to draw up a schedule.

The teams comprising the league last year were the Trail Rangers, St. Michael's and St. Andrew's. It is hoped there will be at least three teams in the league this summer.

The winners of the local championship were defeated last season when they came up against the Peterboro team, champions of Ontario.

Lawn Tennis Club Formed at Cobourg.

COBOURG, April 19.—The Cobourg Lawn Tennis Club in the last sporting activity to line up for the season here. At this meeting for reorganization it was decided to affiliate with the Ontario Lawn Tennis Club this season. Following officers were elected:

Hon. President—J. D. Hayden.
President—Miss Constance Hayden.
Vice-Pres.—Dr. W. J. Jamieson.
Secretary—A. R. Willmott.
Treasurer—H. C. Higginbotham.
Chairman of Grounds Committee—A Cochrane.

The club is expecting more outside games and a very successful season. They have made one payment on their share of buliding the new Bowling and Tennis Club House.

Keep your medicine closet so high that it is wholly out of reach of the children's hands.

JACK WILLIAMS FEELING "FINE"

Allows Only 1 Hit While In Box For Rochester.

(Belleville Intelligencer)

Mr. Ray Car received a letter from Jack Williams, which was written from Hotel Leeland, Danville, Virginia, on Thursday last. Jack is feeling fine and is getting along splendidly, he states.

The letter reads: "I am getting on quite good. I pitched three innings against Spartanburg yesterday. We were beaten 6-5 in a ten inning battle, but they just got one hit off me while I was in the box.

The following day, Jack explains that Spartanburg defeated Reading 3-2 in a nice battle.

"We won on April 10th from Winston-on-Salem North Carolina" the letter continues, "by 5-2. Today it is raining and we do not play. We got to Petersburgh next.

Jack asked for the Grand Trunk ball team, the team with which he made his mark in amateur ball, and stated he was not yet sure whether or not George Stallings would keep him for the season. He has twenty pitchers yet and he let two go last week. A man from Waterbury, Ct., is after Williams and has approached Stallings. The Waterbury man told Williams that he would like to get him, but as yet, Stallings has not said anything to Williams.

"My arm is fine" Jack concludes "and we leave on Friday 11th for New York city. In New York the team will stay at the Grand Hotel.

It has been reported that Stallings likes Williams best of the four good southpaws which he now has, and has stated that the only thing against Jack is the fact that he has never been trained to use his body in pitching, so as to support his arm for heavy work and for going the full nine innings in a tough game. He requires experience in this department but if he has the ability this handicap should not amount to anything great.

Two Irish Football Teams Sent Entries.

PARIS, April 18. — Ireland's troubled internal political affairs have had a repercussion in the French Olympic Committee, when the drawings for the association football matches were made it was found that two entries, each in legal form, had been received from Erin, one of them from a federation under the Free State, and the other from the Irish Football Federation affiliated with the English Amateur Football Associations.

The entry from the Irish Free State was finally accepted after a discussion, the length of which caused the Irish delegate, MacDevit some surprise, which he expressed in the richest brogue:

"It is a matter that should be settled in one minute, there's only one Ireland."

JUNIOR LEAGUE MIRROR

The sports editor for the Kingston Whig has apparently got a younger brother or a relative of some sort who is looking for a place with the Kingston Seniors by the way he is boosting them.

* * * * * * * * *

By the Kingston Standard there is only one team in the C.O.B.L. that has a fighting chance. Peterboro, Oshawa and Belleville will be no opposition for them, says the sports editor, but wait till the season starts, and we will see if they can win games without playing them first. Peterboro has said very little in this line, while Kingston is continuously telling us about their fast infield and their speed ball Goyers and coming lads.

Mr. Standard reporter must be a prophet or some kind of a person with a very strong imagination. He writes the Peterboro line-up in his paper while nobody in this city knows who will compose the Petes this coming season except the manager and a few players, and they're not so sure at that.

* * * * * * * * *

Since Cobourg has dropped out of the Midland Intermediate League and are going to form a senior city league some of the better players of that town may be seen in action this year with the Petes. Peterboro is the closest place to Cobourg with a senior team and at present several players from that town are willing to play in Peterboro. Skitch who is ranked as the fastest second baseman in C.O.B.L., Thompson who is a short stop but who played in the garden last year and Punch Derry who is no mean curve ball artist are at present in the hopes of catching a place with the Petes, who will take some of the pep out of Kingston.

If these three players are obtained they will strengthen the Petes line-up a great deal and it is hoped that they will arrive Turpin who played third base last year for Cobourg Seniors is at present somewhere in mid-ocean. He is employed on one of the Ocean Liners and will not likely be seen in a Cobourg uniform this season.

* * * * * * * * *

The Lakeviews are still waiting patiently for news from the other towns about the proposed Junior C.O.B. League. Nothing definite is known yet outside that Lindsay will not enter a team and neither will Belleville. Belleville are entering in the Bay of Quinte League.

* * * * * * * * *

The Maple Leafs who will again appear in the Juvenile League will have some opposition when they bump into Alex Kays' Curlers. The Leafs know they will have some stiff opposition but they are not worrying in the least as Bradley will do the twirling for them once more. They expect to have their team strengthened a great deal this year but they will miss Fred Thirnbeck last year's star short stop who has been laid up with a sore leg all winter.

* * * * * * * * *

Carl Woods the boy who hailed from Lindsay a year ago will do the heaving for the Curlers and with practically every man from last year they should trot out a smooth running aggregation.

* * * * * * * * *

Very little is known about the East City aggregation who will also enter in the Juvenile series. They are laying low and not saying a word and some of the other teams are beginning to think that they have a couple of dark horses hid away, ready to spring on Charlie Curtis and his lads at the opening game.

The City League has not drawn up any schedules yet but a successful season is assured the many fans who are interested in this league.

The Sacred Heart Juniors have been practicing for the past week and are rounding into shape to meet Lou LeBarr's aggregation.

"Red" Legon has assured the Petes that he will again be with them this season and that his locating in Picton was only a rumor.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

By BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. If, with no one on the bases, the pitcher delivers the ball while off the rubber and it goes over the plate between the knee and shoulder, how does the umpire rule on it?

2. If the pitcher, with no one on the bases delivers the ball while off the rubber and the batsman strikes at such illegally delivered ball, how does it count?

3. If the pitcher gets on the rubber with the ball in his possession, and seeks to exasperate the batter by slow methods how long may he indulge in such tactics without being penalized?

4. Is the calling of a balk vested only in the umpire calling balls and strikes?

5. Has a pitcher the right to use resin in helping him grip the ball or is it regarded as a foreign substance?

ANSWERS

1. Such an illegally delivered ball is called a ball even though it passes over the plate and conforms to strike regulations.

2. It counts as a strike or whatever play may follow.

3. Delaying over 20 seconds by the pitcher after getting on the rubber gives the umpire the right to call a ball on him.

4. The base umpire as well as the umpire in chief can call a balk.

5. Resin cannot be used. It is regarded as a foreign substance.

MARMORA NEWS

MARMORA, April 19.—The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson on Wednesday evening.

In answer to the roll call the ladies responded by giving preventatives for moths. Many suggestions were given, such as cedar boughs, moth balls, cloves, carbon bisulpide, sunshine; also the use of prepared moth bags and cotton bags.

Mrs. Brown of Bonar Law, the District President, gave the talk of the evening on the district work.

She spoke of the value of the institute in the community. First, because it brought the ladies of all the churches together with a common interest. There was always work to be done in any community that could only be accomplished by united effort.

A New Institute.

Mrs. Brown reported two new institutes on the district. One at Rylestone with a membership of 21, under the efficient presidency of Mrs. Meiklejohn, who had worked in the Springbrook institute for many years. Already Rylestone has a good suggestion for programmes. They take some subject—temperance was the subject at the last meeting—study up the subject and have a question drawer and open discussion at the meeting.

Mrs. Brown spoke of the need of women—now that they have the vote—studying the prominent subjects of the day and thought this question drawer an excellent method of studying such subjects.

Deloro Girls' Institute.

The other new institute is a girls' institute at Deloro, under Mrs. Saunders. It is the first girls' institute in the North Hastings district. Their president is planning a full programme of instructive work for the girls.

The report from some of the institutes was that they were discouraged. The conclusion was that the institutes that had no special effort to work for were the ones doing the least work. In Marmora the institute is behind the library and they find it needs constant effort to raise funds so the library will reach the highest standard of efficiency.

Mrs. Brown said the institutes did not know what good was being accomplished by putting good literature before the people nor how many lonely hours were eased, even for people many miles in the country, by their access to a good library.

Little Things Count.

She had read the other day that while the comet was very interesting it was rare, and it was the little twinkling stars of every night that gave the most pleasure; so in life and institute work it was the little things that counted.

There was a discussion also on the federation dues paid by each society.

Value of Rest.

The President, Mrs. Chas. Nichol, read a paper on "The Great Need of Rest to Man." It dealt with the need of rest or relaxation to every one, and the results if a person didn't rest.

The game of the evening was a contest called "A Vegetable Love Story." It was quite catchy and afforded considerable amusement. It was won by Mrs. D. R. Clare.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Thompson and her daughters.

Those present were Mrs. Nichol, Mrs. D. E. Bell, Mrs. C. Blucker, Mrs. Pinar, Mrs. Clare, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. W. Grant, Mrs. (Dr.) Jones, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Marett, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. F. Bowen.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after a vote of thanks to Mrs. Brown for her official visit and address.

Personals.

Miss Topper of the staff of the Public School will be unable to go home for the Easter holidays on account of illness.

Miss Mary Maloney spent Thursday in Peterborough.

Miss Myrtle Kennedy motored to Stirling Thursday to bring her sister, Miss Reta Kennedy, home for the holidays.

The Continuation School closed for the holidays at noon Thursday, that the teachers might leave for home on the afternoon trains.

RUBBED GLOVES.

To clean ruber gloves wash them in cold water and then boil for no longer than five minutes. Overboiling weakens the rubber.

KINGSTON KNOW PETES' LINE-UP

Another Wail From the Kingston Standard -- Petes Team is Far From What They Think It Will Be.

Standard: Apparently that clean-up of the dope tragic in Peterborough wasn't as nearly completed as the officials would have liked it to be, for there is at least one personage in that subterranean village who must be still hitting the pipe. The sport (?) writer on The Peterborough Examiner either has been having a few day dreams or has been finding lumps in his porridge (if Peterborough writers get up beofre breakfast, which seems decidedly doubtful).

The said scribe has been stung under the collar, and the sting is even more severe because he has to realise that the Peterborough C. O. B. L. is badly "shot," and he goes higher than a kite when anyone from Kingston dares to infer that Kingston has a chance this year.

But when such a howl comes from Peterborough little attention is paid to it. Up there, whenever they want a little excitement they watch the Lift Lock go up, and think they're aeroplanes, but the real ascension is to come pretty soon when "Al" Heckman gets battered about.

When a team that couldn't bat much over 200 last year, loses two of its best batters, its the very height of foolishness to say that the aggregation will be as strong as last year. The home of the near-Intermediate O.H.A. champions generally turns out a fair team, but if the Peterborough heavyweight pen-pushers can show us how Ansaldo and Comoli will not be missed, he's in line for the hand-embroidered safety razor.

The Peterborough scribe claims a new southpaw will help out Heckfan, but if he's no better than the other twirlers the Petes showed last year he'll be better off at home when the team's travelling.

True "Hap" Harrison should be a good man at first, and will make up for the loss of Comoli, but Ansaldo is going to be missed more than the would-be expert sport writer on The Examiner thinks.

The Petes will likely line up Harrison at first, Johnston at second, Collins on third, and a new man at short, while Wolfe and Legon will be two fixtures in the field.

Yes, indeed, as Peterborough says, the "Letters of a Busher" are interesting, but he missed the treat of a lifetime when he didn't read the "Dreams of a Dub." Apparently they were dedicated to him.

Bowling

CITY TEN PIN LEAGUE

Thursday night at Solomon's Alleys the Belmont Club took two falls out of the C.G.E. Some fair rolling resulted.

Cobourg Teams Drop Out of Midland Loop.

COBOURG, April 19.—At an executive meeting of the Town Baseball League held in the Council Chamber, it was decided after a long discussion not to put a team in the proposed Midland Baseball League. All teams entering the local league must have entries in by Friday night, and entry fees must accompany applications. It was decided by those present at the last meeting, that better results can be obtained this season by having one team from the Town League qualify to enter the O.B.A.A.

Of last year's Town League teams the Canadian National are re-organized and ready for the diamond and also the Dye Works.

Timely Tips To Amateurs

SAYS HEINIE GROH

Third Baseman, New York Giants

My peculiar style at the plate has been the subject of many an article by the baseball writers. I think I am the only major league batter who stands directly facing the pitcher.

It is not a style that is regarded in baseball as good form, yet I have been decidedly successful with it.

The fact that I finally work into the customary batting position as I step into the ball is entirely overlooked.

So after all it is my original position only that is different.

Every batter has a certain style that is most comfortable to him. He should use that style.

Ordinarily, I think making over a batter's style is a mistake.

Be original. Don't imitate.

RECEPTION FOR STANWOOD BRIDE

Mrs. Harding Smith Given Miscellaneous Shower — Rebekah Initiation at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 15.—Miss Audrey Rowe and Miss Lena Akins, at Stanwood arranged for a miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Harding Smith, on Monday night, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. MacAlpine. Mr. and Mrs. Smith returned on Saturday, and on Thursday will go to Toronto to spend a few days before going to their home at Sparta, in Elgin County.

There were about fifty guests at the shower, friends of the bride in the neighbourhood. Many pretty and useful presents were given to Mrs. Smith.

The evening was spent in games and music. At twelve o'clock refreshments were served and the pleasant evening came to a close.

Rebekah Initiation.

At the meeting of the Rebekahs last Thursday, the Stirling Degree team was present and initiated five new members in the lodge here. Mr. Farrell is the Degree Captain. The team did splendid work. There were about forty present from Stirling and a few from Havelock. The meeting was held in the Paris' Hall. Besides the degree work, there were several short speeches from members of the visiting lodges and the local lodge. At the close of the evening all repaired to the basement where lunch was served.

Mrs. F. McMullen Dead.

Mrs. Fred McMullen, who lived on the eighth concession of Seymour, died at her home on Tuesday, April 15. The funeral will take place at two o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Service at the house and interment at Burnbrae Cemetery.

She was a member of the Baptist Church in Campbellford. She is survived by her husband and neice, Miss May Hubble, who lived with them.

Personal Items.

Mrs. C. W. Turner and her nephew, Mr. Wilfred Scott of Picton, spent Wednesday afternoon in Warkworth with her sister, Mrs. K. Booth.

Mrs. Wm. Gordon, late of Brandon, Manitoba, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shapter, Centre Street, and other relatives.

Miss Mabel Haynes, who underwent a serious operation last week at Nichol's Hospital, Peterboro, is a little better, though still in a serious condition. Her mother is still in the city with her.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pearce and son, Billie, who spent two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Dixon, of Montreal, returned to their home on Sebastapol Street, Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hall and family, of Peterboro, spent Monday of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hall, Queen Street.

Mr. James Massie, of Port Hope, was in town on Wednesday on a business trip.

Mr. Wilfred Scott, of Picton, spent Wednesday and Thursday in town on business, and was the guest of his aunt, Mrs. C. W. Turner, Queen.

Mr. Roy Sharp left Wednesday noon for his home in Toronto, where he will commence his duties in the office of the Barrymore Cloth Co. of that city.

Mr. George T. Salter is spending a week with his friend, Mr. M. Fraser, of Frankford.

Handshaking Custom Ended By Coolidge.

WASHINGTON, April 19. — "Handshaking," long a popular pastime at the White House, went into the discard to-day for the establishment of a new custom.

The host of visitors who call at the noon hour to grasp the President's hand and exchange a greeting were instructed to walk through the Executive offices quietly. They saw the President seated at his desk at work and apparently oblivious to the curious throng.

It was found to be too great a strain on the President as well as expensive in time to greet upwards of 1,000 daily.

THREE PALS IN HARMONY SINGING AND GOOD COMEDY

At Vaudeville at Capitol, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

As a special offering for the holiday to Capitol patrons, the management of the Capitol Theatre have secured one of the finest musical and comedy acts available, for the first three days of next week. The Three Pals, consisting of three excellent harmony singers and snappy comedians, will be the vaudeville at the Capitol next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

PHOTOPLAY IS MOST STARTLING

Amazingly Frank in Discussion of Wife's Right to Do As Her Husband Does.

The age-old argument as to whether or not a wife has the right to demand of her husband the same rigidity of standards as he demands of her, or to do the same as he does, forms the sensational theme of "Flaming Youth," a powerful story of modern unconventional life which comes Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday to the Capitol Theatre.

"Flaming Youth," vividly dramatic screen version of Warner Fabian's daring novel, is considered one of the outstanding photoplays of the year.

It is amazingly frank, and while it is not a preachment against the mode of living in certain circles of present-day American life, it no less points to the ever-growing abandonment of the conventions on the part of the younger generations.

Sermons have been preached on the topic which forms the basis of the sensational play, yet "Flaming Youth" is not a sermon. It is clear-cut entertainment, dealing with a vivid type of American men and women.

"Flaming Youth" is a story of a mother and her three daughters—all unconventional to a more or less degree. The father, as though for full measure, is inclined toward a fondness for women in no way connected with his own family.

Told in a frank and interesting way, "Flaming Youth" subtly drives home the lerson that conventionalities, though boresome, are necessary for the preservation of the home.

Colleen Moore plays the leading part in this powerful First National picture. Other members of the brilliant all-star cast are Milton Sills, Elliott Dexter, Myrtle Stedman, Sylvia Breamer, Betty Marncisco, Phillips Smalley, Walter McGrail, Ben Lyon and others.

"Flaming Youth," a First National picture, was directed by John Francis Dillon, one of the most noteworthy directors of this type of pictures in the motion picture industry.

The gorgeous Mae Murray is at the Capitol Theatre for this week-end, in "Fashion Row." She has a dual role in this picture, which proves her to be an actress of note, as well as an animated fashion-plate. In the part of Olga Farinova, the pseudo Russian princess, and also as the temperamental tragedienne's young sister, Zita, the pale-faced little immigrant from across the ocean, she has a distinctly different characterization, that is done in splendid fashion. The story is an interesting one. Olga Farinova, tempestuous, talented, beautiful, comes from darkest Russia to the white lights of Broadway, and achieves fame as an actress of tragic roles. She pretends to be a Russian princess, and the deception necessary to carry out pretense leads her into many difficult situations. Pursued by a vengeful Russian admirer of her younger days, and with her little sister another threatening disclosure on the horizon, her luxurious path is dogged by eventual discovery. In the part of the wonderfully-gowned actresss, Mae Murray is superb, but her portrayal of the character of the little, quaint Zita is equally good.

With an interesting plot, plenty of wonderful gowns, an excellent supporting cast, and the art of the principal actress to make it realistic, "Fashion Row" is a brilliant, entertaining picture, a typical Mae Murray production

With it is "Poodles" Hannaford in a new type of comedy, "The New Sheriff," falling in love with a pretty school marm, and a vaudeville offering with "The Three Hutters," a trio of clever musicians who have a brilliant musical act. They are exceptionally good artists, and their appearance on Thursday evening in vocal, pianoforte and xylophone work brought them rounds of repeated applause. Their programme includes popular and classical music, in a variety of songs that range from operatic bits to "Just a Song at Twilight." Four encores followed their instrumental rendition, with piano and xylophone, of the popular "My Buddy." The vocalist of the trio has an exceptionally good range, the xylophonist does some snappy work and the pianiste's excellent playing rounds out an extremely good act.

AT THE GRAND

LONDON'S GREAT CONCERT 8.

Eentertainment of a very delightful nature, presented in an entirely different way is promised local music-lovers when "London's Great Concert 8" comes to the Grand, Tuesday, April 22nd.

This Company is on a world tour and is making Canada its first stopping off place since leaving England, has been on this side of the water only a short while, but it is astounding the immensity of its success in the towns where this Company has appeared. With Tom Copeland, better known as "Scotland's Prime Minister of Mirth", presenting well known Scotch characterizations and with his humorous songs and delightful personality, supported by the nationally known comedienne Miss Suzette Tarri, lovens of the lighter side of entertainment will surely be well pleased. In this Company also are Miss Molly O'Moore, the Irish soprano, Miss Dorothy Alwynne, Scotland's favorite female violinist and Joan Duff, the sixteen year old pianist, the sensation of London and already a tremendous favorite with Canadian audiences. The male members of the Company are Wilfred Virgo, tenor; Walter Nunn, A.R.C.M., cellist; Richard (Sergeant) Alexander, baritone; one of the "Contempables."

The best music, faultlessly rendered by artists of world repute. Individual members of this Company have one and all appeared on the concert platform with great success and combined on this tour as they are, make this recital one of the outstanding musical events of the year and one which lovers of music cannot afford to miss.

Seats are now selling for all performances at the Grand.

BARNEY GOOGLE COMING.

For real diversion, hilarity, surprises, screams and something out of the ordinary in modern musical comedy, the next attraction at the Grand Theatre, matinee and night, Saturday, April 26th, is said to be easily in the van of its most immediate competitors. The new offering is entitled "Barney Google and Spark Plug,' and as its caption suggests, is based on the ever-popular and world famous cartoons of Bily De Beck of the same name. This will mark Barney's initial appearance on the stage and from all accounts it has been a huge success. At any rate that is the verdict of the critics all over the country who predict that Barney will become just as popular back of the flashlights as he has in the confines of the leading daily newspapers from coast to coast. All of Barney's adventures and those of his loyal and devoted horse, Spark Plug, have been shrewdly and realistically reproduced along with new and original situations sure to arouse plenty of laughter and ingratiate him in the hearts of his millions of admirers. John P. Mulgrew supplied the book, while Joseph Mendelson is responsible for the music. The cast contains upwards of forty people, including a champion beauty chorus, who know how to wear gorgeous and expensive gowns with becoming modesty and grace.

DAY BY DAY, EVERY WAY BETTER AND BETTER

Dr. Coue's Methods to be Demonstrated in Peterborough by Prof. Andre, of Nancy School.

Day by day in every way get better and better.

This is the message from Dr. Emile Coue and his associates in world-famed school at Nancy. People in Peterboro have read and heard of the wonderful results of the methods of this great man. They are now to have an opportunity to do the next best thing to seeing him. Prof. Marcel Andre, from Dr. Coue's original school in Nancy, has been persuaded to come to Peterborough, and will be here on next Wednesday, at the Grand Opera House for a lecture and demonstration of auto-suggestion. He is coming to show what can be accomplished, and to educate others to carry on the work.

Montreal gave a wonderful tribute to Prof. Andre and his methods. The Montreal Gazette said in part: "There was a large audience, and both his lectures and demonstrations gave universal satisfaction. He was listened to with intense interest. In every case sufferers from pain who came on the platform pronounced themselves completely relieved within a few minutes. More conclusive experiments could hardly have been given."

"No one was disappointed," said the Montreal Star. "Prof. Andre is a thorough scientist, and was voted a decided success. His address is intensely interesting and instructive."

The demonstration will be given in the Grand Opera House on Wednesday evening, April 23rd at 8:15, and in addition to the lecture, in which auto-suggestion will be thoroughly explained, there will be an invitation to any in the audience for free treatments.

AT THE ROYAL

"LOVE'S WHIRLPOOL" TO BE SHOWN AT ROYAL, MONDAY

"Love's Whirlpool," which will come to the Royal Theatre next Monday and play for three days, is said by critics to be the "Jimmy Valentine" of the screen. It has the same elements of drama, the same thrills and the same triumph of virtue over vice.

It deals with the attempt of Jim Reagan, master crook, to free his younger brother Larry from prison. When he fails, he swears vengeance on Richard Milton who prosecuted Larry. Jim and his sweetheart, Molly kidnap Nadine Milton and use her in a fake seance to mulct Milton of his money. But Nadine discovers that she has real pyschic power, and under its influences she resolves to "go straight" and restores Nadine to her father. The spirit of his dead brother makes Jim forget his busy ess and seek a new life with Paittern

James Kirkwood, Lila Lee and Madge Bellamy have the principal parts. The supporting cast includes Robert Agnew, Mathew Betz, Margaret Livingston, Clarence Geldert and Joe Mills. "Love's Whirlpool" was adapted for the screen by Elliott Clawson and Bruce Mitchell, and the latter also directed.

ADDED NOVELTIES AT ROYAL, MONDAY

Not only is the feature production at the Royal, Monday, chosen with the usual care, the added attractions also receive the same attention. "By Lantern Light" is an artistic novelty that will be appreciated by all lovers of the artistic in motion photography. Helen Gibson, in "The perilous Leap," presents another of her thrilling railroad dramas. Harry Sweet, in "Own A Lot," is supported by the "Folly Girls," and, for good measure, an additional comedy "Family Life."

CONSTANCE TALMADGE A SCREAM IN "DULCY"

Star's Newest Vehicle, Presented at Royal Theatre, a Splendid Entertainment.

Constance Talmadge's pictures are too few and far between. This observation is prompted by a visit last evening to the Royal Theatre, where Miss Talmadge's latest picture, "Dulcy," is now running.

One of the slogans used in advertising this attraction is "You'll smile through a mile of funfilm." A question elicited the information that the film is acutally 6,800 feet long, whereas a mile is but 5,280 feet. You'll smile is right—only too modest a claim, we almost laughed ourselves into a knot. "Dulcy" is a wonderful entertainment. It is an adaptation by John Emerson and Anita Loos of the Broadway hit by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly; and the well-known combination of Emerson-Loos, themselves the writers of many of Constance Talmadge's past successes, hence writers who know the star's capabilities well, seem to have added a great deal to the fun of the piece by clever sub-titling. And this is said without intent to take a minim from the credit due the star for a sparkling performance, a sincere performance, made so because of the unstudied and thoroughly spontaneous bonehead plays by the captivatiing Constance.

The story relates to a young wife who has a gift for gaucherie. She meddled into everything with the best intentions, only to do something or say something that was exactly the wrong thing to do or say. Finally she is inspired with an ambition to help her young husband in his business affairs. Said young husband was well able to manage his affairs and was then on the point of putting over a merger very much to his advantage. But friend wife butts in and almost ruins him. It is only because a crusty old business man, appalled at her bonheadedness, finally decides that it cannot be possible for a young woman to be so much a dumb-bell, that her husband is not utterly ruined. There is more to the story, but why spoil your pleasure by aping "Dulcy" and blabbing it. You'll want to enjoy the laughs yourself.

"BONEHEAD" PASSE NOW IT'S "DULCY"

"Dumb-bell" has gone into the A new word now reigns supreme. It's "dulcy" now when somebody pulls a "boner," or in politer parlance, a faux pas. It's "dulcy" when somebody "spills the beans" by talking out of turn. It's "dulcy" when some "green pea" asks you in the presence of your wife if you're going to sit in at the poker game that night, after you've told your better half you're going to lodge meeting.

"Dulcy" was derived from Constance Talmadge's new film production of that name. In this screen adaptation of one of New York's biggest comedy successes, Constance Talmadge finds herself in a new type of role.

It is that of a well-meaning, meddlesome wife, Dulcinea Smith, who is always entangling her husband in embarrassments by her lack of tact. The wags of the studio saw the aptness of the name and adopted it, with the result that it has become one of the standard studio "wise-cracks."

MISS JOAN DUFF, 16 year old classical pianist, with Tom Copeland, and "London's Great Concert 8," coming to the Grand on April 22nd.

BELLEVILLE HAS FOUR PITCHERS ON THE STRING

BELLEVILLE, April 19.— The juniors were not the only ones to start the season's activities. The seniors started proceedings at the Armouries when nearly all the regulars showed up an also a few newcomers.

Nothing very sensational was attempted and the first practice was confined to catching and throwing. All seem very enthusiastic and look for a bright season.

Jack Oulette, Chuck Jeffrey, Koen and Zufelt, pitchers, were out while Weir, Meagher, Big Peeny, Casey and Williams were seen.

Next week the grounds will be ready and then something can really be done.

Little Peeny, White, Ross and Hagerman were working but Walter Gerow used the hour to good advantage and some of the boys are sporting rather lame limbs this morning.

EASTER AT KNOX.

Easter, a study in colour. Easter, a study in black and white—and red. Friday was dark. Men call it Good Friday. At least the first Good Friday was Dark Friday, dismally dark, with red centre in form like unto a cross. It was as if man had overcome God, and when that takes place every day is dark. But Easter morn was glorious with light. Men knew that God had overcome the last enemy. Have you entered into the meaning of Easter? At both services we shall deal frankly with the Life Beyond Death, from the viewpoint of science as well as religion. All seats free. Everybody welcomed.

Mrs. F. A. Hodgson is spending the Easter week-end in Collingwood.

EASTER IN GEORGE STREET METHODIST

The Easter services this year will be filled with the spirit of gladness and triumph associated with the day There will be special music at all services, and the church will be decorated in keeping with the festival. The programme of services is as follows:

7.30 a.m.—Sunrise service, with short address by Mr. Manning. This service will be directed by the Senior Club, and all young people especially are invited.

10.00 a.m. — Fellowship service, conducted by the pastor.

11.00 a.m.—Communion and reception of members. At this service a number of candidates for church membership will be admitted thereto, including many from the Sunday School.

2.30 p.m.—Special Easter sessions of both schools.

7.00 p.m.—Easter musical service by the choir. An inspiring series of anthems, solos, ladies' semi-choruses, etc., will be given under the direction of J. H. Renwick. In connection with this service Mr. Young will give a short sermon on "Round the Bend in the Road."

To all these services a hearty invitation is extended to everyone who finds it in his heart to join in the celebration of the Easter triumph.

CLARENCE DE MAR WON FOURTH MARATHON RACE

BOSTON, Mass., April 19.—(Canadian Press.) — Clarence De Mar won the B.A.A. United States' Marathon race for the fourth time today. His time, 2.20.40 1-15, breaks the American Olympic record of 2.41.39 2-5, made by Frank T. Zuna, at Baltimore last month, and the Olympic record of 2.32.35 4/15, made by Hannes Kolehmainen at Antwerp in 1920. Charles M. Mellor, Illinois A.C., Chicago, was second in 2.35.04 2/15. Frank T. Zuna, winner in 1921, dropped out of the race a few miles from the finish.

WEDDING BELLS

FROST—McGILL.

The marriage was solemnized at Trinity parsonage by the Rev. A. J. Langford, B.A., on Good Friday, April 18th, of Lula Evelyn Isabella, daughter of Mr. B. McGill and the late Mrs. B. McGill, and Herbert Frost, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Frost of Stoke-on-Trent, England. The young couple were attended by Miss Cloudasey Anderson and Mr. Mordie McGill, brother of the bride.

The bride looked very pretty in a gown of cocoa georgette, trimmed with beads. Her bouquet was ophelia roses. Miss Anderson wore brown Canton crepe and carried a bouquet of Columbia roses.

A dainty lunch was served at the home of the bride, after which the young couple left on the 3.50 p.m. train for Hamilton and Buffalo, the bride travelling in brown canton crepe dress, cocoa tricotine coat.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

AKER—WOOD

A quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized on Thursday at 6.30 p.m. April 17, by Rev. Robert Pogue, at the home of the groom's brother, 16 Maria street, when Mr. Clyde M. Aker, son of Mrs. C. Z. Aker, of Winnipeg, was united in marriage to Miss Florence H. Wood daughter of the late Mrs. E. Wood of London, England.

They were attended by Miss B. Miller and Mr. G. C. Aker.

Mrs. G. C. Aker and Miss B. Welsh were guests.

The happy couple left Friday morning on a short honeymoon to Toronto. On returning they will reside in the city.

NURSE—HARPER.

A quiet and pretty wedding took place in Toronto, on Thursday, April 17th, when Eilen Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Harper of Otonabee, became the bride of Thomas J. Nurse, of South Monaghan, Rev. Elliott Baker officiating.

The bride was stylishly attired in a suit of navy trizotine, with grey opossum choker, an hat and shoes to match.

After a brief honeymoon spent in Guelph and other points, they will reside in South Monaghan.

Calomel is Greatest Medicine in The World

Cleans and Tones Up the Whole System

Your liver is poisoning the whole system, causing a tired feeling in the morning, sick headache, bad taste in mouth, sour stomach, indigestion, constipation, kidney trouble, etc. There is only one drug known that acts directly upon the liver, and that is calomel! Because so many people object to the ordinary calomel, it is now put up in a new form, called Tanol Calomel Tablets, which act with a gentle movement of the bowels and no salts or seidlitz powders are needed to remove it from the system, as it is self-eliminating. Get a few of these Tanol Calomel Tablets from the druggist and they will make you feel 100 per cent. better. For sale at Weber's Drug Store, Charlotte street. m.s tf

PUBLIC MEETING MONDAY EVENING

All Interested in the Welfare of the City Invited to Chamber of Commerce at 8 O'clock.

That the by-law accepting the Canadian General Electric Company's offer to build a large addition to the fatcory in Peterborough and granting them an extension of three years on the present fixed assessment will undoubtedly pass when it comes before the people on Wednesday next. But it is desired by tohse who look toward the good of the city that it shall not pass, but pass with a big majority in order to showthe C.G.E. Company and other prospective manufacturers that Peterborough appreciates industrial expansion.

To ensure this, there will be an organization meeting in the Chamber of Commerce on Monday night at 8 o'clock, when arrangements will be completed for getting out the vote and instructing voters.

Any citizens who are willing to assist personally or by loaning or using their cars are invited to attend this meeting.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Edtior of The Examiner:

Sir,—Although many people are saying that this province is a disgrace to the Dominion and that we are a poor, weak bunch run by women and near-women, I don't believe it. Prohibition is a good thing, only we have not enough of it. The following list I suggest:

1. Prohibitio nof language to prevetn swearing.
2. Alcohol to prevent drinking.
3. Words to prevent lying.
4. Property to prevent stealing.
5. Sexes to prevent ven. diseases.
6. Religion to prevent fights.
7. Food to prevent indigestion.
8. Money to prevent the root of all evil.
9. Living to prevent death.

I would suggest that the Mayor call a meeting, to be addressed by those who realize the mistake made in having a world at all and to consider means for doing away with it.

Ciceronibus Utusque Non Skiddo.

P.S.—Meanwhile I would put the Drury government in charge of the morals of this 'ere Canada.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Fred Russell, who departed this life April 19, 1923:

Around the Bend

(By Ida M. Thomas.)

Dead? No, don't speak of him that way!
Don't think of him as dead!
He's only just gone on a piece,
A little way ahead.

He's travelling still the same highway
That he, with us, has trod;
Merely out-distanced us a bit,
Upon the road to God.

Dead? Never with a thought like that.
The smallest moment spend.
He's simply gone beyond our sight;
He's just around the bend!

MOVIE ACTRESS TELLS OF CHARM.

Real Beauty Is Soul Deep and Not Skin Deep As Foolish Cynics Maintain

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

HOLLYWOOD, April 19.—"The actress taps a psychic font of youth —perhaps the only source of perpetuated youth.

"Taps it constantly for her own refreshment because, vicariously at least, she lives the lives of many women, the whole rich gamut of her sex, as part of her profession."

Thus Kate Lester, patrician and strikingly handsome grand dame of motion pictures, explains the fact that stage women as a rule retain, as she has, the charm and resiliency of youth far beyond women in more prosaic walks of life.

She passed sixty "a long time ago," as she says. But she preserves to marked degree that distinction which acclaims her a beauty when she made her stage debut 34 years ago as the daughter of a long line of English aristocrats.

"The actress," she resumed, "must of necessity simulate—emotionally live—the lives of many women if she is to make her repertoire convincing. And simulation has almost the energizing reaction of reality, if sustained or repeated.

"With each new character portrayed, she gets a recharge of vitality.

"She avoids monotony, the conventional channels of thought into which so many women fall, once their life has been stabilized by maturity. Monotony dulls and decays. It is a trick of Father Time to reap early.

"New sensations, surprises, soul venturings, provoking the ardors of life, keeping the silt out of its wellsprings—these, even if only imaginative experiences, keep the sincere actress alert. Her emotional fires keep the clinkers burned out.

"Real beauty is soul deep, not skin deep as foolish cynics maintain.

"It comes from thinking rather than dieting and massaging.

"Of course, stage women take infinite care of the physical self. But that woman knows little of her real self and its powers to preserve the source and appearance of pulchritude who doesn't know that grooming of the spirit is more important than a facial operation or bobbed hair."

Kate Lester uses no artificial aids to her stately beauty. With her simple recipe of "exercise and thinking beautiful thoughts," she distracts attention in any Hollywood gathering from the self-conscious sirens of 20 and the artificial ingenue of 40.

Now under long-term contract with Goldwyn Studios, she played during her stage career with such artists as Richard Mansfield, William Crane, Julia Marlowe, Mrs. Fisk and John Drew.

Do You Need Help? This Advice is Well Worth Reading!

Kirkton, Ont.—"I have found Doctor Pierce's Anuric Tablets to be an excellent medicine. I have been troubled with inflammation in the neck of my bladder for about eighth years. I doctored but failed to get cured, so I decided to try Doctor Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) Tablets and they have relieved me greatly.

"I also can recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for expectant mothers. I have a fine, big baby boy. My nurse asked me what I ate to make his so strong. He looked like a child four or five months old when only three. I certainly would advise every prospective mother to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. John Simpson, R.R.1.

EASTER RECESS TILL THURSDAY LULLS CAPITAL

Cabinet Will Deal With Hon. E. J. McMurray's Suspension of Twenty Lashes Imposed On the Montreal Bank Bandit—Gossip On New Brunswick Senatorship.

UNVEIL TABLET.

OTTAWA, April 21. Canadian Press. — With a number of members of the government taking advantage of the Easter recess out of town, it is quite likely that there will be a lull in Cabinet meetings over the first few days of next week. In any case no Cabinet meeting has yet been called and cabinet consideration of the case of Raoul Beauchamp (the Montreal bank bandit) is therefore deferred for the time being.

Beauchamp was sentenced to twenty-five years imprisonment and twenty lashes by Judge Monet. Hon. E. J. McMurray, Solicitor-General, suspended the sentence so far as the lashes are concerned—it was at first announced, in fact, that the lashes had been remitted, but this proved to be incorrect. But while the lashes cannot be adminstered so long as the suspension holds, Mr. McMurray's action still remains to be confirmed or over-ruled by the Cabinet, and when Cabinet meets, it is quite likely that the case of Beauchamp will be on the first orders of business.

Gossip has been busy in the last few days regarding the recent Senatorship from New Brunswick. The name of C. W. Robinson, Minister of Lands and Mines in New Brunswick has been prominently mentioned in this regard although no official step, it is intimated, has so far been taken up.

The House does not meet again till Thursday. It will then assemble at 2.15 p.m., instead of 3 for the unveiling of a memorial tablet to Bowman B. Law, M.P., who lost his life when the old Parliament Buildings were burned down. Subsequently the debate on the Budget will be continued day after day till the division is reached.

FRENCH ACCENTUATE PENALTIES OMISSION IN PLAN OF EXPERTS

Press Comment Emphasizes As Grave Weakness the Silence of Experts' Report—"France Cannot Trust Germany" Is One Expression In Comment On Premier MacDonald's Speech At York.

Premier MacDonald Advocates Unity Among the Allies In Applying the Experts' Plan For Solution of the Reparations Problem—Would Admit Germany to League of Nations.

DIFFICULTIES SEEN.

PARIS, April 21.—(Canadian Press).—The speech of the British Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald, before a Labor meeting at York, England, Saturday, is regarded here as of great significance and importance in defining the British Government's attitude toward the experts' plan. French official circles refuse to comment, but the press emphasizes that part of the speech in which the Prime Minister referred to the question of penalties, it being pointed out that this is directly at variance with M. Poincare's attitude up to the present.

The Temps says that Mr. MacDonald's statement justifies maintenance of French troops in the Ruhr, not as an instrument of economic exploitation but as a means of restraint.

Continue Precautions.

"When the British Government prefers to abstain from any parliamentary agreement respecting penalties," adds the Temps, "it is natural that the French government should continue the precautions it has taken."

La Liberte says: "The French and British viewpoints on penalties are diametrically opposed. The experts' report did not solve the conflict of ideas, which is bound to lead to difficult negotiations."

Sharp Controversy.

The Radical Le Soir emphasizes the difference between MacDonald and Poincare regarding the Ruhr and forsees a sharp controversy on this subject.

Le Gaulois says: "France cannot trust Germany's word. To renounce the pledges would be equivalent to putting ourselves at the mercy of a nation determined to evade its obligations until it feels strong enough to resume war."

The Echo de Paris follows the same line, remarking: "The British Government is in a great hurry to get the French out of the Ruhr. We should adhere strictly to the programme of M. Poincare, and Premier MacDonald should be left no illusions as to the manner in which our rights will be defended."

TAKE GERMAN WORD

YORK, Eng., Aprtl 21.—Take the reparation experts' report as a whole and put it into operation at once with everybody back of it, was the course advocated by Prime Minister MacDonald in addressing a crowded labor meeting in the Theatre Royal here Saturday. He urged that the Allies should accept Germany's word and advocated her admission into the League of Nations as another step for bringing peace to the continent.

In urging unity among the Allies in applying the plan outlined by the report, Mr. MacDonald said it was clear from that document that if they went on for another two years and carried out the policy that had been practiced for two or three years past there would be no hope of relief, no hope of reparations, and none for security of peace.

To take the chance that was now offered and put the plan into operation as a whole, and then "go on and finish the job and bring peace and security to the continent" was what he cared about, and what he was going to work for.

By letting Germany join the League of Nations they could complete the organization upon which he would like to found the future peace of Europe.

He regarded the rise of an extreme nationalism in Germany as a very great menace dangerous to Europe and deplorable for Germany as well. The policy of the Allies, he said, was largely responsible for this rise of the German nationalist movement.

He urged that the Allied attitude should be to accept Germany's word and he pointed out that the greatest danger Germany offered to Europe now was not the danger of arms but of industrial deterioration.

Dominion of India a Labor Ideal

Referring to India the Premier said: "We know the serious condition of affairs in India and we want to improve it. As Lord Ollivier (head of the Indian office) says without equivocation, a Dominion status for India is the idea and ideal of the Labor Government.

"If I may say so to our Indian friends: 'Do your bit for the British democracy keep your faith in a British Labor Government.' "

Mr. MacDonald described his Government as "a human Government, a Government that has made mistakes and is going to make mistakes."

"But," he went on, 'it is a Government that considers first and foremost how it can help undistinguished, orderly, hoping, striving men, women and children with human souls and with an appreciation of human duty and human rights."

"Hobgoblins."

The premier said the chairman of the meeting had frequently used the word "Socialist."

"He is a very rash man," commented the Prime Minister, "does he not know that one of the few remaining hobgoblins of our youth is the word 'Socialist.' We have departed, nearly all of us now, from those delightful faiths which made us afraid to go out at night, and Mr. Churchill alone is striving to adapt Hans Anderson's stories to the intelligence and requirements of gray-headed or bald-headed adults."

The Premier said he believed it was his duty to carry on the Government and keep off a general election which nobody wanted. He saw no reason why there should be a general election for two or three years.

Indian Attacked Reserve Pastor

SARNIA, Ont., April 20.—(Canadian Press).—Donald Maness, an Indian, presumably a religious fanatic, was in police cells Sunday following an attack on Rev. Jas. Elford, pastor of the church at the reservation. During the meeting at the reserve at which the matter of the removal of the Indian Church was discussed to make way for the Dominion Alloy Company plant Maness suddenly, with a stout club held high, attacked the pastor Mr. Elford grappled with the man and received a glancing blow on the head and shoulder. Maness was seized and later released and when Constable Witing and Detective Byerlay arrived he was missing.

A search of the woods was made and Maness was arrested and a fully loaded revolver found on him as well as an axe. His mind is believed to be affected. He is known to have referred to Rev. Mr. Elford as "that white devil."

WILL SALVAGE GERMAN SHIPS

Firm of English Scrap Iron Dealers Undertakes Most Hazardous and Least Profitable of Under Water Work.

LONDON, April 21.—Three deep sea salvage operations will be in full blast off the northern coast of the British Isles next week, when a firm of English scrap iron dealers begins operations of raising the vessels of the German officers opened the sea cocks of the craft and sent them to the bottom after the armistice.

Apparatus has already reached Scapa Flow for the work which has none of the certainty of reward that accompanies the quest proceeding off the Irish coast for the remainder of the Laurentic's gold, which is still there after many millions were brought up last year.

Nor has the quest the romantic interest investing Margaret Naylor's hunt or treasure in the Spanish armada ship buried in the mud of Tobermory Bay for more than three centuries.

Salvaging of scrap iron from the battle craft is the least profitable and the most hazardous venture from a commercial point of view.

The British naval authorities take no technical interest in any thing raised from the German ships, it being explained last year during salvage operations at Scapa Flow that naval science advances so rapidly that any ideas the German craft might have would be hopelessly obsolete.

"This is our first effort at salvage work," said a representative of the firm which is doing with Scapa Flow job, "We hope within eight or nine years to bring to the surface and send to our breaking yard about 2,250,000 tons of sunken vessels."

Experienced salvage divers say the firm will be lucky if it makes good its expenditure of $150,000 for hoisting apparatus.

Turks Opposing Anglo-Irak Pact

BAGDAD, April 21.—(Canadian Press) — The agitation against acceptance of the Anglo-Irak Treaty and subsidiary agreement between Great Britain and Irak indicates that the constituent Assembly will refuse to ratify all pacts unless they are substantially modified.

One of the main points of the agitators is that Great Britain fails to guarantee that the Mosul Villayet will not be surrendered to Turkey. Agitation against the treaty has been largely conducted by lawyers with King Feisal and some of his ministers attempting to counteract the campaign, but without apparent success.

It is stated that only fourteen of the one hundred deputies in the Constituent Assembly will vote for the treaty.

FRENCH FASHION RECALLS STYLE OF DIRECTOIRE

Reappearance In Easter Sunday Parade At St. Cloud Race Track — Silhouette Lines Will Not Appeal to Plump Women—Big Crowd Out

AMERICAN'S SUCCESS.

PARIS, April 21.— Easter Sunday racing at St. Cloud was marked by the re-appearance of the directoire gown, the initial success of Ogden Mills as an owner of the French turf, and the first winning mount in France in 1924 of Steve Donoghue, the English jockey, who rode Papyrus in the United States in the race which Papyrus was defeated by Zev. Donoghue is under contract to ride every Sunday in France during the season and will commute from England by the aerial route.

The directoire model is in long straight silhoutte lines and probable will not prove popular with women who admit they are plump. The gown keeps the full pleated skirt down to the smallest proportions in order to harmonize with the straight blouse that accompanies it. The dress seen to-day was in crepe de chine, chiffon and other diaphanous material, ruffled or paneled. It has sorts of embroidery triangles or small circles at the waistline, which is from two to three inches higher than the 1924 styles seen previously.

Pacific, a three year old colt ridden by an apprentice jockey named Ealing, broke the ice for Ogden Mills in the third race. Steve Donoghues' superb horsemanship was responsible for the victory of Almaviva in the feature race of the day, the colt defeating a classy field, among which was Kefalin, the 1922 Grand Prix winner. The holiday crowd was a large one, and in it were so many persons speaking English Donghue must have thought he was riding at Epsom Downs or Belmont Park. A real Anglo-Saxon cheer greeted the English jockey as he returned after the race to the paddock.

NEW SIGN-SHOP FIRM

Mr. Stanley Harris, the artist sign painter, and T. H. Boddy, expert gold and glass man, both for 12 years on Turner's sign staff, have formed a business partnership, under the name of Harris & Boddy, and are operating from the sign shop, 214 Hunter street, lately carried on by Mr. J. N. Blade, who has left this city for Toronto.

Both men are finished artisans and are prepared to give first class service on all sign work. Commercial art, art decorating, scenic painting, graining and all kinds of painting.

Mr. Harris is the holder of many diplomas won in open competition, both in England and the United States. Mr. Boddy is also a silver medallist for artistic work.

A share of your patronage is solicited. Efficient workmanship, service and satisfaction guaranteed.

Getting Away From 'Em

This certainly is getting away from cigarettes. This contraption is the latest in holders for milady. It's quite the thing in Paris now. Mlle. Edmee Dormeuil seems to be enjoying her little smoke through it.

PETERBORO PLANT MANAGER OPTIMISTIC OF THE FUTURE

Mr. Robert A. Brown, Manager Canadian Nashua Paper Co. Enthusiastic Over Canada's Resources—Business Steadily Increasing—May Manufacture Other Lines in Plant Here.

In conversation with Mr. R. A. Brown recently, The Examiner was made aware of the very satisfactory business being done by the Canadian Nashua Paper Company, of which Mr. Brown is the manager.

He stated the company was greatly pleased with business during the past six months, and are very optimistic of the future. For months past the plant has been running full time with a good deal of overtime necessary to keep pace with orders and make deliveries on time.

He is very confident that the next six months will see a real improvement in trade generally. The output of the Canadian Nashua Paper Company is practically all used as a wrapper for products of other manufacturers, and when the Peterboro plant is busy it is natural to suppose that the plants or firms for which the wrappers are made are busy also. The company experienced a fifteen per cent. increase in business last year, and to April 1st of this year an increase of twenty-three per cent.

Mr. Brown gave as his opinion that there is no limit to what Canada and Canadians could do in a commercial and manufacturing sense if they would only exhibit more confidence in themselves and in the country's resources. Canada's possibilities are immense, but too much pessimism is in evidence. He believed that if a generally optimistic view was taken of Canadian conditions by Canadians, that if all producers who have not done so would only give a year of intense study to their businesses in an effort to reduce manufacturing costs, and get maximum production, that markets could be found for everything Canada could manufacture with her present plants, and we should be able to compete with the world in most articles now made in Canada.

That the directors of the company have faith in Canada, it might be said that they are now seriously considering going into entirely new lines of manufacture, in addition to the present lines of waxed and gummed papers, which they will push with all the energy at their command.

Of the City of Peterboro, Mr. Brown speaks most highly as one of the finest small manufacturing cities he has seen, and that its location makes it ideal for marketing their product.

EVACUATION OF RUHR EXPECTED

Germans At Least Look Forward to Adequate Modification of French Military Occupation — Basis of Accepting the Experts' Report.

BERLIN, April 21. —The Berlin newspapers reproduce an interview with Chancellor Marx published in the Duesseldorf Nachrichten in which the Chancellor declared the experts emphasized the point that their representations depended upon the restoration of the fiscal and economic authority of the Reich.

"The assent of the German Government to the experts' report," continued the Chancellor, "also depends upon this hypothesis. The experts have said that their proposals depend upon the assumption that Germany's economic activity is not impeded by the supervision of any foreign organization and that existing measures insofar as they hinder this activity should be adequately modified and that consequently French military occupation of the Ruhr territory should be rescinded or adequately modified.

"The true idea of the productive pledges has been eliminated by the experts' representatives, and the Rhine and the Ruhr as a reparations province have been superceded by general pledges recommended by the experts, the object of which would have the object of freeing the Rhine and the Ruhr from the pressure put on them. These are substantially the reasons that moved the Government of the Reich to take up the standpoint of the experts' representatives."

NAVIGATION TO LAKE SUPERIOR OPENED SUNDAY

Steamers Broke Through Field of Ice and Were Locked Through Sault Ste. Marie — Vessels Moving Up and Down Inaugurate 1924 Season.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., April 21.—Navigation to Lake Superior was opened Sunday noon when both upbound and downbound steamers broke through a neck of heavy ice which had been holding them up since noon Saturday.

The field extended about five miles down from Point Iroquois and still remains intact with the exception of lanes broken by the passing steamers. The first boats to come down were the Drummond and the McKee.

The wind shifted around to the northwest yesterday and according to the captain of the "Thos. Barlum" considerable ice was being driven back into Whitefish Bay. The weather has turned colder with occasional snow flurries.

No trouble is being experienced in the lower river.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., April 21.—Navigation through St. Mary's River was opened at nine o'clock Saturday morning when the Steamer "Squire" blew for the Sabin Lock. She was closely followed by the "G. O. Jenkins" who entered the lock with her. At some distance behind the two light boats came the Wickwire with coal for the Algoma Steel docks, followed by the Goodyear.

The fleet was brought through the ice by the tug General from Detour. The heaviest ice was encountered near Point Aux Frene. Little trouble was experienced in Mud Lake. The steamer "Fitch" arrived at the Soo at two-thirty Saturday afternoon looking up immediately and followed the Jenkins and Squire up the Lake. The latter three steamers are bound for Fort William for grain.

LEAVE FORT WILLIAM

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., April 21—With the clearing of the McKee and Drummond on the 17th and the Thomas Barlum Saturday, outward bound, navigation has been opened for the season. There are eleven other boats to leave which wintered here and these will all be away from the port within the next two or three days. Some of them have yet to take on a few thousand bushels of grain to complete their full cargoes.

G. N. GORDON IS FIRM OPTIMIST

"Business Expansion is Quite Certain" Federal Member Declares — C. P. R. May Build Station

Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., told The Examiner to-day that he expected the building of freight sheds, of extensive proportion, for the Canadian National Railways at Peterboro would be commenced about the first of May.

He said he thought that this was one of the benefits that had come from Sir Henry Thornton's visit to the city.

According to Mr. Gordon, there are some very good signs that the C. P. R. may build its new station before next fall, although Mr. Gordon said he had no definite information as to this, except what he had heard from officials.

The Federal member intimated that he felt confident this was going to be a good building year for this city, and that business expansion is quite certain.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE PLAY WAS BIG SUCCESS

The P.C.I. Literary Society's play, "The Charm School," was a success in every way. The receipts, which go to aid the Rugby team and the different sporting organizations of the school, reached the sum of nearly two hundred dollars.

The caste and those who took a part in aiding the success of the play were tendered a banquet and dance at the school Thursday evening. Nearly fifty students were present.

Mr. C. S. Browne, the business manager of the play gave out his statement at the banquet. The following were prize-winners in the ticket-selling competition: First Form, Grace Simpson; Second Form George Noftall; Third Form, Helen Throupe; Fourth Form, Harry Ebbs. Bonuses, Allan Neal and Ross Lord. Harry Ebbs was successful in selling the greatest value of tickets.

HALIFAX, April 21.—(Canadian Press).— Anchor Liner Columbia, one of three liners arriving over the week end, landed a party of forty seven boys and sixteen girls from orphan homes at Bridge of Weir, Scotland, en route to Fairknowe home Brockville, Ont. The boys are to be placed on farms in Ontario and the girls are to enter domestic service. The children are from fourteen to seventeen years of age.

"DAUGHTER OF JAIRUS" PRESENTED YESTERDAY

The evening services at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church last night were marked by the rendition by the choir, under direction of Mr. Martin Chenhall, A.R.C.O., of the Easter cantata, "The Daughter of Jairus," by Sir John Stainer. This cantata, which is unusual in its arrangement and contains much difficult work, was ably presented by the choir, and much enjoyed by a large and appreciative congregation.

The outstanding numbers were the famous duett, "'Love Divine," rendered by Miss Greta LeBarr and Mr. A. McKeown, also the well-known and difficult tenor solo, "My Hope is in the Everlasting," taken by Mr. C. F. Clarke. The chorus of women, "Sweet Tender Flower, Born But For an Hour"; the men's chorus, "In the death of a man there is no remedy, and the full choral numbers, "Awake, thou that sleepest," and "To Him Who left His Throne on high," were all sung in excellent voice. Leading solos were taken by Miss LeBarr, while Mrs. W. J. Byers and Mr. G. C. Roy, baritone, also were heard in solo numbers. Assisting in quartette selections were Miss Jean Berbison, Mr. M. Chenhall and Mr. A. Donnelly.

FARMER MAKES CAPITAL FROM MIRE AT WELCOME

Automobile travellers by way of Welcome on Saturday found the road blocked by an almost impassable mud hole, and a score or more of cars were mired. A farmer living near the blockade, motorists say, hauled unfortunate cars out for a fee of $3, and one motorist counted sixteen cars awaiting attention at one time. Gerald Rackham, on his way here from Toronto, after waiting until the road was clear of stalled cars rejected the farmer's offered assistance and crossed the mud hole under his own power.

CHIMNEY FIRES.

Chimney fires were plentiful over the holiday. On Saturday at noon, within 46 minutes the Fire Department had answered three calls to chimney fires. The first alarm was received at 12.46 for a fire caused by overheated pipes at 62 Murray Street.

The next call was seven minutes later to a chimney fire at 305 George Street. Chemicals were used and no damage was done.

Thirty-nine minutes later the third alarm was received and the fire fighters responded to a fire caused by overheated pipes at 68 Sophia Street.

For the rest of the day things were very quiet, but yesterday at 12.35, about the time when most of the calls for chimney and overheated pipe alarms are received, they were called out to 242 Munroe Avenue to a chimney and overheated pipe fire. No damage was done in any case.

MACDONALD BELIEVES IN FUTURE OF PARTY

Labor Government is Doing Its Best in Helping World to New Frame of Mind.

YORK, Eng., April 21.—(Canadian Press,) Prime Minister MacDonald told the Independent Labor Party Conference here to-day that the Labor government was doing its best but would not necessarily always come up to expectations of the party he was addressing.

Mr. MacDonald said he did not know how long the Labor cabinet was going to be in office.

"And I don't very much care," he added, "so long as we do good work We are helping the world to a new [illegible] of mind and getting people to see that a different viewpoint may be to their benefit. And so long as we do that we are perfectly willing to go on.

GOVERNMENT WILL PAY PART OF THE COST OF CAMPBELLFORD BRIDGE

Major J. F. B. Belford Received This Assurance Before Prorogation —Estimated Cost is $20,000 and Government Pledges $8000.

FIELD DAY

CAMPBELLFORD, April 21. — Major J. F. B. Belford, M.L.A. for East Northumberland, who has returned to his home near Codrington, told The Examiner on Saturday that before the Legislature adjourned he had received assurance from the Government that when Campbellford builds a new bridge over the Trent River the Department of Highways will pay 40 per cent. of the cost. The Major said he did not know just what changes in the regulations would be made to permit the payment of this grant, but that he had the official pledge that the money would be forthcoming when the work was undertaken.

This announceemnt marks the end of an agitation to secure a grant that has been carried on for a year or more, and means that the deputation of town and county officials who waited on the Government last winter succeeded in their mission.

The estimated cost of a new bridge of a modern type—the superstructure only being required as the abutments are still good—is $20,000, according to a Toronto engineer. This means that the Government will pay $8,000 of that amount. Of the remaining $12,000 Campbellford will pay $3,000, and the counties of Northumberland and Durham the balance.

By securing this grant Major Belford has saved to his constituents his entire sessional indemnity many times over.

Campbellford's Field Day.

The Publicity Committee of the Agricultural Society held a meeting in the office of Secretary J. Nelson Stone Saturday night and arranged further details of the celebration which will be held here on May 23rd. There will be three horse races, a 2.15, a 2.20 and a 2.30 class, a baseball game between Lakefield and Campbellford, a football game between a team from Peterboro and a local eleven, and a tug-of-war, the contestants in this event being teams from Seymour and Percy Townships. This trial of strength is likely to prove one of the most interesting on the programme, as both townships are already prepared for the fray. Out at Burn brae they have a team, captained by J. A. Stewart, that has a long team of victories to its credit. Warkworth, too, has a team that won the championship at the Roseneath Fair last year, and these two are likely to fight it out for the honors on May 23rd here.

Nervous Musician Enchanted Lions

BERLIN, April 21. — If Dr. Max Sostaric is as successful in silencing the music critics with his cornet playing as he was in taming Hagenbeck's lions, he should have a great career on the concert stage. The doctor, who is a natural scientist, as well as a cornet virtuoso, recently decided he would overcome stage fright for all time by giving a concert in a lion's cage in Hamburg.

Hagenbeck's lion tamers declined to assume responsibility for his safety, but finally consented to let him enter a circus den of lions at his own risk. As he began to play the lions at first exhibited surprise and sniffed at him suspiciously, but when he began his triple-tonguing feats on the horn they stood spellbound, and finally retreated in defeat to the corners of the cage.

SPECIAL EASTER SERVICES THROUGHOUT THE DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD, April 21. — Special Easter services were held in all the churches yesterday. St. Andrew's church was beautifully decorated with ferns and Easter lilies, these having been provided by the Ladies' Aid and arranged by Mrs. Alfred Hay and Miss E. Buchanan.

Both morning and evening there was special music by the choir, a new departure being a precessional hymn at each service, that in the morning being "Jesus Christ Has Risen to-day" and the selection for the evening being hymn No 216 from the Book of Praise.

Rev. C. F. McIntosh preached Easter sermons basing his morning discourse on the scene at the Holy Sepulchre when Mary, her heart bowed down with grief and her eyes blinded by tears mistook her risen Lord for the gardeners. In the evening the pastor dealt with the early Christians who "rejoiced because they were thought worthy to suffer shame for His name." The services in the morning dealt chiefly with the resurrection and in the evening with ascension. There was a large attendance morning and evening among the worshippers being a large number from other places spending their holiday with friends and relations here.

Hastings Methodist Church.

The special Easter services held on Sunday in the Methodist Church were very helpful and interesting, both to young and old. The morning service was largely attended, and was very much varied from the one usually held. The members of the Mission to the number of about forty occupied the seats in the choir loft, and in front of the choir rail tiny chairs were placed for the little tots.

Six choruses and hymns were rendered; a reading, "The Easter Missionary," was given by Marvin Preston; a solo, "Easter Bells," was sung by Irene Sargeant; a recitation entitled "A Little Loving Word," was given by Rea Preston; Madeline Bands sang "Here and There," and Velma Oliver and Christina Stinson recited alternate verses on "What Is Easter?"

A baptismal service was also held, two babies being baptised.

The evening service was in charge of the W. M. S. and the Circle Girls. Miss Helen Cairns, of Campbellford, gave a very interesting address on "The Call of Missions," and the Circle Girls rendered an Easter chorus. Apart from this the usual order of service was held.

SUES HUSBAND WHO TOOK BOOZE TO BED WITH HIM

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 21.—Has a husband the right to take his liquor to bed with him?

Mrs. Belle Ballentine, a Sacramento bride of a few months, says no and has brought suit for divorce here against G. A. Ballentine.

Mrs. Ballentine claims that her husband took his bottle to bed and imbibed freely almost every night. When she protestd, Ballentine told her to find a new bed, she asserts.

More cars were loaded with freight during 1923 than ever before in the records of American railroading.

HASTINGS ROAD LAMPS REFERRED TO COUNTY

Lighting of Highway Outside Campbellford Discussed At Joint Meeting of Town and Township Representatives--County Expected to Assume the Cost.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 21. — A joint meeting of representatives of the town council, the Seymour township council and the members of the Water and Light Commission was held for the purpose of considering the question of lighting the Hastings road from the town limits to the grove near the residence of A. S. Free. The special committee appointed by the town council to attend the conference, consisted of Deputy-reeve Dorie, chairman, and Councillors Kingston and McDonald. The members of the Seymour council present were Reeve Van Volkenburg, Deputy-reeve Nelson and Councillor McKelvie. Mayor Meyers occupied the chair.

There is a sharp curve in the Hastings road at Beatty's grove and this has always been regarded as a danger point in the thoroughfare, especially after night. The matter of lighting it was brought up some time ago by the township council.

There was a long discussion on the question of meeting the expense of the proposed extension. It is estimated that the poles and wires required would cost $126 and that the lights, to be provided by the municipal plant would mean a further outlay of $30 a year.

It was proposed that half the cost be borne by the town and the balance by the township, but to this suggestion Deputy-reeve Dorie objected, claiming that the town should not be required to pay anything, the improvement being a matter that interested the entire county.

The upshot of the discussion was that, on motion of Reeve Van Volkenburg and Councillor Kingston, Clerk McGregor was instructed to write Reeve M. J. Elliott, of Bowmanville, chairman of the county roads commission, calling his attention to the matter, as it was held that the Hastings road is a part of the county highway system. The other members of this commission are Warden Fowlds of Hastings, and Reeve Hartt, of Murray township.

Commission Meets.

After this matter had been disposed of, the joint meeting adjourned and the water and light commission held a session, the main question discussed being the construction of a new transmission line on the east side of the river. It transpired that the commission, by virtue of a by-law passed in 1907, has authority to erect poles and string wires when required through the township from the power house to the town. Preparations are now in progress for the building of this extion of the system and Engineer Scott was authoriezd to purchase supplies required for the purpose.

On motion of Mayor Meyers and Caddy the managers of St. Andrew's church were given a flat rate of $1.00 a month for the electric heater which they use for heating water for social functions.

The number of hydrants in the town has almost doubled within the past few yeares, while the rental paid by the town to the water department has remained the same, $500 a year. The commission went on record as in favour of increasing the rent in proportion, but it was pointed out that the town would lose nothing by this arrangement, as the increase would be applied to a reduction in the charge for street lighting.

For some time it has been recognized that Engineer Plummer of the waterworks department, has too much to do. The underwriters' inspector in his report of his official visit here, stated that the engineer should not be required to leave the fire hall to attend to outside duties. On motion of Mayor Meyers and Commissioner Caddy, Engineer Scott was directed to write Engineer Plummer, notifying him that for the present he would be allowed an additional $300 with which to procure assistance, until a regular assistant can be engaged, when the $300 will be applied on the latter's salary. This arrangement is to date from April 15th last.

Engineer Scott, who uses his own car in the discharge of his duties, will be alolwed $10 a month for upkeep from April to November.

RAGGED HOBOES SAVED SIX LIVES FROM FIRE

LA GRANGE, Ill., April 21.—(Canadian Press).—Twelve ragged hoboes, arrested by city authorities as vagrants and put to work on streets, saved the lives of six patients during fire at La Grange Sanitarium on Saturday.

The men were being taken to work and were passing the sanitarium when flames burst forth. Leaving their guard the prisoners rushed into the burning building and worked side by side with the hospital attendants in removing the patients.

"You can't keep men like that in jail," The La Grange Chief of Police said in freeing the twelve men, each with a $2 bonus in his pocket."

WAR MINISTER IN SOVIET'S AFFAIRS

MOSCOW, April 21. — (Canadian Press).—After an absence of nearly six months from all participation in Soviet affairs, Leon Trotsky, Soviet War Minister, has re-entered public life with an energetic and aggressive spirit which has surprised his friends who are aware of his frail health. He has addressed numerous political meetings at Tiflis, Baku, Kharkov and elsewhere, and yesterday he spoke before the Congress of Physical Culture Instructors, emphasizing the need of higher physical development in Red troops so as to enable them to combat the armies of bourgeois countries more effectively.

In the course of a long speech at Tiflis, M. Trotsky referred to the fact that the United States and France have not yet recognized Russia. He described France as pursuing a system of wilful blackmail toward Russia.

"The United States is a most democratic country, which plunged into this Imperialistic war without idealistic stimulation," said Trotsky, "It has become a colossal tower of babel and is trying to digest in its stomach all the huge gains it realized from the war."

BOXING

The city boxing championship will be held on Monday and Tuesday of next week, and entries will be received up to Friday night, April 25th. Full information may be had from the Boxing Committee at the training quarters at the G.W.V.A. Hall to-night, Wednesday night and able to announce Buff's opponent early this week. Cutt did not relish the stand taken by the crowd when he met Jordan and was given the decision after five rounds, and the Rochester boxers will be here for several days' training in preparation for Monday night's bouts.

The city championships will be decided on Monday and Tuesday, and, every bout will be of unusual interest.

AMERICAN ACT AWAKES ANGER

Japanese Press Condemns Exclusion As An Insult

TOKIO, April 21.— (Canadian Press.) —Manuel Quezon, heading the Philippine mission, states he is thoroughly in sympathy with Japa regarding the American exclusion act, and condemns the action of the Senate as a gross mistake. The mission is being entertained ashore by Japanese.

The press is more outspoken and generally abuses the Senate. Masami Oishi, veteran politician, is widely quoted to the effect that "Japan must fight the issue with the sword of justice." He reminded the nation that Japan once faced 17 powers, fighting treaty revision, wherein the Japanese stand was boldly maintained. "Japan has to deal with only one power now," he declares.

The first violence is reported from Kobe, where a drunken laborer attacked the Peruvian consul, mistaking him for an American. Consul floored his attacker, taking a knife from him.

The four political parties of Japan held meetings yesterday and adopted resolutions of protest against the Japanese exclusion legislation passed by the United States Congress.

Resolutions of the Kakushin Club state that exclusion fosters racial hostility.

Kenseikai resolved that "the immigration legislation is an open insult to Japan.

The Seiyjkai, principal opposition party, blamed the government for the present complications. Seyuhonto, supporting the government, expressed hope that the [illegible] clause in the U. S. bill would not become law.

MAKING MONEY MAKE MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

A life insurance educational policy will provide your child with money for a college education.

The problem of having a fund ready for use when the child is ready for college is a real problem for most parents.

One way is to open a straight savings account and estimate the amount necessary to be deposited each month to have the required amount by the time the child is ready for college. Then to deposit the estimated amount each month

Another plan which has attractive features is the new educational policy being offered by some of the life insurance companies. Under this plan a certain premium is paid yearly to guarantee, for instance, a fund of $4,000. This fund to be paid in four installments, beginning at the time the beneficiary reaches college age. Under this plan, should the father die after paying only the first premium his son or daughter is assured of a fund for a college education, and the same is true, of course, if the father lives.

USE BREAD.

When cooking cabbage or cauliflower, drop a piece of hard, stale bread into the water just as it starts to boil and let it stay for about 10 minutes before you skim it out. Much of the objectionable odor will have been absorbed by it.

Dishwashing—with dainty hands

NOT possible, you say? Perhaps it wasn't, before Lux was discovered for dishwashing. But now, Lux, with its instant soapy suds, not only cleans your dishes thoroughly, but is as easy on the hands as the finest toilet soap.

Ordinary soaps or washing powders are too hard on the skin, making it rough and red. The ingredients in Lux are helpful—to the hands and skin—the Lux suds if constantly used will keep the skin smooth as Nature intended. You can do your own dishes, and not be ashamed of your hands, because they will never show that they have been in the dishpan.

Just a single teaspoonful is sufficient for your breakfast or lunch dishes—you may possibly have to use two teaspoonfuls for your dinner dishes. Try it just once. You will be so delighted that you will want to use it always.

Your hands will show improvement at once. Keep a package of Lux handy on your kitchen shelf. Use it for all your dishes.

Lux is economical for all dish-washing. One packet contains sufficient for 54 dish-washings—nearly all the dishes for three weeks.

LUX

Lux is sold only in sealed packets—dustproof!

VOTE "YES."

His Worship Mayor Turner and Ald. J. W. Meyers, Chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, have issued a statement to the citizens in which the advantages to be gained in passing the C.G.E. bylaw on Wednesday are clearly and effectively set forth.

The Examiner advises every citizen who is eligible to vote to read this statement carefully, feeling that it will be impossible to do so without coming to the conclusion that the city's interests demand a favourable vote.

The City Council—the represenatives of the people—as a unit is advising the passing of this measure.

Large property owners and other representative citizens are also urging support for the bylaw as an investment that will bring splendid returns.

If for no other reason than that it will give a much needed impetus to employment and business in Peterborough there should not be an unfavorable ballot cast.

As Ald. Crowe in his letter to the Examiner puts it, "the proposed enlargement will start a healthy circulation in our industrial life and will begin a sharp movement from the valley of depression to the hill of prosperity."

Vote "yes" on Wednesday and you'll vote for Peterborough.

OUR FUTURE CITIZENS.

If the boy has a chance, there will be less disgruntled men. In these days of radical thought and disturbing propaganda, the education of youth, and particularly those who are under-privileged, is an important factor in maintaining stable social conditions, says the Financial Post. This is appreciated by such far-sighted industrial leaders as President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific, who has taken a very large interest in the establishment of the farm for under-privileged boys at Shawbridge, Quebec.

Ontario is to have a similarly organized school for boys at Bowmanville. This project will have the full financial support of the Provincial Government, but Premier Ferguson is seeking the co-operation of service clubs and the patronage of business men such as has been accorded the Shawbridge school by Mr. Beatty.

At a meeting of representatives of business organizations in Toronto this week, Premier Ferguson declared that "we cannot legislate boys into righteousness" and asked the help of the business community. Mr. Beatty endorsed the plan, emphasizing that "we cannot absolve ourselves from the responsibility that the maintenance of knowledge and intelligence among the people as a whole must be kept at the highest point if unstable, unbalanced tendencies are not to be developed in the community."

If we can show to the newer generation that the hope of the country lies in individual effort and individual success and that there are opportunities for all, the propagandists and trouble makers can be very largely defeated. Mr. Beatty and those who emulate him are doing a very important work.

STOPPED TOO SOON.

In spite of Premier Ferguson's declaration that the guilty parties will be sought out and punished regardless of their political affiliations, there seems to be a general opinion that it is most unfortunate that the sittings of the Public Accounts Committee have come to an end.

There are so many loose ends in connection with the inquiry that a pause at this stage of the proceedings is regarded as a mistake.

If it were not feasible for the committee to continue its sittings a royal commission might have been given the power to continue the probe until every last possible channel of information had been explored.

Not only are there many things in regard to the financial administration of Ontario's affairs that need explanation, but the statements concerning other departments are far from reassuring, and the public is in a mood to demand that the light be thrown on every angle of the Provincial administration.

The Public Accounts Committee will not be convened until the next session.

Surely these scandals are not to be left for a year without any attempt to get at the bottom of the mess.

Public confidence will be shaken by the fact that the probe has been wound up at the present stage, and the failure to find what became of a large sum that was apparently paid out through the general manager of the Home Bank in commissions before the U.F.O. Government came into power has left the inference open that the Government is not so anxious to get at the facts of what happened before Peter Smith's regime as it was to reveal the financial episode that came afterward.

And inferences of that kind do not help to strengthen confidence in the present administration.

SAY IT WITH YOUR CAR.

In connection with other Motor Show parades it has been remarked with a good deal of truth that there were more people out with cars to see the parade than there were car owners public-spirited enough to fall in line.

It should not be possible to make that charge in regard to Wednesday night's parade, which will start the 1924 show on its way to triumphal success.

There are hundreds of cars in commission in Peterborough at the present time, and there is no reason except pure indifference and selfishness why they should not all be in the procession on this occasion.

The citizen who realizes what the Health Association is doing in Peterborough and is concious of how much its activities are dependent upon the financial success of the Motor Show should appreciate, too, how much depends upon the automobile parade as the initial event in the programme.

And having done that he should have no difficulty in convincing himself that it is his duty as a member of the community so well served by the Health Association to contribute his quota to the success of the parade.

That can be done best by decorating his car—and if that cannot be easily attended to by getting into line with the other car owners and help make the procession a lengthy and representative one that in itself will show that the whole community is behind the Motor Show, and be symbolic of the co-operative effort that is being made to furnish the Health Association with sufficient sinews of war to carry on its full activities during the year.

Say it with your car on Wednesday night.

SIR GEORGE FOSTER.

Sir George Foster was announced a short time ago as coming to Peterborough to address a local audience upon the important subject, "The League of Nations," and the Examiner commended the lecture as one of prime importance.

A postponement was, however, necessary for a week or two, but the venerable Senator is coming this week, and will speak at the Capitol Theatre on Wednesday night at 7.30, the meeting being called for this early hour in order not to interfere with attendance at the Motor Show.

The reputation of Sir George Foster as an orator and the importance of the subject upon which he will speak should result in an audience that will tax the accommodation at the theatre.

Canada has already contributed over $800,000 as her share of the expenses of the League of Nations.

That in itself should be sufficient reason for a Canadian audience to take advanage of an opportunity such as this to learn something about the composition of the league, its objects, its accomplishments so far and what it can be counted upon to accomplish in the future.

Before long we will have paid a million dollars into the league's treasury.

What benefits have we obtained from that investment?

What ontribution toward the welfare of the world does it represent?

Has the league been successful enough in carrying out its programme to warrant Canada continuing to pay out large sums towards its maintenance?

Questions such as these suggest themselves, and no doubt Sir George Foster, one of the few Canadians to intelligently study and grasp world problems, will deal with them during his Peterborough address.

It should not be missed.

STIRRING UP THE ASIATIC TIGER.

It is simply amazing with what unconsidered carelessness happy children at play—or politicians playing to local prejudices—will tease a sleeping tiger!

Even when the tiger shows signs of arousing from his slumber, they regard it as "impertinence" on his part—a departure from the long-settled order of things which must be briskly rebuked—"the tiger" must be reminded to whom he is talking.

Our American neighbors—this being election year—are making really horrific faces at Japan. Inevitably a British Columbian member of Parliament finds it necessary to cry, "Me too." He can never let his constituents imagine that he is less alert and bellicose in the defence of their interests than Californian Congressmen are in purging the Pacific slope of Asiatic contamination.

Mr. Neill, our Jap-baiter, is quite as logical in his arguments as are his American prototypes. He says that the action of the United States in putting a high tariff on our wheat and cattle is precisely the same sort of "discrimination" against us that a law forbidding the immigration of Japanese into Canada would be against Japan. There doesn't seem to be much use reasoning with a mind that works like that. The Americans do not try to keep out our wheat and cattle because they are "inferior" or for any other reason humiliating to us. As a matter of fact, our wheat is admitted to be superior.

Yet it is precisely on the insulting, stinging, humiliating ground of "inferiority" that this Continent excludes the Asiatic.

* * * *

That is, indeed, the whole question.

Japan does not want her laboring classes to come to either the United States or Canada. She does not want to lose them. She is quite as distressed at the thought of an "exodus" of her people as we are. She has territories under her own flag near at home to which she greatly desires to direct her excess population. She has proven by the vigilant enforcement of her "gentlemen's agreements" with both Canada and th United States that she sincerely wishes to keep her "man power" within her own Empire. And even if she hadn't so proven it, surely the very accusation of Imperialistic ambition which is commonly brought against her would suggest as an inevitable corollary that she would be likely to strain every nerve to hold her fighting men at home.

The sole reason why she so bitterly resents discrimination against her nationals as "Asiatics"—that is, inferiors—is the reason constantly given by her statesmen, i.e., that she is "a proud nation." Mr. Neill says that this talk of "a proud nation" nauseates him. That is simply prodigious coming from a scion of the proudest nation in the world. However, whether or not Mr. Neill is nauseated by finding that there is another proud nation at large, Japan is not only proud, but highly sensitive—which is quite natural in view of her recent rise from Asiatic helplessness to the proud position of being a peer of the Great Powers of the West.

It is surely obvious that there is just one thing to do with a nation like Japan—a nation whose people cannot be allowed to colonize on this Continent and yet a nation which we ought not dare to insult, unless we are crazy. That one thing is to try to get its Government to agree to keep its own people at home. In this we succeeded some time ago, as the Americans did; and it is impossible to find language to characterize the stupidity of tearing up so precious an agreement and wantonly slapping Japan across the face with an insulting exclusion law.—Montreal Star.

Starting the day out wrong is a pet diversion with lots of people. Of course, there can be something physically wrong that needs attention.

But, for the average person, there is no reason for the "wrong side of the bed" stunt.

The art of getting up in the morning is no mean art, and is practiced all too little.

First of all, roll over, stretching in bed, getting all the contractions limbered up. Then like like a spoiled child. It'll muss the bedclothes a little, but it will help start the day. What little extra work it causes, the wife will be more than compensated by the disposition.

Sit up and then dance around the room a little, on one foot and then on another. Do a brisk series of exercises, preferably those that will help the abdomen and diaphragm; bending exercises, leaning exercises, and breathing exercises.

Don't over-exercise! Be careful not to have tiring exercise in the morning. Just enough to get a good Do this, and in a few mo

Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, Director of the Life Extension Institute, Advises Office Men to Walk About to Get Proper Exercise.

NEW YORK, April 21. — Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, medical director of the Life Extension Institute, sailed on the Rochambeau for a six-week visit abroad during which he will consult with medical authorities in France and England about the establishment there of institutions similar to the Life Extension.

Dr. Fisk said the idea had been discussed in Europe considerably of late. He attributed this interest to the war, which he said had made broad minded men seek every possible way to repair its ravages in man power, and had demonstrated through service examinations, a high percentage of physicals defects that could be eradicated.

This trip will be Dr. Fisk's first extensive "vacation" since the work of the Life Extension Institute was begun eleven years ago.

"I am taking my own prescription," he said, "for I have always said that work is the best conditioner in the world, provided a man will act sensibly about it. If a man will give proper attention to health precautions, this tale about breaking down through overwork need never be told."

In Dr. Fisk's office are a pair of dumbbells. Asked whether he used them during his working hours, he said:

"Yes, whenever I have a spare moment I shift them about a little," he said. "But I go further. I am always looking for a natural way to use my muscles. I have a call bell here for my secretary, but I seldom use it. When I want a thing I jump up and get it myself. I try to cultivate what I call muscle-hunger.

"If the average man would do that instead of sitting in his chair all day he would be surprised at the result. We are made up of some 400 muscles evolved through centuries of physical activity. Unless we use them they will deteriorate. If you will figure up what could be done by the average man in twenty or thirty years of office work in that way, you will understand why he will be better off in the end than the man who sits in a chair all week and then thinks he is taking 'exercise' when he plays golf for a couple of hours on Saturday or Sunday."

Dr. Fisk's remarks gained emphasis from the fact that he is in appearance a typical professional man with no suggestion of the physical culture faddist about him.

Learn how millions get whiter teeth

This offers a delightful test which will bring a new conception of what clean teeth mean.

It means whiter, cleaner, safer teeth, such as millions now enjoy. See what it brings to you.

The war on film

Dental science is now fighting film — the cause of most tooth troubles.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth. Under old methods of tooth brushing, much of it remains.

It becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats. That is why so many teeth look cloudy.

Film also causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

These troubles became almost universal when that film was left on teeth.

Modern research has discovered two effective film combatants. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Tests have proved that these methods mean a new era in teeth cleaning. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Now the use of Pepsodent has spread the world over, largely by dental advice.

Look at what Pepsodent does

The use of Pepsodent will bring at once a new conception of clean teeth.

It does more than fight film. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, which is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the ptyalin in saliva, which is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.

These combined effects will be a revelation to you.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

Compare the new way with the old, then decide for yourself what is best. Cut out coupon now.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

VOTE FOR THE C. G. E. BYLAW

ALD R. MORRISON.

To the Editor of Examiner.

Sir,—The extension bylaw for the Canadian General Electric Company will mean extending the fixed assessment under the present bylaw, which has about six and a half years to run, to ten years, an extension of about three and a half years.

The company is assessed for municipal purposes, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and for school purposes, an additional $1,102,280. They pay nineteen thousand, one hundred and thirty-seven dollars in taxes each year.

The new building will be exempt from municipal taxes during the period the proposed bylaw covers, but the company will be assessed for it for school purposes and will pay more school taxes.

By passing the bylaw the new building will be secured, and also further expansion in equipment, and additional taxes will be paid by the company. We should give the bylaw a large majority.

Yours truly,
R. MORRISON.

ALD. E. M. TURNER

To the editor of The Examiner,

Sir,— There can be no question about the importance of the Works of the Canadian General Electric Company to Peterborough, when the fact, is considered that the wage fact is considered, that the wages paid by the company in the first three months of this year amounted to over $400,000.00 and that at the same rate they will amount to nearly a million and three quarter dollars during this year, which amply demonstrates their importance to the city.

The new building that will be built and the new machinery that will be installed, if the By-law is carried next Wednesday, will increase the value of the works to the city. Mr. Patterson said at the Chamber of Commerce meeting that this expansion would require one hundred additional employees, which of itself would be a good-sized factory.

Looking farther into the future, however, makes the passage of the By-law more important, for when the company under the new control by the General Electric Company of the United States begins its expansion in Canada it will no doubt place its future additions. We want these future additions in Peterborough, as well as the present one, because with the full force of the engineering and sales forces of the United States company behind it the Canadian company has bright prospects for the future. Mr. Patterson said that they expected the works to be conducted to their capacity, and the products that would not be sold in Canada would be exported. With this in view much larger growth may be confidently expected. To secure the present extension and especially looking to the future, we should show our goodwill and desire to have the company extend and enlarge its works here by giving the By-law a large majority.

Yours truly,
E. M. TURNER.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 19.—Influenced largely by predictions that in some form the McNary-Haugen Bill would become a law, wheat scored a decided upturn in price to-day. The market closed, nervous, 1 3-8c to 1 7-8c net higher. May $1.04 5-8 to $1.04 3-4 and July $1.06 5-8 to $1.06 3-4, with corn unchanged to 1-2c up; oats ranging from 1-8 and 1-4c decline to 1-88c advance and provisions at a shade to 7c gain.

QUAKES IN DERBYSHIRE.

LONDON, April 21 (Canadian Press.) — Earth tremors were again felt in the Alfreton district of Derbyshire shortly after noon yesterday.

The mining towns of South Normanton and Pinxton experienced the greatest shocks.

The quakes were similar to a bomb explosion, and several chimneys were thrown down.

IRON PRODUCTION HIGHER IN MARCH

Increase of 17,000 Tons or 28 Per Cent. In Canadian Industry—Quarterly Cutput Is Also Up.

OTTAWA, April 21.—(Canadian Press).—Production of pig iron in Canada during March amounted to 77,000 gross tons, an increase of 17,000 tons or 28 per cent. over the 60,000 tons produced in February. The output consisted 49,000 tons of basic pig iron, nearly all of which was intended for the use of producing firms and 28,000 tons of foundry iron most of which was intended for sale. The production of basic pig iron marked an increase of 8,000 tons, or 47 per cent. over the output of this grade in the previous month, and marked a decided advance over the February outputs in each of the last three years.

The cumulative production for the first quarter of the current year amounted to 201,000 tons divided by grades as follows:—Basic 130,000 tons; Foundry 62,000 tons; Malleable Iron 9,000 tons. The average monthly production for the first quarter of the current year was 67,000 tons which exceeded the average outputs for the corresponding periods in the last three years when the average production was: 1923, 50,000 tons; 1922, 36,000 tons; and 1921 53,000 tons.

SUDDEN DEATHS OVER WEEK-END

Two Burned, One Poisoned by Gas, and Death of Child of 6 Will Be Investigated.

TORONTO, April 21. Canadian Press. — Two persons died from burns in the hospital on Sunday. One man was found dead in bed from illuminating gas poisoning, while a fourth death reported to the police was that of a man who died suddenly under circumstances that the coroner believes warrants an investigation.

When her clothing was ignited by matches she was playing with in her home on John street, at noon on Sunday, Lilian Friendly, aged three years, was so badly burned she died in the hospital for sick children.

Edward K. Tracey, aged 38 years, succumbed in St. Joseph's Hospital, on Sunday morning, to burns sustained on Saturday, when his clothing became ignited in the home of his mother, St. Clarens avenue. Tracey was cleaning hardwood floors with gasoline. The pieces of the rag that he was using to scrub the floor with became ignited from a fire in the coal grate.

With gas escaping from a small gas stove, in a room in which he was sleeping in a house on John street, Charles Milne, aged 55, was found dead on Sunday morning.

Coroner J. H. McConnell is investigating the sudden death yesterday morning of James Cameron, aged 6, of Euclid Avenue. Cameron was admitted to the hospital on Sunday morning.

Three hundred tons of the best rag paper are used in producing one year's supply of British stamps.

The largest king crab ever caught measured 19 feet from tip to tip of his claws.

Restaurant Scene of Unemployed's Suicide.

MONTREAL, April 21.—Pulling a revolver from his pocket as he sat at a table in an uptown cafe early this morning, a man so far unidentified shot himself through the forehead inflicting a wound which resulted in his death at the General Hospital at noon. A search of his pockets revealed a letter addressed to the Coroner, stating that he was out of work, had no money or friends and so had made up his mind to end it all He appeared to be about 30 years of age. He died without telling any thing about himself.

MATTHEWS' WHEREABOUTS ARE STILL SOUGHT FOR

TORONTO, April 21. Canadian Press. — The Provincial Government authorities who for the last several weeks have been most intimately connected with the work of the Public Accounts Committee, and matters arising therefrom, stated last night that there have been no new developments over the Easter holidays.

Attorney-General Nickle in whose hands the matter now largely rests, is out of the city, and will not return until Tuesday.

Provincial Treasurer Price said that he knew of no new developments in the matter of the return of Former Assistant Treasurer C. A. Matthews, and that Crown Officers were still looking into the evidence.

Land Toads Jump from Hot Islands
A Lesson for Business Men

SCIENCE offers many illustrations that may be applied to business.

For example, consider the remarkable discovery of Prof. Paul Kammerer, of the University of Vienna, in respect to toads, as told in the daily press.

It appears that there is a horny pad found only on water-loving toads and absent on land toads.

Prof. Kammerer took land toads and placed them in an aquarium in which there were artificial islands.

Then, he heated these little islands and forced the land toads to jump into the water in order to cool off.

Gradually, these land toads deserted the uncomfortable islands and took to living in the water all the time.

In three or four generations, the horny pads of the water toads appeared on these descendants of the land toads.

Prof. Paul Kammerer proved that living creatures adapt themselves to changing conditions and transmit the changes to their descendants.

Similar in the Human World

A somewhat similar condition exists to-day among the human creatures of the business world, as existed with Prof. Kammerer's toads.

Business is undergoing changing conditions.

Instead of fairly easy selling at good prices, many manufacturers are, to-day, faced with a competition that is growing steadily stronger.

Old competitors have grown financially more powerful and more aggressive. New competitors have entered the field, determined to get a share of the business. And other industries, not direct competitors, are making a big bid for a larger share of the public's money, which, of course, must be divided up among all businesses, the most aggressive getting the lion's share.

Men Feel Heat

These men feel the heat of this increasing competition making their industrial "islands" mighty uncomfortable. Yet, they hesitate to jump.

It took the land toad three or four generations to develop the horny pad suitable to its new environment.

It may take the business man three or four years after he has plunged into the sea of advertising before he develops his horny pads of prestige and good-will and becomes a successful national advertiser.

But, as soon as he takes the plunge, he will, like the toads, become to feel more comfortable. And the more whole-heartedly he swims, the better and quicker the results.

The more he advertises, the stronger he advertises and the longer he advertises, the cooler, more secure and more comfortable becomes his position, and the more prominent and valuable become his horny pads of prestige and goodwill.

Business men who develop the greatest amount of prestige and good-will will be the men who will score the biggest successes in the future.

National advertising increases sales, reduces selling costs, multiplies the value of trade names and trade-marks, and, by the prestige and good-will it creates among consumers and the trade, gives the advertiser control of the situation.

Why not jump off that "heated island" of yours now?

COUNCILS DISPUTE LIABILITY TO PAY FOR HALL'S UPKEEP

Percy Township and Warkworth Village in Another Deadlock--This Time Over War Memorial

(By a Staff Reporter.)

WARKWORTH, April 21. — The Township of Percy and the village of Warkworth are in another deadlock, the contention in this particular case arising over the question of maintaining the Community Hall, which was erected as a memorial to the 28 young men who lost their lives in the Great War. The dispute came to a head at the last meeting of the Council of Percy when the bill for the caretaker's salary and other running expenses for January and February was not paid.

There was no vote taken, but it is understood that the only two members in favour of paying the charges are Deputy-Reeve Nelson and Councillor Poole.

The Reeve's Position.

Reeve John McCubbin, in opposing payment is carrying out a promise made during the election campaign. He contends that the village alone should pay for maintaining the Hall, as the residents of the village receive the most benefit from it.

In discussing the matter with H. L. Walker, chairman of the Board of Management, the Reeve declared that the Council would never pay the bill until, at least, a formal demand was received from the Board.

A meeting of the managers will be held this week. A meeting called for last Thursday night was adjourned owing to the absence from the village of J. F. Freure, the treasurer.

Reev McCubbin insists that some of the outying districts of the township, the residents of which rarely, if ever, use the hall, should be exempt from the payment of maintenance charges.

When his attention was called to the fact that township and village were parties to an agreement to build and maintain the hall, Reeve McCubbin said that as he understood the term maintenance it meant that the building was to be kept in perpetuity as a Community Hall and that it could not be used as a school, church, or for any other purpose. The villagers, he says, get the benefit of the institution and should pay the running expenses. The township joined in the erection of the Hall in order to secure the $2,000 special grant from the Legislature. Before he was elected to his present position the Reeve took the same stand as he does to-day.

A Credit to the Township.

The institution over which this dispute has arisen is a credit to the Township of Percy. The work of construction wos started in 1921 after a public meeting of the ratepayers of township and village had approved the outlay. The cost was nearly $3,000, and of this the Government paid $2,000, the maximum grant allowed for such institutions. On a smaller outlay the Government could have given only 25 per cent. of the actual cost.

The Community Hall is fitted up with a waiting and reading and toilet rooms, and is open at all hours. It is used as a rest room by farmers and their wives and other visitors from the country. Automobile tourists passing through the village never fail to stop to look over the hall and to express approval of the enterprise and patriotism of the community that could plan and carry to completion such a venture. On the wall of the vestibule there is a marble tablet containing the names of the Percy Township heroic war martyrs. The place is used for public meetings by village and township alike.

The hall is managed by a board, composed of representatives from every organisation in the village and two members of the Township Council. H. L. Walker of the Athletic Association is chairman, Mrs. A. M. Smale of the I.O.D.E. is secretary, J. F. Freure of the Agricultural Society is treasurer, the other village members being Mrs. George Bowen of the Women's Institute, and Miss Lillian Wilson of the Public Library Board. The Council's representatives this year are Reeve McCubbin and Councillor Ambrose Atkinson.

End of Statute Labor.

Councillor George Poole, a former reeve of the township, has for years, in public and private life, been an earnest advocate of the commutation of statute labour. In this he has stood practically alone, the other members of the council hesitating to make the change lacking a vote of the ratepayers.

It now seems that Councillor Poole is likely to more than realize his ambition, and that that ancient township institution, statute labor, is to be done away with forever. At a recent meeting of te council Councillor Poole brought the matter up but nothing came of it. A large number of ratepayers, as if in anticipation of his action, sent in a petition asking that statute labor be retained in its present form, and that the council exercise more care and judgment in the appointment of pathmasters.

The Deputy Minister of Highways has sent out notices to all the townships stating that on and after the end of this year no grants will be paid by the province that has retained statute labor either in its original or commutted form.

Another change in the highway regulations provides that all townships receiving aid from the province must have a regularly appointed Township Road Superintendent acting under the direction of the Township Council.

By No Means Allow Your Bowels To Get Constipated.

If you allow your bowels to become constipated you will have bilious attacks, sick headaches, coated tongue, foul breath, sallow complexion, specks floating before the eyes, whites of the eyes dull and yellow, heartburn, water brash, etc.

BOBBED BANDIT LANDS IN JAIL

Tried to Hold Up Brooklyn Offices Nine Days Ago --Girl is Mother.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 21. —(Canadian Press.) — Brooklyn's bobbed hair bandit, and her husband, charged with sixteen robberies, were ed in their capture was obtained after two New York detectives, Casey and Gray. The woman gave her name as Cecilia Cooney, aged twenty, and the man was booked as Edward Cooney, aged twenty-seven. Officers said they were confronted by pistols when they broke down a door in the rooming house in which the couple were staying. The clue which resulted in thir capture was obtained after the two used their pistols in an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the National Biscuit Company offices in Brooklyn on April 12. On information that Mrs. Cooney was about to become a mother the police watched the hospitals and maternity institutions and they ascertained that she gave birth to a girl ten days ago in Jacksonville. The child died on Saturday.

Mrs. Cooney, who is of German extraction, is five feet one inch tall and weighs 120 pounds. She married Cooney in May last year. He served in the war as an automobile mechanic and is about six feet in height.

They made their first appearance early in January.

SAYS RED REVOLT IS PATH OF DUTY

Communist International Speaker in Toronto Proposes Force of Red Army

TORONTO, April 21.—(Canadian Press.)— With very apparent approval of the thousand people who heard him in the Labor Temple yesterday afternoon, and speaking in the name of those who are seeking to organize the workers of the world into the Communist International, C. E. Ruthenberg, secretary of the Workers' Party of America, delivered a fiery message of revolt.

In an address lasting an hour, Ruthenberg sketched the development of capitalism from the communist point of view, predicted its downfall within a decade and a greater struggle than the world war, while Capitalists sought to retain their power, and said he believed it was possible unless man organized himself that capitalism would reduce the human race to barbarism.

"The last and final phase of the class struggle is when force is used," he said. "We do not know if we can put the working class government in power by the usual method. For instance, if Ramsay Macdonald had decided upon proletarian dictatorship the capitalists of England would have resorted to arms. It is the duty of Communism to establish a dictatorship and to rule against capitalism. If capitalism resists, it is the duty of the working class to quell their resistance with the use of the red army."

At the time of the Armistice there were some 10,000 dogs with the armies of all sides.

EXPECT MISSIONARY VISIT CAMPBELLFORD

Rev. S. A. Williams From Formosa is on Sick Leave

CAMPBELLFORD, April 21. — Rev. G. A. Williams, accompanied by his wife, who for a number of years has represented St. Andrew's congregation as a mission worker in Formosa, but who is back in Ontario on sick leave, is expected to spend the week end here. It is not expected that he will be able to make any extended address owing to the condition of his health but on the following Monday evening a social gathering of the congregation will be held in the school room when an opportunity will be given the people of St. Andrew's and others to meet Mr. and Mrs. Williams. It is hoped that Mr. Williams will be sufficiently recovered to preach the anniversary services here in June.

The Income Tax Case

The decision of Judge Huycke of Peterborough in the case of the Township of Seymour, against Miss Vera Squire, a former teacher, in Seymour, who denied the right of the township to charge her an income tax, her contention being that she had never given up her residence in Peterobrough, the case being decided in favor of the plaintiffs, means more to the township than appears on the surface. The amount at issue in this suit was small, being less than eight dollars, but there are nine cases in Seymour township similar to that of Miss Squire, the teacher interested being employed in the country at taxable salaries but spending each week-end at their homes in Campbellford or in other municipalities. If the decision had been otherwise, the township would have been obliged to refund upwards of $100 already collected as income tax from these teachers.

AT THE REGENT

There will be no picture shown at the Regent to-night as the Theatre has been engaged by the Twelve O'clock Clug for their first dance after Lent.

The bill for Tuesday and Wednesday night's is "Pitfalls of a great City," and for the remainder of the week, the feature picture will be 'Pioneer Trails," a stirring drama of early western life. On the last three nights of the week another attraction will be the fourth episode of the Pathe serial" "Speed", with Charles Hutchinson in the leading role, a film that has proved a favorite since the opening chapter.

CANADIAN GRAIN IN EUROPE.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 21.—That there is a good market throughout Europe for Canadian grain was the message brought here by A. McBean, of the firm of Athol, McBean and Co., Winnipeg. Mr McBean, who has been on a cruise to the Mediterranean, and who also took an opportunity of travelling in Europe, arrived here this morning on the Canadian Pacific steamship Montclare, en route to his home.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

HE'S THROUGH!

William Bartell, professional "swallower," is going to be more careful about his diet in the future. That last spike nail he ate surely put him on the bum. An operation was necessary to relieve the attack of "acute indigestion" that followed. From William's stomach, Dr. Max Thorek of Chicago removed 275 objects. They included 110 nails, 65 parts of safety pins, 33 thumb tacks, 22 paper clips, a can opener, two cartridges, two tags, three screws, bits of coal and glass—and a beer check.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

Jack-in-the-Box ju mped out at him.

The peanut boy came rushing by and hid behind Nancy. "Oh, save me! Save me!" he cried. "The Humpty-Dumpty Elephant is after me. I can hear him coming."

When he reached the twins he stopped. "Did you see a peanut around here anywhere?" he asked. "I mean, a peanut boy?"

"What do you want to know for?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, I like him, that's why," declared the elephant. "I want to talk to him."

"No, you don't," said Nick. "You want to eat him and you're not allowed to. Everybody in Doofunny Land is supposed to be safe."

The elephant laughed. "As though a peanut needed to be safe! Just because he has a face painted on him he calls himself a person. That's a fine joke, that is."

"Everybody in Doofunny Land is a person, no matter what he is," said Nancy. 'You're just trying to make up an excuse for being so greedy."

And with that he reached over Nancy's shoulder with his trunk and was just about to grab the peanut boy, when seeing that his hiding place was discovered the poor fellow ran away as fast as he could go.

And after him went the elephant. Nick caught hold of the elephant's tail, but it was only a little piece of string and came off.

"My goodness!" remarked the Jumping Jack to the Jack-in-the-Box. "I'm afraid that is the end of our friend and he has had so much trouble since he came to Doofunny Land, too!"

"Would you like me to save him?" croaked Jack-in-the-Box.

"Who? You? Why, you can't even walk, my good friend. How could you save anybody?"

"I'll show you. Just shove my head down and put down my lid and set me out in the middle of the road there and fix the fastener so I can open it with a little push."

"Oh, save me! Save me!" cried the peanut boy rushing behind the funny square box. The Humpty-Dumpty Elephant was at his very heels.

"I know where you are!" shouted the elephant, waving his trunk. "You're behind that funny box." And he was reaching around with his trunk, when, "Sk-r-r-r-r!"

Jack-in-the-Box jumped out at him, wagging his shaggy head like a lion.

And away went the elephant like a comet; he was so scared he never stopped even when he reached the circus tent.

You may imagine what a hero Jack-in-the-Box was after that.

THE PERIL OF NARCOTICS

(By Captain Richmond P. Hobson)

EDUCATION THE REMEDY.

Final solution of the narcotic addiction problem is the education of all children of all nations as to the evil effects of opium, morphine, cocaine, and heroin on the human system.

When these children control the world, the dope problem will have been solved, and not before.

We cannot expect our school children to learn what is not found in their standard text books. Text books are lacking in subject matter bearing on narcotics.

This is shown by a survey of almost one hundred text books on physiology and hygiene used in the public schools throughout the United States. Of the 18 books widely used in higly schools, five contain nothing whatever about narcotics. In the other 13, less than two pages, on an average, are devoted to the subject.

Only eight authors state that opium is a narcotic drug; only nine that its continued use results in an almost unbreakable habit; only six that certain "patent medicines" contain opium; only four that laudanum is opium dissolved in alcohol; and only four that paregoric is a dilute solution of opium.

Only five authors say that opium makes physical wrecks; only four that it affects the mind; only four that it destroys morality; and only one that its use calls for increasing doses.

Although heroin is now the leading and the most dangerous drug of addiction, only one author ventures to mention it.

We need to preach the gospel of narcotic abstinence from the pulpit, to flash it on the screen, to enact it on the stage, to proclaim it from the public platform, to depict it in the press, and, above all, to teach it in our schools.

The school is the only place where immunity will be developed in the very fiber of the people. It is the only institution that reaches every child in the United States, and it is the only place where the child lives for five hours each day, for five days each week, and for 32 weeks each year.

The warp and woof of human life is made in the schools; ideals are born there.

'Naturally the children are now the objective for both sides.

The International Narcotic Education Association, of which I have the honor to be president, has a definite plan for combating narcotic addiction by means of the greatest power known to civilization—the power of education.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 21.—Although, owing to the recent illness of Mrs. Billings, there was no elaborate celebration of the event, friends and relatives in large numbers congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Billings upon attaining the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Billings were married at Millbrook on April 14th, 1864. They resided for many years in Hamilton Township, where Mr. Billings was engaged in farming. Removing to Cobourg some few years ago, where they have since resided with their daughter, Mrs. Hamilton. Mrs. Billings was quite ill a few weeks ago, but her health is now considerably improved, and friends hope they may be spared for more happy years.

Charged With Trespassing.

William McClong and W. Kennedy were charged before Magistrate Floyd at Bewdley on Friday with trespassing contrary to the Game and Fisheries Act. Deputy-Crown Attorney Cochrane appeared for the Crown and Lt.-Col. F. S. Boggs for the defendants. They were remanded until April 22nd.

Death of Mrs. Thomas Sidey.

An esteemed Bewdley lady, Mrs. Sidey, wife of Mr. Thomas Sidey, has passed away at the age of 63 years. Mrs. Sidey was seized with a stroke a few weeks ago, and has been in Port Hope Hospital, where her death occurred. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Taylor.

Sudden Death of Former Resident.

Mr. P. H. Lustic, who was formerly engaged in the fish business here, died suddenly at Aurora on Tuesday, to which place he removed from Cobourg last year. He was a well-known citizen of the town and a member of the Cobourg Baptist Church. A son and daughter reside at Aurora.

Horse Strayed on Track.

Dr. Tucker, of Newcastle, met with a serious loss a few days ago. He had been visiting a patient and left his horse, as he thought, tied. The animal, however, strayed upon the railway track, and both horse and vehicle were struck by the train, the animal being killed and the buggy smashed. The loss is quite a serious one.

Successful Tea and Sale.

The ladies of the Cobourg Congregational Church added materially to their funds by holding a very successful bazaar and sale in the lobby of the Town Hall. A large number gathered for a cup of tea and to spend a social hour.

Willis—Brown.

The marriage took place at Camborne, on Wednesday, April 16, of Miss Violet Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown, to Mr. Clarence Willis, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Willis, Camborne. Rev. F. J. Harwood, M.B., officiated. The bride was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Verna Willis, and Mr. Percy Harper, Camborne, was groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Willis will reside at Camborne.

Resigned from Highways.

Mr. D. W. Bews, who was with the Ontario Highways Department, with headquarters at Port Hope last year, is stated to have resigned from the Department, and has returned from Western Ontario, to which place he was transferred, to Port Hope, where he will reside.

Writ Against Corporation.

A case of interest is scheduled, it is stated, in the sessions of the County Court of Northumberland and Durham, to be held here in June. The Corporation of Clarke has been served with a writ to defend an action at the instance of the Bowmanville Hospital for the maintenance of a lady, Mrs. Charlotte Moore, alleged to be a resident of that locality.

Local and Personal.

William L. Oke, of Darlington Township, had an auction sale of his farm stock and implements last Friday.

Thomas Hanley, a former Newcastle resident, died at the home of his sister, Mrs. James Curtin, Oshawa.

Mr. Alex. Isaac has returned to town from Florida, where he spent the winter.

Mr. H. R. Holmes, of Vancouver, was here during the week, guest of Rev. and Mrs. R. F. Stillman at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Speer, who spent the winter in Atlantic City and other points, are in town for a few days before leaving for a trip to Europe.

Mr. C. S. de Heen, a Hollander, who is learning the art of farmig, as it is carried on in Ontario at Hill-Top Farm, near Baltimore, was joined on Sunday by his wife. They are now enjoying a short holiday in Toronto.

Captain James Cuthbert left this week for the Upper Lakes to join his boat and begin the season's duties.

Miss Lenore Forbes, of Peterboro, spent the week-end with friends here.

Accepted Bail.

The Crown accepted the $6,000 bail offered by the father of Charles Squire, of Brighton Township, in connection with the charge of theft of furs from Grant Quick, of Brighton. Charles Sequire and Walter Fowler, who reside near Codrington, were arrested by Provincial Officer Cousens and brought to Cobourg. On Friday they came up at Brighton before County Magistrate W. H. Floyd and were committed for trial. A number of witnesses were examined, including Constable Cousens, Provincial Constable Atkins, Mr. Grant Quick, from whom the furs were stolen, Messrs. Akers, Dale, Nelson, and others. Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr was present in his official capacity, and Mr. A. R. Willmott, of Cobourg, represented Messrs. Sequire and Fowler. The latter was admitted to bail of $2,000 upon securing two bondsmen. Bail for Sequire was offered also, but the Crown did not accept the latter until Thursday.

The furs stolen included 656 muskrats, four coon and one fox fur. They were stolen about April 4th from Mr. Grant Quick's premises, near Presque Isle, and it is alleged that a quantity of them were found by Mr. Quick and Mr. Cousens concealed under a pile of logs or wood at Charles Sequire's home near Codrington. The two men will come up for trial in the County Court before Judge Ward.

Great Britain is contemplating extensive electrification of its railroads to give work to the unemployed.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

X-RAY USED FOR BEAUTY MACHINE.

Dr. Andreas F. Christian Claims He Is Making Old People Look Like Young.

By HAROLD MATSON.

BOSTON, April 21.—Jazzing your red corpuscles into action is the latest way to restore the bloom of youth to your cheeks.

And in Boston, Dr. Andreas F. Christian claims he is making old women look young—by stirring up a real blood revolt.

'Ten, twenty, sometimes thirty years can be clipped from a woman's age, he says, as far as looks count. It is simply a matter of waking up the sleeping red corpuscles and bringing them back to the front where they belong.

How does he do it? With his "beauty machine," a special X-ray device that literally burns up old skin, scars and pits.

This treatment of one's skin so outrages the red corpuscles in the body that they come rushing back to the outer veins to lay out a fresh layer of skin. Then, vigilant against another attack by the "beauty machine," the little atoms of life stay on the job, incidentally lending genuine color to milady's face.

It may be a mean trick on the corpuscles, but Dr. Christian says it is a great thing for the patient.

"I see no reason why the restoration of youthful beauty by X-ray should not be made part of the work of every clinic," the doctor says. "The younger a woman starts to restore her youth the longer its effects will last.

"Of course, we can't make a school girl out of a woman of 70, but we can make her look a good deal younger."

Dr. Christian's "beauty machine" was first invented by Dr. Nils R. Finsen, of Copenhagen.

"Most any X-ray specialist can give this beauty treatment," Dr. Christian asserts, "but let the woman in quest of beauty through this device first consult her family physician. It is necessary that functional disturbances be remedied as well as the superficial ones."

C.O.F. HELD EUCHRE

A very successful euchre party and social evening was held in the C.O.F. hall on Thursday evening, under the combined auspices of Tent No. 69 of the Maccabees and Queen Alexandra Hive No. 336. The ladies' committee in charge of refreshments was composed of Mrs. F. Langton, convenor, assisted by Mrs. H. Gilbert, Mrs. D. Clark, Miss E. Yung, Miss O. T. Post and Sir Kt. Commander D. S. Clark. Prizes for cards were won by Mrs. D. Clark and Mr. H. Chambers, with consolation awards to Miss E. Young and Mr. J. Calvert. During the evening two very pretty interpretive dances were given by Miss Mary Dunlop.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

You can now buy an Exide Battery from any dealer in batteries. Any battery man can furnish you with an Exide, since we have announced our willingness to supply all reputable dealers. Ask for an Exide and get it. Prices are from $19.35 up, according to size and geographical location.

Use whatever service station renders you the best service and don't expect good service free.

Bought but not paid for

If you buy a frail battery the purchase price is only your first payment. You keep on making part payments in repair bills.

You will find that there is surprisingly little difference between the first cost and the last cost of an Exide. This is all the more noteworthy because the Exide gives such long service.

The quality of Exide Batteries is as high as ever. The prices are lower than ever. The economy of buying an Exide is greater than ever.

Sunday School Executive Held Annual Meeting—The Mission Band.

MILLBROOK, April 21.—The annual meeting of the Methodist Sunday School Executive was held on Wednesday evening, the superintendent, Mr. W. F. Fallis, occupying the chair for the opening period when routine business was discussed. W. G. Rowland, secretary, read the minutes of the last annual and regular meetings, and the accounts presented were ordered paid.

Mr. P. Stinson introduced the subject of changing the hour of holding Sunday School from 2.30 p.m. until 10 a.m. for the summer months, and a general discussion followed. This idea, which represents a radical change in connection with the school, had been presented a year ago but met with such strenuous opposition the matter was dropped for the intervening twelve months. Several instances were quoted of this plan being successfully carried out elsewhere, and it was finally decided, on motion of Mr. Stinson, seconded by Miss Burnham, to hold the Sunday School for June, July and August at 10 a.m., followed by church at 11 o'clock, the executive to continue it through September if they thought best. It was also decided that, after one month's trial of the change, if same was found detrimental to the best interests of the school, it would be discontinued and the afternoon sessions be resumed.

Rev. S. T. Tucker then took charge of the meeting for the annual election of officers, and the following composes the staff for the ensuing year:

Superintendent—W. Fred. Fallis.
Associate Superintendent—P. Stinson.
Secretary—W. G. Rowland.
Treasurer—W. G. Hetherington.
Librarian—A. J. Brown.
Musical Director—G. E. Burnham.
Pianist—Miss May Byam.
Assistant Pianist—Miss S. Pethick.
Teachers—Adult Bible Class, Miss M. E. Hetherington; Young Men's Bible Class, Miss A. Hampton; "Boneka" Bible Class, Mrs. H. Rea; "Mizpah" Bible Class, Mrs. P. Stinson; Tuxis Square, Mr. Irwin Hatherly; Senior Trail Rangers, Mr. T. H. Aiken; Junior Trail Rangers, F. N. Alcorn; Intermediate Classes, Mrs. I. M. Nattrass, Mrs. J. McKnight, Mrs. C. W. Richards, Mrs. S. T. Tucker, Mrs. O. Williamson, Miss B. Hatherly, Mrs. J. McComb, Mrs. John Hatherly; Superintendent Primary Department, Miss Pearl Burnham; Organist, Miss Phyllis Richards; Beginners' teacher, Miss Florence Fallis; Superintendent of Cradle Roll, Mrs. S. T. Tucker; Superintendent Home Class Department, Rev. J. Wilks; Superintendent Temperance Department, Mr. M. Brock. The four adult Bible classes were made responsible for the quarterly missionary program, each to take its turn in providing same.

Miss Stella Hetherington was appointed in charge of teacher training, and the mentors of the 'teen age boys' and girls' group are: Tuxis Square, F. N. Alcorn; C.S.E.T. Group, Rev. S. T. Tucker; C.G.I.T. "Wide Awakes" Group, Miss P. Burnham.

Presidents of Adult Bible Classes are: Young Men's Class, Mr. Hilliard Lang; 'Boneka' Class, Mrs. F. Smith; "Mizpah" Class, Miss Marjorie Skitch.

The meeting was closed with prayer by the pastor.

Mission Band.

The annual meeting of the "Sunshine" Mission Band of the Methodist Church was held on Wednesday evening, the retiring president, Marjorie Savles, taking the chair. Owing to the fact that the Band has been somewhat disorganized during the past few months, the secretary's report was limited to only a few meetings, but at these there was an average attendance of eleven members.

Lenore Lambert is a new life member of which the Band now has about fifteen. The treasurer's report showed $18 in the treasury, but the total receipts for the year are not yet on hand. The Band sends $30 each year to the Women's Hospital, Chentu, West China, for the support of the "Millbrook Sunshine Cot," and expects to have the necessary amount after the Easter thankoffering is taken up next Sunday morning. The contents of the birthday box from the primary department, amounting to $3.16, were donated to the funds of the Band, the children, who bring a copper for each year they are old when their birthday comes round, wishing this money to go toward the cot in China.

The Scripture lesson was read alternately from the 121st Psalm, and following the devotional period, the election of officers was held, the pastor, Rev. S. T. Tucker, taking charge. The officers for the ensuing year are:

Superintendent—Mrs. B. R. Raper.
President—Jean Burnham.
Vice-Pres.—Wilma Fallis.
Secretary—Walter Sayles.
Treasurer—Joan Stinson.
Organist—Gladys Tucker.
Corr. Sec'y.—Elsie Spence.
Room Committee—Gerald Raper, Bruce Freelove.

A letter from Dr. Hanry, of China, relative to some of the children who are patients in the hospital, was read by Jean Burnham, and the meeting closed with the Mission Band watchword, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.

NEWS OF BURNBRAE AND THE DISTRICT

Young People Honor Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johns—Personal Mention.

BURNBRAE, April 21.—Very enjoyable evening was spent on Wednesday when about 50 of the young people met in the home of Mrs. John Rannie for the purpose of honouring a former member of the society. Mr. Frank Johns who last Wednesday was married to Miss Blanche Parr of Hoard's Station.

The following address was read:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Johns:

We, the members of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church, Burnbrae, have gathered together tonight to offer to you our congratulations in the new step you have taken and to extend to you our best wishes for a long, happy, and prosperous married life.

You, Mr. Johns, have been a devoted and faithful member of our Young People's Society for a number of years and have helped by your presence and service to make our society the helpful organization it is in the life of our community your interest and service has not been confined to the Guild alone, but in the work of our Church generally you have been to us an esteemed and valued worker.

We recognize too the fine judgment you have expressed in the choice of Mrs. Johns as a life partner. Although she has not been immediately connected with our congregation we all know and appreciate the faithful and valued service she has given to our neighboring congregation of St. Stephen's Methodist Church, Hoard's Station. The high esteem in which she was held by the people of St. Stephen's Church and Hoard's Station was shown by the numerous gifts which she receive prior to her marriage.

Now that you are beginning life together we trust that the Christian Church may continue to receive your interest and services and we will value your help and co-operation in our Young People's Society.

As a slight token of our good wishes to you we ask you to receive for your new home, this rattan fern stand and brass jardiniere.

Signed on behalf of the Guild,
Mrs. John Thompson, Miss Freda Hay, Mitchell Rannie.

The presentation was made by Irene Thompson and Miss Freda Hay. Mr. John suitably replied for the bride and himself. Several short addresses of congratulation were given to the young couple by Mr. Andrew Milne, Harvey Donald and John Rannie. The remainder of the evening was spent with music and games after which lunch was served.

NO PHENOMS IN FRENCH TRIALS

Much Touted Athletes From Provinces Failed to Make Showing In Pre-Olympic Elimination Events.

PARIS, April 21 (Canadian Press)—That France will have to rely upon her old mainstays in order to make a showing in the athletic competitions in the Olympic Games seemed indicated to-day by the results of the first great pre-Olympic elimination contests held in the Colombes Stadium.

The contests apparently demonstrated that France has little chance to make a good showing in either track or field events.

A number of much heralded provincial phenomenons "blew up." No new man worthy of figuring among the point winners in the Olympic Games in July was uncovered.

Andre Moulon was the best in the sprints, doing the 100 meters in 11 seconds flat. One French record was broken during the contest. This was for the hammer throw, but the mark was only 6 metres 27 centimeters (about 119 feet), which was 16 meters short of the Olympic record.

The best done in the javelin throw was 45 meters, 28 centimeters; the discus, 33 meters, 14 centimeters; hop step and jump, 1 2meters 17 centimeters; high jump, 1 meter 75 centimeters.

The veteran George Andre proved best of all the competitors in the 300 meter hurdle event, winning handily in 41 seconds.

The Olympic Committee is undismayed by yesterday's poor showing, and promises better results, saying there there is a lot of good material to draw from which will be seen in action on 4th and 18th May.

TO THE ELECTORS

of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

We wish, on behalf of the City Council, to commend to you the By-law to extend the period of the Fixed Assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company, which will be voted upon on WEDNESDAY NEXT, 23RD APRIL, and to ask you, one and all, to Vote for the By-law—because

It will secure the erection of a substantial buiding of approximately 50,000 square feet of floor space by the company;

It will result in the expenditure of between $300,000.00 and $400,000.00 in the building and industrial equipment;

It will give the fillip so much required at the present time to employment and business in the city;

It will demonstrate to the new control of the company our desire to co-operate with them;

It will secure to Peterborough future expansions in Canada by this great company;

It will result in the Peterborough plant continuing to be the chief manufacturing plant of the company in Canada;

It will start a healthy circulation in our industrial life, and the money spent will benefit everyone;

It will result in more taxes being paid by the company, which now pays $19,137.05 a year, as the new buiding will be assessed for School purposes;

It will not cost the Citizens anything for civic improvements, as such improvements are now supplied;

It will back up the City Council in their efforts to add to the industrial importance of Peterborough.

And all this is being secured by an extension of the period of the fixed assessment of the company's property for about three and a half years.

We need this expansion; we want all the beneficial results that will follow the passing of the By-aw, and we should roll up a large majority for it.

Peterborough expects every Elector to do his duty.

J. J. TURNER, Mayor.
J. W. MEYERS, Chairman Manufacturers' Committee.

SERIOUS OFFENCE.

SARNIA, Ont., April 21 (Canadian Press). — John Ridout, 76 years old, of Watford, who recently pleaded guilty to a serious offence, the maximum penalty for which is life imprisonment, is causing the authorities worry inasmuch as they are not decided on the best method of taking care of him. A mental examination showed him to be sane, and he now awaits sentence.

A further remand of a week was granted to give defence counsel a chance to have the case reviewed by higher Court.

There's Nothing to Equal 'Dr. Wood's" Norway Pine Syrup For Coughs and Colds

Mrs. David Thompson, West River St., Paris, Ont., writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

For myself and children I use nothing else.

My little girl, five years old, has had bronchial trouble ever since she had the "flu" a few years ago, and, now, whenever she gets a slight cold she develops a very nasty cough, but all I have to do is to give her a few doses of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Also for myself, and the other children, I can find nothing to equal it, in fact, it was only a short time ago that I gave it to my ten months old baby, and could immediately see the difference it made in her. Now, I always keep Norway Pine Syrup in the house, as I feel there is nothing to equal it."

SUN LIFE STEPS INTO THE BREACH

Proud Boast of Canadian Life Insurance Companies Upheld.

The proud boast that "never has any policyholder lost a dollar through the failure of a Canadian life insurance company" is being once more sustained in the instance of the recent failure of the North-Western Life Assurance Company in Winnipeg.

Under an agreement which has been approved by the court for the reinsurance of the insurance business of the Northwestern Life, the Sun Life of Canada assumes full responsibility for all life insurance policies in force and guarantees the payment of any losses under any of these policies which were in force at the time the Northwestern Life went into liquidation.

The premiums on all Northwestern policies will immediately become payable to the Sun Life of Canada, which company assumes all liability under the policy contracts.

The Sun Life of Canada, in re-insuring the policies of the North-western Life, has been actuated by a desire to protect the good name of life insurance in Canada, and has undertaken the reinsuring of that company's business with no thought of profit to itself, but only with a desire to maintain the confidence which the public has always had in a life insurance policy.

DESTROYS FAITH IN CHRISTIANITY

Japanese Ex-Premier Says Aggression is Not Meditated.

TOKIO, April 21. — (Canadian Press.)—A declaration that war with the United States over the immigration question is impossible, but the assertion that it would take years for Jaapn to forget the "insult imposed by the United States' Senate when it voted to exclude Japanese from the United States," were among the statements made in an interview by Admiral Count Gombei Yamamoto, former Premier of Japan.

"Our sword leaps from the scabbard only when the Motherland is menaced or our obligations to our Allies call it forth," he said. "With such an affront our attitude must be calm, dignified and restrained. No amount of Christian preaching or missionary work can convince us now that Christianity is an effective preventive of wars and racial struggles."

BELIEVES PREMIERS WILL HOLD MEETING

Experts Admitted Revisions Needed -- France Presses Point.

(By John P. O'Brien—United News Staff Correspondent).

PARIS, April 21—Despite reiterated semi-official denials, it is declared in well-informed circles that the British, French and Belgium Premiers are likely to meet early in May to discuss a general settlement following the experts' report. Premier Poincare, it is said, has written a note which he intends to send to M. Barthou, President of the Reparations Commission, in which the Premier outlines his views regarding the manner in which the recommendations of the experts should be put into effect.

It is understood the note states that the French Government maintains its attitude of its approval of the experts' programme, but recalls that the experts themselvs said that several parts of the plan needed to be adjusted and completed by either the Reparations Commission or the Allied Governments.

Poincare's note suggests that the Reparations Commission specify exactly what part of the work they will share and what part will be shared by the Allied and German Governments. He points out that France and Belgium can hardly be asked to exchange actual guarantees for a wider system until after Germany has given tangible proofs that she is willing to co-operate in the working out of the experts' scheme. Germany, he contends, must do this by collaborating in the gold bank and the railroad plans and by giving effect to bills necessary under the experts' programme.

The note declares that the French Government thinks it most important that an inter-allied accord precede any exchange of guarantees now held.

It is in this last fact that observers see the French drift toward the support of a French project for a Premier's meeting. There are many questions which must be threshed out, but above all, from the French viewpoint, is that of security. France will feel that she is in a stronger position if Poincare has talked with the British and Belgian Premiers before final reparations decisions are taken.

TO RAISE MILLION FOR ORANGE ORDER

Would Convert Order Into Powerful Organization, Edwards Claims.

ST JOHN, April 21. Canadian Press. — The raising of a million dollars as an endowment fund for the Loyal Orange Order, was proposed by Dr. J. W. Edwards, Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, here yesterday.

He said that it was hoped to raise one-quarter of this amount in the order, and the other three quarters among other Protestants.

It was planned to use only the interest, which would amount to between $50,000 and $55,000 annually. The amount was to be raised in three years.

With $50,000 at their disposal annually, Dr. Edwards said that "the Orange Order will be the most powerful and effective organization not only for the defending of Protestantism, but for the preservation of British citizenship in Canada."

WOMAN'S FASHIONS IN THE FUTURE

Expert Guessers Run All the Way From Extreme Simplicity to Jewelled Hats and Gowns of Gold.

By HEDDA HOYT

NEW YORK, April 21.—(United Press).—Some of us are old enough—whether we'll admit it or not—to remember the days when mother had a "Sunday-go-to-meeting" dress and one other dress which did service for all the other days in the week.

Those were the days when the calico wrapper was considered the swank thing for house wear, when silk hosiery was worn only by the "upper classes," when undergarments were painfully stiff, starched things, and high-laced patent shoes were considered mighty dressy.

We don't have to look back far to recall these fashion atrocities. Anyone who can remember the coming of the bicycle can recollect them. The flappers of that day wore naughty divided skirts, high-necked shirtwaists and mannish sailor hats as they draped themselves astride of bicycles, the world's latest vehicle. Instead of bobbed hair, wire rats and 'teapot domes" were the classy things in headgear.

When we conside, the tremendous changes that have occurred in fashioss in the last twenty years we wonder what will happen in the next decade or two. It doesn't seem possible that clothes could be of finer texture or more beautiful lines than they are to-day, but there is bound to be continual advancement and changes in women's clothing.

Get a few of these Tanol Calomel Tablets from the druggist and they will make you feel 100 per cent. better. For sale at Weber's Drug Store, Charlotte street. m.s tf

American Tourists Present Canadian National Railways With Fine Map

An event, probably unique in the history of steam transportation on this continent, took place recently when Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Davison, of Brooklyn, New York, presented the Canadian National Railways with a magnificent topographical map of Jasper National Park, as a mark of appreciation for service and courteous treatment accorded them when they were passengers over the lines of the system from Montreal to Prince Rupert last summer. Mr. Davison is the president of a large publishing house in New York City.

The gift, which came as a distinct surprise to officials of the Canadian National Railways, is the finest map ever made of Jasper National Park. Mr. and Mrs. Davison were guests for several days at Jasper Park Lodge, the summer resort operated by the Canadian National Railways in the Park, and it was there that they reached the decision to have the map made and presented to the Company. It is six feet long and four feet wide and is painted in oils by Mr. Richard Rummell, one of the outstanding artists in the United States. It shows not only the main ranges of mountains and the higher peaks, but also all the lakes, rivers, motor roads, pony trails, railway lines and the location of the town of Jasper and Jasper Park Lodge.

In making the map, Mr. Rummell secured the co-operation of the Geological Department of the Canadian Government and the Engineering Department of the Canadian National Railways. As a result the map is said by experts to be the most accurate sketch of that great national playground in existence. The map has been framed in a gold moulding bearing a plate giving the names of the donors, and it will be hung in Jasper Park Lodge when the Lodge is opened on the 1st of June.

Jasper National Park is considered the most beautiful of all Canada's National Parks, and the hostel which the Canadian National Railways maintain there has become so popular that it has been necessary to make extensive additions to it to meet the demand for accommodation. It is composed of a series of rustic lodges that harmonize with the surroundings, and all who have visited it have been delighted with its ideal location, its service and its novel type of architecture. Jasper Park Lodge is situated on Lac Beauvert near the foot of Mount Edith Cavell. It is three miles from the railway station, to which it is connected by a fine motor road over which the Canadian National Railways operate a fleet of motor cars to take tourists to and from the Lodge.

PRESENTATION BY MR. JAMES BROWNE

At an open session of the Sunday school of Trinity Methodist church, held yesterday afternoon, an interesting feature was the presentation by Mr. James Browne of a large colored portrait of his wife, the late Mrs. James Browne, who was an active worker in the Sunday school of Trinity church, and superintendent of the Beginners' Department. Mr. J. M. Greene, superintendent, spoke in eulogistic terms of the work and character of the late Mrs. Browne.

At this session, lantern sides of an Easter character were shown, a religious Easter pantomime given by the members of Mrs. S. Carver's class, and several beautifully-rendered selections by the Trinity Sunday school, under R. Gliddon's leadership, including the test piece to be played at the forthcoming Toronto Musical Competition Festival, the overture, "Merry Wives of Windsor. A vocal solo, "Open the Gates of the Temple," was given by Mr. James Browne, accompanied by Mr. G. H. Ring.

Baseball Fans in Jail Hear Lullaby

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 21 (United Press). — The six hundred baseball fans now receiving the mail at the County Jail here have been deprived of their radio, on account of their over-zealousness to have the Pirates win.

The opening of the baseball season found the radio operating in the full nine innings. The first defeat brought silence from the incarcerated fans.

The second brought eight innings of silence, but in the ninth Carey chased home with the winning run. Then the old favorite pandemonium reigned.

Now the prisoners are allowed radio concerts, lullabys, and farm reports.

VOTE FOR THE C. G. E. BYLAW

R. N. JONES

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir:—The Canadian General Electric Company will spend (if the extension By-law is carried on Wednesday, April 23rd) between three and four hundred thousand dollars in the enlargement of their works here including the erection of a building 87 x 160 feet, three stories and basement. The new building will be equipped with machinery and more machinery will be installed in the present buildings.

We need this expansion. It will put money in circulation, revive business, and benefit every citizen. Let us give the By-law a big majority.

Yours truly,

EASTER SERVICES IN CITY CHURCHES

All Congregations Joined in Joyful Nature of Day

Easter Sunday was celebrated throughout the city churches in a manner befitting the solemn and joyful nature of the occasion. The sacred edifices were filled with large congregations, commemorating the close of Lent and the resurrection of Our Lord from the grave. Easter decorations, Easter music and Easter messages marked the various services. George Street Methodist Church had a sunrise service at half-past seven o'clock, the services at St. Andrew's and St. Paul's, at George Street Church, at St. John's, and St. Luke's, and St. George's Anglican were marked by the celebration of Communion, and the ordinance of baptism was observed at morning and evening services in Murray Street Bantist Church. At St. Peter's Cathedral, there were three Low Masses, with Solemn High Mass, attended by the church parade of the Great War Veterans. Sermons in morning and evening were by Rev. George Daly, C.S.S.R., of Toronto. The Salvation Army held special Easter services, conducted by Brigadier and Mrs. Walton, of Toronto, formerly stationed in Peterboro, and to-night a special musical festival will be given by the Temple Band. At Park Street Baptist Church, still without a regular pastor, the visiting clergyman was Rev. J. H. Moore, B.A., of Georgetown.

HEARTS AFIRE

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Prudence Page, a pretty country girl who had awakened from a brief and unhappy love-affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philanderer, guest at the home of Mrs. Vansittart, wealthy woman who owns Winston Towers. Another of her guests is

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor who is interested in Prudence. The latter has been falsely accused of stealing at Mrs. Vansittart's home, and has run away to New York. She is rescued from a burning building and carried away in an ambulance. Meanwhile, Virginia, uninvited pays Peter a call one night.

CHAPTER XLIX

Unconventional

"To what," said Peter Armstrong cooly, one hand on the door-knob of the little sitting-room of Pear-Tree Cottage, and a flash of steel in his usually calm eyes, "To what I am indebted for the unexpected pleasure of this visit?"

The fact that Virginia Dale—her beauty enhanced by candlelight—was at her loveliest at that moment, and that most men would have found her irresistible, weighed with him not one jot.

He despised her for the huntress that she was, and some of the scorn showed clearly on his clean-cut, manly face.

Virginia, who has rising to her feet at the head of the little table she herself had arranged so artistically for their supper, tete-a-tete, contrived to keep the coy smile on her lips, although uncomfortable qualms assailed her heart.

"I came to keep you company, you hermit!" She tilted up her head provocatively. "And I'm beginning to think you're not exactly pleased to see me!" The titter which followed this challenging remark as good as stated that it was madness to doubt for a moment the fact that all men must be pleased to see her!

But Peter's stern face did not relax a jot.

"Might I inquire how you got in?"

"Through the back door."

"Ah!" He drew the monosyllable out, significantly, and his unexpected visitor flushed at his intonation.

"You aren't very cordial, I must say." She tossed her head. "And I brought you such a lovely supper. Caviare—I've made the toast, and pate de fois gras sandwiches, and cold salmon I coaxed from the cook, and a bottle of '98 claret——"

Peter's lip curled.

"If on charitable mission, why not take the food to a more deserving cause? As for myself, it's wasted on me. I like plain fare and Nannie has already prepared my supper."

Virginia very nearly lost her temper. But, struggling for dignity, she contrived to say:

"I'm sorry if I've intruded where I'm so obviously not wanted, and that my little 'surprise party' has failed. I'll go at once." Then, with a sudden brain-wave, and realizing that coyness as a weapon with this man had forever failed, she added:

"I only came because I wanted your advice on an important matter. I'd never have come for myself. It's for someone else, who's in great trouble. You know the Page girl who lives at Green Gables?"

Ah! that shot went home. A quick concern, a vivid interest, replaced the cool scorn in his eyes.

"Nothing happened to her?" For the life of him, he couldn't keep the eagerness out of his voice. "You say she is in trouble?"

"Yes. Will your majesty condescend to sit down at the table, for I'm hungry? I'll tell you all about it, then."

Peter seated himself reluctantly. The whole proceedings were highly unconventional, but he must get at the bottom of her cryptic utterances anent the one girl in the world who mattered.

"You can give me a cup of coffee, please. I don't want anything else."

Virginia saw his perturbation, and she remembered Mrs. Vansittart's words of warning. She must tread warily here.

"Of course you understand that I don't in the least believe her guilty," she began, assuming a timid, depreciatory manner quite foreign to her usual self-assurance. "But the whole affair was most unfortunate. And then, on the top of it, her running away from home——"

"Great heavens! What do you mean?" Peter half rose to his feet. "Speak out, can't you?"

So Virginia, immensely chagrined over this proof of his deep interest in the 'Page chit', told her tale—and told it cleverly. She was 'frightfully sorry', for the girl. They were all 'down' on her, and of course circumstances did look rather odd . . . but she—Virginia—had stood by Prudence Page, and always would. Etc. and etc.

"And between you all, you've driven the child—that innocent child—out of her home?" half shouted Peter, not caring in the slightest what Virginia thought of him.

"Not I, Peter dear." Virginia took advantage of his agitation to lean over and clasp his hand in her own perfumed, highly-manicured fingers.

With a wary eye on the fleeting moments, she kept him on the subject of Prudence's downfall.

"She'll be home tomorrow, sure as sure." She tried to reassure her vis-a-vis.

It was nearly half past ten o'clock when Peter seeing the time—said hurriedly:

"Say, you'll have to go, or all the tongues in the neighborhood will be wagging! I—I appreciate your coming, now that I know your motive——"—he got that out somehow, and he meant it, too—"I'm going to do what I can to help the Pages find their daughter, and—and clear her—though of course it's absurd to think—to suspect——"

Just then, there was a flash of lightning, and a terrific peal of thunder shook the frail old cottage. Virginia she hated storms and whom thunder and lightning literally prostrated, screamed, and hid her face.

"Oh! Oh! We'll be killed! We'll be killed!"

"It's all right," Peter reassured his shaking guest. He was worried that he couldn't get her away at once, for fear of Mrs. Grundy—but he couldn't turn her out into the storm, especially as the rain was coming down in bucketsful. "It will pass soon."

It didn't pass however. It grew worse. It seemed as though the very heavens had opened.

Virginia's fears were not assumed. She clung to Peter as though he were her one hope of safety, begging him not to leave her for an instant, forcing him to promise she could stay until the storm has ended.

After nearly an hour had passed, and the thunder and lightning and rain showed no signs of abating, he offered to run to another house and call up Mrs. Vansittart, reassuring her of Virginia's safety.

At that, even in the midst of her terror, a sly, calculating look showed for a moment in Virginia's eyes, had Peter only seen it.

"I'm often as late as this. Don't leave me, I couldn't bear to be here, all by myself . . . I couldn't."

She clung to him, and he could see her bosom rise and fall in uncontrollable agitation.

"Conventions must be ignored, then." He tried to reassure her, but he felt uncomfortable, and cursed this inconvenient storm that detained her in his cottage to this hour.

Time passed. The storm did not abate, but only seemed to grow the fiercer. A tree was struck by lightning in a neighbouring field, and once Peter thought the cottage itself had been hit, it rocked so drunkenly.

To make matters worse, too, Virginia herself collapsed, and lay moaning on the sofa, clinging for dear life to his arm.

It was after 3 a.m. before a lull came, and he contrived to get her started back to Winston Towers.

Tomorrow: Peter's Search.

ANOTHER FACTORY THREATENS CLOSE

MONTREAL, April 21 (Canadian Press). — A $200,000 fertiliser factory, erected two years ago, is now on the market for sale at a cut price, according to statements made by representative of the Scottish Fertilisers, Limited, of Welland, Ont., who said that the company will have no option but to close down and go out of business as a result of the tariff reductions on fertilisers.

The factory was being financed by English capital.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO CHICAGO.

An announcement of unusual interest to all who have occasion to visit Chicago and cities farther west, has been made by the management of the Canadian National Railways.

In addition to the already complete Canadian National Railways service operating from Toronto to Chicago, there will be inaugurated on April 27th, a new observation, sleeping car service, leaving Toronto daily at 11.45 p.m., arriving Chicago next day at 2.50 p.m., Central time.

Besides providing a most convenient leaving time this new service is highly attractive in its time of arrival. By using it passengers bound for points west of the Illinois metropolis will have ample time for business or pleasure in Chicago, and still make all connections for western points that same evening.

WIFE VISITED FARNOL IN CRIME'S UNDERWORLD

Disagreement With His Wife's Family Ended in Famous Author's Going to Hell's Kitchen

MR. JEFFERY FARNOL, who is in the forefront of the world's authors, has a life-story that reads almost like one of his own romances.

Jeffery Farnol

Imagine writing a novel which, when various publishers had rejected it, was nearly destroyed by its author, but, when at last produced, created a record with a sale of nearly a million copies! That achievement stands to the credit of Jeffery Farnol.

Jeffery Farnol, who was born in Birmingham, came to London as a young man.

"My favorite recreation at that time was cycling," he says. "All the high roads and by roads of Kent, Surrey, and Sussex became familiar to me as, sometimes with a chum or brother, sometimes alone, I wheeled between the flowery hedgerows and quenched my thirst and ate enormous meals at the quaint wayside taverns."

It was during these excursions that he gathered material for "The Broad Highway." It was destined to be written, however, under different skies and in vastly different circumstances.

Mr. Farnol married very young and very improvidently—or so all his people and his wife's family thought at the time. His wife's relations lived in New York, and thither the young couple went. Farnol became a scene-painter at a theatre (he had studied art in London), and wrote short stories for the magazines. At this juncture a disagreement with his wife's family ended in his going to live in the notorious "Hell's Kitchen," the headquarters of New York's criminal underworld.

By this time he had begun "The Broad Highway" and he would read his manuscript to the criminals who were his neighbors!

Mrs. Farnol often visited her husband in this haunt of crime, which he has pictured graphically in "The Definite Object." Alarmed for his wife's safety, Farnol spoke to the leader of the gang, who assured him that "as soon as her pretty feet left the car" she was followed. Four "toughs" were always told off to watch her and protect her from molestation.

In the end the family breach was healed, and, leaving his devoted friends of the underworld, Farnol completed "The Broad Highway."

The same brave little wife probably saved this great book from destruction. The American publishers to whom he submitted it endorsed it "Too English" and returned it to its sorrowing parent. Then, to make matters worse, he entrusted his manuscript to an actor friend who was going to Boston to fulfil a theatrical engagement, and who promised to submit it personally to a firm of publishers in that literary centre. Months went by, and the friend returned to New York with the precious book still in the bottom of his trunk. He had forgotten all about it!

"Then I was minded to burn it," Mr. Farnol declares. "It was cumbersome, and a great disappointment—how great only those who have been similarly circumstanced can know. But wiser counsels prevailed, and I decided to send the MS. to my mother, feeling sure that if she, who had ever been—and is still—my severest critic, thought well of it, something might be done with it in England."

It was his wife who persuaded him to send the MS. to her mother, who read the story and thought so well of it that she sent it to a literary friend, who in turn submitted it to Sampson Low, Marston, and Co., who at once decided to publish it. Probably they themselves would now agree that they never did a better stroke of business.

Mystery of the Arabian King-Maker Deepens Lawrence Masquerades Again as a Private

Colonel Thomas F. Lawrence, Uncrowned King of Arabia, Discovered Serving as a Private in the Tank Corps Under Another Name—Quarrelled With Allenby—Sent Home to England — Created Bedouin Army

THERE is some mystery about Colonel T. E. Lawrence, C.B., D.S.O., one of the war's most remarkable figures, famous for his exploits with the Arabs.

King-maker, leader of an army of 200,000, Lawrence, a year ago, is found disguised as a craftsman in the Royal Air Force. Again, this time, he is discovered serving as "Private Shaw" in the Royal Tank Corps.

In the strange behavior of Lawrence the British public have now a first-rate mystery. Why he adopts these disguises has not yet been satisfactorily explained. All that is explained is his disappearance

At the war office they did not know where Lawrence had gone. He had just vanished. Now he explains that he had a book on Arabia to write, and could not find the time, except by adopting this strange disguise.

Advising Lord Curzon on Arabian affairs, also, may not have been his ideal of contentment. But now Lord Curzon, in his turn, is deposed in favor of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, who may be better disposed towards the little phenomenon who never hesitated, even as a captain, to tell colonels on Allenby's staff that they did not know "a d——d thing they were talking of," whereupon it would become necessary for Allenby to order Lawrence from the room.

Not every colonel has told his commander-in-chief the same thing. If Lawrence did not exactly make it articulate he at least more effectually demonstrated it by his deeds. French and Italian units participating in the final round-up of the Turk did not suit Lawrence at all. How they would jeopardize the proposed coronation of Feisul, king of Mesopotamia, whom he had met and made his hero two years before, he saw to his dismay. Disobeying Allenby's injunction to the effect that he was to keep off the scene, Lawrence careered up through Palestine in an armored car, distancing even the Australian cavalry that was rapidly occupying the country. Reaching Beirut first he solemnly hoisted the standard of Feisul on all the public buildings, to the intense indignation especially of the French. That was the beginning of Lawrence's decline, from which he only emerged in 1921, after three years of disgrace.

Allenby paper-chasing after an insubordinate junior officer is one of the most remarkable pursuits in the history of warfare. Acquainted with Lawrence's determination, Allenby, jumping into a Rolls-Royce, only caught up with him on the road to Damascus. Lawrence sought to impress upon Allenby the danger of not giving the Arabs full satisfaction. The commander-in-chief replied: "That's my business. You just take the first boat home. And report at the war office."

Lawrence did—and didn't. He never got to the war office. One month later he reappeared at Alexandria on the plea of wanting to collect his kit and personal belongings. On the quay an officer politely informed him that he would not be permitted to land.

Then Lawrence really did go home to London, back to his books at Oxford, from where he had set out to the Holy Land as an archeologist the year of the outbreak of the war. Feisul, too, went into as complete temporary eclipse. There was not the slightest doubt that he had been the victim of equivocal treatment at the hands of British statesmanship which had promised him a crown in Damascus in return for his help during the war, well knowing that by arrangement with the French this could not be made good. In a bombardment of letters to the Times Lawrence showed Allenby the end was not yet. Feisul ultimately got his crown, and Lawrence accepted a post in the eastern branch of the foreign office.

There had been nothing quite like Lawrence, the little fair-haired, blue-eyed English youth in his middle twenties, as shy and embarrassed as a school-girl at the mere mention of praise. He was as mild-mannered as he was fearlessly audacious. In his cloak were twelve bullet holes. While the Arabs were making him an Emir and giving him the curved sword, a distinction no other Christian or European has ever received, the Turks were putting a price of half a million dollars in gold upon his head.

Even while his market value was high Lawrence went openly to Damascus and studied the enemy forces and arrangements. From the station platform he watched the Turkish troops entrain for the Hejaz, where he, as commander of the Arab forces on the British right flank, he was later to deal them so many crushing defeats. Richard the Lion-Hearted and Haroun al Rischid could teach this youth nothing in the way of romantic and audacious enterprise.

Incidentally the Bagdad coronation concludes the first chapter in a ring-making episode comparable for romance to the leading by Joan of Arc to Rheims of her "dear Dauphin," Charles the Seventh of France. A haughty Arab has been placed on the throne of the oldest country in the world by a fair-haired young Oxford graduate, now masquerading as "Private Shaw" in the Royal Tank Corps.

What will Private Shaw do next? Somehow or other, a feeling seems to be imminent that Lawrence is not done yet in Arabia. The coronation of Feisul in the Holy City of Mecca as ruler of a gigantic Arab state and new Khalif of Islam, now that Turkey has given up the honor, is not beyond the horizon by any means.

Col. T. E. Lawrence, C.B., D.S.O., the king-maker, whose adventures among the Arabs made him one of the most romantic figures of the war, in costume as commander-in-chief of the Arab army, and as "Private Shaw" in the Royal Tank Corps, where he was discovered a few days ago.

ACCORDING to Sir George Newman more men suffer from gout than women. This seems to overlook the well-established fact that when a man has gout his wife and family also suffer from it.—Punch.

SIR IAN HAMILTON said recently that no one since Gladstone had made so great an impression on him as Ramsay MacDonald.

Churchill Is Expert On Milady's Millinery

Former Colonial Secretary Sets Hat Fashions in London—Saves Cousin's Shop From Ruin

WOE to the statesman who has anything to conceal in his past life!

Winston Churchill, behind a dignified front, has long concealed a secret vice.

Winston Churchill

With his appearance in the political arena as a candidate for election to the House of Commons, the searchlight of publicity has exposed him.

It has just been discovered that the former head of the admiralty, former colonial minister, author of the Gallipoli expedition and generally spectacular figure of British politics is one of London's leading millinery designers on the side.

A woman cousin, perturbed at Churchill's new bid for election to parliament, let out the secret.

Two years ago the cousin opened a hat shop in Bond street. It was almost a complete failure. That is, until Cousin Winston dropped in to see how things were going.

He ran over the books, took charge of them himself, engaged a new staff and supervised the selection of the stock. He was found to be a prophet of fashion, and soon began to design hats himself.

"I have watched him remodel a dowdy toque into a chic creation in five minutes," the cousin says.

She intimates that she does not wish him any bad luck in his election plans, but that she would miss his gentle hand about the hat shop.

Englishmen shake their heads over the latest bid to fame advanced by Churchill, sadly recalling that he is half an American, his mother having been Jennie Jerome, famous society beauty of New York and London.

Mr. Winston Churchill's bath is another subject of intimate illumination. His book disclosed the enthralling fact that he was in the midst of his ablutions when the Fisher crisis was conveyed to him. He has now been recalling his famous adventure in Sydney street, and from this it appears that he was also in his bath, at the unseemly hour of 10 a.m., when someone hammered on the door to tell him, as home secretary, that the anarchists had been tracked to their lair. Presumably he is a quick drier, for he was on the way to the scene of action in a few minutes.

HEARS TEARS IN HER VOICE GIVES HER INSTRUCTION

Besnard, "France's Painter of Women" Does Not Give Lessons—First Visit to America

THE artists on this side of the Atlantic are talking now of Besnard—Paul Albert Besnard, France's foremost painter of women, who is on his way to America for the first time.

Both French and American art may expect to profit by his coming, for Besnard may be said to be to modern French painting what Rodin Rodin is to French sculpture—national.

Rich in achievement, fame, honors, years—he is 74—the present director of the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Besnard is to act as a jury of one for France at the twenty-third international exhibition of the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh on April 4. An original, this Besnard, he has never been a teacher in the accepted pedagogical sense.

However chary of students, Besnard, in keeping with the best tradition of French genius, is no niggard of his criticism when real talent appeals—as one American painter discovered to her enrichment.

His first large exhibition was enthralling Paris, says Lida Rose McCabe, in the New York Times magazine, when the American, unaware of the "closed door," crossed the Atlantic bent upon studying with him. Enamored of his singing color, technique and outlook on life, and already "arrived" in American exhibitions, she naturally deduced that, like many of his famous colleagues, his instruction was to be had—for a price. She knocked one Sunday at the studio door in the Rue Guillaume Tell.

"Don't take students?" she said. "Why M. Besnard, I have crossed the Atlantic expressly to study with you."

"It's very touching, Mademoiselle. But, I take no students, besides, I am going away shortly."

"From Paris? What shall I do?"

"I'll tell you," he said, sensing hidden tears, "paint a portrait and bring it to me next Sunday, and I'll criticize it.

"Now paint another, and let me see what you make of my criticism," he said. Meanwhile she continued "teaing" and lunching familiarly with the household, which then included his sons: Robert, the painter, since killed in the world war; Jean, the sculptor, whose recovery from a tuberculosis which threatened to cripple him for life evoked as a thanksgiving offering Besnard's masterpieces covering the chapel walls of the Hospital of Berck.

On final leavetaking, the grateful invader ventured: "Monsieur, what do I owe you?"

"Nothing at all, mademoiselle," said the master, kissing her hand. "I'm sorry that I could not do more. It is a privilege to serve talent, and Americans have a great deal."

A subsequent trip to Paris brought the grateful American again to the studio in the Rue Guillaume Tell.

"Have you a portrait to show me?" asked M. Besnard.

"No canvas, but the reproduction of one," and he was shown a print of the Marcus Meyer portrait owned by the Lamb's club.

"Admirably painted hands," was M. Besnard's brief comment, "and the gentleman?"

"He is the impressario, monsieur, who first brought Sarah Bernhardt to America."

"What a bad act," he chortled.

Eight-Year-Old Dot Sherris Wired News of Murder to Mounted Police

Claims World Telegraph Championship —Knew Alphabet at Two Years—Could Typewrite at Four—Known by Telegraphers All Along the Line

A LONG dash; two dots close together; two dots further apart; then one short dash, like this, —.. . . that is the way little Dot Sherris signed her famous call-for-help despatch.

A young Canadian girl of eight had entered a championship claim in earnest the day the Mounted Police of Peace River received the news of a big murder from "DOT."

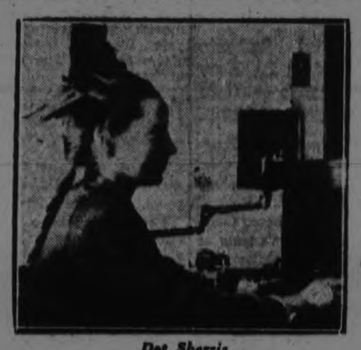
The excited people asked for Dot's father, Bill Sherris, storekeeper, postmaster and telegraphist twenty-six miles southeast from Peace River along the river valley trail. But Bill Sherris was out.

"But I'll send the message if you like," said Dot, quite composed.

"You can't," they laughed. They did not know that Dot's interest in the ticking telegraph key began at four, and that, by eight, she could tick off the Morse code as easily as A, B, C.

Three hundred words or more she sent, flashing the news to a whole continent, that bloody murder stalked abroad in that quiet little community of the Canadian Northwest. She signed it just "Dot". And to-day, over four hundred miles of gleaming copper wire, from Edmonton to Grande Prairie, the operators in every station know that signature "dash—two dots—two dots—dash," from the signature of little Dot Sherris, youngest girl telegraphist on the American continent.

Dot is over nine years old now. Nobody ever questions her ability to send wires to-day, unless it be some chance traveler who knows not Dot. She's studying real typewriting, and shorthand, and is learning the press code as well as the ordinary Morse.



Dot Sherris

One day, she'll walk into telegraph headquarters, and demand a real man-sized operator's job—that is, unless in the meantime she gets too much enthused over radio, for her father plans to buy her a radio set for next Christmas—maybe earlier!

Train's Destination

WHEN I was traveling to Southampton a short time ago two men boarded the train at a small station.

They had a considerable amount of luggage with them, which they stowed away under the seats, on the rack, and on every available spot on the seats. Having accomplished this one of them stepped out of the carriage, approached a porter, and enquired the train's destination.

WAR ORPHANS' ADOPTER FRYS LUNCH FOR STAFF

Wizard for Philanthropic and Charitable Campaigns in Canada Is Mrs. A. J. Frieman of Ottawa

NO national campaign for philanthropic or charitable purposes is ever complete unless Mrs. A. J. Frieman of Ottawa is in the thick of the work. Deservedly popular for her own benefactions, she can obtain as much, if not more, practical assistance in any given period for any worthy object than any other woman in Canada. During the influenza epidemic in Ottawa in 1918, she was called upon late in the evening by the then mayor and health authorities, who were alarmed at the proportions the epidemic was assuming. Before the night had passed Mrs. Frieman had organized an efficient nursing and medical corps which went into operation forthwith. This speedy measure did much to abate the spread of the disease in the capital.

Some time ago Mrs. Frieman secured permission to bring to Canada two hundred war orphans from Europe. Not content with adopting the first two orphans herself, in the indefatigable pursuit of her aims she armed herself with all necessary official documents and sailed for England, returning triumphantly with her little charges in tow.

While she is an organizer of the first rank and unwearying in her efforts to do good, Mrs. Frieman remains plain and unaffected. On one occasion during the course of a nation-wide campaign she was forced to remain at her headquarters together with four of the staff till the early hours of the morning. Finally, when everyone was dead tired, she ordered her car and conveyed her assistants to her home in Somerset street. Arrived there, Mrs. Frieman girded herself with a house apron and entered the kitchen, and after skilful manipulation of frying pan and skillet with her own hands turned out an appetizing lunch for the staff. After which she sent them to a well-earned rest in the guest chambers.

JUDGE WITH DESPATCHES CROSSED RUNNING ICE

'Twas in Northwest Rebellion That Judge McKay Did Uncle Tom's Cabin Stunt

TO see Judge James MacKay, of Regina, presiding at High court sittings in Saskatchewan, one would never suspect that within the breast of that slender, quiet, modest gentleman beats as stout a heart as ever drove knight forth to deeds of derring-do. When the Riel Rebellion of 1885 broke out, Prince Albert was isolated and after the defeat of the civilian volunteers and the mounted police at the battle of Duck Lake, the position of the residents became serious. The women and children were gathered in the brick Presbyterian church and a rampart of cordwood built around it. James MacKay, attending law school in Winnipeg, volunteered to take despatches to the beleaguered town. Reaching the South Saskatchewan, in the heart of the disaffected district, he found the stream open and full of running ice. He knew his Uncle Tom's cabin. What a desperate woman could do, an adventurous youth of eighteen could at least duplicate. Grasping his despatch bag in place of a baby, he made his perilous way across ice and water. He finished his journey on foot bringing the first welcome news of relief measures. Asked how he crossed, all he would ever say was, "Oh, I just ran across. It was nothing."

SO DRY IN WORCESTER STAMPS STUCK WITH PINS

AT the Hotel Windsor in Montreal this week a man, evidently of Scottish descent, was approached by Colonel George Ham, famous raconteur, and one of Montreal's leading citizens.

"How is your brother Jock getting along down in Worcester?" asked the colonel. "It must be pretty dry for him down there."

"Dry!" replied Sandy. "Man, he's gone parched. I've just had a letter from Jock and the postage stamp was stuck on with a pin."

"THE 460 'Mac' surnames of Glasgow were a moderate number compared with the multitude, over 1,600, of corresponding 'Mac' surnames of various kinds in use in Ireland, besides almost as many different forms of surnames there with the typically Irish prefix 'O,' which now meant the same thing," said G. M. Fraser at a meeting of the Glasgow Archaeological Society.

England's Titled "Red Blood" in the Ring.

HERE is the Marquis of Clydesdale, on the left in the ring at the Bermondsey Town Hall, with E. K. Lucas whom he defeated in six rounds. The Marquis is a well known English amateur boxer, being a member and captain of the Oxford University Boxing club. Only a short time ago, his mother, the Duchess of Hamilton, expressed her satisfaction of her son picking boxing as a side hobby, as she considered the art of self defense one of the best things in the world, and sees absolutely nothing wrong or undignified in it.

Gunmen Sought Tudor In Black and Tan Days

So Did His Wife—Found Him Guarded Almost as Closely as in Ireland

GENERAL "Hughie" Tudor, who has resigned the command of the British forces in Palestine, was chief of police in Ireland during the upheaval of 1920 and 1921 and was much sought after by the gunmen. "I remember seeing him going round a golf course near Dublin with an A.D.C., followed by four stalwart 'caddies,' who were in private life 'Black and Tans', each armed with a couple of automatics," writes a friend.

While Tudor presided over the police, General Macready was commander-in-chief, which led to a witty remark by one of the staff. "England's great mistake in Ireland," he said, "was to make a soldier chief of police and a policeman chief of the army."

In his recent attempt to evade his wife, the general was not quite as successful as with the Sinn Fein. In the English divorce court last July the strange request of her husband asking her to divorce him was related by Lady Tudor, who had proceeded as far as Egypt only to be told by her husband that he refused ever to live with her. Ordered by the court to return to his wife, the general remained obdurate still.

MUSSOLINI has been "putting over" some more big talk lately. He's a bit of a poseur on the quiet. Once, when his presence and advice during a crisis were urgently needed, he refused to budge until he had finished a novel! It is said his calm on that occasion was described as "immense."—Passing Show.

VERGER UNIMPRESSED

THE well-known writer, Mr. Charles Kingston, tells an amusing story concerning Lord Alverstone, who once, when attorney-general sang in the choir of Kensington Parish church.

"One Sunday morning," says Mr. Kingston, "an American lady entered the sacred edifice, bent on seeing the then attorney-general in the choir. As a preliminary, she drew the verger aside, and whisperingly asked him to point out the great man, but the church official was unimpressed.

"You see, ma'am," he said, "there's me and the vicar, but as for the choir, well, as long as they behave themselves, we make no inquiries as to their antecedents."

FOUR IN ROW PUT NEW YORK GIANTS ON TOP

Baltimore Leading International With Their Loss Column Still Blank--Ruth Hits First Home Run But Yankees Are Overwhelmed By Senators.

NEW YORK, April 21 (Canadian Press). — The Giants won their fourth successive victory here yesterday by a score of 2 to 1. Huntzinger, former University of Pennsylanvia hurler, pitched well up to the ninth inning, when Nehf relieved him. Groh's home run with Southworth on base won the game. Boston scored its run in the first, when Tierney and McInnis singled after Cunningham reached base on on error. The score:

Boston	100000000	1	9 0
New York	20000000x	2	8 1

Marquard, McNamara and O'Neil; Huntzinger, Nehf and Gowdy.

WON IN THE NINTH.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 21 (Canadian Press). — A ninth-inning rally in the second game of the series brought the St. Louis Cardinals out of their losing streak to defeat Pittsburgh, 3 to 2, in a closely played game here yesterday. None were out when the Cardinals brought in the winning run. The score:

St. Louis	000100002	3	7 1
Pittsburgh	000200000	2	10 0

Haines, Doak and Vick, Neibergal; Morrison and Gooch.

THREE BANISHED.

CINCINNATI, O., April 21 (Canadian Press). — Cincinnati bunched four hits off Aldridge in the fifth inning and defeated Chicago, 5 to 2, yesterday. Grantham's hitting included a double, a triple, and a home run into the right field bleachers, the first ball ever hit on the fly into that section in a championship contest.

Friberg, Statz and Luque were put out of the game for disputing the decision by Umpires Pirman and Powell. Rush strained his side while at bat in the eighth inning, and gave way to Osborne. The score:

Chicago	100001000	2	8 1
Cincinnati	00013010x	5	9 0

Rush, Osborne and O'Farrell; Luque, May and Hargrave.

RAIN AT BROOKLYN.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., April 21 (Canadian Press). — Rain broke up the Brooklyn-Philadelphia game yesterday after six innings when the score was 4 to 1 in favour of Philadelphia, disappointing 18,000 spectators. Four hits in the fourth inning, including a homer by Williams, who led off, and double by Henline gave the Phillies their lead. Ring was in great form except in the fourth inning, when two singes and a force cost a run. The score:

Philadelphia	001300	4	6 1
Brooklyn	000100	1	4 0

Rin and Henline; Ruether and Deberry.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

WASHINGTON, April 21 (Canadian Press). — Babe Ruth drove out his first home run of the season here yesterday, but his team-mates fell victim to Walter Johnson in a slugging bee, 12 to 3. Ruth's homer cleared the high right field fence in the eighth inning with no one on base. The score:

New York	000001011	3	10 2
Washington	00000462x	12	17 1

Shawkey, Jones, Shields, Gaston and Schang, Autrey; Johnson and Ruel.

DETROIT 9, ST. LOUIS 2.

DETROIT, April 21 (Canadian Press). — George Dauss held St. Louis to three scattered hits yesterday, and Detroit won, 9 to 2. Pruett was effective for the first four innings, but lost control in th fifth, and Detroit scored seven runs. Vangilder relieved him here. Dauss struck out seven men. The score:

St. Louis	100000010	2	3 4
Detroit	10007010x	9	10 1

Pruett, Vangilder, Grant and Severeid; Dauss and Bassler.

SPEAKER'S ERROR HURT.

CHICAGO, April 21 (Canadian Press). — A successfully-executed squeeze play by Ray Schalk and Bill Barrett pushed over the deciding run which gave Chicago a 5 to 4 victory over Cleveland yesterday before a crowd of more than 32,000. Joe Shaute pitched in fine form for the Indians until the eighth, when he weakened, and was replaced by Smith.

In this inning Speaker was guilty of a two-base error when he dropped Kamm's fly. The score:

Cleveland	210100000	4	6 4
Chicago	00000014x	5	8 2

Shaute, Smith, and I. Sewell; Leverette, Davenport, Lyons, Connally, and Schalk.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., April 21 (Canadian Press). — The Toronto Maple Leafs inaugurated their initial series with Jersey City by an 8 to 2 victory in the first half of a scheduled double-header. The first game was cut short by rain at the close of the eighth inning, and the second half of the bargain bill declared off.

Toronto profited from the unsteadiness of Pitcher Earl Hanson, whose liberality in passing resulted in five of the victors' tallies in the first three innings. Nossett finished up for the Skeeters. The score:

Toronto	212000300	8	6 0
Jersey City	100000100	2	6 1

Doyle and Vincent; Hanson, Nossett and Freitag.

THIRTY HITS.

BALTIMORE, April 21 Canadian Press). — Baltimore defeated Syracuse in the opening game of the series here yesterday, 18 to 7. Five moundsmen failed to check the champion Orioles. Syracuse threatened by taking advantage of Wesol's wildness, but Ogden was rushed to his rescue, and with Gockel, held the visitors safe during the rest of the battle. The score:

Syracuse	2100040000	7	15 5
Baltimore	30320046x	18	15 1

Pierrotti, Ward, Hill, Montgomery Hollahan and Nietzi, McKee; Wesol, Ogden, Gockel and Cobb.

Old Sam Langford Battles Poverty

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., April 21.—(Canadian Press).—Almost blind, and "feeling his man out" rather than seeing him, Sam Langford, one of the greatest fighters of his day, but now an old man in the ring game, boxed four rounds here Friday night against Sammy Olson. Out of admiration for the veteran who is making his last stand against penury, the three judges gave Langford the decision by an unanimous vote.

Not seriously injured after three rounds against the veteran, Olson opened out a bit in the last round and began landing on the almost blind man.

With the bell Sam groped his way to his corner feeling along the ropes. Thus is terminating the career of a fighter who has won and lost a fortune.

LINDSAY ARENA IS CONSIDERED

Old Pill Box Is Ready For Discard — Owners Prepared to Build If Assured of Financial Support.

LINDSAY, April 21.—At a meeting of citizens held in the Kiwanis Hall the question of the erection of a new hockey arena was considered. The present so-called rink outlived its usefulness years ago, and it is felt that Lindsay will have to provide a new structure if it is to figure in the O.H.A. in future.

The present owners of the frame rink were present and were prepared to build a rink, providing a sufficient number of citizens expressed a willingness to purchase tickets entitling them to rink privileges for a period of two years, the tickets to sell at $25.00 each.

Another meeting will be held at an early date when the project will be further discussed.

QUEBEC LEAGUE OPENING MAY 15

Vermont and Ontario Cities Included In New Eastern Circuit — Jean Dubuc Leads Canadiens.

MONTREAL, April 20.— Baseball in the newly-formed Quebec, Ontario and Vermont League, will open locally May 15, with Rutland playing against Royals here, Canadiens meeting Jean Dubuc's team at Ottawa, and Quebec playing at Montpelier. These dates were fixed at the passing of the League's schedule at the meeting of the delegates held here Saturday. The complete schedule of the season's games will be given out Thursday.

Arthur Daly, who played baseball here 30 years ago, will pilot the Montpelier team. Quebec has already signed on Mickey Corcoran to manage their team and they will start training at Rutland, May 3.

President Joe Page left to-day for Chicago where he will confer with Charles Comiskey regarding the possibility of getting players under option.

JOHNNY EVERS MANAGES SOX

Succeeds Frank Chance In Managerial Position For Second Time In His Career.

CHICAGO, April 21.—By a twist of fate, Johnny Evers, famous as a player in the bygone days of the great four-time pennant-winning Chicago National machine, succeeded Frank Chance as manager for the second time in his career, when appointed leader of the Chicago Americans on Saturday.

Evers assumed charge of the Sox after Chance, who had been unable to join the club because of illness, was ordered to return to California to effect a cure of the bronchial asthma which has bothered him since his attack of influenza last winter. Chance left for the coast last night, going to Palm Springs, on the edge of the desert, where the dry atmosphere is expected to restore his health.

Chance left with the assurance from Charles Comiskey, owner of the club, that the management of the White Sox would be held open for him; that he had been granted a leave of absence and could assume the direction of the club as soon as his health permitted.

BIGGEST CROWD AT MANCHESTER

Attendance at Old Country League Matches Fell Below Average In Spite of Fine Weather — Features of Day's Matches

LONDON, April 21.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Except at Manchester, Liverpool and Chelsea, attendances at the league matches Saturday fell below the average notwithstanding the fact that lovely weather prevailed. The biggest attendance by far was at the game between Manchester City and Huddersfield, which ended in a draw of one goal each, where forty thousand spectators watched the play. Newcastle, who lost to Chelsea by one to nothing, took a risk by playing nine of their men who will appear in the cup tie final and had to remodel their side five minutes after the start through injury to their centre forward Lowe. They substituted the fast-moving Brown in his place. Andrew Wilson is considered to have had a big hand in securing Chelsea's double victory last week. Among the goal-getters, Chadwick scored three of Everton's four goals against Tottenham's two, thus piling up his fifth goal in two days. He is now the highest goal scorer in the first division with 28 goals to his credit.

Scored Four Goals.

Turner beat this record for the day by scoring all four goals of Merthyr's victory against Bournemouth's two.

A splendid goal was scored by Kelly for Burnley. He sent a fine pass to left wing, who returned the ball to midfield. The leather soared high in the air but Kelly with a terrific effort managed to get his head up high enough to reach the ball and to Cardiff's surprise it entered their net well out of the goal-keeper's reach. This did not, however, save Burnley from a two to one defeat.

The feature of the Bolton-Blackburn Wanderers' game won by the former 3 to 0, was the success of Jones ,the Welsh amateur international, who played for Bolton at centre forward.

Watford who defeated Bristol Rovers 4 to 0, sustained a temporary loss of Smith, whose nose was broken in a collision. He, however, kept on playing after receiving medical attention.

Standing Unchanged.

The five leading teams of the first division are unchanged in position as the result of Friday and Saturday games although Huddersfield are only ahead of Cardiff City on goal average. Everton rises to the sixth position and is followed by Aston Villa, Blackburn and Newcastle. Nott's County advance to tenth position above West Ham and Birmingham .Manchester City and Liverpool change places and then West Bromwich comes. Tottenham drop below Burnley and the rear is brought up by Preston, Arsenal, Nott's Forest, Chelsea and Middlesboro.

In the Second Division, Bury is fast overhauling Leeds United, although the latter still lead by a point. Blackpool is third. Derby displaces Stoke. The next three are unchanged but Stockport drop to 11th place with Clapton Orient and The Wednesday above them, while Leicester fall to 13th position below Barnsley. Then come Manchester United, Coventry, Crystal Palace, Bradford, Hull and Port Vale with the last three positions unchanged.

Third Division.

Portsmouth have regained the leadership of the Southern Section of the Third Division on goal averages over Millwall, while Swansea rise above Brighton. There follow Plymouth and Northampton, Swindon and Luton change places and the next five are unchanged. Merthyr displaces Aberdere with Exeter, Reading, South End, Watford, Brentford, Queen's Park Rangers and Bournsmouth at the bottom of the table.

Wolverhampton Wanderers as expected, have recaptured the leadership of the Northern Section of the Third Division, although only on goal average over Rochdale, but the Wolves have a game in hand. The next four are unchanged. Southport rise to seventh position and are followed by Ashington, Grimsby, and Wigan with Tranmere who make a big jump next. The remainder in order are: Accrington, Halifax, Doncaster, Wrexham, Walsall, Durham, New Brighton, Lincoln, Crewe, Barrow and Hartlespool.

'Tis Not Coin But Fame These Chileans Seek??

The early spring invasion of foreign pugs has started. Heading the list are two Chileans, Quintin Romero-Rojas, heavyweight champion of his beloved country, and Luis Vicentini, lightweight champion of the dear old homeland.

Mr. Romero-Rojas has asked promoters to match him only with top-notchers. "I seek fame, not money" he declares, without cracking a smile.

Mr. Vicentini feels the same way about it, he asserts. On the occasion of his last visit here Mr. Vicentini was rather roughly dealt with by Johnny Shugrue, the one-eyed battler.

Some Sporting Comment

Our Kingston Standard friend whose gentlemanly language and courteous style of repartee and bright spots in this between season doldrum scems to have missed the point of the Examiner's reference to him last week. It was merely sought to impress upon him that when he tried to pick a lineup for the Petes he was talking about something at which he could know nothing, for as a matter of fact, outside the battery positions the Petes batting order will depend upon what the large squad of players show between now and May 21st. No one is sure of a position and the Standard man in reconstructing last year's lineup is wasting time. His boasts about the Kingston team are amusing of course, in view of what he said last summer about the Circle Six Juniors and what happened to that chirpy bunch when the Lakeviews clashed into them, but if he can be happy writing that kind of stuff until the season opens far be it from us to cheat him of that pleasure, seeing that there is a long summer during which he may see the error of his ways.

* * * * * * * * *

But if he really wants to be of service to the Kingston Ponies here is a tip. Get after the gang down there until they make a real ball diamond out of the Exhibition Grounds. It is useless to look for good ball on that rough hard-baked field with its pile of shifting sand for a pitching rubber. The Kingston fans rarely saw a game last summer in which the winning team's total did not reach double figures and on more than one occasion teams scored over ten runs, one exhibition game with Ottawa having a final of 18 to 15 was played there 1st summer and outside of one excellent performance by Ted Gallagher who held the Petes to four hits there was no pitching feats to enthuse about.

The : couldn't be under the conditions for no pitcher can do his stuff from a box of that nature on a diamond where a bunt is liable to roll into a two bagger and a grounder through the infield is very apt to be a home hun.

Bill Skitch, "Punch" Derry and Thomson of last year's Cobourg team are applying to Central League for permission to play with Peterboro this season as the nearest senior town. They naturally don't want to stay out of fast basball and with Cobourg out of it would like to throw in their lot with the Petes. With this trio added to the squad already in line the only trouble the local management would have would be in making selections among so much material. There is no better second baseman in thees parts than Skitch, whose fielding is fast and clever and who hits in hard and timely fashion. Derry is a useful pitcher and a good hitter while Thomson, although he played the outfield last year on account of an injured arm, is a classy short stop and with his wing in good shape again would look sweet in any inner guard in the circuit.——F. SOCCER SEASON OPENED VETS AND THISTLES DRAW

Well Over Five Hundred Spectators Witnessed An Excellent Game Saturday

VETS 1, THISTLES 1.

The opening of the local league fixture between the Vets and Thistles brought out well over five hundred spectators, at King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon. There was a cold west wind blowing, which was booked by Vets in the first half. Both teams showed many new faces in their line-up and game ended in a draw—one goal each.

The first brush promised well for the Vets, but Bishop kicked clear when J. Wade was in a good position to score. Afterwards, the Jags came into the light, gaining two unproductive corners. Parkins cleared to mid-field where Dawson tackled and placed Burgess with the ball but Crowe nipped in nicely to save the situation. Again and again, the Vets attacked without any result, which, no doubt, Rae and Bishop deserve credit ,holding the elusive Vet forwards outside danger zone. It was an occasional break-away by Thistles forwards that called Griffine into view when he picked up cleverly from Dawson and Richmond. Play ran from end to end, until Burgess got a fruitless corner off Mann. From an accurate pass by J. Wade to the outside left, Gash centred well for Dyer and Bishop to tackle cleverly. The old Vet player punted up field, but Dyer returned again to outwit the defence and tried to put the ball inside far upright but went past ,as Curtis threw himself across the goal to save. An abortive Thistle attack was countered by a Vet raid, then Dawson came back again with clever tactics that just missed the upright. Play slackened down and Blowers was holding the Hutton-Burgess wing. He gained the ball at mid-field, shot for goal that hit the cross-bar when Jas. Wade had no difficulty in beating Curtis who made a splendid attempt to save. This success to the Vets renewed life into the game. A fine clearance by Rae was followed by a chance for T. Williams but he was too slow in getting in his kick, as Crowe kicked to touch. A dash along the wing by F. Wade ended in a beautiful centre when Bishop headed forward and punted clear, then half-time arrived—Vets 1, Thistle 0.

Half Time.

In the re-opening minutes, F. Wade showed smartness in catching on to a forward pass. Bishop ran him into the corner for a Vets' throw-in. McBeth beat Dyer, then passed forward to A. Williams, who let Burgess have a try at Griffine. Then Dawson beat three players in succession but missed an opportunity by being too eager to shoot. Wasson was fortuntae to check the jag player at cruciar moment. Mann got the ball as he collided with T. Williams, who was winded in the tackle. A foul against Dawson brought danger to Thistle as the Wade brothers went up together on goal, where Curtis kicked clear at the critical moment. Jackson sent Burgess along the wing. Wasson returned, then Dawson let Richmond have the ball, who placed to outside right. He beat Blowers, then Wasson and sent an oblique shot into far corner of the goal, to even up the score. Always on the move, Parkin and Dawson had many a tussle and a foul against the latter was not dangerous. Then Jackson shot forward to Richmond. The centre made straight for goal, with Crowe and Wasson in attendance, but he hit the ball with his hand when in an excellent position to score. A few minutes afterwards, Williams brothers evaded Mann and Crowe. T. Williams hit the upright. Griffine fisted out and when doing so, Jags' inside man fouled the goal keeper.. Crowe placed his kick to Dyer who sent F. Wade along the line, McBeth compelled him to kick out. From the throw-in, J. Wade lifted the ball into Thistle goal, Jackson robbed Gash, to place to Dawson. He went down into Vets' area, passed out to Hutton who missed the upright. At the other end, Dyer did the same. Play went back to Vets' territory where Griffine was tested repeatedly and found safe. Quick as a flash the Vets retaliated with Curtis being the deciding factor on two occasions. The both teams were now really worn out, through the lack of training, which ultimately told in the play. The score of one goal each was really a true verdict of the game—Vets 1, Thistle 1.

Mr. J. L. Howarth handled the game in a very able manner and paid no attention to spectators "hollerin'."

G.W.V.A.— Griffin, goal; Crowe and Wasson, backs; Mann, Parkins, and Blowers, backs; F. Wade, Dyer, J. Wade, McFadden and Gash forwards.

Thistle — Curtis, goal; Rae and Bishop, backs; Jackson, Dawson and McBeth, half-backs; Burgess, Hutton, Richmond, A. Williams and T. Williams, forwards.

Referee—J. L. Howarth.

SPORT GOSSIP

Although there was a chill in the air that suggested football rather than baseball, the 1924 ball season was opened at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon when the Central League squad turned out for the first workout of the year. Very little work was attempted, Manager Solomon voting it too cold to take chances so the practice consisted of chasing flies, followed by batting practice, no infield work being started. The most pleasing thing about it was the turnout both of fans and players. Among the latter out were Max Swanston, Al. Heckman, "Shiner" Johnston, Geo. Helson, Frankie Collins, Herb Wolfe and Cecil Shaughnessy of last year's Central League team; Jimmy Hall of the C.G.E. intermediate champions, Fred Batten of the Adanacs, Doug Moore second baseman of the Lakeview Junior Ontario champions, three youngsters who will be likely candidates for this year's Central League outfit, Tommy Holyman, Charlie Serth, the left-handed pitcher who is expected to take some of the load of Heckman's shoulders this year, Crosby of the University of Toronto, Fred Ash of the Lakeviews 1922 team, Frank Whitehouse and Lou Lebarr of last year's Lakeviews who will be with the junior champions again this season, Ray Rose and Eddie Dugan of the C.G.E. team and last but not least Micky Murray who, home from Oshawa for the Easter week-end, could not resist the temptation to get out and loosen up.

The pitchers took no chances. Heckman did not throw at all, contenting himself with taking his turn in the batting practice while Serth tossed a few to Swanston.

"Hap" Harrison had to go to Toronto and was an absentee but will be out at the end of the week as will "Red" Legon who is expected home from Queen's in a day or two.

If the weather warms up enough night practices will start immediately, as the Petes have an exhibition game here a week from Saturday with the strong St. Michael's College team of Toronto, a game that will afford a good opportunity to try ou the Petes squad.

Riverside Park is being groomed for the season. The city's staff is at work and deep left field, which was in bad shape has been levelled and will be rolled so that there will be no alibis for left gardeners in the future. The skinned portion of the infield is to be given a top dressing of clay and when it is set should be the best diamond in the circuit.

There promises to be an unusually keen battle for places on the line-up as the addition to the squad of a number of "up-and-coming" youngsters who have won their spurs in junior ranks means that some of the more experienced players will have to fight for their position. All of which is good for the fighting spirit of the 1924 Petes.

AIRDRIE WON SCOTTISH CUP

Crowd of 60,000 at Glasgow Saw Final on Saturday—Hibernians Were Better On the Afternoon's Play.

IBROX PARK, Glasgow, April 21. Canadian Press Cable. — Airdrieonians and Hibernians met in the final of the Scottish Association Football Cup here Saturday afternoon before 60,000 spectators, and Airdrie won by two goals to none.

Both goals were scored in the first half by Russell and both were headed through. On the play the Hibernians were the better team, but Thwarts goalkeeping for Airdrie was brilliant. The first goal was scored three minutes after the start and the second after thirty-seven minutes.

In the second half the Hibernians appeared to lose heart but the play of either side was never exciting at any time. Airdrie's early goal gave them confidence which meant the victory. The Hibernian backs were weak.

MUSSOLINI SAW ITALIANS WIN

University Players Defeated English University Picked Team At Soccer By 3-0.

ROME, April 21 (Canadian Press) —A picked team of Italian University players yesterday defeated an English University picked team by 3 goals to 0 in a soccer game.

A driving wind blew throughout the contest.

Premier Mussolini, British Ambassador Graham, and a crowd of 20,000 spectators witnessed the contest.

The Italian players showed marked superiority over their English opponents, although both teams were lacking in efficient team work.

The Italians commenced play against the wind, and were on the defensive until the end of the first half, when by successful dribbling and passing they succeeded in registering the first goal of the game.

In the second half play was practically in the territory of the Englishmen throughout.

In addition to scoring two other goals, the Italians frequently had the Englishmen hard pressed to prevent further scoring.

After the game Premier Mussolini received the captains of the two teams in his box.

GREB LOST ON FOUL.

BOSTON, April 20.— Kid Norfolk, of New York, negro light heavyweight, won from Harry Greb, middleweight champion of the world, on a foul in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round bout here last night. The boxers engaged in an unofficial fight when Greb struck Norfolk after the bell had rung, ending the round.

No championship was involved in the bout, which was at catch weights. Norfolk outweighed Greb by about ten pounds.

Discovery of gold, copper, silver and zinc has been reported from the vicinity of Exeter, Mo.

To sell the customer who is "out"

"Use the Bell to Sell"

J. M. McHardy
Manager

NEARLY every traveller misses some customers when he is making his rounds. One salesman, whose resourcefulness will likely land him in a Sales Manager's job some day, has devised an ingenious plan to keep from losing even one of these occasional sales.

He fills out and leaves at his customers a form he had printed to meet just such occasions.

Mr. Cox,
I regret you were not in when I called today. I will telephone your (office or residence) about.....A.M.....P.M. (date).
Will you please check over your stock so that you will know your requirements when I telephone?
(Signed) John Doe,
Grand Supply Co.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that he will get the order. But think of the effect on the customer, too! John Doe, who missed seeing him, is interested enough to call him by telephone, to get his order! If he calls after 8.30 p.m. he gets the evening rate.

These otherwise-missed orders count up in the course of a year, and it's so easy to get them by Long Distance.

GOOD FRIDAY IN LAKEFIELD

Three Services at St. John's Anglican Church — Sermons By Rev. Walter Cox on Passion of Christ.

LAKEFIELD, Apr. 19.—There were three services in St. John's Church on Good Friday, the 10.30 a.m. service was the ante-communion service with an address by the rector on the group which gathered round the cross on the first Good Friday, the Roman soldiers and the Centurian, the women at the foot of the cross, the mocking crowd and the apostles standing afar off gazing in shame and sorrow at their Lord. Shame that they had forsaken him in the hour of His extremity and sorrow at His cruel death. At the afternoon Passion service the rector spoke on the missionary aspect of the seven last words from the cross.

In the evening, the message of Good Friday was presented in a thoughtful manner, which could not fail to impress those present. Easter is the great festival of the church and the preparation on Good Friday is essential.

Funeral of Mrs. Rowe

The funeral of the late Mrs. Albert Rowe took place from the residence of her mother, Mrs. Larush, Concession Street, on Good Friday afternoon at one o'clock. After a short service, taken by Rev. Walter Cox, the funeral cortege left for the Lakefield Cemetery at 1.30, where interment took place beside a son of the deceased. Her husband, four sons and her mother were mourners. Mr. Cox gave a short address at the house, touching on the significance of Good Friday and Christ's sacrifice on Calvary.

Y.W.C.A. PREPARING FOR BIG EXHIBITION

In the big gymnasium at the Y.W.C.A. steps and drills and classes of every sort are going on eternally during the practise period that precedes the big gymnasium Exhibition. Miss Littlefield is putting her usual ardour and vim into the preparations, assisted by a very energetic corps of ladies, who are getting the hundreds of costumes ready. To clothe in fancy attire several hundreds of young people, in ages that range all the way from the wriggling time of eight and nine and ten, in little boys, to the mature seniors whose costumes demand a good deal of planning, to train them in all the evolutions of drills and dances of various types, and to see that they are on hand at practice times, is a very difficult matter, but the success of previous 'Y' exhibitions of this sort is a guarantee that this year's event will be equally, if not surpassingly good.

An entirely new programme is promised for this year, with a special exhibition of difficult Swedish exercises, some tricky drills in wand and red and dumb-bell work, and above all, some very lovely dances of the interpretive order. The Russian suite promises to be exceptionally good. The young ladies in their Russian Rhapsody dance show already the effect of good training. Their number will be more ambitious than anything yet attempted here in this line, delineating the spirit of Russia in a series of dance pictures, showing the national trend of the different provinces, Tartary, Caucasia, and the rest.

FOUND BODY ON TRACK WITH THE HEAD SEVERED

SAULT STE MARIE, April 21 (Canadian Press).—Dr. A. S. McCaig, coroner, left to-day for Desabrats to hold an inquest into the death of Michael Egan, whose body was found lying on the C.P.R. track near Portlick yesterday afternoon with the head severed. It is thought that he was run over by C.P.R. train No. 18, yesterday, though no one is known to have seen the accident.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

GREAT CAST AND STORY IN LOVE'S WHIRLPOOL AT THE ROYAL NOW—MANY THRILLING SCENES.

One of the Most Realistic Scenes Ever Shot is in "Love's Whirlpool"

Moving picture thrills, like women's fashions, are continually changing. Not so long ago, train wrecks were "the rage." This season the taste runs to shipwrecks. But a fire at sea is a comparative novelty; a "creation." This time it has been executed by Bruce Mitchell in "Love's Whirlpool," which comes to the Royal Theatre for a three days' run, commencing to-day.

The fire begins at the pre-dawn hour of three, when the passengers of a giant liner are deep in slumber. Flames blow off the hatch of the for'ard hold and, battling their way against the efforts of the ship's fire-fighters, send the terrified passengers dashing from their staterooms to huddle on the blistering deck.

Critics who have seen "Love's Whirlpool," which was adapted to the screen by Elliott Clawson and Bruce Mitchell from the novel by Martha Lord, "The Inner Sight," have declared the fire scene to be one of the most realistic and pulse-thrilling actions of a photodrama ever pictured.

James Kirkwood, Lila Lee and Madge Bellamy have leading roles, while others in the cast are Robert Agnew as Larry, Mathew Betz as "Pinkey" Sellers, an underworld spy; Edward Martindel as the banker, Margaret Livingston as a maid in the Milton home, Madge Bellamy as the financier's daughter, Clarence Geldert as his lawyer and Joe Mills as "Parson" Monks, an ex-convict.

LONG AND VARIED PROGRAM AT ROYAL TO-NIGHT.

In addition to the big production, "Love's Whirlpool," the added attractions at the Royal consist of two comedies, Harry Sweet,, supported by the Folly Girls, in "Own a Lot" and "Family Troubles." For the art lovers, "By Lantern Light" will have special appeal, and additional thrills are supplied by Helen Gibson in a thrilling railroad drama, "The Perilous Leap." The evening performance starts at 7.30 and the evening prices are only 20c and 25c, including tax.

PICTURE IS DARING EXPOSE OF SOCIETY

Jazz, glorified and depraved; jazz, aggravated and yet not exaggerated, seeped in jazz, the social life of America battles degradation and tragedy with its mask of "respectability."

There is a strong human lesson to be had in jazz, and the moral is forcefully conveyed in "Flaming Youth," a picture produced by First National, featuring Colleen Moore, which is showing at the Capitol to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture is a spectacle, but it does not rely upon the spectacular to attain its purpose. As entertaining and daring as the book, by Warner Fabian, it carries the thrills that can be had in hectic drinking parties, blatant, tricky jazz music, impromptu swimming parties, where bathing suits are not considered prerequisite.

As forceful and significant as tragedy of life itself, the picture artistically and intelligently carries its moral lesson. To the director John Francis Dillon, must go a great deal of credit for he has put into this picture the explosive situations of a melodrama.

Colleen Moore playing "Pat," enacts her role with amazing realism, maintaining always her purer ideals despite her surrender to curiosity. Myrtle Sedman, playing the mother, once again demonstrates that she is an actress of no unimportant degree. She is perfectly cast.

"Flaming Youth" is worth seeing. There is something new in its quality that approaches poetry, or silent music. It's a whirl, a dip, a high kick and a shimmy.

HARMONY SINGERS AND COMEDIANS IS VAUDEVILLE AT CAPITOL TO-DAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

The Three Pals, harmony singers and comedians, is the vaudeville attraction at the Capitol Theatre to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday. This is considered one of the best musical acts that has yet played the Paramount circuit and was secured by the Capitol as a special holiday offering to patrons, along with the sensational production of the startling novel, "Flaming Youth."

AT THE GRAND

VISIT OF "LONDON'S GREAT CONCERT 8"

Under Distinguished Patronage.

Some of the patrons of "London's Great Concert 8," the English concert party, which is now visiting Canada for the first time includes amongst others Sir Landon Ronald, Principal of Guildhall School of Music; James Glover, Editor of "Concert Worland"; H. L. Balfour, Conductor, Royal Albert Hall; John Bunting, Chairman, Northwood Hall Catholic Club, and many other distinguished world famous authorities on music.

This concert company, which is the first of the world famous English concert parties to visit Canada, is scheduled to appear at the Grand, Tuesday, April 22nd.

Music lovers all over the community are stirred by this announcement, and this company of England's premiere concert artistes, can be assured that a royal welcome is awaiting their coming. The artists include Tom Copeland, Scotland's Prime Minister of Mirth; Wilfred Virgo, Tenor; Molly O'Moore, Irish Soprano; Suzette Tarri, London's favorite soubrette; Dorothy Alwynne, Scotland's leading female violinist, and Joan Duff, the sixteen-year old classical pianist, who has taken all London by storm, the past year; also Walter Nunn, L.R.A.M. and A.G.S.M., brilliant 'cell ist and Richard Alexander, Baritone, more familiarly known as "sergeant" among musical circles, being as he is, one of the few surviving members of the old "contemptibles."

DEMONSTRATION OF THE DR. COUE SYSTEM

Prof. Marcel Andre to Tell Peterboro' People How to Help Themselves With Auto Suggestion.

Peterboro' is to have a practical demonstration of the Coue system of auto suggestion to which marvellous results are attributed.

All have heard of Dr. Emile Coue from the famed school in Nancy, France, and to think of him is to con over his great saying which has circled the world: "Day by day, in every way, I'm getting better and better." Dr. Coue is back pursuing his life work in the famous clinic, but the gospel which he preached is being carried on by ardent followers. On Monday, Prof. Marcel Andre, one of his students, from the same famous school in Nancy will come to Peterboro to lecture and to give demonstrations and to tell Peterboro' people how to help themselves, the members of their families and their friends.

He does not come on a curing mission in the accepted sense of the term. He invites sufferers to benefit from the demonstration which will be a feature of his Monday evening lecture, but his real mission is to educate the people to help themselves. Direct suggestion has always been the treatment used at the Nancy clinics and by its wonderful results have been achieved. That the mind has complete power over the body is the doctrine which he teaches and he does not limit the power to physical ailments. Children who are lazy, untruthful, dishonest and disobedient, can be made truthful and honest in ten days if their parents so will it is the claim Prof. Andre makes.

Auto suggestion as developed by Dr. Coue has been accepted by scientists and others. Prof. Andre will fully explain and demonstrate the system at his lecture on Wednesday, April 23rd, at the Grand at 8.15 p.m., for one night only. He has a wonderful message and in addition is a striking personality with a fascinating manner and his subject is handled in a masterly and eloquent style.

More for the purpose of limiting the audience to those really interested than for any other reason, a nominal admission fee of fifty cents will be charged for the Peterboro' lecture which has been arranged by a number of local people who had entertained hopes of hearing Dr. Coue and who, failing this, readily embraced the opportunity to bring Prof. Andre, a student of the original school at Nancy.

AT THE REGENT

"THE MAN LIFE PASSED BY" IS GREAT ENTERTAINMENT

Victor Schertzinger's Production for Metro has Splendid Story and Reaches all Manner of Thrills and Emotional Heights.

If a splendid story, with a tear now and then and a tempest of thrills and heart throbs, making ideal screen entertainment, no fan can possibly afford to pass by "The Man Life Passed By," Victor Schertzinger's new Metro production that opened a three days' engagement at the Regent Theatre to-day.

Written by Mr. Schertzinger with Winifred Dunn, who did the scenario, and enacted under Mr. Schertzinger's excellent direction by a cast of such notable players as Percy Marmont, Jane and Eva Novak, Cullen Landis, Lydia Knott and Hobart Bosworth, "The Man Life Passed By" is highly satisfying entertainment.

Combining all the popular ingredients of the photoplay, "The Man Life Passed By" welds them all into a perfect punch drama that has the spectator "on edge" constantly bringing a lump to his throat one minute, and the next sending him into an ecstasy of excitement over a thrilling fight or a tense scene such as the picture abounds in.

Then, too, there is great variety in the backgrounds of the picture. The spectator is taken from scenes in the slums to views of the most extravagant kind of rich men's homes. In connection with the latter Mr. Schertzinger may boast of what is perhaps the "orgiest" of all orgies ever filmed. This is a "Roman Revel" in the home of two sisters. With a crowd of guests numbering two or three hundred, everyone is dressed or rather draped in old Roman costume, barring a slight evidence of modern times in the "no metal can touch you" garters of a few of the men.

The garden is turned into an arena with a raised dias in the centre. This filled with fancy girls is the scene of a great struggle when the men at a given signal, try to tumble them from their perch. As if this were not enough, a chariot race is also staged in which the young men are used as horses.

Mr. Marmot has the role of John Turbin whose invention is stolen by "Iron Man" Moore (Hobart Bosworth). Turbin curses life for its unfairness to him, but a good influence is brought into contact with the embittered man by a girl mission worker, who unknown to him is the "Iron Man's" daughter. This role is played by Jane Novak, whose sister, Eva, appears as her younger sister, in the photoplay. It is when this younger sister falls into Turbin's clutches fleeing from a framed raid on the "Spotted Dog," and Turbin sees his opportunity to revenge himself on "Iron Man" Moore through his helpless daughter, that the audience is treated to some absorbing drama. Turpin repents of his treatment of the girl, and goes to apologize and ask justice of Moore at the "Iron Man's" home, where he is shot down.

But all these misfortunes can only make the solution so much the happier when at last the tangled threads of the story are drawn together and the young couples realize love. J. J. Hughes was art director and Chester A. Lyons was photographer. Put "The Man Life Passed By" on your list of pictures that can't be missed.

ST. ANDREW'S SCHOLARS HAD AN OPEN SESSION

The Sunday school of St. Andrew's met in open session Easter Sunday afternoon with a bumper attendance and Superintendent, Mr. J. McKone, in charge. The principal feature of the programme was the choruses sung by a children's choir, which had been trained for the occasion by the school pianist. They sang the following selections with fine spirit and feeling: "The Children's Hosana," "Bells of Victory," "The King Triumphant," "In the Quiet Garden."

Dorothy Henry and Helen Heffernan each gave an appropriate Easter recitation. The pastor gave a short talk and Mr. Norman Brand's class led the school in the reading of the lesson. It was a fine Easter programme and the unique Easter decorations added greatly to the interest of the occasion.

SAME ROPE TOOK LIFE OF HUSBAND AND WIFE

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., April 21 (Canadian Press). — Using the same rope with which his wife had hanged herself less than two months ago, Albert Grobel, 50 years of age, a farm hand residing several miles from this city, just off the Albany-Schenectady Highway, ended his own life by hanging on Sunday, it became known to-day.

His body was found by relatives with whom he lived, suspended from the same bed post from which his wife had committed suicide.

Despondency and his failure to obtain work are believed to have been responsible for his act.

Sleep in peace, your cares are done.
You have gone where those who love you,
Soon are coming one by one.

Inserted by son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs Howard James and family.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mrs. W. J. Davis, who passed away at Nicholls Hospital, April 21, 1922:

The silent grief within our souls,
No human eye can trace,
For many a broken heart is hid
Behind a smiling face.

Time may pass from year to year
And friends from day to day,
But never will the one we loved
Forever fade away.

The Lindsay Post of recent date containse some very complimentary references to Peterborough musical talent, in a report of a piano recital given in the Cambridge street Methodist church by a young sixteen-year old youth of Fenelon Falls, James Davies, assisted by Mrs. Geo. H. King, soprano soloist of Trinity Methodist church, accompanied by Mr. G. H. King.

The Post says: "Much credit for the success of the recital is due to the assisting artist, Mrs. Geo. H. King, of Peterborough, who rendered six exceptionally fine vocal selections. Mrs. King is an accomplished vocalist, possessing a voice of good range and particularly well developed medium and low notes. Good judgment was shown in the variety of selections rendered, some of which required a touch of dramatic interpretation. Her selections were of the tuneful, catchy type, but yet selections that showed to good effect the fine voices of the soloist. "Leetle Batiste" (O'Hara) which tells Drummond's habitant story, set to music, was particularly pleasing, as was the quaint coon lullaby which was sung as an encore."

Patronesses for the big Easter dance, to be held this evening in the G.W.V.A. hall, under the auspices of the War Veterans, will be Mrs. N. H. Sutton and Mrs. E. H. Wood. Three hundred invitations have been issued for this dance.

Canadian Stock Exchange and Mines | New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, April 21. — This week will undoubtedly be an important one in the stock market. The stocks have a downward movement of approximately 6 points, but in the last two days of last week it recovered about 2 points. The question remains to be seen if the bull movement will continue or are the short interests still strong enough to depress the market down to lower levels. Sugar and coppers show to be strengthened, but their appeal is limited and can hardly be expected to turn the whole list.

The European situation seems brighter, large loans having been granted and promises large purchases of raw product in this country.

G. W. V. A. HELD ANNUAL PARADE

St. Peter's Cathedral Was Scene of Commemorative Service Yesterday —Second Battle of Ypres Anniversary.

Nine years ago on April 22, 1915, Canadian troops faced the first poison gas loosed from the German lines in the Ypres salient; and stood their ground when the French colonial troops who were on their flank fell back. Yesterday in St. Peter's Cathedral, a church parade of war veterans of Peterboro' honored the men who first brought honor to Canadian arms.

Solemn High Mass was celebrated, the celebrant being Rev. J. Collins, assisted by Rev. Father Gleeson, deacon, and Rev. C. Carroll, sub-deacon, with Rev. J. Guiry and Rev. P. Costello also within the sanctuary. The address was given by Rev. George Daly, C.SS.R. of Toronto.

In a letter read by Rev. Father Costello, His Lordship Bishop O'Brien conveyed his regrets in his inability to be present to personally greet the veterans. His realization of the sacrifices made by the overseas soldiers had been heightened, he said, by his visit to the battle front, and he prayed that the sense of gratitude of government and people would never wane. Rev. Father Costello, speaking from his knowledge of the war as he gained in service as a Chaplain, personally welcomed the soldiers to the Cathedral. "At any time you men wish to come to this Cathedral," he said, "you are of all men most welcome."

Reminiscences.

"To see your war veterans grouped around God's holy altar on Easter Sunday," Rev. Father Daily said in opening his inspirational address, makes the heart tremulous and makes the mind travel back to the days when you were over there under shell fire and we were praying and hoping that you would bring back victory in the folds of your flag. The world was astonished on August 4, 1914, when it heard Germany was out to conquer Europe and the world. Some laughed and others feared and for many months we did not know what would happen. When you boys suddenly grasped the fact that it would be, as Lord Roberts said, a long drawn out conflict, before long the travelling lanes of the ocean were carrying ships freighted with thousands of our soldiers to those who were crying to Canada for men, more men, and yet more men.

Then on April 22, 1915, while our soldiers were in the salient of Ypres, there came swirling across no man's land a green bank of vapour. It was the first poison gas! The French on your flank broke; they were panic-stricken; but you Canadian boys filled the gap and held the line until help came and won the day. That is why April 22nd will remain a glorious day in the great war and that glory is reflected on the Canadian troops. They spoke of us as the "Contemptibles," but we were strong enough to meet them in death.

You are here to-day to tell us what happened, but particularly to thank God for delivering us from what would have happened if the Germans had won. We must feel a sense of pride—we are proud of your valour, but we also have a sense of sorrow. You boys remember to-day the companions who fell by your side and who now sleep in Flanders' Fields, and I am sure a prayer will go up to God for them.

On a day like this our minds become reminiscent. What changes have come over the world! We have seen all Europe ploughed with the plough of war; empires have been swept away and the map of Europe has been transformed. Tell me frankly, has Europe peace? No! they said there was peace and there was no peace."

Only One True Peace.

"What will bring to victory its final crown?" the speaker said, "Only when people settle down to observe the law of Christ and His Gospel will there be perfect peace. Did you ever find this world in so chaotic a condition as now? There is the conflict between capital and labor; England is going through a crisis; in politics, governments are changing continually. We have not yet peace. It is only when the relations that should exist between man and God are once more established that peace will come.

This ceremony brings a poignant memory, but it also brings a great lesson. Pray that peace will come and your sacrifice will not be in vain. It will have been in vain if the world continues to drift from its Christian moorings as it is to-day.

Let me thank you in the name of this congregation and in the name of the country for what you have done. You suffered for us in the muddy trenches and on the shell swept field. I thank you for your courage, and urge you to bring back with you to-day the lesson that true peace is only to be found in the Christ Who is risen from the dead. His wish was "Peace be with you." Let me say to the world, "The peace of Christ be with you."

It is not with armies you will give peace; it must come from within. Let us thank Him you are still with us, and let us not forget your brothers who sleep in Flanders' fields. Whisper a prayer over their graves, and let us ask for the world that peace in which true prosperity will be found."

Good Parade.

There was a good parade of veterans, headed by the bands of the Peterboro Rangers and the Bugle Band, under Comrade Commander Major N. H. Sutton and Captain S. Whatley.

FIRST STATE BANK HAS SUCCESSFUL OPENING OF NEW BRANCH AT DREXEL.

The new branch of the First State Bank of Detroit marks another success for this modern and efficient institution. This branch is under the management of Mr. Frank W. Simpson, formerly of Peterboro, Ont., long experienced in the policies pursued by this concern and fitted in every way to meet the requirements of its patrons.

The building is a credit not only to the builders, the bank and the designer but to Charlevoix Avenue. The interior is beautifully finished in walnut and is modernly equipped in every way. Their opening day was most satisfactory and the manager, Mr. Simpson, wishes the editor of this paper to express to its readers his appreciation of their visits and patronage during opening week and to give an assurance of continued courtesies in the future and a full co-operation with the business interests of the community. This banking institution is one of the strongest in the city, showing total assets of over $20,000,000, and is a member of the Federal Reserve Bank. The latest new branch is located at the corner of Drexel and Charlevoix.—Detroit News.

MILITARY RULE NECESSARY FOR SPAIN'S FUTURE

King Alfonso Approves Directory Control Now In Full Activity—Time Required to Manifest the Results of the Change — King's Conception of His Duty.

LOVE COUNTRY FIRST.

PARIS, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—King Alfonso views the military directory governing Spain as necessary to the future elfare of the country, according to the correspondent of Figaro, who has interviewed the Spa ish sovereign at Madrid.

"The directory is now in full activity," Alfonso is quoted as saying. "So important a task obviously cannot be accomplished in a single day. There is no sense in knocking down if you don't at the same time build up, for it must be admitted that everything in the regime prior to the directory was found on unstable bases—was elaborated on false notions—and that we lacked the requisite energy to react against the state of things. That is why each of us in in reality responsible for the past errors."

Asked his conception of the role of a modern monarch, the King, after a moment's thought, replied:

"A kingship is not a vocation that one chooses. It is a duty thrust upon us. I have been king since childhood and all my education was inspired by the royal functions I had to fulfill. I was always taught to obey my people and love my country—as a Spaniard first and then as a king. If I had been free to choose my own career I probable would have been a soldier and should never have wanted to be a king. But I was born a king, and whatever may happen, under whatsoever circumstances, I shall always be at the service of my country."

Montreal Tourist Tide Floating In

MONTREAL, April 22.—(Canadian Press). — That Montreal is on the eve of its biggest automobile season and that from 175,000 to 300,000 cars will enter the Province of Quebec this year is the conviction of officials of the Royal Automobile Club of Canada, expressed here last night, and based on correspondence and reports received by George A. McNamee, Secretary of the club. United States cars from Miami, Florida, Washington and Philadelphia have already reached Montreal, and for the first time in the history of the club citizens of the United States are inquiring for information as to car rates to Europe, indicating that they will drive from New York, Chicago and other points to this city and take ship here for European ports.

LAST DOLLARS BOUGHT PISTOL

Stranger Who Committed Suicide in Montreal Died Rather Than Beg--Directs Body For Dissection.

MONTREAL, April 22. — A verdict of suicide was returned here yesterday in the case of the unidentified man who shot himself through the head in an uptown cafe early on Sunday morning. He died at the General Hospital shortly before noon the same day.

A letter was found in the man's pockets in which it was stated that the writer had shot himself, and that no one else was to blame. He added that he had pawned all his belongings and out of his few remaining dollars had bought a revolver with which to kill himself, as he was unable to find employment, and rather than beg or starve, would end his life.

"I know very little about palmistry," said a paragraph of this letter, "but have noticed a decided break in my life line to take effect about this time in my life." The letter ended with a request that his body be given to the medical students at a university.

The deceased was a man about 50 years of age, bald, clean shaven and neatly dressed.

Hundred Cases of Whiskey Removed From Department

Daugherty Investigating Committee Hears the Officials Kept Confiscated Liquor For Their Friends—Rich Convicts Given Privileges.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Allegations of liquor disappearance at the Department of Justice, of defaults in anti-trust law prosecutions, and of privileges extended to "millionaire convicts," at Atlanta Federal penitentiary, were made Monday before the Senate Daugherty investigating committee.

Speaker Gillett of the House was allowed to open the hearing by entering an emphatic denial that any of the liquor seized by the Department ever reached him, and Chairman Thompson of the Federal Trade Commission, who will be heard to greater extent later, began an account of that body's endeavor to induce the Department of Justice under Attorney-General Daugherty to institute criminal proceedings under the anti-trust law.

F. M. Boucher, a clerk dismissed by W. J. Burns, from the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice in 1921, said officials in the Department had been accustomed to keep good liquor from seizure in their offices, for dispensing to friends, while Alonso E. Bunch, who got a court order for the restoration of over 100 cases of whiskey, told a story of long and fruitless efforts to get it back, and asserted that it had all been "drunk up." E. B. McLean, Washington publisher, got some of it, Bunch insisted, on the word of a man who hauled it away from Department of Justice store rooms.

KILLS SLAYER OF HIS SON.

Father Refuses to Wait Process of Law, but Shoots and Fatally Wounds Alleged Murderer.

CHICAGO, April 22. — A father refused to await the process of law, but shot and fatally wounded his son's slayer, John Rose, outside a court room in the county building yesterday.

A half dozen shots rang through the marble corridors and threw the county courts into a turmoil as Rose dropped. He died in a nearby courtroom.

Rose was facing trial for murder in connection with a shooting at the Checker Taxicab Company's plant.

A man named Sexton, said by the police to be the father of Rose's victim, and to have shot Rose, was rushed to a cell.

ONE MAN KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Stuck in the Face by a Wooden Fence Rail

TORONTO, April 22.—(Canadian Press)—George Allan, aged 23 years of Napanee, who roomed at 152 Mavety street, was killed almost instantly last evening a mile east of Pickering, when struck by wooden fence rail, which pierced windshield of motor car in which he was riding, and caught him directly in the face.

The motor car, containing eight persons was proceeding towards Toronto from Whitby, and when about one mile east of Pickering village, Avery Brown, who was driving car noticed another automobile approaching with glaring headlights Brown swerved car to one side and auto struck iron post guarding embankment. Wooden rail on top of post smashed windshield and struck Mr. Allan. Other members of the party escaped injury.

Two Mother Cats Adopt Black Fox

PICTON, April 22 (Canadian Press). — At a Prince Edward black fox farm a litter of pups was born to Mrs. Fox, and she utterly refuses to own them or have anything to do with them.

She repeatedly carried the pups from the box den in the enclosure, placing them on the cold ground outside.

Superintendent Osborne as many times placed them back again.

At last, for fear the pups would perish, the neighbourhood was canvassed for mother cats.

Two were commandeered. One kitten was left with each cat and three of the young foxes were adopted by each.

Cats, kittens, and foxes are all doing well.

BRITISH LABOR PARTY CONFERENCE DECLARES LOYALTY TO MACDONALD

Premier Said He Didn't Care What Happened to the Labor Cabinet So Long As Good Work Was Done—Voices of Dissent Drowned Out By Approbation of Delegates.

YORK, Eng., April 22.—(Canadian Press).—The Prime Minister, Ramsay MacDonald, appeared again Monday before the Independent Labor Party conference, delegates of which since the Premier's speech of Saturday last have been freely criticizing the Government's attitude on the experts' reports.

The head of the Labor Government apparently was not greatly concerned over the protests, and in his customary precise manner reiterated his position. He made it plain that he did not very much care what happened to the Labor Cabinet, so long as good work was done, and he pointed out while the Government was doing its best, it would not necessarily always come up to expectations.

Dissident voices were drowned in the general approbation of the Premier's speech, and a resolution expressing loyalty to him and the Labor Cabinet was carried, although some of the delegates protested that they were not being given an opportunity to debate on the resolution. One Wolverhampton woman delegate hotly denounced any compromise by the Labor Government on socialism.

A Birmingham delegate moved that the Independent Labor members of the Government should oppose all votes on supplies having to do with armaments, but an amendment by F. W. Jowett, Commissioner of works, demanding that the meeting accept the resolution calling for an international conference on disarmament was carried, 365 to 196.

RATEPAYERS OF RURAL SCHOOLS DEMAND CUT IN TEACHERS' SALARIES

Dufferin County School Association Submits Resolution to the Ontario Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association For Downward Revision of Salary List — Inspectors Mentioned Too.

Miss McPhail's Ideals.

TORONTO, April 22. — Severe criticism of present day rural school conditions was made both in the moving of resolutions and in addresses yesterday at the opening session of the Trustees and Ratepayers' Association. Urban trustees met in separate session. Dufferin county association submitted a resolution that the opinion be expressed that the time had arrived when teachers' salaries should be revised downwards.

Artemesia township association asks that the Ontario Association oppose increases to Public School Inspectors and that county councils have the right to dismiss school inspectors. Resolutions have also come local associations for and against consolidated schools.

Monday afternoon it was evident that there was a sharp division of opinion as the advisibility of having township school boards instead of boards for each school section. Malcolm McBeth, Milverton, made an address supporting the township board system while Peter Boyer of Moorefield vigorously opposed it. Other speakers were Agnes McPhail, M.P. and Miss I. M. Galbraith of Brampton. President J. W. Goodfellow of Stroud presided.

Ideal of 'Grab'

Miss McPhail said that rural education in Ontario had stood still for years and was out of touch with life as it was lived to-day. "Education to-day" she said "seems to be learning to get as much as possible with the least possible work. Education does not try to dignify labor and if followed to its logical conclusion would lead right away from labor. Labor seems only to be dignified when the other fellow does it."

She criticised school boards because their only consideration of qualification seemed to be to have the children pass examinations. The present rural educational system she said could not be wiped out in a day and another substituted but people could be aroused to demand better than they were getting. The idea that grabbing what one could for himself was success must be squelched said Miss McPhail. She also criticised Normal School because they trained teachers only for graded schools and not for rural schools. Character tests she said should be part of an examination as well as routine studies. People she continued must get a new idea of patriotism. Wars did not make all history Wars blotted history and the place to prepare for peace was in the schools.

Township Boards

Mr. McBeth supporting township school boards traced the history of organized education Ontario showing where the local trustees had steadily lost power in the control of their local education systems until now they had little but the hiring of the teacher and the caretaker. He argued that a board for a township would have more power and would be able to get for rural children many of the advantages of urban children. It would also equalize the tax rates in townships for school purposes and do away with overhead expenses. Mr. McBeth said that 53 per cent of the rural schools of Ontario showed fewer than 20 pupils. In Toronto a board of education of sixteen looked after the education of 75,000 children while in the ordinary township there were 45 trustees to 300 children.

Facilities Lacking

Miss Galbraith speaking of the health of the rural child said that proportion of defects as between city and country was about equal but the country children had not the facilities for improvement that the city children had. She went into the matter of individual rural schools stating that in many there were not proper sanitary arrangements.

Mr. Boyer opposed townships boards declaring that what little rural section had not to do with the education of their children would be taken away by such a system. It would be just getting another step nearer autocracy he said and it would widen the field for graft and dishonesty.

Prince Ends His French Holiday

LE TOUQUET, France, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wales, preserving to the last his incognito as Earl of Chester, motored to Boulogne Monday and will return to England after a stay in France somewhat longer than he anticipated. The Prince passed the morning on the golf links and the afternoon in the Casino. Before leaving he expressed great satisfaction with the manner in which his incognito had been respected during his visit.

NEW CHINESE CONSUL LANDS AT VICTORIA

VICTORIA, April 21.—Lo Chong, the newly-appointed Chinese Consul General in Canada arrived here to-day on the steamer Empress of Russian, en route to Ottawa. In an interview Mr. Chong, who is a graduate of Oxford University, said that everything would be done to make stronger the commercial bonds between China and Canada. Referring to immigration he said that the Chinese authorities understood thoroughly the desire to work out the Chinese immigration act of Canadian Parliament.

Mr. Chong stated that he had been instructed to encourage the export of fish and lumber to China from Canada.

American Labor Urges Mild Beer For Workingmen

Appeal Made For "Palatable Nourishing Drink"--Reds Favor Prohibition Because of the Disorder and Unrest It Fosters For Them.

WASHINGTON, April 22. — Another attempt to bring back 2.75 per cent. beer by modification of the Volstead Act, was made on Monday before the House Judiciary Committee.

Samuel Gompers, president, and other representatives of the American Federation of Labor, vigorously urged legislation that would permit once more the sale of beer with this alcoholic content, on the ground that it would give the working man a "good, palatable, nourishing drink," that had "warmth" to it.

Matthew T. Woll, president of the Photo-Engravers' International Union, and also a vice-president of the American Federation, declared the Eighteenth Amendment did not attempt to define what drinks were intoxicating, and that Congress had the power to legalize the sale of a 2.75 per cent. beverage.

Members of his organization, Mr. Woll asserted, are strongly in favor of modification. He said the only opposition to the resolutions of the Photo-Engravers Union declaring its stand on the question, came from the "Reds," whom he declared to be "feeding" on the disorder which has been brought about through attempts to enforce prohibition.

SELL LESS STRONG LIQUOR.

Quebec Government has Handled $65,000,000 Worth of Liquor with Profit of $12,000,000.

QUEBEC, April 22.—In the course of the three years of operation of the Quebec liquor law, which will come to a close on April 30, liquor to a total amount estimated at about $65,000,000, has been sold in the province of Quebec, under government control, and profits reaching over $12,000,000 will have been realized by the commission. This includes a 4-million-dollar surplus expected to be announced by the commission for the past year's operations.

There has been a very big decrease in the sale of high percentage liquors, such as whisky, brandy and gin and only for the compensation resulting from the increased sale of wines the revenues would have been affected to a great extent. However an increase of between 600 to 700 per cent. is expected to be recorded in the sale of wines, and though the profit in such lines has been based on a low margin, the vastly increased sale is expected to compensate fully for the reduction in heavy liquors.

There is no increase reported in the sale of beer, which though in the hands of the brewers, is under control of the commission through the tavern. The brewers claim that the year 1923-24 has been a normal one.

GERMANS READY FOR CONFERENCE

Notes Sent to the Principal Allied Countries Outlining Position.

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, April 22—Germany has prepared a careful program for her conduct during the coming negotiations in Paris to effect a settlement of the reparations question on the basis of the Dawes report, it was learned to-day and already has sent notes to the principal Allied countries outlining her position.

Following the inquiry addressed to England, in which it was made plain that Germany believes that her sovereignty over the occupied regions should be returned to her and German prisoners restored similar notes have been sent to the other allied powers.

The Foreign Office intends these notes to serve as clarifying the German position in accepting the Dawes report should serve as an additional basis for negotiations.

It is no secret that the Foreign office, in view of Premier Poincare's recent attitude feels that there still is a considerable divergence in the Franco-German viewpoints.

ATE POISONED SUGAR.

REGINA, April 22. — According to a report reaching this city from Arcola, Robert Mitchner, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchner, died on Monday, it is believed from eating poisoned sugar. The whole family, five altogether, are reported ill from the same cause.

Separate Fires Hit Doukhobors

NELSON, B. C., April 22. — The Doukhobor schools and the residence of Peter Verigin, President of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood in the district of Brilliant, 25 miles south of here, burned to the ground Monday morning. Officials are investigating.

Verigin's residence burst into flames at 2 a.m. and fifteen minutes later fire broke out in the Brilliant school, 300 yards distant. Two schools, which were on the other side of the river and a quarter of a mile apart, burned at the same time. This brings the total of Doukhobor schools burned in the district in the last two years to seven.

"BIG BUSINESS" FOR COOLIDGE"

Elbert H. Gary of U.S. Steel Adds His Approval to Harding's Successor—Election Year Reference Depresses Market.

HOBOKEN, N.J., April 22.—Forecasting continued prosperity, Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, nevertheless cautioned the stockholders at their annual meeting to-day that they need not be surprised at further recessions in business as a natural consequence of this year's presidential campaign. Mr. Gary severely criticized Congress and its policy of investigations, while he praised the administration of President Coolidge.

The unfavorable construction placed by Wall Street upon the steel magnate's remarks, always accepted as an indication of the current business trend, was reflected in a sharp break in the stock prices. United States Steel common dropped nearly three points and 66 separate stocks established new low prices for the year.

BURGLARS RANSACKED APARTMENT IN PARIS

PARIS, April 21.— Burglars today ransacked the apartment in the Rue Boissire of the Mexican Marquis Del Fiero, whose wife is a United States citizen, during their brief absence. They took the jewels of the Marquisse, said to have been valued at 200,000 francs, $1,500, and 600 francs in money, and all the personal papers of the Marquis.

The intruders used false keys to gain an entrance in the apartment. While robbing the place they used rubber gloves and therefore left no finger prints or other clues.

PRESBYTERY EQUALLY DIVIDED OVER UNION

SARNIA, Ont., April 22.—At a meeting of the Sarnia Presbytery on Monday a motion to petition the Dominion Parliament to pass the Church Union Bill without amendment was defeated on a tie vote after a hot argument. The Unionists claimed the merger plan was a God-given opportunity to join up with the Methodists and Congregationalists and institute into that church some good doctrine. The Antits claimed it was a plot to submerge the Presbyterians.

Grandeur That Was Rome of the Caesars Shall Be Revived By the Silent and Unflinching Tenacity of Her People, the Vision of Her Leader.

Premier's Apostrophe.

ROME, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—Benito Mussolini, Italian Premier, was made a Roman citizen yesterday in a... imposing ceremony participated in by a distinguished assemblage, on the anniversary of the founding of the city. The Premier received the honor from the hands of Signor Cremonesi, Royal Commissioner for Rome, who delivered a eulogistic address and presented the head of the Government with a suitably inscribed parchment.

Premier Mussolini in reply thanked the authorities of Rome for the honor conferred upon him, expressing his great love for the historic city and his high purpose to work for a Twentieth Century Rome worthy of the ancient glory reflected from the Seven Hills.

Task Not Accomplished.

"Truly," the Premier said, "I should have preferred Mother Rome to receive me as a citizen when my task was accomplished. What I have done for Italy is little; for Rome nothing, or almost nothing. But if this exceptional and unexpected honor is a testimony of my great love for the city, then I accept with a grateful and tranquil conscience."

The problems facing Rome, he declared, were problems of practical necessity and moral grandeur, the latter depending on the solution of the former.

"Rome," the premier concluded, "must not be a modern city in the banal sense of the word, but must be a city worthy of her glory, which must be revived immediately to be handed down to future generations as a heritage of the Fascisti epoch.

Tenacity Demanded.

"Already the vision of this new Rome appears to me a smiling vision, a living certainty. However it demands the Roman virtue of solent and unflinching tenacity, which virtue must become the sacred patrimony of the Italian people.

"This is the wish I form to-day, the anniversary of the day when a Roman ploughshare traced the sign of an infallible destiny. I hail, thee, Goddess Rome, in behalf of those who were, are and shall be your sons, ready to die and suffer for thy power and glory."

SEVERE EARTHQUAKE ROCKED MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, April 22.—A severe earthquake shock, lasting for one minute and 26 seconds, rocked Mexico City and the Plateau region of Mexico shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon. Slight material damage was reported from various points affected by the tremor. There was no confirmation of reports that there had been loss of life.

GOING TO GOTHAM? TRY THIS.

On and after April 27, Torontonians will have the opportunity of travelling to New York City on a train which besides affording typical "Canadian National" equipment and service, will cover the route in fast time, via Canadian National-Lehigh Valley Railways. The new train will leave Toronto daily at 5.30 p.m. and land its passengers at the magnificent and centrally located Pennsylvania depot at 8.26 a.m., the next morning.

Besides the usual sleeping car equipment, there will be a drawing room-compartment car and exceptional dining car service.

The return trip should of course be made on the corresponding New York-Toronto train, which will leave the metropolis daily at 6.15 p.m., arriving Toronto 8.53 a.m.

ALLIANCE OPPOSING SUNDAY EXCURSIONS

Appeal to Churches For Financial Assistance In Appeal to Privy Council --Trent Ministerial Association Approve — New Teacher at Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 22.—At the April meeting of the Ministerial Association the chief business topic discussed was a circular received from the Lord's Day Alliance asking for financial aid to carry to the Privy Council an appeal against the decision of the Court of Appeals the original suit being instigated by the Province of Manitoba to test the validity of the Dominion Statute dealing with the Sunday excursion question. The Court of Appeals decided in effect that the Lord's Day Act is unconstitutional and this judgment affects the validity of the statute not only in Manitoba but throughout the entire Dominion.

The circular referred to, states that it will cost at least $10,000 to have the judgment reviewed by the Privy Council and that the burden of the expense must be borne by the Alliance. The Dominion Government is to be represented in the hearing with a view to defending its own enactment.

On motion of Rev. C. F. McIntyre and Rev. G. S. Hammond the Association went on record as appreciating the work done by the Alliance and promising assistance in the legal issue which now confronts that organization.

Sunday next is to be observed in the churches as Lord's Day Sunday and it is likely that a special collection will be taken up, for the purpose referred to above.

Sunday Funerals

On motion of Rev. E. O. Seymour and Rev. H. S. Bennett, the members of the Association agreed to discourage the holding of funerals on Sunday, the opinion being unanimous that such funerals have a tendency to interfere with the regular church services. This matter was brought up by Mr. Seymour and every minister present took part in the discussion.

The Paper

The paper of the day was read by Rev. J. P. McLennan, Baptist pastor of Norwood, whose theme was "The Culture of the Spiritual Life." The discussion was led by Rev. M. L. Hinton who maintained that materialism is no more prevalent to day than it has been at any stage of the world's history. Mr. Hinton added that he has great faith in the people of the present generation.

Mr. McLennan who made his first appearance before the association was highly praised for his scholarly address and a vote of thanks was tendered him on motion of Messrs. McIntosh and Seymour.

The ministers present were: Rev. J. J. Black of Burnbrae, president; Rev. H. S. Bennett, secretary, Rev D. A. Thomson and Rev. M. L. Hinton, of Hastings, Rev. C. F. McIntosh, Rev. E. W. Caffley of Worham, Rev. G. S. Hammond of Warkworth, Rev. J. P. McLennan of Norwood, Rev. E. O. Seymour of Havelock and Rev H. B. Herrington of Cordova Mines.

Engage New Teacher

The internal committee of the Board of Education have engaged Miss Evelyn Weston, daughter of R. C. Weston, town, as kindergarten primary teacher in the public school, her salary to be $1,000 a year and her duties to commence after the Easter vacation. The engagement of an additional teacher for the primary department, which at present is overcrowded, having 110 pupils, too many for the present staff of two teachers, was authorized at the meeting of the Board last week.

Eight applications for the position were received, Miss Weston being the only local lady to apply. She is a graduate of the Campbellford High School and has been teaching for the past year at Sault Ste. Marie. Miss Weston returns to her home town highly recommended as a successful teacher.

Barber Shops Are Working Overtime

MILTON, April 22 (Canadian Press). — Milton's three barber shops, with a total of six tonsorial artistes, are doing tremendous business these days, often being unable to close their doors until ten o'clock at night.

It is all due to the "bobbing craze," which seems to have struck young and old alike.

In order to be up-to-date, farmers in this district are bobbing their horses' manes.

Eagles have been known to fly to a height of 6000 feet. A lark will rise to the same height and so will a crow.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Will Send Delegates to the Summer School—A Belated Snowstorm.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 2. — At the weekly meeting of the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's church, on Monday night, it was decided to donate $15 toward paying the expenses of a young lady member of the society who will be chosen to attend the Summer School at Orillia, from June 30th to July 12th, inclusive. The person to take the course, which includes instruction in church work, will be selected by the executive committee. A term at the school will cost from $20 to $25 including railway fare both ways.

The best meeting before the summer vacation will be held next Monday night, and will be merged with a social gathering of the congregation to meet Rev. G. A. and Mrs. Williams, returned missionaries, who have for some years been maintained by St. Andrew's congregation in the Formosa field. During the summer one or more picnics will be held; these outings to be arranged by the executive.

Rev. C. F. McIntosh, presided in the absence of President Rollo. Miss Cherrie Turner, a member of the Methodists' Young Peoples' Society, rendered a solo which was much appreciated and for which she received the hearty thanks of the members.

Rev. H. S. Bennett, pastor of the Baptist church, gave an interesting address on Tennyson, whom he regards as one of the greatest of the English poets. The speaker quoted from the works of the late poet laureate and briefly sketched his life.

The closing hymn was "Strong Son of God," the introduction to "In Memoriam," and which is one of the two selections printed in the Presbyterian hymn book.

Lacrosse Meeting To-night.

There will be a meeting in the assembly room of the public library at 7:30 this evening for the purpose of organizing a Junior Lacrosse Team. The citizens who are behind the movement include such well known loves of sport as A. J. Wood, James Kerr, Harry Cassidy, Charles Holmes and Neil B. Dickson.

Havelock, Hastings and Marmora have already agreed to form a group which will include besides Campbellford, probably Madoc, Tweed and Peterboro. The members in this group will play in the semi-finals, with the champions of the group composed of Beleville, Trenton, Napanee and Toronto.

The Juniors who played here in 1922, and with Hastings last year, and who will be in the local line-up this season are: Jack Cowell, "Lefty" White, J. Archer, Victor Cochrane, Sam Flint, Perry Sanders, H. McArthur and Al. Bush.

The following who were midgets in 1922, and now eligible as Juniors: K. Haig, J. Haig, T. Ivey, F. Blake, A. Parsons, S. Nichols and Harry Ingram. There is plenty of material from which to select a winning team.

Twelve O'clock Club Dance.

The first dance of the Twelve O'clock Club, following the close of the Lenten season, was held Monday night in the Regent Theatre and drew a large attendance, which included a number of out-of-town guests. Supper was served at midnight and dancing was kept up until 2 a.m. Among those present were the following: Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs J. A. Archer, Mr. and Mss. J. C. Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilsher, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Abernethy, C. Calvert, Miss H. Wood, Miss E. Irwin, Miss Irene Davidson, Miss Ferris, Miss Hazel Atkinson, Miss K. Dolman, Miss D. Murphy, May Watters of Toronto, Miss Z. Rellis of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Maybee of Belleville, A. J. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wiggins, Miss Mason of Peterborough, Mr. Macoun of Detroit, Gerald West, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Abernethy, C. Cooneghan, Miss Cooneghan, Mr. and Mrs. F. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. R. McRae of Niagara aFlls, Mrs. H. Leonard, Mrs. E. C. Dolman of Whitehead, K. Cairnes, H. Bleeker, J. Runions.

Belated Snow Storm.

Farmers in this vicinity are beginning to worry over the lateness of the season. It is not long until the first of May and so far little or no work has been done on the soil, a few farmers on the high, light land in Percy township being the only ones who have already sown wheat. Rain that started to fall early last evening turned into snow about 9 o'clock and at midnight it was still snowing and the ground was covered. The grass has hardly yet made a start in growth and feed is getting scarce.

OBITUARY

JOHN FERGUSON FEIR.

The funeral of John Ferguson Feir, late of Mt. Pleasant, took place on Saturday afternoon April 19th at 2 p.m. and was attended by a large number of friends and relatives who gathered together to pay their last call of respect to one of whom it was said had not an enemy.

Mr. Feir was a son of the late Alexander Feir, who operated a flour mill in this city some 65 years ago, and later near Omemee.

There are left to mourn his loss, besides his sorrowing wife, three daughters, six brothers and two sisters, Mrs. Alec Tully, Mt. Pleasant, Mrs. Jos. Tully 2nd line of Emily and Mrs. Wm. Brown, of Omemee, another sister Mrs. Hubert Gardiner, predeceased him some years ago. The brothers are W. B. Fair, Lindsay, Isaiah, Omemee, Walter, Basswood, Man., The Rev. H. Feir, Oliver, B.C., Jake, of Silver Creek, N.Y., J. A. Feir, Campbell Flour Mills, this city, Mrs. A. Ladely and Miss A. J. Omemee.

EMPLOYMENT SITUATION IS STILL PRETTY DULL

The employment situation in the city is not very bright. Some of the factories are picking up a little and finding more work for their employees, but very few men are being taken on. The William Hamilton foundry is picking up a little but the Woollen Mills are very slack. It is expected that things will pick up considerably if the C.G.E. by-law is passed. Considerable building in the city is expected this summer and a number of men will be able to obtain work in this line. Some men are being sent to the farms, but the greater number of unemployed would rather stay in the city as long as they can get three meals a day.

There were 33 applicants last week at the employment bureau and 28 placements. Most of these placements were for minor jobs.

At the beginning of last week there were 152 unemployed on the Bureau's waiting list, while there is two less this week.

AGNES McPHAIL MAKES STARTLING ASSERTION REGARDING EDUCATION

Ontario Teachers Nearly Fell Off Their Seats When Miss McPhail Said Ontario's Teaching Methods Were Hundred Years Behind Times.

TORONTO, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—Ontario urban dwellers are wont to point with pride to the fact that the towns and cities of the Province are keenly interested in the problems of education, but to the casual observer of yesterday's opening sessions of the annual Easter week convention of the Ontario Educational Association it was quite evident that rural Ontario is developing an interest in education which, in certain phases at least, is more intense than that of the cities.

For one thing, there was no evidence of the usual first day slackness common to most conventions at the initial meeting of the rural trustees' section in the auditorium of the Central Technical School.

That in itself was significant, but still more so was the manner in which a larger rural audience responded to the slashing attack on the existing educational system by Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., a graduate from "Schoolmann." Miss MacPhail places but little confidence in the utility of dead languages as mediums for the training of the youth of Canada.

In fact she informed her audience of yesterday that she was convinced that Ontario's educational system was stressing the "dead" at the expense of the living, that it taught the children who came under its iron-clad rules to dislike "honest" labor, and that it was educating rural Ontario off the farm.

In a word, Miss MacPhail declared that Ontario's teaching methods were about a hundred years behind the times, that teachers who tried to show their wards how to live courted inevitable dismissal, and that the time was ripe for a revolution which would oust the materialist from the place of honor which, she believes, it occupies in the present-day school.

It is doubtful if all or even most of Miss MacPhail's hearers agreed with everything she said, but there was no doubting the fact that they believed she was voicing, in some degree at least, doubts which they have been more or less dimly conscious of in the past.

HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Athletic Association Held a Dance--A Car Accident

HASTINGS, April 22. — The Hastings Amateur Athletic Association held a very successful dance on Monday evening. A large crowd was in attendance in spite of the fact that unpleasant weather prevailed. The music was supplied by the Bon Ton Orchestra of Belleville, and consisted of five pieces—piano, violin, saxophone, banjo, and drums. The players were dressed in novelty costumes.

The Opera House was decorated in red and green, the Hastings Lacrosse Club colours. Lacrosse sticks and baseball bats also formed a part of the decorations.

At midnight lunch was served by various members of the association.

The patronesses were Mesdames P. M. Howard, W. M. Fowlds, T. A. Coughlan, A. V. German, J. Cruickshank, J. F. Jones, A. U. Bailey, Wm. Hill, W. A. Baker, Richard Walsh, and Miss Elizabeth Fowlds.

Some of those present were: Miss Helen Bertram, Mr. Everette Thomas, Mr. P. Locke, Miss Jean Blake, Josie O'Connor, Mr. Bill Bertram, Campbellford, Mr. George McConnel, Mr. George McKee, Mr. Bremis, Mr. Errol Buck, Miss Linda Fry, Miss Kathleen McCarthy, Norwood, Dr. Alexis Spellman, Kitchener, Miss Bessie Armour, Galt, Miss K. Howard, Toronto, Mrs. Collins, Lindsay, Miss Jean O'Neil, Marmora, Mr. Stanley Stevenson, Peterborough, Miss Mary O'Donohue, Peterborough, Miss Maud Owen, Miss M. Gorman, Miss K. Gallagher, Dr. Allen, Mr. Neil Thompson, Mr. J. Condon, Mr. Don. Thompson, Mr. J Moore, Warkworth, Miss Mary Barry, Norwood, Miss K. Mann, and Mr. Mann, Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Spooner, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Burkholder, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lamey, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Coughlan, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. German, Mr. and Mrs. W. Doughty, Lynn Hill, Carlos Runnels, J. Conney, J. Mulholland, Louie Anderson, V. Keagan, Harry Cleary, and others.

Auto Accident.

An auto accident occurred on Sunday afternoon when the car belonging to Mr. A. Smullen, while climbing a long, steep hill on the road to Campbellford, would not ascend on high. The driver, on attempting to change gears, stalled the car, and when aplying the brakes, which refused to work the car started backing down the hill, turning turtle in the ditch at the hillside. The driver was seriously hurt in the shoulder, a doctor from Campbellford being summoned to dress his injuries. One other occupant had his hand badly cut and needed medical attention but the remaining occupants escaped harm.

Mrs. William Walker.

The funeral of Mrs. William Walker, who died in Smith Falls on Thursday, was held in Hastings on Sunday afternoon, April 20. At o'clock the funeral service was held in the Methodist church, where a large body of sympathizers had gathered.

The late Mrs. Walker, before her marriage a number of years ago, was Miss Grace Sharpe, and was the eldest daughter of the late Mr. S. Sharpe. Deceased was thirty-one years old and spent her younger days here in this vicinity.

Besides her sorrowing husband, three children survive, the youngest about twelve days old. The Rev. M. L. Hinton officiated at the funeral service.

The bearers were Messrs. Robert Dainard, Cecil Whitred, Walter Dodd, Carl Colville, Mark Simpson and Clifford Hess.

After the service the remains were laid to rest in Trent Valley cemetery.

THE LANGUAGE IS ESSENTIAL

Stirring Address of Quebec Premier to Ontario Teachers.

TORONTO, April 22.—(Canadian Press.) — That bilingualism could, and should become an instrument for forging of national unity, and that Ontario should recognize constitutional obligation by teaching of French language, was the substance of a carefully studied pronouncement which Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of the Province of Quebec, delivered in Convocation Hall last night before the initial general session of the sixty-third annual convention of Ontario Education Association.

To an audience composed for the most part of English-speaking educationists, political leader of French Canada declared that bilingualism was one of the stepping stones to mutual understanding between Ontario and Quebec and that French Canadians on both moral and legal grounds had a right to ask that at least all English speaking Canadians who entered national life should understand the language of their fellow citizens across Ottawa. Mr. Taschereau's address was at once a challenge, a warning and a plea for consideration of a vexed problem in a spirit of forbearance. All Canada must recognized that unity was essential to national progress. French Canada desired that unity as keenly as any other section of the Dominion, but Quebec would never surrender a language which was one of its most precious inheritances. Confederation was a contract, not conquest and Quebec's language rights had been written into British North America Act in such a way that French language was on an equal footing with English in the Federal life of the Dominion. That being granted it followed that English speaking Canada and Ontario in particular, had certain obligations to fulfill in the matter of making use of French possible. Was that obligation being met?

"Why should French be corralled in Quebec and sons of discoverers and pioneers of Canada be looked upon as living in a kind of reserve? Is it the desire of any part of Canada that Quebec should some day feel that the great cosmopolitan country that lies and thrives to the south of us offers greater measure of tolerance and liberty than here?"

Before he concluded the speaker suggested that the Governments of Ontario and Quebec should convene a "peace conference" on the language question and that a mutual exchange of school teachers should be effected.

Easier and Pleasanter Bake Days
With Green's Sponge Mixture

HOW much easier and pleasanter bake day will be when Green's Sponge Mixture takes the place of the old-fashioned, tedious way of mixing cakes. How much more certain the results, when this simple method of cake-baking is used.

And what a saving in time you will make! Delicious layer cakes and jelly rolls made in 10 minutes. Your baking time cut in three. With Green's Sponge Mixture you simply whisk 2 eggs together in a bowl, add the whole contents of a packet of Green's Sponge Mixture and bake for about 8 minutes. No guesswork—no mixing of half-a-dozen ingredients — no waste of either materials or time—no disappointment. Absolutely certain—therefore economical.

VICTORIA LAYER CAKE
One packet Green's Sponge Mixture, 2 eggs, 2 ozs. butter. Beat the eggs thoroughly together, then add by degrees the sponge mixture, mixing to a smooth batter. Take 2 round, medium-sized tins, well greased, sprinkle with flour and put half the mixture in each. Place in a hot oven and bake for about 10 minutes. Turn on to a sugared paper, spread with jam, marmalade or other filling; place together and sprinkle with sifted sugar.

The women of England use millions of packets of Green's Sponge Mixture yearly. The fact that only the finest ingredients are used in it—combined with its ease and certainty in baking—have earned for it an extensive sale throughout the country.

Ask for Green's Sponge Mixture at any grocery store—20c a package. Choose your favourite flavour—Plain, Vanilla, Orange, Lemon, Almond or Maderia — learn at once how greatly your baking duties will be simplified. Recipes on the back of every packet.

THE ART OF SWIMMING.

The Board of Education in advertising for supervisors for the play-grounds during the summer months is calling attention to the fact that the ability to teach swimming is desirable among the qualifications.

The Board would do well to insist upon that qualification inasmuch as no more useful service could be contributed by the operation at the play-grounds than the teaching of this useful art to as many children as possible.

Figures given out recently by the Ontario Safety League show that drowning accidents took a greater toll of lives in the Province last summer than did the motor car—a statement that has occasioned considerable surprise.

The statistics indicate the need of greater care on the part of the public generally, and they also show the desirability of a more general knowledge of swimming.

Much progress has been made in Peterborough in this respect in recent years.

Particularly among girls has there been created an interest in this healthful and useful exercise, and the number of the fair sex now able to swim with reasonable expertness is surprisingly large.

The service of the playgrounds supervisors in helping their young charges to master the rudiments will be a very useful contribution.

A TONIC STATEMENT.

The statement of Mr. R. A. Brown, manager of the Canadian Nashua Paper Company, that his firm is greatly pleased with the business don during the past six months and are very optimistic as to the future, has a tonic effect, coming as it does at a time when there is inclined to be more or less pessimism in industrial and business circles as to present conditions and the outlook generally.

There is little doubt, as Mr. Brown points out, that there is need on the part of many Canadians for more confidence in themselves and in the wonderful resources of their country.

Hands are thrown up too soon, and the fact that a country like Canada cannot be stopped from going ahead if its people have sufficient faith is forgotten.

The possibilities before Canada can only be negatived by a failure on the part of her citizens to shake off pessimism and prepare confidently for the bright future that is bound to come.

The manager of the Nashua Company believes that producers should at this time study the possibilities of reducing manufacturing costs and maintaining maximum production ready for the markets that are bound to open up.

That sounds like wise counsel, and it has been successfully applied to this particular industry, which is seriously considering the manufacture of other lines in this city.

JUST A FINAL WORD.

The Examiner has on several occasions during the past few days urged the passing of the C.G.E. bylaw to-morrow as most thoroughly in the general interest and to-night on the eve of the polling is more convinced than ever that it is the duty of the voters to start Peterboro on the road to renewed industrial health and prosperity by voting "Yes."

That the bylaw will carry there seems no doubt.

The only eventuality that could defeat it would be a too general feeling of over confidence on the part of those who see the advantages to be gained but who are so certain of the measure being approved that they do not see the necessity of voting themselves.

There is one sure way of preventing that development and that is for every friend of the By-Law to take no chances on "letting George do it," but to make certain that their vote is polled.

Much more than a mere majority is favour of the concession is desired.

The General Electric Company which has absorbed the Canadian General Electric concern is a huge firm which can be counted upon to carry out a programme of expansion on a surprisingly large scale.

Peterboro wants to be sure that this expansion takes place here and it should be realized that a large majority in favour of the measure would do much to accomplish the anchoring of the firm in the city.

Vote for the bylaw, and don't let your friends forget their responsibility.

AN ILLEGAL TRAFFIC.

Officials of the Fish and Game Protective Association complain that game fish caught, of course, out of season are being sold in Peterborough, and that this illegal trafficking is making inroads upon the fishing resources of the district.

If this charge is true, and there is reason to believe that it is, it means that many people in this city are as much to blame for this condition of affairs as the men who do the illegal fishing.

There must be a market for their fish or the traffic could not continue.

If the offenders were not encouraged by the fact that they can readily sell their wares in Peterborough their fishing would be confined at the worst to bagging enough for their own use, and the damage would be nearly as serious it is at present when breaking the law is regarded as a commercial proposition [illegible]

[illegible] that [illegible] using maskinonge or bass they are law[illegible], but the majority must realize that in doing so they are violating the regulations. Perhaps, however, they do not realize the harm they are doing in helping to develop a traffic that each year causes game injury to the fishing in local waters.

The Fish and Game Association has asked the Examiner to bring this matter before the people of Peterboro, trusting to their honesty and good sense to steer them clear of the illegal purchasing of fish once they appreciate the fact that the practice is rapidly thinning out the supply in the district.

Vote "yes" on the C.G.E. bylaw tomorrow and you will be voting in the best interest of Peterborough.

THE BANDIT AND THE LASH.

The annals of justice in this country could be searched in vain for a parallel to the scorching, stinging, contemptuous and yet stern condemnation that Judge Monet metes out to the Honorable, the Solicitor-General, for his astoundingly swift intervention on behalf of a convicted bank robber. As a comment by the trial judge on the man supposed to be his "superior officer" in the administration of justice, "Monet on McMurray" is bound to pass into a classic.

Yet there will not be a thinking man in this community but who will feel that the Judge is entirely justified in his indignation. More than that, every responsible citizen will regard Judge Monet as fighting his battle for him—the old battle in defence of reasonable safety for life and property everywhere. For that is the whole point at issue. Mr. Justice Monet no more likes to sentence a human being to the lash than does any other humane and decent man. But, having as "trial judge" heard the evidence and seen the prisoner—being therefore in a position to estimate the personal as well as the purely legal side of the case—he believed it to be his duty to impose the lash.

Yet Solicitor-General McMurray, away off in Ottawa, who was not present at the trial and—so far as we know—never saw the prisoner, intervenes in twenty-four hours, tells the judge that he was quite wrong in the most dramatic feature of his sentence, insists that he knows by instinct more about the case than judge Monet learned by sitting on the bench and trying it, and autocratically strikes from the proposed punishment of the guilty bandit the one penalty which would shock the imagination and paralyze the evil will of the entire fraternity of thugs.

* * * *

The Solicitor-General cannot know that Montreal, in common with other Canadian cities, has been suffering of late from a murderous epidemic of crimes accompanied by violence. We are just putting on trial two men and a woman who are accused of participating in a "hold-up" at high noon on a public street with rifles as well as revolvers, in which two human beings were shot dead! It was indistinguishable from a bandit raid in a mining camp or in any community with relaxed law and order. And yet that was just one case.

Beauchamp—who was sentenced to be lashed—was one of four men to rob a branch bank at Cote des Neiges. He did not sneak into the bank at night, hoping to avoid opposition. He was not a mere safe-breaker, seeking nothing but money. He entered in broad daylight with a revolver in his hand, and threatened to do murder unless the bank officials submitted to his orders and allowed him to steal the valuables entrusted to their care.

When a thug sticks a revolver in the face of a peaceful citizen and orders him to stand and deliver either his own property or the property of others that thug is a potential murderer. If he does not commit murder, it is only because his victim does not resist, as he has every right to do. Poor young Henri Cleroux, the plucky chauffeur of the Hochelaga Bank, did resist; and he was shot dead.

* * * *

There is an agitation in this country—which, although it is not political, even a politician like Mr. McMurray may some day come to hear about—in favor of extending capital punishment to men found guilty of robbing with violence. The feeling behind that agitation is that the reckless criminal who will risk having to commit murder—not only to get the booty he is after, but to get away if he meets with vigorous opposition—is at least as guilty as the man who, under the sway of passion or stung by some intolerable provocation, does actually take life.

It is surely quite as important for the safety of the community that the coolly calculating robber-with-violence shall be dissuaded from including "murder" in his kit of tools, as that the victim of sudden passion shall be similarly dissuaded. Moreover, it is probable that the death sentence will have more effect upon the class of cold-blooded plotters and planners of crime, who have plenty of time to think of possible consequences, than upon the murderers on impulse who often have no time to think or else care nothing for death.—Montreal Star.

CANADA AND THE TOURISTS.

Commenting on an editorial in The Journal referring to the estimate of the Dominion Parks Board that $136,000,000 was spent in Canada last year by foreign tourists, the Lindsay Post says:

"It would be interesting to know what amount of the $30,000,000 credited to Ontario is spent in the Kawartha Lakes district. This district is growing in importance from year to year as a tourist centre, but the growth is retarded owing to the fact that the highways leading to the lake resorts are not very inviting to tourists. We cannot hope to get our full share of this trade until we have better roads."

Canada has scarcely touched the fringe of its tourist possibilities, says the Ottawa Journal. In almost every section there is some scenic beauty spot the commerical value of which is lost owing either to its inaccessibility through bad roads or the lack of hotel accommodation suitable for tourists. Like the Kawartha Lakes district, the wonderful Gatineau country at Ottawa's door is practically "closed" to outside visitors for both the above reasons.

Canada's opportunities as a tourist resort for six months in the year are inestimable; untold riches in the vast country so near to us are waiting to be tapped; the motor car has revealed the way. Canada is waking up to the possibilities, but so slowly that each year great wealth is lost.

Money spent in the construction of good motor roads, in the building of comfortable hotels, in the maintenance of park reservations is not an extravagance as some shortsighted people imagine, but an excellent economic investment.

Incidentally, that statement of Mr. Arthur Stringer—in his clever article published in The Journal on Saturday describing Uncle Sam's opinion of Canada—that Canada is "a land of wonderful scenic and weird hotels" gives one to think. The C.P.R. has a woman's work in changing that word "weird" [illegible] the Canadian hotel business as a whole is still in

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Car owners, don't forget the Motor Show parade Wednesday night. Let a real show for a real organization have a real opening.

The Sir George Foster lecture on "The League of Nations," to which reference was made in these columns yesterday, will be held on Friday evening instead of Wednesday as first announced. The change should be noted by the citizens interested in this address.

The Motor Show opens tomorrow night. Everybody and his wife should be on hand to see that the annual event gets away to a good start.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 21.—For the average good export steers the price was generally set from 7¾ to 8¼ cents a pound, but a few in the choice class were taken at 8½ cents, and a load at $8.40 a cwt. The exporters themselves figure an advance of 25 cents a cwt. on the best steers.

The Swift Canadian buyer set the pace for the choice heavy butchers. Several loads were taken by him, and this provided competition for the export steers. With choice steers selling in Chicago up to $12.50 a cwt. there is leeway for Canadian shipments of dead meat, despite the duty. Medium to handy weight butchers of quality were up about 23 cents a cwt., and some buyers did not trade owing to the advance. Butchers' cows and bulls were quite firm, but there was no appreciable change in prices. Stockers and feeders are a little higher, and shipments are now being made to the States, both from Ontario and the West. For a load of 900 to 1,000-lb. feeders, quite thin, $6.75 a cwt. was asked.

The quality of calves this morning was not good and the common calves were slow. Choice calves were firm at last week's closing prices, but tops seldom crossed 11 cents. Coarse grasser calves sold at 4 cent sa pound.

Most of the packers wanted a few old lambs and the market was strong. For a bunch of clipped lambs Kit Waugh paid 14¼ cents a pound and this would be equal about 16¾ if they had been wooled. Good spring lambs were $15 each.

The light run of hogs made a firm market. An odd seller wanted to make the price $7.75 a cwt. f.o.b., but it was found difficult to get above $7.50. With seeding commenced the hog run is liable to continue light for a time.

The Book of all Books

The sailor on the boundless main may barely know his letters, but somewhere in his kit you will find a Bible—perhaps with tear-stained inscription written with the trembling hands of old age—from his mother—next to God his best and truest friend! Seek any habitation of men in lands remote and distant—search the rude cabin of the settler—and you will find a Bible—thumbed—worn—ragged, maybe,—but loved and revered as the chiefest treasure of the little family in the clearing!

WEDDING BELLS

WATSON—ROBINSON

LAKEFIELD, April 22.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Grove School chapel, Lakefield, at 10 a.m. Monday, April 21st with the Rev. A. W. Mackenzie officiating when Bertha Robinson became the wife of Mr. Edward Watson. The bride looked very pretty in a navy blue suit and hat with gray blouse and shoes and corsage boquet of sweet peas in pink and mauve. This marriage was unique in being the first solemnized in the new chapel and it was appropriate that Miss Robinson who had been connected with the school for many years should be the first bride.

The altar was decorated with white carnations and stocks. As the bride entered the chapel "O Perfect Love" was played by Mrs. Fawcett and after the signing of the register Mendelssohn's wedding march. After the service, the guests, between thirty and forty, were received by Mrs. Mackenzie at the Grove where they partook of a buffet lunch, the wedding cake holding the place of honor in the centre of the table.

After the bride had cut the cake, the Rev. A. W. Mackenzie proposed her health, referring to his long and pleasant relations with Miss Robinson as a member of the house staff, and congratulating the bridegroom on getting one of the best. The happy couple left amid showers of confetti motoring to Peterboro en route to Toronto where the honeymoon will be spent. Mr. and Mrs. Watson will reside in Lakefield. Among the invited guests were Mrs. Isaac Watson, Mrs. Jackman, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wannamaker, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jory, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Strickland, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Marling, Mrs. Wm. Webdale, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cummings, Mrs. Dever, Mrs. H. Bell, Miss Amy Watson, Miss Florence Hewitt, Miss Joy Liscon, Miss Alberta Wilson, Miss Mary Webdale, Miss May Dever, Messrs. D'Arcy Wilson, M. A. Mackenzie, Kennin Hamilton, Allan Howe, Chas. Hunter and others.

The bride received many useful and pretty presents.

LAKEFIELD, April 22— A wedding which has considerable interest was solemnized in St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, the occasion being the marriage of Marion Josephine daughter of the late Alexander and Mrs. Strickland to Thomas Charles Berkely, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Berkley, Cardiff, South Wales. The bride looked charming in a smart French frock of black charmeuse with touches of powder blue, she carried a boquet of sweetheart roses and lily of the valley. Her wrap was black crepe with white fox fur. After a short reception at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Walter Strickland, Rosedale, Mr. and Mrs. Berkeley left for New York and Atlantic City.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Strickland formerly of Lakefield and a cousin of Reeve J. C. Strickland.

JUDGMENT IN ASSESSMENT CASE

The appended judgment by Judge Huycke concerns an appeal from the Court of Revision between the Quaker Oats Company, the Peterboro Hydraulic Power Company and the City. Mr. E. A. Peck appeared for the appellants and Mr. J. Wearing for the respondent. The judgment follows:

This is an appeal by the Quaker Oats Company and the Peterboro Hydraulic Power Company against an assessment made by the city and affirmed by the Court of Revision. The assessment is a special one under the Local Improvement Act for Ontario to meet the expense of paving Hunter Street East and the high level bridge over the Otonabee River.

The grounds of appeal are two-fold. First, that under an agreement the city is precluded from charging the appellants for this pavement; and, secondly, that apart from the agreement altogether the appellants are not legally chargeable for the pavement on the bridge because no portion of the appellants' land abuts directly on the bridge within the meaning of the statute providing therefor. The properties affected owned by the appellants are two — one a small parcel fronting Burnham Street on the north side of Hunter Street adjoining Mr. Speer's store, and, secondly, the main property of the Quaker Oats at the west side of the river adjoining Hunter Street and consisting of the main plant and yards of the Quaker Oats Company.

As to the first eastern property, the appeal must be dismissed, and it must pay its due and proper share of the cost of paving. As to this property the appeal was very faintly pressed, if at all, by Mr. Peck. As to the main question affecting the property at the west side of the river, the appellants must succeed, and I think upon both the grounds urged. This part of the claim by the City against the company amounts to $978.05, for which an attempt is made to hold the appellants liable. In December, 1916, the Quaker Oats buildings were destroyed by fire, they having been situated on practically the same site as occupied by the present buildings. Subsequently negotiations seem to have been entered into between the company and the City and an agreement was made bearing date the 10th of July, 1917, whereby, among other things, the Company agreed to erect new buildings and carry on their business in Peterboro as before, and this they have done. The City on its part by said agreement, among other things, covenanted with the Company that it would "construct and erect" the present high level bridge and would "maintain" the same at all times. The City has constructed and erected the bridge pursuant to this agreement. The bridge that the city agreed to construct, erect and maintain, was the bridge and the whole bridge from bottom to top, foundations and finishings. To make it a bridge it was necessary to cover it and make a roadway at the top, and the city has its choice as to what that covering should be, cement, stone or any other material. It has chosen to cover it with cement pavement and that is a part of its original agreement and liability to construct, erect and maintain the same at its own expense. In view of the agreement, the present effort to make the Company pay this approximately $1,000.00 for the construction, erection or maintenance of the bridge, bears a very close resemblance to breach of faith on the part of the City.

As to the second ground of appeal, it is not necessary in view of my finding as to the first to consider it at length. It is, however, a neat question whether the property of the appellants abuts on the bridge at all. If it does not abut the company would in no case be liable. Their property certainly does abut on Hunter Street, which is below the bridge, and which is still the property of the city, subject to certain limitations provided for in the agreement. Two platforms have been erected on the level of the bridge giving access from it to the buildings of the appellants. These platforms are said to have been erected by the City although why, or on what terms, is not shown. These platforms are apparently partially over the property of the city and partially over the property of the appellants, and it is claimed that they constitute an abutment. In view of the City's action in their erection, and without further explanations to me, I do not think I could or should so hold.

There is a dearth of authorities as to this question of abutment applicable to a case of this kind. I can find no case reported applying to similar facts in the Canadian or English Courts. I have found a reference to a case in the Ohio State Reports — Cohen vs. Cleveland, 43 Ohio State Reports, page 19, somewhat relevant. It was there held in case of an elevated viaduct on the street, some 45 feet above the plaintiff's lot, that his lot did not abut on this viaduct within the meaning of the Local Statute. Although this case is not binding upon me, I agree with the finding and would hold that there is no abutting of the appellants' property upon this bridge so as to make them liable under the Local Improvement Act, apart altogether from the agreement referred to.

The appeal will therefore be dismissed as to the property on Hunter Street East of the river, and allowed as to the main property opposite the buildings and plant of the appellants.

The question of costs was not mentioned and I will make no order as to them.

Dated at Peterboro this 19th day of April, 1924.

(Sgd.) E. C. HUYCKE, Judge.

VOTE FOR THE C. G. E. BYLAW

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Referring at the annual meeting of the Canadian General Electric Company to the fact that the holders of over 90 per cent. of the common shares of the company had accepted the offer of the General Electric Company of the United States the President, Mr. Dyment, said that the more intimate and effective co-operation between the two organizations, in his opinion, would result in material benefit to the Canadian company's operations, securing as it will the full support of the great engineering and commercial forces of the General Electric Company.

The Canadian Company has developed wonderfully. The works of the company in Peterborough are very important to the country, and especially to this city, but the future of the company, with the great General Electric Company behind it, will be at least equally wonderful. Its continued development, if made at the works here, will be of the greatest importance to Peterborough, and we should leave nothing undone to make sure that that development will take place in this city. By voting for the By-law on April 23rd we will help materially to that end, and no one of use should neglect to poll a vote for it on that day.

Yours truly,
M. J. MAHER.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—The filling up of the vacant land at the Canadian General Electric Works with buildings will not cost the citizens anything for improvements because the improvements are there—sewers, sidewalks, roadways, fire protection, etc. But the erection of the new building, its equipment with machinery and the addition of further machinery in the present buildings will help the city wonderfully.

We want these enlargements in the plant, we want the benefits they will bring, and we should roll up a good majority for the By-law on April 23rd.

Yours truly,
J. O. FIFE.

ALD. W. STOCKER.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir: An announcement of great importance to Peterborough was made at the annual meeting of the Canadian General Electric Company on March 26th last, by the President.

"Having in mind the possible extension of the electrical industry in Canada and the necessity for extending our manufacturing facilities," said Mr. Dyment, as reported in the Globe, "it is probable that for some time it will be prudent for us to conserve our cash resources and to use our surplus earnings after the payment of dividends on the preferred stock to provide for such extensions rather than for the payment of dividends on the common stock of the company."

This means that common stock dividends will not be paid "for a long time," as Mr. Dyment also said, and that the money earned by the company will be used to make extensions. We want these extensions made in Peterborough. If the company should begin their extensions at one of their other plants, for instance in Montreal, the further and larger expansions would most probaly also be made there, but if they begin here the future growth will be here.

By passing the bylaw on April 23, we will secure the first extensions that will be made since the United States company got control, and will be in line for the larger developments. It is of great importance that the bylaw should be carried and with a large majority.

Yours truly,
W. STOCKER.

MAKING MAKE MONEY MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

Because of the activity of people who uncoin money, governments must constantly regulate and supervise the output and circulation of metallic currency.

All commerce consists in the exchange of commodities of equal value, so when we allow money to act as a medium of exchange it is easy to see that pieces must be so nearly equal in metallic content that all folks will indifferently substitute one coin for another, without going through the process of testing each coin to determine its actual weight.

Therefore in order to keep coins in circulation, as issued from the mint, and out of the hands of bullion-brokers and exporters, governments must see to it:

1. That standard coins conform as nearly as possible to the standard weights at all times, and

2. That adequate measures be taken for withdrawing from circulation all coins which are worn below the least legal weight, to prevent their degeneration into token coins.

SPRING LATE IN ALBERTA.

NEW YORK, April 22. — Four persons were injured, one of them seriously, and several hundred people were thrown into a panic yesterday when a bomb exploded in front of an east side tenement. Scores of windows were shattered.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE CAT'S TAIL

"Your tail! Lost!" they all cried.

"Will you please help me to find my tail?" asked the patent-leather cat.

Nancy and Nick and Mister Fuzz Wuzz almost lost their voices with astonishment. If someone had said, "It's going to rain gumdrops tomorrow," they couldn't have been more shocked.

"Your tail! Lost!" they all cried. "Are you sure?"

"Pretty sure," said the cat. "But you can see for yourselves." And he turned slowly around until their astonished eyes beheld his back, as tailless as a guinea pig's.

"Oh, dear!" cried Nancy. "What has happened to it?"

"I was asking you that," answered the cat, brushing a speck of dust off his coat. He was most particular about his appearance.

"It was really my fault," he went on. "I knew that it was loose. Last night when I curled up to go to sleep I noticed that all the stitches were out but one. I decided that I would come to you the first thing this morning and have you sew it on tight. But when I awoke to-day it was gone."

"Stolen!" exclaimed Nick.

"There is only one thing to do," decided Nancy. "We shall all go and ask everybody in Doofunny Land if he has an extra tail. If he has, then it must be yours."

"Extra!" cried the cat. "Why, some of them have none at all! How about the napkin rabbit?"

"That's so," declared Nancy. "Well, that's all the more reason why someone would have it."

So off they all went.

First they met the tin-mouse.

"Turn around and let us see your tail," commanded Mister Fuzz Wuzz sharply.

"What for?" squeaked the mouse.

"Because someone has stolen the cat's," the pipe-cleaner man told him.

"The cat's! Do you think I'd have a cat's tail," shrieked the mouse. "Do you think I've lost my senses? Why, I wouldn't have his old tail."

"Tut, tut, tut!" said Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "We believe you. We'll be going on to the next place."

Next they met the Teddy Bear.

"Turn around," commanded Mister Fuzz Wuzz.

"What for?" Teddy asked curiously.

"I want to see yout tail."

"Why, I haven't got any tail, good sir," said Teddy. "Are you crazy?"

"Well, I know you hadn't one yesterday, but how do I know what you've got to-day unless you turn around?"

"Well, I won't turn around, and I haven't any tail. Who'd have a tail anyway? They are only in the road."

They asked the dog and the puppy and the rabbit and the duck and just everybody—but nobody had the cat's tail.

Suddenly they heard a whacking, smacking sound.

The rag doll was cleaning house for the pin-cushion lady and beating her rugs.

And what do you think! She was using Puss' lovely tail for a carpet beater!

They got her broomstick in a jiffy and Puss got his tail back, so it all turned out finely, I'm glad to say.

FEAR.

There is probably no agent that brings us more undesirable conditions than fear.

We should live in fear of nothing, nor will we when we come fully to know ourselves.

And old French proverb runs:

Some of your griefs you have cured,
And the sharpest you still have survived,
But what torments of pain you endured,
From evils that never arrived.

Fear and lack of faith go hand in hand. The one is born of the other. Fear is a most expensive guest to entertain, the same as worry is; so expensive are they that no one can afford to entertain them. Fear can paralyze every muscle of the body. Fear affects the flow of the blood; likewise the normal healthy action of all the life forces. Fear can made the body rigid, motionless, and powerless to move.

"Where are you going?" asked an Eastern pilgrim on meeting the plague one day, "I am going to Bagdad to kill five thousand people."

A few days later the same pilgrim met the plague returning. "You told me you were going to Bagdad to kill five thousand people," said he, "but instead you killed fifty thousand."

"No," said the plague, "I killed only five thousand as I told you I would; the rest died of fright."

The clouds you so much dread
Are big with mercy and will break,
In blessings on your head."

Why Should Mother Be Left Behind?

Many a time mother has missed a motor trip, particularly on washday, because she could not spare the time. Is this fair?

It used to be said that "a man works from sun to sun, but a woman's owrk is never done." But modern labour-saving inventions have changed all this.

TO THE ELECTORS

of the City of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,

We wish, on behalf of the City Council, to commend to you the By-law to extend the period of the Fixed Assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company, which will be voted upon on WEDNESDAY NEXT, 23RD APRIL, and to ask you, one and all, to Vote for the By-law—because

It will secure the erection of a substantial buiding of approximately 50,000 square feet of floor space by the company;

It will result in the expenditure of between $300,000.00 and $400,000.00 in the building and industrial equipment;

It will give the fillip so much required at the present time to employment and business in the city;

It will demonstrate to the new control of the company our desire to co-operate with them;

It will secure to Peterborough future expansions in Canada by this great company;

It will result in the Peterborough plant continuing to be the chief manufacturing plant of the company in Canada;

It will start a healthy circulation in our industrial life, and the money spent will benefit everyone;

It will result in more taxes being paid by the company, which now pays $19,137.05 a year, as the new buiding will be assessed for School purposes;

It will not cost the Citizens anything for civic improvements, as such improvements are now supplied;

It will back up the City Council in their efforts to add to the industrial importance of Peterborough.

And all this is being secured by an extension of the period of the fixed assessment of the company's property for about three and a half years.

We need this expansion; we want all the beneficial results that will follow the passing of the By-aw, and we should roll up a large majority for it.

Peterborough expects every Elector to do his duty.

LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT NEWS

Special Services For Easter —The Firemen Will Hold a Dance.

LAKEFIELD, April 22.—There were two celebrations of the Holy Communion at St. John's Church on Easter Day, one at 8 a.m. and the other at the 11 o'clock service. The latter was fully choral. Rev. A. W. Mackenzie was the preacher and delivered a forceful sermon on the Easter message, which he considers a call to service, personal service as our Lord gave during His life on earth. Service and sacrifice characterized His sojourn with men, and we should not fail to respond to the call.

At the evening service, which was also choral, the rector preached on the Easter message in the parable of the Prodigal Son. It was a thoughtful discourse, which hinged on one of the verses of the parable "This is My Son who was dead and is alive again."

Dr. F. H. Lingwood of Toronto read the lessons and Mrs. Williams (nee Agnes Wigg) sang a solo, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say."

Presbyterian Church.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was celebrated at the Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. Miss Olive Cullen sang, "Open the Gates of the Temple," in splendid voice. The choir prepared several excellent selections.

The Firemen's Ball.

The Volunteer Fire Brigade are putting on one of their popular dances in Easter week, having made arrangements for Thursday evening. These holiday dances afford an opportunity for a pleasant re-union which the young people enjoy very much. There is also provision made for the non-dancing set who will find card tables. The proceeds of the dance will be used for the much needed fire alarm which the brigade are endeavoring to procure. The inspector of fire brigades urged strongly that a proper fire alarm be procured at as early a date as possible and installed at the Fire Hall. The bell is at present used is two blocks from the Fire Hall and is against the greatest efficiency of the brigade. As the fire alarm will be of personal benefit to each and every ratepayer, it is hoped that the citizens individually and collectively will stand behind the brigade in their efforts for the good of the municipality.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Lakefield Rink Co. will be held in the Council Chamber on Friday evening, April 25th. The report of the directors will be given and the officers for the coming year and other business transacted. C. W. Bailey is the President and W. G. Morrison is Secretary.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

(By Jeannette.)

Miss ————,—In reply to the letter which you addressed to this paper, asking for advice, I think, if you have never met the young man, you will give him a wrong impression of you if you telephone him, or write him. If he is as beautiful looking as you say, he probably has numbers of young lady admirers who are doing both these things all the time, and you would only be adding yourself to a crowd. If you think your parents wouldn't let you marry him, perhaps they have some good reason for their objection. Why not get some mutual friend to introduce him to you, and then find out if you really love him or not. You can hardly decide such an important matter by merely admiring a young man's looks. There is an old saying which says that "Beauty is only skin deep,' 'and handsome men are said to be very vain and to have no regard for their wives. Even if you married him, there would probably be many other young women like yourself ready to telephone him or write him because they admired his good looks.

FABLES ON HEALTH

KEEP YOUR CHEST UP!

"Pretty chesty," said Mr. Mann of Anytown, quite admiringly, as he eyed his junior clerk.

The clerk, stripped of his coat and displaying a gaily striped silk shirt, displayed also what appeared to be a perfect 45 chest.

But you never can tell.

Many a man with a good looking chest can't expand it more than half an inch to save his neck. With a 45 chest the clerk should be able to show a 49 under expansion.

The average person should have a chest expansion equal to 10 per cent. of its minimum girth.

Any person can easily figure it out. Just take a tape measure, contract the chest and put the tape just below the breast. If, for instance, the measurement is 38, the measure should show 41 when expanded.

If it doesn't, BEGIN CHEST DEVELOPMENT EXERCISES. Take such exercises, anyhow.

Any of half a hundred breathing exercises are good. And breathing exercises should be taken for the good of the abdomen and diaphragm and circulation generally.

Don't let it get like the old chest in the garret, dirt clogged and in decay; KEEP YOUR CHEST UP!

BLUNDERS

WHY IS THIS WRONG?

Postal regulations require that the enclosures of window envelopes must be folded so that they will not shift around, obscuring all or a part of the address. It is also required that the return address in the upper left corner must include the street address or post office box number of the sender. Much annoyance results when window envelopes do not conform to these requirements.

Many fishes carry a band of eye spots down each side of their bodies.

Laxatives do not overcome constipation

More Important is Internal Cleanliness

LAXATIVES and cathartics provide temporary relief only, at the expense of permanent injury. In time, says an eminent physician, an almost incalculable amount of harm is done by the use of pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil and the like.

Some laxatives, according to an intestinal specialist, contain poisons which affect the stomach and intestines, resulting in grave disorders. Certain laxatives are a direct cause of piles.

Physicians Advise Lubrication for Internal Cleanliness

Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

"Keep Clean Inside" say Physicians

Not a Medicine

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.

THE PERIL OF NARCOTICS

(By Captain Richmond P. Hobson)

PERIL INVADES SCHOOLS.

The narcotic peril is spreading rapidly among school children.

High school students, and even pupils in the elementary grades, fall prey through the agency of the dope peddler.

There is much official evidence of this fact. A report of the federal grand jury at El Paso, Texas, states:

"I has come to our observation that boys between the ages of 12 and 15 are being taught the use of narcotic drugs; that these boys, once in the grip of this vice, sell the clothes that their parents provide for them, steal and indulge in other petty crimes, obtain funds to satisfy their cravings created by the drug habit. We find that one boy has stated to officers of the law that he has about 20 companions of his own age who are drug users. Another boy disclosed that there are 40 of his child companions using narcotics. Peddlers of drugs are giving it away to some children to create narcotic addiction, thus enlarging the demand for their illicit traffic."

The report (April 15, 1919) of the special committee appointed by the secretary of the treasury to investigate the secrecy of the drug traffic, states:

"The range of age of addicts wa reported as 12 to 75 years. . . . Most of the heroin addicts are comparatively young, a portion of them being boys and girls under 20. This is also true of cocaine addicts."

Nearly all American children go through our school without obtaining adequate information about these habit-forming narcotics and their effect on the human system.

Ignorant of the exact nature of narcotics, and of the fact that indulgence is inevitably followed by addiction disease, they accept the suggestions of those who are themselves secretly addicted, or who are engaged in the illegal sale of the drugs, and thus unwittingly acquire the disease of narcotic addiction.

Dr. Dana S. Hubbard states that "80 per cent of the addicts visiting the New York department of health clinic are young men and women just out of their 'teens."

Dr. Amos O. Squire, of Sing Sing prison, says that most addicts acquire the habit in the early twenties.

Mrs. Ellen LaMotte, a recognized authority on narcotic addiction, says that 20 per cent of addicts begin the use of narcotic drugs before they are 20, and that 35 per cent acquire the habit under 25.

A PAGE ABOUT PEOPLE

Sidelights on Men and Women in the Public Eye

HEROIC WIFE IN OVERALLS IS BLIND HUSBAND'S EYES

Congressman and Helpmeet Conquer Together—Were in Trenches and on Torpedoed Boat

IN her way she is just as celebrated as the Lady with the Lamp—the Lady in Overalls. She is the inspiration of Washington.

The story of Margaret Schall is the story of a woman's heroism, and, incidentally, of her husband's as well.

In the office building of the House of Representatives at Washington, you can find this extraordinary pair. On the door is the inscription: "Thomas D. Schall, Minnesota."

Inside, you meet Thomas Schall, the blind congressman, and Margaret, his wife, his eyes, his secretary, in very truth his helpmeet, and she is wearing blue overalls.

People look at her twice, not because of the overalls, but because of herself; short of stature, with tiny hands and feet, blue twinking eyes, and a mass of wavy blond hair and blue overalls.

"I began to wear them in wartime," she told the author of the Boudoir Mirrors of Washington, "when we didn't have much money for dresses, and they are so comfortable and convenient I always wear them for the office. When it comes to filing books and papers, Mrs. Schall finds that overalls help a great deal in climbing up and down ladders to reach the proper bookcase or cabinet.

It was at college that they met. Tom had struggled up from obscurity. He had been a chore boy, bootblack, newsboy and janitor to his own law office in Minneapolis.

Then they were married. Four happy years passed, and success was just in the offing. Then—tragedy hurled its fateful bolt.

Tom Schall was never to see his wife's face again. He leaned down to light his cigar at the electric cigar lighter. There was a short circuit, and Thomas Schall was blind.

"What shall I do?" he asked.

"I will be your eyes and you shall still practice law," said Margaret Schall.

Blindness did not conquer Tom Schall and his little wife. She went through law to be able to help draft her husband's bills. When he ran for Congress, she drove his car, choosing the right place so that the wind would blow his voice towards the crowd. When they went abroad in 1918 permission was granted to her to accompany her husband into the front line trenches, where she described for his sightless eyes the pages of history that were being written in blood.

Homeward bound, the greatest test of her courage unexpectedly came. But it was unexpected to her, used to foreseeing things. She had arisen early the morning the torpedo hit their ship. Hurying below, she assisted her husband to the deck. Then she tied him to her waist with a rope. As they were both good swimmers, she counted on guiding him at sea as she had guided him on land.

The captain thrilled when he saw the sight. No hysterics. No weeping. Simply "Good-morning, Captain," in a cheery voice.

The captain cited Margaret Schall for bravery. After the war, she was presented with a decoration, which she is saving for her two-year-old daughter Peggy when she grows up.

Thomas Schall is recognized as one of the ablest men in Congress. You can think what you like about Margaret Schall. "You don't find her at the women's clubs, at the bridge luncheons, at receptions, or jassing till dawn," says the anonymous chronicler. "Her life is too full of work, or sacrifice, and, most wonderful of all, of a great joy for what she has achieved."

Congressman's Wife Wears Overalls

THIS is Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, wife of the "blind Congressman" from Minnesota, as she appears when ready to attend to her heavy work of cleaning the five rooms used by Congressman Schall in the capitol. Mrs. Schall also is secretary for her husband and sits with him during congressional sessions. When it comes to filing books and papers, Mrs. Schall finds that overalls help a great deal in climbing up and down ladders to reach the proper bookcase or cabinet During the eight years her husband has been in congress, she has always helped him in his official duties. Despite his blindness, the Congressman is very active, and is recognized as one of the ablest men in congress.

TIM HEALY SHOUTS "BOO" TO AN HONORABLE GOOSE

IN the old days of stormy debate on the Irish question in the House of Commons, the governor-general of Ireland, the Right Hon. Timothy Healy, was a leading light, and famous for his wit and readiness in repartee.

On one occasion a young English member—in a bitter attack on the Irish party—referred to Mr. Healy in a recent speech, and with sarcasm said the honorable member couldn't say Boo! to a goose.

Tim Healy was on his feet in an instant, and, leaning forward in the young Englishman's direction, shouted: "Boo!" long and loud.

In the merriment that ensued the young member sat down and was not heard from again.

JOHN CAMPBELL, of Ballyrobin, who is 111 years old, says he has never married because he never had time to make up his mind. They always died after about twenty or thirty years' courting.—Passing Show.

Famous "Bad Luck" Jewel

AROUND the neck of Mrs. E. B. McLean hangs the tragic Hope Diamond in the famous painting by Philip Laszlo, the eminent Hungarian portrait painter. The great gem is depending from the shorter of the two chains. It is this stone that May Yohe blames for all her terrible poverty, privations and misfortunes. The tragic death of Mrs. McLean's oldest child, "the million dollar baby," and her husband's unpleasant predicament in the Ten Pot Dome oil scandal is interpreted by the superstitious as another manifestation of the black sorrow that comes in the wake of this notorious stone.

GUELPH'S BLIND PIANIST INSPECTS HIS NEW HOUSE

A GOOD story is told of Mr. Albert Kaiser, Guelph's well known blind pianist. Some few years ago Mr. Kaiser was having a house built. One Saturday afternoon a friend of his was passing the new home which at the time was practically only a skeleton of a house. Two or three children playing thereabouts remarked that a blind man had gone in there, pointing to the house. The gentleman immediately became alarmed about Mr. Kaiser, as there were no floors or stairs as yet erected in the place. He found Mr. Kaiser up on the second floor feeling his way with his cane. He remarked to him, "What are you doing here." The reply came back. "Oh, I just came up to see how the men are getting along with the roof."

FLAHERTY'S VOICE BEATS EVERYTHING BUT RADIO

NEARLY everybody that rides on the C. N. R. between Toronto and Sarnia has heard or heard about Charlie Flaherty. For the benefit of those who haven't he is the veteran depot master at Guelph and is possessed of a voice which for distance has everything beat but the radio.

On one occasion he had just finished calling the stations lying from Guelph west to and including Chicago, when a venturous youth in the crowd shouted in a very pious voice "Amen." Not to be outdone Mr. Flaherty replied "Thank you. It's a poor parish that can't afford a clerk."

TOO MUCH FOR BALFOUR

MR. (now Lord) BALFOUR was one day strolling near his Scottish home at Whittinghame when he was accosted by an old man hailing from a neighboring village. On being presented with a shilling, the man whispered to Mr. Balfour: "Mon, dae ye ken what I'm gaun to tell ye?" "No," replied the statesman. "Well," was the rejoinder, "it's gaun tae rain seventy-twa days." Mr. Balfour, thinking to have a little fun with him, remarked: "That cannot be, for the world was entirely flooded in forty days." "But," returned the old fellow, "the world wisna sae weel drained then as it is noo."

BAGDAD BAGGINESS

SOME people when talking to royalty are too nervous to think. The wit of Mr. Henry Ainley is not subject to these "frozen by fright" fits. As you know, he plays the part of a portly Bagdad confectioner in "Hassan" at His Majesty's Theatre. Queen Mary and the Queen of Norway were so impressed by his performance that they summoned him to the royal box during the interval.

"That's not you, Mr. Ainley?" said Queen Mary, indicating Mr. Ainley's girth as the confectioner.

"Your Majesty," said the quick-witted actor, "I am a true subject with a false stomach!"

Her Eyes Shut

"HELEN plays whist so much that she can go through a game with her eyes shut."

"Yes; I've been her partner when I thought she was playing that way."

Superstitious See Curse Of Hope Diamond for McLean

Stone Taken From Idol's Breast Leaves Trail of Misfortune Wherever It Has Been—Brings Fatalities to Owners — Possibility of Bad Luck Foreseen By McLean in Clause of the Agreement of Purchase.

HAS nothing been heard of the notorious Hope diamond for a few years? "Just wait," say the superstitious.

Then comes the Tea Pot Dome oil scandal. If the Hope diamond isn't mixed up in that brew — for almost everything seems to be mixed up in it—something will be wrong with Fate as a mystery writer.

Edward Beale McLean

Then the papers ring with the name of Edward Beale McLean, who has sent $100,000 in checks to Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, before that gentleman was driven from the garden of Washington.

The Hope diamond is in the limelight again.

Mrs. McLean wears it sometimes around her neck. Philip Laszlo, the eminent Hungarian portrait painter, shows it in his famous canvas of Mrs. McLean. The "bad luck" gem hangs from the shorter of the two chains about her neck. It is of a wonderful blue and weighs slightly more than a quarter of an ounce.

Thirteen years ago, when he bought the Hope diamond, Edward B. McLean was not as superstitious as he probably is now.

Even without the Hope diamond his story was as queer a romance as modern chronicles can produce. All his life Ned McLean has had someone looking after him. His millionaire father saw to that. When the young man of 33 tried to break his father's will he found that it was iron-clad. By the terms of a compromise, the son might have a voice in the management of all his father's properties, including the Washington Post and the Cincinnati Enquirer, but his income was restricted to the $1,000,000 interest; he could make no business actions without the approval of bankers and lawyers his father had named. But there were the $50,000,000 in his wife's fortune, the millions of Thomas F. Walsh, the Colorado mining magnate who from a humble Irish origin had risen to become the partner and close personal friend of King Leopold of Belgium.

The memorandum of sale seems to prove that McLean had a few doubts about the stone of lurid tragedy. "Should any fatality occur in the family of Edward B. McLean within six months, the said Hope diamond is agreed to be exchanged for jewelry of equal value at the selection of Wilton J. Lambert," read an ominous clause.

It was eight years later before tragedy came. This was the celebrated case of the "hundred million dollar baby," their first child, who was wheeled around in a specialy constructed steel go-cart, rocked to sleep in a gold cradle, and guarded night and day from threatened kidnaping by more armed detectives than in the suite of the president of the United States. But one day in 1919, while playing outside the beautiful Washington estate of his parents called Friendship, he suddenly eluded his guards, and, dashing through the gates to the roadway, was killed by a passing Ford car.

It was from Cartier of Paris that McLean had bought the accursed stone for $300,000, in spite of its tragic history, stretching back, according to semi-legend, to the seventeenth century, when it was stolen from the breast of a Burmese idol for Tavernier, the great French traveler. For his diamond and his discoveries, he was ennobled by Louis XIV. of France, tradition says. But Tavernier was torn to pieces by wild dogs at the gates of Moscow. Madame de Montespan, the favorite of Louis XIV., who wore the gem, immediately lost her place in the grand monarch's heart. In 1792 the Princess de Lamballe wore the diamond at the bidding of Marie Antoinette. It was not long before her head was being carried through the streets of Paris on a pole by the revolutionaries and Marie Antoinette was guillotined. It is even hinted that Marat had possession of it before he was assassinated by Charlotte Corday.

The notorious gem then went to Antwerp. The son of William Fals, the lapidary, stole it from his father's shop. The parent committed suicide. Fals, the younger, sold it to a man named Beaulieu who died from dissipation in London in 1820. Daniel Eliason, a London jewel merchant, bought the great diamond from Beaulieu, and sold it for $90,000 to Henry Hope, a rich Englishman and grandfather to Lord Francis Hope, who inherited it.

Of interest to Canadians is this part of the story. Although bankrupt, Lord Francis Hope, in spite of the offer of a million dollars to give her up, married May Yohe, the beautiful favorite of the London music halls. Years ago, she sang during a tour in the Canadian theatres. Her song, "Honey Ma Honey," and her laughing carefree face won all hearts.

But troubles started for May Yohe when she began to wear the Hope Diamond. To it she attributed all her marital troubles. Lord Francis divorced her. In 1910 she was even reduced to running a third rate boarding house at Seattle. Only a year or two ago, did she win her way back to the vaudeville stage.

Meanwhile, the Hope Diamond went on its way to E. B. McLean. Simon Frankel, of New York, bought it for $168,000. He had financial misfortunes. Jacques Colot, its next owner, went mad and committed suicide. A Russian prince lent it to an actress and that night as she wore it on the stage he shot her dead. A Greek merchant sold it to Sultan Abdul Hamid, of Turkey, and was killed in an accident, while the sultan, after being deposed, died insane.

Mr. McLean secured the notorious stone from Pierre Cartier, a French jeweler, who acted as the agent of the Young Turks. The superstitious, pointing to the strange clause in the purchase agreement, show how even at the time of the sale, McLean in the back of his mind had hidden fears about the result.

AUTHOR PRAISES GARLIC WOMAN FAINTS AWAY

Mr. Robt. Lynd, Addressing Society for Suppression of Parsnip-Eating, Succeeds Beyond Wildest Hopes

"I WAS invited the other evening to attend a dinner given by the Society for the Suppression of Parsnip-eating," says Mr. Robert Lynd, the distinguished English editor and essayist.

"When my turn came to speak, I resolved not to care twopence what I said so long as I kept talking. After a few perfunctory words about the guest of the evening, I talked heavily, not only about the parsnip, but about every vegetable that I could remember; spoke of the different methods of cooking sprouting-broccoli, the use of garlic as a preventive of influenza, the depredations of snails on lettuce, finger-and-toe disease in turnips, and the arguments for and against planting broad beans before Christmas.

"Within five minutes I had the audience fast in the grip of deadly boredom. In twenty minutes they looked haggard. At the end of forty minutes a woman fainted. When I sat down at the end of an hour, there was not a single handclap to disturb a silence that told me I had succeeded beyond my wildest hopes."

Give me five minutes' talk with a man about politics or weather or neighbors or finances, and I'll tell you whether he's going to reach ninety-five in good shape or not. If he says he has the finest neighbors in the world and adds that times never have been better or politics cleaner or the weather finer, then you may be pretty sure that he'll be a winner at ninety-five or any other age. No matter how long you live, there isn't time to worry.—Chauncey M. Depew, 89-year-old ex-Senator, lawyer and after-dinner speaker.

Negro Pullman Porter Precedes Railway Presidents as College Lecturer

THE creed of John Baptist Ford of New York, negro Pullman porter and college lecturer — shown here with his family—may be summed up in two words: "Education" and "service". At 17, Ford, a South Carolina cotton picker, could neither read nor write. This week he lectured before the students of the Tuck School of Administration and Finance at Dartmouth University, having been requested to do so by Prof. Malcolm Keir, who was impressed with his intelligence and efficiency while traveling on Ford's car. "A man is happy when he is giving service to other people," said Ford, and, "Every one of my children is going through college." His 14-year-old daughter, Ruth, won a gold medal for scholarship in public school last year. Ford's lecture preceded other lectures on railroading delivered by railroad presidents and bankers. He told the students that porters respected the man who tipped and the man who didn't tip, but declared that tips were necessary if the porter were to live on a salary of $65 to $85 a month with decent living quarters costing $70 a month or more in New York. Asked as to the proper sum for a tip, he answered: "Let your conscience be your guide."

Most Discreet Man in England

NOT the member of any court family, plain Arthur Bigge, son of the Rev. J. F. Bigge, rector of Stamfordham, is indebted for his subsequent rise to Lord Stamfordham and his altogether privileged and influential place as secretary to King George to his devoted service throughout two score years, first to Queen Victoria and then to her grandson as well as to Queen Mary. It is no exaggeration to state that there is no one who so enjoys to such a complete degree the complete confidence of his sovereign.

Meanest Person Living Was the Bishop's Wife

That Was When Mrs. Sillitoe First Went West and Did Not Know How Cowboys Gave Collection

NOT many wives of bishops have been publicly denounced as the meanest person within a radius of five hundred miles, but such an experience fell to the lot of Mrs. A. W. Sillitoe, whose husband was one of the first bishops of northern British Columbia.

Mrs. Sillitoe tells the story in her recently published memoirs.

According to custom, she had accompanied the bishop on one of his visits to the remote part of his immense diocese. Barkerville, then famous as a gold camp, marked the end of the journey.

The visit of the bishop, who was extremely popular, brought hundreds of miners and prospectors from the outlying creeks, and the little church was crowded for Sunday service. The singing was of the heartiest, and after an eloquent appeal for funds by the bishop, two pro tem, churchwardens passed around the hat.

The response was generous, as might be expected of a gold camp in the heyday of its prosperity. Silver dollars and bills, gold dust and nuggets, and a few I.O.U.'s, half filled the improvised collection box.

The churchwardens sorted out their "colors," counting as they went along. They were quite cheerful until one of them found a twtenty-five cent piece in the hat.

Now this was in 1881, when two-bits was the smallest coin circulating in the west.

Immediately the churchwarden role was dropped, and the miner delivered a few appropriate remarks which somewhat shocked the good bishop.

At great risk of exploding internally, the irate miner-churchwarden bottled up the remainder of his expletives, leaving it to his companion to explain to the bishop that the meanest person between Yale and the Arctic had thrown a bit of chicken-feed into the hat.

Mrs. Sillitoe, who had approached on hearing the unusual commotion, saved the reputation of the Barkerville residents by owning up to having put in the quarter. She had not yet been able to reconcile herself to the western monetary viewpoint, and had thought herself very liberal in her donation.

During that same visit, while taking the part of prima donna in a concert organized by the bishop, Mrs. Sillitoe's feet were the target of a shower of silver dollars. These "bouquets" went to swell the church funds, but the singer's best effort was ruined when one of the great cartwheels landed on her toes.

A TOO-LATE APOLOGY

ONE of the many good stories Dame Nellie Melba is fond of telling concerns a drawing-room concert she once attended.

The host was nervous and inexperienced, and at the end of a song with which one of the guests had obliged, he rose hurriedly.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he began. "Before Mrs. Smith started to sing she—ah—told me her—ah—voice was not in the best condition and—ah—asked me to apologise for it, but I neglected to do so and—ah—I apologise now."

METHUSELAH could hardly have been expected to go on eating pigs and pullets every morning for 969 years.—Mr. Bernard Shaw.

SHEER MERIT WON POST FOR KING'S SECRETARY

Master of Tact and Discretion—Former Private Secretary of Queen Victoria Had Creditable Military Career

NOT every man in England knows as many secrets of state as Lord Stamfordham, private secretary of the King. It is he who sorts out the wheat from the chaff in the sovereign's private correspondence and in the despatch boxes from the government each day.

The term private secretary is somewhat misleading. Lord Stamfordham is more than that. There is scarcely a government office of importance which does not send every day to the palace where the King may happen to be residing, boxes of documents, orders, warrants and directions, requiring the royal signature and immediate attention. To convey the idea of this quantity of papers submitted to the King every day, it may be mentioned that the average number which he is called upon to sign amounts to almost three hundred. All these have to be read before receiving the royal signature, and each of them necessarily passes through the hands of the monarch's private secretary, as do copies of all important despatches received at the foreign office, and every paper of any moment in draft for royal approval before being sent abroad by the secretary of state for foreign affairs. It was thanks to this practice that Queen Victoria was able radically to change in a conciliatory sense the draft of the despatch to the United States about the Trent affair during the Civil War, which had it been forwarded in its original form would probably have caused war.

It is difficult to overrate the importance of an office such as that of Lord Stamforham. He is invariably a member of the privy council, of which the cabinet is merely a committee. For all communications to the sovereign pass through his hands, and he is constantly intrusted with the duty of conveying his royal master's views, opinions and desires, even of the most confidential nature to the various ministers of the crown.

One of the romances of British official life has been Lord Stamfordham's career. The influence of no aristocratic family was behind him. The son of Rev. J. F. Bigge, the plain rector of Stamfordham, Arthur Bigge began his career in the army. At the Royal Military College at Woolwich he was a classmate of the Prince Imperial, the ill-fated son of Empress Eugenie, and a warm friendship sprang up between them. They went to South Africa together in the Matabele campaign. It has always been one of the greatest regrets of Lord Stamfordham that he was engaged upon some other duty the day the young prince was sent out with Lieutenant Cary and a small escort to reconnoitre. Had Bigge been with the party he would never have left his friend alone to face the savage warriors. As the intimate friend of the prince, Bigge was selected to escort his remains home to England, and, later on, when the Empress Eugenie made her memorable pilgrimage to the scene of her son's death, Arthur Bigge was designated to attend her.

The empress developed a great liking for the young artilleryman, and on her return spoke about him so highly to Queen Victoria that he was appointed to her household as groom in waiting, then assistant private secretary before nine months were past.

Few men suffered so much from the last war as Lord Stamfordham. His only son, the Hon. John Neville Bigge, fell at the front in 1915. His son-in-law, Capt. H. H. Adeane of the Coldstream Guards, was killed in the same year. Two years ago, the death of his wife at St. James' Palace, ended forty years of their particularly happy married life.

The ideal man for the office, Lord Stamfordham, who took his title from his native town, cannot be relieved from his duties by his close friend, the King. Along with great tact and discretion goes a blend of deep religious sentiment and capacity for fun in his nature that has endeared him to the royal family.

A WOMAN fumbled with her papers in the box in the Shoreditch county court, and a defendant exclaimed: "Take your gloves off and then you can handle them."

The woman (surprised): Gloves! These are my hands.

Englishman Turns Moslem

HERE is Sir Charles Edward Archibald Watkin Hamilton, Bart., of Selsey, Sussex, England, who has embraced the Islamic faith. Sir Charles, who is 48, is the holder of two baronetcies, one dating from 1776, the other from 1819. Sir Charles is the first of his high rank to adopt the Moslem teachings, though there are about 500 people of different rank in England who have done the same.

NEWS OF BURNBRAE AND THE DISTRICT

Many Visitors For the Easter Vacation—An Easter Cantata.

BURNBRAE, April 22. — Miss Annie Haig, who is teaching near Lakefield is spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Haig, Hoard's Station.

Miss Eloise Watson, teacher, Belleville is spending holidays at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Watson.

Mr. Neil Bissonnette of Stirling spent the week end at his uncle's Mr. Alex. Hume, Seymour East.

Mrs. Lloyd and family who recently came from Australia are spending a few days at the home of her cousin, Mrs. James Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd expect to make their future home in Victoria, B.C. They expect to move out west about 1st of May.

Mr. Ray Archer spent Sunday visiting friends at Burnbrae.

Mrs. James Linn, who has been sick for some time is still in a critical condition. Dr. Connor of Belleville, was called in by the local physician for a consultation, on Sunday morning.

The services of Burnbrae and Rylstone were largely attended yesterday. Rev. J. J. Black gave two inspiring Easter messages. The morning text from Job 14:14 "If a man die, shall he live again? and in the evening the "Meaning of Easter." The music by the choir was exceptionally good at both services and greatly appreciated by the large congregation.

In the evening the sacred Easter Cantata was given entitled "The Pilgrim Vision" and was enjoyed by all. The evening programe was as follows:

Opening selection by the choir.
Invocation, Rev. J. J. Black.
Easter Song, Choir and S. S. Pupils.
Devotional Exercises, J. J. Black.
Song of Joy, and Hope and Light, Choir.
The Pilgrims Part, taken by Mitchell Rannie.
Praise Anthem, Choir.
Recitation, "Christ the Lily" by Kathleen Little.
Recitation, "Faith in Christ", Jean Craghead.
Recitation "Hope", Helen Oddie.
Song of Faith and Hope, Choir.
Recitation "The Star of Love", Emily Craghead.
Duet, "Song of the Star" Mrs. Charles Milne and Miss Jean Rannie
Recitation' "Shield of Salvation" Miss Fern Weiferell.
Song of the Shield, Choir
Recitation, "The Crown of Glory" Elsie Rannie.
Recitation "The Guide of Life" Doris Rannie.
Recitation "The Pilgrim", Mitchell Rannie.

Each of the seven girls who recited carried appropriate symbols viz: a stalk of Easter Lillies; a cross an anchor, a star, a shield, a crown, an open Bible. The symbols were beautifully prepared and added greatly to the brightness of the service. The Pilgrim asked the meaning of the symbols the seven happy girls were carrying. Each recitation was a response to this question of the Pilgrim. Who decided to confirm his life to the great teachings expressed through the symbols.

CONFERENCE SUMMER SCHOOL.

The annual summer school of the Bayof Quinte Conference will be held this year at Bobcaygeon, July 21st to 28th. The place selected is an ideal summer resort, and the school will be conducted on the camp plan, although provision will be made in private homes for any who wish to be billeted. Among the leaders of the school will be Rev. R. J. D. Simpson, D.D., Secretary-Treasurer of the Superannuation Fund, well-known missionaries, and prominent Bay of Quinte ministers.

This school is carried on for the study of the Bible, missions, young people's work, and training young men and women for Christian leadership.

Any information concerning the school may be secured from the President, Rev. R. H. Rickard, of Northport, the Secretary, Rev. J. E. Glover, of Campbellford, or the business manager, Rev. A. C. Hie, of Bobcaygeon.

LEFT FOR NEW YORK.

LONDON, April 22.—(Canadian Press). — Brigadier-General Dawes left this morning for New York, having spent two and a half days in London without his arrival, presence or departure being chronicled in any English newspaper. The Easter holiday completely overshadowed the visit of the United States expert.

SILK RIBBON.

Borders of bright colored silk ribbon or braid bind the edges of many smart frocks of alpaca, twill or jersey.

RETURNS TO ENGLAND.

LONDON, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—Looking well and hearty, the Prince of Wales returned to England last night, crossing from France to Folkestone as one of a crowd of holiday makers on the regular Channel boat. He mingled with the passengers on the boat.

SAVE THE NUTS!

When throwing away dry cells that have become exhausted it is a thrifty plan to first unscrew the small thumb nuts and save them for some future use. They may come in handy if the top nut of a binding post on the set becomes lost.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Special Addresses at the Easter Services in the Methodist Church.

MILLBROOK, Apr. 21.—"I have a big subject for you this morning, expressed in a little word," was the opening statement of Miss E. C. Hawken, missionary on furlough, in her address on Easter Sunday morning to the large congregation assembled in the Methodist Church. Following their usual custom the Women's Missionary Auxiliary, which is represented on the home field by Miss Hawken, the mission circle and mission band attended in a body occupying the centre front pews, a good percentage of the membership of each organization being present, and the remainder of the auditorium comfortably filled.

Miss Hawken took her Scripture lesson from the 13th chapter of First Corinthians, and quoting from the Master's Own words, chose as her text, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Explaining that we have many neighbors in our big country, and all are not Canadians but, having come here at the invitation of our Government, they are our guests and as such we are under obligation to treat them well. "Love" then being our subject, and the duty enjoined toward these neighbors, knowledge of them becomes a necessity.

Seventy-five miles north of Edmonton is the Kolokreeks Home and Boarding School to which station Miss Hawken was appointed in June, 1917, and where, under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society, she has labored for six years. It is in a district six thousand miles square, and having a population of one hundred thousand foreigners, the majority of whom are Russian, Ruthenians, Roumanians, and Ukranians.

The cold in winter being extreme—Miss Hawken has had personal experience of sixty-four below zero and it has been known to go down to seventy—the foreigners very sensibly build their houses all facing the south, with only one small window on north, east, or west. Their houses are made of small poplar logs pressed close together and plastered with mud, mixed by the women with their bare feet and put on with their hands, both inside and out. When the mud is smoothed with a trowel and allowed to harden the house is whitewashed, outer walls and inner as well, and the door and above the windows decorated with crosses for to this symbol the Ruthenians attach great significance.

The floors in the homes used to be made of mud also but since the coming of the railway lumber may be secured so now board floors are the rule. The roof is made of straw and the eaves project some distance. In the better class of homes there are two rooms and as large families are the rule both have to be used for sleeping accommodation. The chief article of furniture in the kitchen is the big, home-made stove, whitewashed like the walls and made of hardened brick and clay; the steel top and pipes are the only parts purchased. Bread is the main food of the people and this they make well, sometimes putting poppy seeds in for special occasions. Behind the stove is a raised platform, one foot and a half high, littered usually with kitchen utensils, children, and other objects, while underneath may be stored boxes of bread, hens setting, or chickens kept indoors for warmth, and yet this is the family sleeping place. The entire family, unwashed and undressed spend the nights on this hard bed. In the daytime quilts and blankets are hung on a rod indoors, or put on the fence in warm weather. Even if an occasional real bed is owned its condition is indescribable. Sanitation is an art unknown among these fellow-citizen of our, except n they are taught cleanliness in the mission school.

No knives and no plates grace the table at mealtime, one central dish into which all dip their bread, and that probably but a granite kettle, is their custom. Their windows are not made to open, hence with such fearfully unsanitary conditions it is small wonder that when the flu broke out it spread rapidly, whole families being wiped out within a few weeks.

The better room of the house usually has many colors and varieties of wall paper on the walls, with picture postcards, and pictures clipped from magazines, tacked up indiscriminately. Pieces of tapestry also adorn the walls, but on the east side there is invariably a row of sacred pictures because that is the side nearest Jerusalem, and before these the family pray and cross themselves. This is the rule in their churches also. Their homes have nothing of comfort, just the barest necessities, and in their churches, where the service sometimes lasts three hours, no seats are provided.

The Ruthenians are good farmers, good gardeners, and raise good poultry, but their wives and children, especially the girls, receive scant attention. The rule is that the father must be obeyed, willingly or unwillingly. Their homes are not founded on love, and the girls are forced to marry when quite young, none over seventeen being unmarried in the whole colony. On only a week's acquaintance, when but fourteen, a girl is often married to a man much older than herself, and in some cases is his second wife because if one wife dies there is no thought of waiting any length of time for another, and a hasty second marriage is arranged with possibly three weeks' time. Untrained and uneducated, the young wife becomes a mere drudge in house and fields, bound to obey the will of her husband, who in many cases uses her most cruelly.

The fathers are willing to educate their sons because they must do the business of the farm, but the girls are not considered worth sending to school. The crying need of the colony is educated, Christian motherhood. The people are religious but the church has lost its soul Three sects are found among them, Roman Catholics, Greek Catholics, and Orthodox Greek Church. Their chief religious festival is Easter, and they will spend all the night before Easter Sunday confessing their sins to the priest, and bringing their bread to be blessed and sprinkled with holy water, ready for eating next day.

The priest is practically the only educated man in the colony and he opposes the mission school because he does not want his people to become Christianized but retain their connection with the Old Land. The church, however, is not holding the young people because the priest speaks high Russian and this the people do not understand. The children are most anxious to be educated and love the mission school where they learn English and about God and His love, and carry the message to the older folk at home. Having known a higher way of life they can never again be bound down to the customs brought from Russia. There is great need of young Canadian, who, as school teachers, will go out to such colonies, put up with the hardships, and help train these young minds, bodies, and souls so a Christian, Canadian citizenship is the outcome.

In concluding her remarks, Miss Hawken told of some of the fruits of the work now beginning to show in the lives of pupils who are, or who have been, at the mission school which is kept open all the year round, and urged continued prayer for the work and the workers in their difficult, but Christ-directed task.

The special service of song given by the choir morning and evening under the joint leadership of Miss Ethel Richardson and Miss S. Hetherington, added much to the spirit of worship making it easier for both minister and people to enter into the true atmosphere of the Eastertide.

Miss Hawken addressed the Sunday School in the afternoon, illustrating her talk with some excellent slides on the various phases of life in the Ruthenian colony.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe, and sure way to get them out, and that is to dissolve them. Get about two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts, and every blackhead will be gone. Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores, and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of peroxine powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition

CHEESE SANDWICHES

Mash cream cheese to a paste and mix with 10 finely chopped olives, salt and pepper. Add two tablespoons of mayonnaise, and when the mixture is creamy spread on buttered bran bread. Cut into fancy shapes.

The frequency of sun spots is periodical, the maximum number occurring at intervals of about 11 years.

"Back was Very Painful I am now Well Again"

Mrs. Wm. Walker, Webbwood, Ont., writes:

"I was sick for several months with my stomach. I had pains in the back, and how I used to dread wash day, for my back would pain so that I couldn't lie down when night came. I also had gas on my stomach, and my appetite was so poor that sometimes I did not care whether I ate or not. The doctor gave me medicine, of which I took a number of bottles without benefit. At last I started to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and although I have only used three boxes, I am quite well again."

HEARTS AFIRE

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Prudence Page, a pretty country girl who had awakened from a brief and unhappy love-affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philanderer, guest at the home of Mrs. Vansittart, wealthy woman who owns Winston Towers. Another of her guests is

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor who is interested in Prudence. The latter has been falsely accused of stealing at Mrs. Vansittart's home, and has run away to New York. She is rescued from a burning building and carried away in an ambulance. Meanwhile, Virginia, uninvited pays Peter a call one night.

A terrible thunderstorm compels her to stay until far into the night.

CHAPTER I.

What the Headlines Told Peter

At ten o'clock in the morning, Peter Armstrong sat in the corner of a railroad coach that was bowling him swiftly up to town, his thoughts gravitating between Prudence Page, and the highly awkward situation last night's storm had got him into!

He was no special stickler as to etiquette, but he hated to think he might have been the unwitting means of gossip centering unpleasantly around Virginia Dale.

He had hitherto misjudged Virginia. She wasn't the artificial creature he had thought her, quite devoid of heart or womanly impulse. Why! before the storm prostrated her, she has shown herself to be cram-full of sympathy for the other girl, kind and considerate, and anxious to vindicate the other's honor.

It was the very irony of fate that, having come to his cottage on such a praise-worthy mission, and being unavoidably storm-bound, Virginia's own reputation might now be at stake!

What could he do about it?

And where was Prudence Page?

As Virginia, with obvious commonsense, had pointed out to him, it had been stupid of the child to run away, thus giving a semblance of truth to the hateful tale in circulation!

Her action had affected others, too. Virginia had told him that never in all her life had she seen a man so stricken as Prudence's father, and as Mrs. Page, the poor soul was utterly prostrated, she believed.

It was Prudence's flight that had brought Virginia on the errand which led her to be storm-bound, and—as ill-luck would have it—hadn't they encountered Talkative Tom, the village gossip, on their way up to Winston Towers after dawn, and the tale of Virginia's nocturnal sojourn at Pear-Tree Cottage would be common property by now!

A wave of resentment entered Peter's thoughts of Prudence, who indirectly had brought about this 'impasse'.

But, just the same, he yearned to find her.

The train darted through the sunlit landscape which bore everywhere traces of last night's storm. Many trees had been blown down, and a lot of damage had been done.

Peter arrived in town at last, and had his lunch. As he emerged from the restaurant en route to buy his chemicals, he made a purchase of an early edition of the evening paper. Running like a refrain through his mind was the urge to find Prudence, and—though there wasn't the faintest chance her doings would be chronicled in the daily press—a vague hope stirred him that there might be news of her.

A heading on the front page caught his eye immediately.

"Terrible Fire in City Buildings."

Well, that was to be expected, wasn't it? One didn't have a storm like that for nothing.

Then the sub-heading—

"Young Girl Caught in Blaze."

Stupid how his heart thumped at the recollection of another 'young girl', though of course it wasn't . . .

Heavens! It was! Same name! There must be some mistake . . . a mistaken identity . . . No! No! The description tallied!

Clutching the paper, physically unable to read another word of it, Peter staggered against the wall of a building.

"Wot's up, Guvnor!" asked the newsboy sympathetically.

Peter did not answer.

"Something in the paper, eh?" the boy advanced, and took the sheet from the shaking fingers.

Peter pointed at the headlines dumbly.

"Oh, that!" The newsboy, hardened to calamities, shrugged his thin shoulders. "Nasty, wot? But nobody seriously hurt, so why worry?"

Peter came to.

"Did you say nobody was hurt? Here, quick, give me the paper."

He grabbed it from the boy.

"Nobody badly hurt, sir. Honest, I'm tellin' you the truth. Young gal brought down from the eighth floor—no fire-escape and alone in the building she was . . ."

Peter's eye raced down the sheet.

Beyond the bald statement that Prudence Page was in a New York hospital, there was nothing that might give a clue to her condition.

The description of her rescue had been lurid, and the reporters had given all the space to that, and to the fire itself, the damage being estimated at $500,000.

"What hospital?" cried Peter. "Where is she?"

"Wot'll you give me if I tell you, Guv'nor?" flung back the urchin. "A pal o' mine who was there when the ambulance came, told me this morning."

Peter pushed a bill into his hand.

"Quick! The address!"

The boy's fingers curled round the money.

"She's in a ward at the Flower Hospital. The bus 'll take you down in fifteen minutes."

But Peter had already hailed a taxi, and was off.

HOWARD FERGUSON ENTERTAINED SIR CAMPBELL STUART

Sir Campbell Hopes to Organize Societies in Canada for Preservation of Historical Documents.

TORONTO, April 22.—(Canadian Press.)—Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Prime Minister of Ontario, last evening entertained at dinner at the York Club Sir Campbell Stuart, managing director of the London Times, who is visiting Canada especially to interest influential Canadians in a group of historical societies that have been in process of formation, of which he himself has been the chief promoter. His object is to conserve and to assemble in convenient places records and documents regarding the history of Canada, to be obtained in England, France and the Dominion itself. His intention is to secure from her lists of men who have taken a large part in Canadian history materials from which to form biographical sketches which should be available for the library and educational purposes.

Premier Ferguson expressed great interest, as Minister of Education, in the work on which Sir Campbell Stuart was engaged.

Sir Campbell hopes to organize societies in Canada similar to those in Britain and France, for preservation of historical documents and publicatiuon of such biographies resulting from collection as may be deemed advisable.

MISS MILDRED MULLER OBTAINS HEAVY DAMAGES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—(Canadian Press).— Miss Mildred Muller, former Boston High School teacher, was awarded $118,000 damages, to-day in her suit in superior court here against Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company, controlling owner of Union Traction Company of Santa Cruz. Award is said to be largest ever made for personal injuries in United States.

Miss Muller was struck by street car operated by Union Traction Company in Santa Cruz, July 21, 1921, and received injuries which she claims have made her an invalid for life.

LAKEFIELD BAND GETS $200 GRANT

Regular Monthly Council Meeting Was Held On Monday Evening.

LAKEFIELD, Apr. 22.—The regular monthly meeting of the village council was held in the council chamber on Monday evening last. Those present were Reeve Strickland in the chair, and Councillors Tanner, Moore, Madill and Leonard.

A petition was presented by Messrs. J. R. Northey and J. Reid, signed by sixty-three citizens, asking that a light be placed half way across the swamp on Reid Street.

Moved by Councillor Tanner, seconded by Councillor Moore, that the petition of J. R. Northey and J. Reid and sixty-one other citizens, requesting a light on Reid Street, between the railway track and Concession Street, be granted. Carried.

Mr. A. Clarke, who was present, representing the Lakefield Citizens' Band, asked for a grant.

Moved by Councillor Leonard, seconded by Councillor Moore, that the council make a grant of $200.00 to the Citizens' Band. Carried.

Mr. F. C. Clark, of Toronto, was present and addressed the council with reference to the possibility of securing a new industry for the village as the Colonial Shoe Co. was considering the advisability of moving from Toronto to some outside place. The company employed 40 hands and had an annual pay roll of $36,000.00. They would require quarters suitable for a factory, and either $20,000 in in stock subscribed or the village to guarantee their bonds to that extent.

A representative from the W. C. Hunt Brass Foundry Co. of Toronto was also present and addressed the council with reference to establishing their plant in the village, providing suitable premises and terms could be secured.

It was decided to send a delegation from the council and Board of Trade, consisting of Messrs. J. F. Lillicrap, J. A. Porter, W. J. Charlton, E. A. Tanner and W. W. Leonard to Toronto for the purpose of interviewing the firms in question and secure all necessary information, the delegation to go up to the city on Wednesday.

The finance committee presented a report recommending payment of the following accounts: Bell Telephone Co., No. 10, $2.05; Bell Telephone Co., No. 94, $2.87; W. J. Leggott, electric work, $15; Hunter & Webster, shade, $5; Miss B. Graham, insurance, $15; L.H.P.C., stable light, $1; L.H.P.C., hall light, $55.11; L.H.P.C., street light, $306.67; W. L. Webster, repairs, etc., $3.50; Firemen's pay-roll, $94.20; Dr. J. C. Smith, account, $20; Dickson's Store, rubber boots, $4.75; W. T. Clifford, harness repairs, $8.05; W. A. Fairbairn, gravel, $23.45; W. J. Charlton, oats and coal, $94.75; M. Sanderson, hay, $37.55; W. W. Leonard, account, $19.09. Total, $708.04.

The report was on motion received and adopted. The council then adjourned.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonial letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but nae done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls, N Y.

SALVATION ARMY RELIEF SERVICE

Business Section Has Been Covered—Eighty Women Out.

(By F. H. Dobbin).

The canvass made during the earlier part of last week in aid of the Salvation Army relief and rescue fund, has progressed very well indeed. The business section of the city was taken care of by about forty citizens, who gave cheerful and most helpful service. For such help the names of those assisting will be written in the records of the local corps, and remembered. Those who gave of time and attention may take their regard in knowing that a good and helpful act was done, and that after all what keeps this old world rolling along from year to year is fully as much in the unpaid services of men and women do, from a sense of duty, and a willingness to assist, as those who go on with the daily grind and are paid, as they should be.

The section of the city, outside that of business, will be taken care of by the Army itself. The work has been divided up among eighty women, all cheerfully willing to go at it. Each pair has been assigned a street, or part of one, both sides, and will call on those living on the streets. A friendly welcome is asked for the canvassers. All will be, without exception, of the Army, so confidence may be placed in the good intentions of the applicant.

Of course, and it is understood, that where the man of the house has made contribution at his store, office or place of business, that the canvasser will be so informed, and the fact entered on the canvasser's list, to be advised to the committee. It is expected that within a week or so the whole proposition will be closed up. The figures for the business section contribution are not at hand, as several have to be seen again, were out of the city, or for other reasons delayed making subscription. Heads of industries, in many cases, had to refer the request to headquarters for approval. These will be heard from and the avails will add to the general total.

So everyone concerned will consider themselves as thanked, in the meantime, having gained the gratitude and appreciation of the Army in this city and approval of those are Army headquarters, Toronto, which has had a paternal eye on the proceedings of the last two weeks.

Fat That Shows Soon Disappears

Prominent fat that comes and stays where it is not needed is a burden, a hindrance to activity, a curb upon pleasure. You can take off the fat where it shows by taking after each meal and at bedtime, one Marmola Prescription Tablet. These little tablets are as effective and harmless as the famous prescription from which they take their name. Buy and try a box to-day. All druggists the world over sell them at one dollar for a box or you can order them direct from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. You can thus say good-bye to dieting, exercise and fat.

WILL ADDRESS LUNCHEON.

NEW YORK, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—President Coolidge, who will address the annual luncheon of the Associated Press, arrived in a special train with Mrs. Coolidge and a small party early this morning.

PRINCE OF WALES BACK IN ENGLAND

Had a Great Time in Paris—Dedicating New Buildings.

LONDON, April 22. — (United Press).—After blazing a great trail of pleasure through the cabarets of the Parisian Mont Martre, the Prince of Wales is back in England, facing the cold business of putting on his high hat and going to work again at the job of being a public personage. Fresh from the gaiety of Paris, the Prince started work to-day with the opening of a new building in a suburban institution for the deaf and dumb. The Prince mixed with excursionists returning from Paris on the Channel steamer which brought him from Boulogne Monday and was cheered heartily both when he debarked at Folkestone and later when he arrived in London by train. This afternoon he joins the King and Queen at Windsor Castle, and will return to London Wednesday to participate with King George in the opening of the great British Empire Exhibition at Wembley Park, near London.

PRISONERS WROTE EACH OTHER ABOUT EVIDENCE SAYS DEFENCE WITNESS

Alcombrack Drug Case Opened Before Magistrate Langley--Russell Declared System of Note Passing Common Among Prisoners--Pethick Says He Got Drugs from the Accused

PIG LATIN EVIDENCE

That prisoners in the county jail passed notes backward and forward with instructions regarding evidence to be given in a charge of having drugs laid against Ed. Alcombrack was the startling evidence given in Magistrate Langley's court this morning. Statements were also made that a witness for the prosecution said if he gave evidence in accordance with his statement to the police he would be committing perjury, and that a conversation took place in which one of the witnesses said he would "do anything to convict that louse." Joseph A. O'Brien represents the accused, and Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K.C. is conducting the prosecution.

The hearing this morning was also featured by the presentation of an adaptation of the English language called pig latin and some startling disclosures during Mr. Hatton's attack on the credibility of a defence witness.

The charge was that Alcombrack had in his possession on 28th February 200 tablets of one quarter grain each morphine

John Pethick said on Wednesday, February 27, last, he met Alcombrack on Reid street and Charlotte by arrangement to go to a Brock street doctor, now in the South. They went to King's Hotel on Simcoe street, where they arranged to meet next morning. Some money passed for morphine tablets and they were to get the drug from this doctor next morning. On Thursday Joe O'Brien was present and they waited from 9 until 10 or 11 and succeeded in getting the tablets about noon O'Brien paid money to Alcombrack that morning. Alcombrack got the tablets from the Brock street doctor the witness said. Pethick was given his tablets and O'Brien was waiting for him in front of his rooming house Pethick said he used the tablets hypodermically.

Mr. Hatton: "Have you used tablets before?"

Pethick: "Not to any extent until Mr. O'Brien's client there started me."

In cross-examination by Mr. O'Brien, Pethick denied he had a conversation with Killenbeck at the jail on the day he was sentenced, but later said his conversation had nothing to do with Alcombrack. He had never received any notes from Killenbeck in the jail. He could talk pig Latin, he said.

Mr. O'Brien: "Give me a sentence."

Pethick: "Ouya or gnorw."

Mr. Johnston, stenographer: — "What's that?"

Mr. O'Brien: "Was that the language you used?"

"No."

Magistrate Langley: "Now we have had five or ten minutes wasted on that. He said all along he had never communicated with the others in it. He was just giving you an illustration of how this might have been used."

The witness said no mention of evidence in the case had ever been made.

On the meeting on Charlotte street Killenbeck offered $1 to Pethick to approach Alcombrack for tablets and he got four for 50 cents.

At King's hotel, there was an argument over how many tablets would be given for the money. Alcombrack said to O'Brien to go home and he would bring the tablets to him. Alcombrack tried to get the tablets that night but the doctor was not in. Alcombrack said he would keep the money that night and he would meet at Kings' hotel the next morning.

Mr. O'Brien: "Why King's hotel?"

Pethick: "Well that's his favorite hang-out, I guess."

Alcombrack got Drugs.

About 11 o'clock, Alcombrack went to the doctor's house and got 200 tablets. On March 1 the witness saw the doctor again but had not seen him since.

Mr. O'Brien: "Where did you get the money?"

Pethick: "I suppose my people supply me with a little."

Mr. O'Brien: "I don't know."

Pethick: "Some of it was borrowed from a friend of Alcombrack's."

Mr. OBrien: "Who was the man?"

Magistrate Langley: "You needn't say unless it is shown to be relevant. There's no need to drag in another name."

After argument Mr. O'Brien was allowed to ask the question but did not press it.

Mr. O'Brien: "What did you do with that note that was sent to you by Killenbeck, asking you to swear to exactly what was on it?"

Pethick: "I never had a note from him. I know his writing. He has written out a few poems for me."

John Donnelly said he had known Alcombrack two or three years, and had got morphine from him. On February 28 he saw Alcombrack who was a little shy of money, to get morphine. I gave him the money and he went away. I was to get some morphine as soon as he had seen the doctor. He brought it to me and I used it. I hadn't used much before.

Quinton Hargrove said that he had known Alcombrack four and a half years. On February 27 he met Killenbeck who was unable to get tablets from Alcombrack, and Killenbeck asked him to see Alcombrack about getting morphine tablets. They all met at Reid and Charlotte, and Alcombrack gave Killenbeck four morphine tablets. Killenbeck paid Alcombrack money. Alcombrack talked of "making" the doctor that night.

Replying to a question from Mr. Hatton the witness said "making" means when a person has a connection with a doctor for drugs, and gets some from him, he is said by the drug addicts to have "made" him.

No conversation had taken place between the witness and Pethick about Alcombrack or the case.

Joseph Collins said that he had had business relations with Alcombrack, when further evidence was objected to by Mr. O'Brien on the ground that Collins knew nothing of the dates on which the charge was laid.

Killenbeck said he remembered February 27 and 28 but did not see Alcombrack on those days. He had had business relatons with Alcombrack. The last time was February 26 when they met on Charlotte street, and Killenbeck got tablets.

Defence Opened.

G. J. Russell, called for the defence, said he is an inmate of the jail, serving sentence for seduction, in the same corridor as Pethick. He overheard a conversation between Pethick and Killenbeck. Killenbeck said, "I never bought anything off him in my life."

Pethick asked: "If we tell you what to say will you say it?"

Killenbeck: "Yes, I'll say anything to convict that louse."

Two days later there was a note sent down on a string from the upper ward to Pethick. Notes have been passing up and down daily ever since.

Hargrove told the witness that if he entered the witness box and stuck to his statement he would be perjuring himself.

"I hear so much about the case from morning to night that I dream about it."

Didn't Dream the Stories.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hatton, the witness said he was sure he had not dreamed the stories he told.

The notes are passed on a string from an upper window to the lower with a little piece of soap on the end of the line.

"I knew it was my business to give this evidence because I thought there was some crooked work going on to send this man down," Russell said.

"It's your inherent feeling of honor and decency that brought you here?"

"Yes."

"You haven't always been so truthful?"

"No, but when I'm on oath I wouldn't perjure myself for anyone. I'm not as particular when I'm not on oath."

Mr. Hatton referred back to the case on which Russell was sentenced. He admitted giving a wrong name to the police and to the girl and denying the charge until evidence was produced; and leading the girl to think he was single when he was married. He had known Alcombrack quite a few years.

"Did you ever get your wife to make dates with other men?"

"I wouldn't like to say."

"Did you ever blackmail men who did make dates with your wife?"

"No."

"Do you remember a McNaughton case?"

"Yes, I tried to get money through the courts for alienating my wife's affections."

Emmet Faux, a second inmate of the jail, corroborated the evidence given by Russell. Faux was serving time under the Narcotic Drugs Act. He had never got drugs from Alcombrack. "I never saw drugs passed to anyone by Alcombrack."

"Didn't you try to prevent Pethick giving evidence here?"

"I never said a word against his coming."

The hearing was adjourned until this evening.

AN AWFUL ATTACK OF PIMPLES ALL OVER HIS FACE

Pimples breaking out on the face and other parts of the body is a sure sign that the blood is not in proper shape.

While the skin is the object of the attack the real seat of the disease is in the blood on account of the entire circulation being poisoned.

Burdock Blood Bitters quickly and effectually banishes pimples and all other skin diseases as it goes right to the root of the trouble by cleansing and enriching the blood.

Mr. Conad Anderson, Kelfield, Sask., writes:—"A year ago I had an awful attack of pimples. They broke out all over my face and I could not get rid of them in any way. One day a friend told me about your Burdock Blood Bitters and let me have a bottle he had to spare. After using it I noticed a change, so I bought three more bottles, and now I don't know there is such a thing as pimples."

Best Remedy for Women of All Ages

Says Mrs. F. Blackburn of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

British Columbia lady has used and recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills for 25 years.

Vancouver, B.C., April 21.—(Special).—"I am always telling people about Dodd's Kidney Pills." So states Mrs. F. Blackburn, who resides at 4076 Knight Street, this city.

Asked to give her reason, Mrs. Blackburn said: "I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills for twenty-five years and am now 71 years old. I think they are excellent. I always keep a box in the house. They are the best kidney remedy for women of all ages."

It is noticeable that people who have used Dodd's Kidney Pills are enthusiastic in recommending them to others. That is how Dodd's Kidney Pills have made and maintained their reputation.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy.

If you have not used them yourself, ask your neighbors about them.

ENQUIRY INTO BANK AFFAIRS

Heavy Correspondence Fyle Produced by Sir Henry White.

TORONTO, April 22 (Canadian Press). — That in appointments in connection with the Home Bank investigation counsel should have been arranged for to represent various successive Ministers of Finance for the Dominion, was the opinion given to-day by Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance from 1911 to 1919, before the Hon. H. A. McKeown, acting as Royal Commissioner in the inquiry int, the bank's affairs prior to the suspension of that institution last August.

Sir Thomas White produced a heavy dossier of hitherto unpublished personal and confidential letters, memoranda, and documents from the files of the Department of Finance during his term as Minister. These had been turned over to him after the suspension of the bank, he said, by is former private secretary, who had regarded them as private, although Sir Thomas himself had intended them for the use of the Department after he left. On his departure for Rio de Janeiro last February Sir Thomas said he left these documents with Sir Edward Kemp, to be made available for information of Parliament if called for. He was under the impression when leaving Toronto that it was not the intention of the Government to appoint a Royal Commission.

One of the letters put in by Sir Thomas White as an exhibit was from Hon. T. A. Crerar, on behalf of the Western Canadian directors, under date of 20th March, 1916. In this letter Mr. Crerar gave the opinion that consequent on the arrangements being made in connection with the bank "the situation has materially improved within the past month, and, at this juncture, with the changes in the management recently made, it is better to have the inquiry proceed from within rather than from without."

This letter was delivered to Sir Thomas by the late Z. A. Lash, the counsel for the Home Bank, and Sir Thomas replied that he was glad to have Mr. Crerar's assurance that the situation had materially improved.

Corespondence indicated that in October, 1918, Sir Thomas demanded various supplementary information to the report furnished the Department by the Home Bank directors, and this was furnished after some delay owing to the illness of Colonel Cooper Mason, the general manager.

G. T. Clarkson, liquidator, who was also a witness this morning produced a letter under date of 14th June, 1917, from the Hon. T. A. Crerar, as director to N. J. Haney, president of the bank, disapproving of the appointment of Colonel Cooper Mason as general manager.

Mr. Crerar said that such an appointment could not have been seriously considered. He would be glad to co-operate, he wrote, providing there was no attempt to appoint Col. Mason. Some time later Mr. Crerar resigned from the directorate.

Mr. Clarkson said that the liabilities of the Home Bank would exceed the assets by $9,000,000 or $9,550,000.

DISMISSED APPEAL IN BREACH PROMISE CASE

OTTAWA, April 22.— (Canadian Press.)—With Chief Justice and Mr. Justice Duff dissenting, the Supreme Court of Canada to-day dismissed the appeal in the breach of promise, McKeon and Vanhoorde.

Plaintiff, Miss Vanhoorde, is a Belgian girl who met defendant, McKeon, in Brussels in 1914, shortly before the war. In 1920, they met again and became engaged, but he did not carry out his promise.

She obtained a verdict at trial court, which was confirmed by Appellate Division of Ontario. McKeown then appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada, contending that the jury had perversely made findings against him in face of evidence and admissions of Miss Vanhoorde herself.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

At the Salvation Army Temple last night the Easter services which had their beginning in the Good Friday commemoration, culminated in a Musical Festival given by the Temple band, under the direction of Bandmaster Frank Robinson, and presided over by Brigadier Walton of Toronto. The band rendered several excellent selections, and there ere numbers given by the band's male choir, also a violin solo by Bernard Smith, with accompaniment by Ernest Braund, a cornet solo by Adjutant Fred Beer of Toronto; a vocal solo by William Grive, and a monologue by Ensign Keith of Toronto.

This afternoon the women of the Salvation Army were addressed at the Temple by Mrs. Commissioner Sowten, Mrs. Brigadier Moore and Mrs. Colonel Powley, all of Toronto. To-night Mrs. Sowten speaks at the Temple.

Canadian Stock Exchange and Mines | New York Stock Exchange and Curb Prices

TO-DAY'S QUOTATIONS AND OPINION AND REVIEWS OF THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Norfolk and Western directors meet to-day. Rails continue to have strong following. Much significance is attached to the manner in which Chesapeake and Ohio advanced yesterday. Some talk of an increase in Southern Pacific dividend next month.

E. F. Hutton says: We continue bullish on Cast Iron Pipe and think the stock is going higher.

Noyes and Jackson say: We would wait until the rally begins to flatten out before selling stocks; nevertheless, we see nothing in sight except a technical rally.

Hirsch Lillienthal say: We favor buying Pan-American stocks. Cons. Gas and Coppers and Rails: these properties all have good prospects for a long run.

The best opinions on the street say that the rails are selling away below intrinsic values.

MINING LETTER

The mining market exhibited strength this morning, in most of the high priced issues with the bulk of trading in Argo, Hollinger, Keeley, McIntyre, Tough Oakes and Vipond. There is little doubt but what there is good demand for mining stocks at these levels.

The Toronto market was quiet this morning with the bulk of the trading in Brazil and Spanish River Common with prices inclined to be a fraction lower.

The New York market was firm for the first hour this morning but prices began to slip off and many specialties touches new low levels for the year. The cause of weakness in these special stocks was attributed to conditions affecting the industries in which they are operating, which shows a slowing up.

BUSINESS MEN BOOST BYLAW

Arrangements Made Last Night for Manning Polling Places--Manufacturers and Others Co-operate.

At a meeting last night in the Chamber of Commerce arrangements were completed for getting out the voters to-morrow on the occasion of the ballot on the Canadan General Electric Company bylaw. To-day further progress is being made, and one of the most heartening features and one of the greatest commendations for the bylaw is the response from manufacturers and business firms generally for co-operation. Many volunteers, and practically all others arranged on being requested, to have cars on hand to take their employees to the polling places. The willingness of the business men of the city to co-operate in getting out the vote for the bylaw, shows the importance that is attached to the extension. With the commercial, fraternal and church circles supporting the bylaw there seems no reason to doubt a big majority in favor of granting the extension and accepting the expansion.

For the convenience of voters there have been placed at all the polling places red flags which draw instant attention to the locations.

Any citizens who desire to co-operate in the drive are asked to report with cars or personally to assist as scrutineers at the City Clerk's office to-morrow morning at nine o'clock.

LINDSAY LADY PASSED AWAY IN VANCOUVER, B.C.

LINDSAY, April 22.—At a meeting of the Town Council last night Auditor Lytle drew attention to the town's debenture statement which showed that the total had reached rather alarming figures. The total issue current in December, 1923, was $1,025,635.27. Since this date the Council had issued in addition, $60,466.29. The debenture interest paid in 1923 was $50,689. The auditor was assured that nothing would be added to the debenture debt this year, so far as the Council was concerned.

The auditor also urged a conference between the Council and Board of Education relative to the trimming of the estimates of the latter body with a view to lowering the tax rate.

LINDSAY MAN INJURED IN A SOFT BALL GAME

LINDSAY, April 22.—John Murphy, a member of the local Post Office staff, had a narrow escape from fatal injuries while engaged in a soft ball game at the armories the other night. He was in the act of catching a ball on a base line and jumped in the air to get it. On coming down he fell backwards over a runner and landed on his head on the hardwood floor. He was rendered unconscious for about fifteen minutes and it was feared his neck was broken. A doctor was summoned and he was removed to his home. Later he was taken to the hospital to undergo an X-ray examination. His condition is such that it will be some days before he is able to resume his duties.

GAVE PRESENTATION TO ROBERT PILLING

Last evening a presentation and address was made to Mr. Robert Pilling, of the Canadian General Electric Company. The address follows:

Peterborough, 21st April, 1924.

Mr. Robert Pilling,

On behalf of the members and executive of the C.G.E. Girls' Softball Club, we extend to you our most hearty and sincere congratulations on your forthcoming marriage, and our earnest wish is that the lives of your wife (who is well known and respected by us all) and yourself will be one round of happiness and prosperity and of long duration. We hope you will still be a "club" booster and able to work in your logical capacity, and that your wife will not pull your ear and say, "Bob, your mashing days are past." We would now ask you to accept this electric coffee percolator, not for its value, but as a token of the deep appreciation of us for your services to the sport we all love.

Miss D. Hayes.
Miss A. Burns.
Mr. W. J. Nelson.
Mr. J. O'Brien.

Mr. Pilling, who was taken by surprise, made a suitable reply, in which he thanked his friends for their kind wishes.

WORKING WOMEN, WEAK, RUN DOWN SOON RESTORED

Home Treatment to Create Red Blood, Body Tissue and Vital Nerve Force Costs But Little.

Countless thousands of women must work day after day in stores, offices, manufacturing establishments or in their own homes who are really unfit for their tasks. With bodies and nerves overstrained, they get through each day by will power alone. At night, worn and exhausted, life holds little of pleasure for such women.

They should not be content to drag on, making their sacrifice of health, beauty and happiness. They should, instead, undertake at once the upbuilding of their bodies; the creation of red blood and flesh tissue that fills out hollow cheeks and wasted forms; that restores nerve resistance and brings back the bloom of health, strength and vitality.

When weighed down by worry and weakness, such women should begin at once a simple, inexpensive home treatment of Wincarnis, the restorative. They can obtain a generous size bottle of Wincarnis from any leading druggist. Wincarnis is the ideal body and strength builder and is absolutely harmless. More than ten thousand physicians have recommended it.

The Wincarnis treatment costs only ten cents a day. In twelve days see the improvement Wincarnis brings.

MURRAY STREET CHOIR SERVICE

First Choral Service Under Leadership of Dr. S. T. Graham.

The choir of Murray street Baptist church gave a special musical service Easter Sunday evening, this being the first choral service since Dr. S. T. Graham became choir leader in conjunction with Miss Muriel Bridge as organist. The programme consisted of several suitable Easter anthems by the full choir, Turner's "O Death Where is Thy Sting" being particularly well rendered. Miss Trucie Pearson sang Scott's "First Easter Morn" with fine feeling and Miss Florence Scott gave a most expressive rendering of Handel's "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." Dr. Graham and Miss Lillian Eastwood showed a splendid blending of voice in "A Joyous Easter Song" and a quartette composed of Miss Lillian Eastwood, Miss Mary Scott, Dr. Graham and Mr. H. H. Graham gave perhaps the finest number of the evening in a modified rendition of the Hallelujah chorus. During the latter part of the programme Miss Bridge gave an enjoyable interlude by playing Wagner's "Introduction and Prayer of Rienzi." The service was also marked by splendid congregational singing. During the evening the baptismal service begun in the morning was continued; a large number during the day making their public confession of conversion. The day marked the first anniversary of the ministry at Murray street of Dr. C. W. Rose.

MONTREAL TO ERECT STONE FOR D. BELAND

LINDSAY, April 22.— Montreal hockey players and sportsmen have inaugurated a fund to erect a stone to the memory of David Beland, a former resident of Peterborough, and for many years trainer to the Quebec and Canadien hockey teams. Beland died on Feb. 21. He resided in Peterborough about seventeen years ago and was prominent in lacrosse and and also as a sprinter. He made an unsuccessful attempt to duplicate the world's record for 100 yards dash at Nicholls Oval during his residence there.

MRS. JOSEPH McMAHON MET PAINFUL ACCIDENT

LINDSAY, April 22.—Mrs. Joseph McMahon was the victim of a painful accident a few evenings ago. She arose during the night to get a drink of water, when she slipped on two steps and broke her hip. The fracture is a serious one.

How To Mark Your Ballot

Voting on a by-law to fix the assessment of the Canadian General Electric Company, Limited, submitted by the Council of the City of Peterboro. April 23rd, 1924.

For The By-Law X

Against The By-Law

What Your Vote Means.

An extension of the fixed assessment for municipal purposes of the C.G.E. property for about three years and eight months.

The C.G.E. Company will pay increased taxes for school purposes; will extend its buildings and install more machinery, necessitating the employment of 100 more men; and will then be anchored here by a $850,000 factory, not counting machinery.

It means assuring to Peterborough the expansion that Mr. E. G. Patterson told the Chamber of Commerce he is practically certain will follow and will result in the doubling of the present factory here in ten years.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 22.—There are thirteen horses from Pontiac Stock Farm in the string that Mrs. L. A. Livingstone will send to Toronto next week to get the final training for the spring Woodbine events. They will be in charge of Trainer Frank Regan and ar stated to be a fine bunch of thoroughbreds. Mr. Regan had the misfortune to have a fall a few weeks ago, which resulted in a fractured thigh and he has been in the hospital here since. It is hoped that he will be able to return home tomorrow and go up to Toronto next week.

Baseball Doings.

Some of last year's Cobourg players on the senior Central Ontario ball team may play with Peterboro this summer it is understood. Derry, Bruce Thompson and W. P. Skitch are some of those mentioned in this connection.

So far only two of the Town League Intermediate ball teams have organized. They are the Canadian Nationals, last years' local champions and the Cobourg Dyeing Company. Both of thees teams are getting together strong aggregations. Langslow Ltd., including Rice Lake Canoe Company, has not organized yet, and may not get a team together this season. The Matting-Felt team has not organized yet either. There is some talk of a local team organizing to play intermediate ball, independent of the industries.

Golf Club Ready For Season.

The Cobourg Golf Club is looking forward to a very successful season this year. More enthusiasm for golf was shown last year than for some year's previous. The Club is fully organized with a ladies committee also in readiness to take part in the events. The club has a nice club house, which is quite a favored spot for social gatherings.

Shooting Carrier Pigeons

It has been reported to the police department here that a number of carrier pigeons belonging to local owners have been shot, and an effort is being made to discover who the guilty parties are.

Will Appoint Manager.

The appointment of a manager to take charge of the dancing pavilion and refreshments stand at Victoria Park will be made by tender this year. Applicants are asked to hand in their tenders to the Town Clerk after which the matter will come before the Town Council. These are understood to be a number of applicants for the position.

Several Accidents Reported.

While practicing baseball, Victor Markey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Markey fell and discolated his elbow.

Philip Wingrove got a gash in the head, but was not seriously injured, when a ladder upon which he was standing slipped, while he was cleaning out a large tank at the Douglas Packing Company.

Ferry To Be Overhauled.

Ontario No. 2, one of the big steamers of the Ontario Car Rerry Co. is to be overhauled and put in the pink of condition for the summer trade. Freight business is stated not to be quite as brisk as it has been and Ontario No. 1 will remain on the route and take care of, it, while her sister boat is being fitted up. For some weeks previous to this both boats have been very busy and each has frequently made two round trips between Cobourg and Genesee dock, Port of Rochester in twenty-four hours. The boats will shortly go on their summer schedule.

C.N.R. Will Fix Up Grounds.

Earth is being drawn to the ferry dock to be used by the Canadian National Railway in fixing up the grounds around the ferry station. It is understood that the land is to be leveled and flower beds laid out This will be a great improvement and will tend to greatly enforce this approach to the town.

Very Little Building.

So far this season very few contracts have been let, and indications do not point to any great amount of building being done in Cobourg this season. M. Jex & Co. have the contract to erect a new cupola building for the Dominion Wheel and Foundry Company here and work has started on this. It is to be a two storey steel building, it is stated.

Reuben Jackson another contractor is erecting a small row of houses on some lots which he purchased and work on one of these has started also.

Special Services This Week.

Passion Week was observed here by special services in several of the churches. The meetings at St. Michael's Church were well attended. The regular Lenten services at St. Peter's conducted by Rev. Canon Sawers were also well attended and were occasions of much profit.

In addition there has been services for four evenings this week in the Methodist Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. F. Stillman.

ROCHESTER WALLOPED NEWARK FOR 30 RUNS

Hustlers Push Up to First Place When Syracuse Gave Baltimore First Taste of Defeat—Buffalo and Reading Divide Double-Header.

NEWARK, April 22 (Canadian Press). — By defeating the Newark Bears here yesterday afternoon, the Rochester Hustlers approached the world's record for making runs by victory for the Hustlers against Newark this year. Merkle's homer with two on and Hackbarth's homer with the bases clear were the features. The score:

Rochester	861025530	30	26 0
Newark	001000001	2	6 3

Beall and Lake, Head; Lynch, Scott, Gardiner and Hackbarth, Devine.

LEAFS' BIG INNING.

JERSEY CITY, April 22 (Canadian Press). — Toronto handed the Jersey City its second defeat by winning yesterday's game, 8 to 1. It was a tight game until the eighth inning, when the Leafs pounded Rube Zellars, opening out with five singles and a triple, with a base on balls and an error for six runs, and sewing up the game. The score:

Toronto	000101060	8	10 0
Jersey City	001000000	1	5 3

Stewart and Vincent; Zellars and Freitag.

SHAGMEN UNLIMBERED.

BALTIMORE, April 22 (Canadian Press). — Syracuse evened the series with Baltimore yesterday, winning the second game, 6 to 4. Parks held the Orioles to five hits, three of which were gathered in the first two innings. The Stars, after being held safe in the first two frames by Jackson, hit at opportune times during the remainder of the game, touching Jackson, Groves, and Frank in the pinches. The score:

Syracuse	002011200	6	12 2
Baltimore	210000001	4	5 2

Parks and McKee, Mitzi; Jackson, Groves, Frank and Cobb.

READING BREAK EVEN.

READING, Pa., April 22 (Canadian Press).—Buffalo defeated Reading here 2 to 1 in the first game of a doubleheader yesterday, but lost the second 3 to 2. Martin fanned nine men in the opener and gave but three hits, all in the third inning when Buffalo scored both its runs. Reading won the second game in the seventh when Fred Thomas committed two errors. The scores:

First Game.

Buffalo	020000000	2	3 1
Reading	000010000	1	8 0

Fisher and McAvoy; Martin and Lynde.

Second Game.

Buffalo	1001000	2	4 4
Reading	0010002	3	5 0

Williams and McAvoy; Tuero and Halley.

BENTON TAMED CHICAGO CUBS

Alexander Weakened In Ninth and Reds Won In Tenth—Barnes of Braves Loses Tight Game to Giants.

CINCINNATI, April 22 (Canadian Press). — Alexander, after pitching great ball for eight innings, weakened, and the Reds tied the triple and Burns' sacrifice fly, and won in the tenth on hits by Duncan, Hargrave and Pinelli. Benton was in grand form, the only Chicago run coming in the second on a three-base muff of Grimes' fly by Duncan and a sacrifice by Friberg.

Roush, who strained his side in Sunday's game, has been ordered by his physician to remain idle for at least a week. The score:

Chicago	0100000000	1	4 1
Cincinnati	0000000011	2	9 2

Alexander and Hartnett; Benton, Sheehan and Hargrave.

GIANTS WIN AGAIN.

NEW YORK, April 22 (Canadian Press). — The New York Giants continued their winning form yesterday, defeating the Boston Braves. Jack Bentley and Jess Barnes hooked up in a great pitchers' battle, the former allowing seven hits and the latter four. The Braves' lone run was scored in the third inning when Bancroft singled with O'Neil on second. Jackson's home run in the eighth tied the score and Frisch's triple with Groh on base in the ninth turned the tide of victory. The score:

Boston	001000000	1	7 0
New York	000000011	2	4 1

Barnes and O'Neil; Bentley and Gowdy, Ainsmith.

TWO BIG INNINGS.

ST. LOUIS, April 22 (Canadian Press). — Pounding Wilbur Cooper, star southpaw, the Cardinals defeated Pittsburgh yesterday, 11 to 9. The Pirates got six runs in the fifth on four singles and a triple. The Cardinals duplicated the feat in the seventh on five singles and Blade's homer. The score:

Pittsburgh	100061100	9	12 3
St. Louis	10300160x	11	18 2

Cooper, Steineder, Yde and Schmidt; Stuart, Doak, Sherdel and Clemons, Niebergal, Vick.

HOMER WITH TWO ON.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22 (Canadian Press). — Brooklyn defeated Philadelphia yesterday, 7 to 4, in ten innings, the third extra inning game in the four played in this city this season.

Deberry, the Brooklyn catcher, hit a home run in the tenth inning with two on base, winning the game. The score:

Brooklyn	2000200003	7	13 1
Philadelphia	4000000000	4	14 2

Grimes and Deberry; Carlson and Henline.

YANKEES WIN IN THE FIRST

Scored Three Runs Off Senators In First Frame — Bush Effective In Pinches — Two Games Postponed.

WASHINGTON, April 22 (Canadian Press).—Bush proved effective in the pinches in his first game of the season yesterday, and New York defeated Washington 4 to 2. Three runs off Mogridge in the first inning settled the game. The score:

New York	00000010	4	8 0
Washington	000100100	2	6 3

Bush and Schang; Mogridge, Speece and Ruel.

Athletics 4, Boston .

BOSTON, April 22 (Canadian Press). — Rommel of Philadelphia held Boston to five hits yesterday, the visitors winning 4 to 0. A pass, a bunt, singles by Strand and Simmons, and a wild pitch by Quinn in the first inning gave Philadelphia two runs. In the ninth, off Piercy, Hauser and Simmons doubled, and the addition of a bunt and a wild runs. The score:

Philadelphia	200000002	4	6 1
Boston	000000000	0	5 0

Rommel and Bruggy; Quinn, Piercy and O'Neill, Picinich.

ASTON VILLA'S EASY VICTORY

Defeated Newcastle United By 6-1 on Easter Monday —Regarded As Indication of Cup Final Result Next Saturday.

LONDON, April 22.— (Canadian Press Cable.)—The sensational defeat of Newcastle United by Aston Villa to the tune of 6 goals to 1, was the feature of the First Division games played Monday afternoon. If this is any indication of what is going to occur next Saturday when the two teams meet again in the English Cup final, then the Birmingham club seem to have it securely packed away. It has however to be remembered that Newcastle suffered injury in Saturday's game to one of their crack players when Wilfrid Lowe was hurt in the game with Chelsea.

Another feature was the defeat of Sunderland by West Bromwich by 3 to 1. This means that Cardiff City at last regain their position at the head of the first league table since Huddersfield did not play a game yesterday, one ahead of Sunderland, day afternoon. Cardiff have 54 with one game in hand of the latter, while they are two points ahead of Huddersfield with two more games played.

In the second division Leeds United bettered their position by defeating Stockport four to nothing and are now easily on top of the table.

Bury, their newest rivals, fell by the wayside to Barnsley, being defeated two to nothing.

There are no changes in position in the standings of the two other divisions as the result of the afternoon's games.

INJUNCTION TO PREVENT FIGHT

Gene Tunney Claims Prior Contract to Meet Carpentier — Entering Action When the Frenchman Arrives.

NEW YORK, April 22. — Legal proceedings to prevent Georges Carpentier, French light heavyweight, from meeting Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul, at Michigan City, Ind., on May 31, will be started in the courts of Indiana ,immediately upon Carpentier's arrival in the United States, Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, announced Monday.

Gibson said he would base his application for an injunction on his contract with Descamps, the Frenchman's manager, for a Tunney-Carpentier match. This, he added, contains a clause, prohibiting Carpentier from engaging in any other match in the United States before meeting Tunney.

A report that Carpentier would be brought into this country through Canada in an attempt to escape possible litigation in New York, prompted Gibson's plan to seek his injunction in Indiana, the manager declared. He pointed out that Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter of the Carpentier-Gibbons match, had recognized Gibbons' prior claim to the Frenchman's services when he offered $30,000 for the release of the Tunney-Carpentier contract until after the Gibbons fight.

Descamps yesterday cabled Gibson from Vienna that Carpentier would fulfill his engagement to fight Tunney after the Gibbons match. He predicted that the Frenchman would knock out Gibbons.

Toronto won again yesterday, and so far to date is showing far greater improvement over last year.

NO FORMULA FOR MAKING CHAMPS

WORLD'S GREATEST SWIMMING COACH RIDICULES SUCH A THEORY

LEFT TO RIGHT—ETHEL LACKIE, JOE FARICY, STUBBY KRUGER, SYBIL BAUER; BELOW, CHAMPION JOHNNY WEISSMULLER; INSET, BOBBIE SKELTON.

By GEORGE BRITT

CHICAGO, Apr. 16.—"Give my secret for developing swimming champions? There isn't any. Nature supplies most of the assets, common sense does the rest."

Which is the way that canny, smiling, fat man, William Bachrach of the Illinois Athletic Club has of saying he doesn't use any single set formula by which to turn out record-breaking swimmers. They need individual treatment.

By suiting his methods to his various personalities Bachrach has developed a dozen world's champion swimmers in the last 15 years.

And just now he is at the pinnacle of coaching success with a team which includes Johnny Weissmuller, in a class by himself; Stubby Gruger back-stroke title holder; Johnny Faricy and Bob Skelton, breast-stroke specialists; Sybil Bauer, girls' back-stroke wonder, and Ethel Lackie, who just set a new record for the 100-yard free-style in a 60-foot pool. All those named are world beaters.

"I'll tell you this one thing," says the giant coach.

"I try to get good material and then I find out what each one has special fitness for.

"Sybil Bauer is good on the crawl stroke. But if I sent her against the best girls in that style, they'd beat her. She has real talent for the back stroke, and they can't beat her at that.

"Then try to arouse their interest, so they'll work at their swimming. You've got to deal with each one differently to do that. There isn't any mold which you can make them all fit in. But as to my particular method of coaching I don't know that there is any: and if there were I wouldn't tell it. I'd keep it as a great secret and use it exclusively."

On April 2, at the National A. A. U. indoor swimming meet at Chicago, Coach Bachrach's proteges added more laurels to their already long list.

Sybil Bauer broke world's record for women for 50-yard backstroke, covering distance in 33 2-5 seconds.

Bobbie Skelton, in an exhibition event, shattered world's record for 200-yard breast stroke swim, the time, 2:35 2-5.

The Illinois A. C. set new National A. A. U. record in winning 200-yard relay in 1:38 4-5.

DIAMOND DUST

Word was received in this city on Saturday that Cobourg are coming back in the Midland Intermediate League with two teams, making up the four with the Canadian General Electric and the Raybestos.

It was reported a short time ago tha "Mickey" Murray, formerly of Peterboro who has been in Oshawa most of the winter had signed with that town. Mickey was in the city over the holiday and he stated that he had not yet signed with the Oshawa team. He has been ill for the past two weeks and is not looking nearly so well as in the winter, having lost 18 pounds in weight.

Ward of this city who is at present working in Oshawa will likely be seen this season in an Oshawa uniform.

A senior city league was talked of a few days ago with an all star team from the Mercantile League making the third team but since Cobourg is back in the Midland League this proposal will likely be dropped.

Jimmie Johnston, star first baseman of last year's Maple Leafs, and who is thought to be too old may be traded to Bob Mackey's outfit for Bill Collins, if it is found that Johnston is over age. Last year's Maple Leaf outfield with the exceptions of Jack Hall will also likely be traded if a satisfactory trade can be made.

The Canadian General Electrics who captured the Ontario Intermediate championship for the past two years have a strong team and will likely have practically the same line-up as last year.

Raybestos expect to line up a much stronger team than last year and if they do they will undoubtedly give the C.G.E. a real battle.

Jerry McGill ,who last year performed with the Maple Leafs and who was expected to fill the left garden for them this season is now in the States and will not likely be here this summer to fill his position.

Frank Whitehouse who twirled good ball for the Lakeviews last season will don a Lakeview uniform this year and shoot them over to Lambert Collins who is also eligible for junior ball.

The Sacred Heart, last year's Juvenile runners up will be seen in the junior class this season and it is expected that Ferg Sheehy will do the heaving for them. This team would have likely played juvenile again this year but the greater part of their players are over-age and instead of breaking up their team they will take a step higher, the same as the Maple Leafs expect to do next year.

The Niagara District senior baseball league composed of Niagara Falls, Merriton, Therold and Port Dalhousie announced its schedule to open on May 10 and close on August 9.

It is announced from Pittsburgh that Lionel Connacher has taken out his first paper on application for American Citizenship. He led the Pittsburgh hockey team to its first national championship this season. An amusing feature of the thing is that he is named as an almost sure bet for semi-professional baseball team—and still is looked forward to as an amateur hockey man for next winter.

Walter Johnson won his second game Sunday when Washington defeated New York. The veteran pitcher looks as if he's in for another good season.

The New York Yanks are showing poor form and are away down in the American League, but the Giants in the National League are right on the top.

BIG FIVE PIN HANDICAP TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD

A big five-pin handicap tournament will be on at Solomon's Alleys starting May 1st. This tournament will be open to all Peterborough bowlers and will one of the biggest events ever staged at Solomon's Alleys.

The tournament will consist of five-man teams, singles and doubles and cash prizes will be awarded to the winners. A great prize list is assured the bowlers.

Information regarding the tournament and entry blanks can be had at Solomon's Alleys.

It will be a handicap tournament so everybody will stand a fair chance of winning. The bowlers will be giving a handicap according to their average.

Bowlers are advised to get their entry blanks as 'soon as possible.

SOCCER NOTES

The juniors will play a game on Saturday afternoon at King Edward Park, kick-off at 2 o'clock prompt.

The Canadian Woollens and Quakers will meet in league fixture at King Edward Park on Saturday afternoon. Kick off at 3.30 prompt. Referee J. Russell.

It is rumored that the De Laval, junior champions of last year, will not participate in either junior or senior football. They desire to stay out of football this year.

The Canadian Woollens did not go to Campbellford on Good Friday but have decided to go down on Saturday afternoon, May 3rd. Any person desiring to go with the players phone 2283w.

Macbeth, the local Thistle halfback, left on Sunday for the old country. He played an excellent game against Vets on Saturday and his departure is a loss to local soccer.

Mimico F.C. sent a communication to local P. and D.F.A. asking for a game on Saturday May 24th. This team won Toronto and District championship last year and was left to a later date.

DO YOU KNOW BASEBALL?

By BILLY EVANS

QUESTIONS

1. Can a base runner advance on a foul fly that is caught?

2. If a base runner fails to touch a base, does the umpire pay any attention to the failure, unless an appeal is made?

3. What bases must be occupied and how many out, for the infield fly to be effective?

ANSWERS

1. He certainly can if he holds his base until the ball is caught.

2. The umpire pays no attention to such an error, unless the mistake is observed by the team in the field, and an appeal is made.

3. First and second, or first, second and third must be occupied, and less than two out.

TILDEN QUITS TENNIS TEAMS

Referred to By Amateur Rule Committee of U. S. Lawn Tennis Association As "Evil Influence" Because of His Newspaper Work.

PHILADELPHIA, April 22. — Putting his amateur standing up to the United States Lawn Tennis Association, William T. Tilden, II., national champion, yesterday announced his resignation as a player from the Davis Cup and Olympic teams. This action was due, Tilden said, to the report of the Amateur Rule Committee of the Association made public last Saturday, in which Tilden said he was referred to as an "evil influence" because of his status as a player writer.

Tilden said he did not regard himself as violating either the spirit or letter of the amateur rule, and certainly did not consider himself an "evil" spirit in the game.

"Since the Executive committee has already unofficially expressed itself in favor of professionalizing me netx year, should the present conditions continue," said Tilden, "they must clearly regard me as a professional now."

In announcing his resignation to newspapermen, Tilden said that if the committee would state that he is an amateur, taking into consideration his present position in reference to tennis, he would be glad to play in the international tournaments. Otherwise, he did not feel that he should.

BENNY LEONARD PICKS OFF MOVIE CONTRACT

NEW YORK, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—Following the example of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, through his manager, Billy Gibson, today signed a $100,000 contract to appear in a motion picture based on the titleholder's career.

Gibson said the agreement stipulated that the contract should in no way interfere with Leonard's pending ring engagements.

Timely Tips To Amateurs

SAYS HERMAN PILLETTE
Pitcher, Detroit Americans

To my way of thinking, the fast ball pitched at the knee is a twirler's greatest asset.

The low ball is the thing, particularly with the lively ball now in use in the majors.

Most batters will tell you that they dislike the low ball.

Umpires will tell you that the low ball is by far the hardest to judge.

Certainly that is conclusive proof of the value of the low ball.

Opposing teams try to wait out a low ball pitcher, forcing him to come up.

This is where control comes in. If a pitcher has it, he can keep pumping them through at the knee.

Batters usually top a low ball, thereby having a tendency to ground weakly to the infield.

Work for control.

WRESTLING MOGULS HOLD TOURNAMENT

Will Run for the Next Two or Three Weeks in Montreal.

MONTREAL, April 22 (Canadian Press).— The international wrestling tournament that will, it is stated, run here for the next two or three weeks, commenced at the Mount Royal Arena last night with four matches on the programme.

The first was between Gobar, the Hindu wrestler, and Chick Koraineck, Lithuanian, with 235 and 194 pounds weight respectively.

It ended in eight minutes with an easy win for the Hindu.

Vladek Zbyszko and Joe Boganz, Hebrew, ended in a draw, with the latter the butt of the crowd for his violent tactics. Boganz indulged in biting, fighting, and ignoring the repeated warnings of the referee.

Frank Hudson, of Harvard University, and Reginald Siki, of Abyssinia, came next, and this bout also ended in a draw.

Boxing Committee Will Get Top Notcher to Meet U. S. Champion

Charlie Miller, of Detroit, who last summer was given a decision over Willie Buff, Walter Newton, one of the finest boxers Ontario has produced, and Bus. Moore, who won the Ontario lightweight championship at the recent tournament in Toronto, will be in Toronto on Wednesday to take part in a tourney, and one of the three will be secured as an opponent for Buff when the local boxing committee put on their big show next Monday night. The United States champion's opponent will be announced to-morrow.

Buff and Cutt will be here at the end of the week, to complete their training and rest up for their important bouts. Joe Jordan, who will again face Cutta, is in good fighting trim and will enter the ring determined to register a victory.

These two big headliners will be seen on Monday night along with the city championships. The bill will be continued on Tuesday night.

GOLF CLUB HELD ANNUAL MEETING

Some of theMore Enthusiastic Players Have Already Taken Up the Game and Are Using the Temporary Greens

The annual meeting of the shareholders and the players of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club has been held and the officers and the members of the different committees have been selected for the year.

The new Board of Directors consists of Messers. W. C. Ackerman, J. F. H. Wallace, E. S. Martin, W. Sangster, and A. Mowat, with Mr. Mowat as president.

F. L. Bradburn was appointed Secretary-Treasurer.

The members of the different committees are as follows, with the last name in each case as chairman:

1 Greens Committee: Messrs. Abbott, Macdonald, Borbridge and Sangster.

2 House Committee: Mrs. G. H. Thompson, Mrs. A. H. Stratton, Messrs. C. Graham and J. F. H. Wallace.

3 Match and Handicap: Messrs. Bond, Dela Fosse, Grant and W. C. Ackerman.

FRENCH READY HEAR REPORTS

Will Do Anything to Promote Successful Outcome

PARIS, April 22—(United News) Premier Poincare has informed President Barthou of the Reparations' Commission that the French Government is disposed to do everything necessary to assure the success of the experts proposals.

Poincare's message declares that the Government will await the decisions of the Reparations' Commission regarding the manner of putting the plan into operation and that after these decisions the Government will determine what measures it will take itself.

Meanwhile the three American experts, Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes, Owen D. Young and Henry M. Robinson, are sailing today for America on the Leviathan.

They are jubilant over the European reaction over the report and are confident that the report will form the basis of a reparations' settlement but are not talking about it now.

"We did all our writing in the report and all our talking in the committees." Young said when asked to comment on the present status of the situation. "Let others talk and write now, he added.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL

"LOVE'S WHIRLPOOL."

Excellent Story With Many Thrills At Royal—Added Attractions Up to the Mark.

"Love's Whirlpool," the screen version of Martha Lord's novel, "The Inner Sight," which opened last night at the Royal Theatre, is an interesting story, well acted. It deals with the reformation of two crooks, and the awakening of a selfish man through the force of spiritualism. The sinister mystery of the underworld and the occult mystery of clairvoyant seances furnish thrills aplenty.

James Kirkwood gives a splendid interpretation of Jim Reagan, master cracksman, who is redeemed through the power of great love. Lila Lee's portrayal of Molly, Jim's sweetheart, is an admirable one. This is the first time Miss Lee has had a chance to portray a "woman" part. It is a new Lila Lee we see in "Molly," but she is just as charming as a woman of poise as she was as an effervescent girl. Madge Bellamy has the other prominent feminine role and does some excellent work as Nadine Milton. The entire supporting cast is good. It includes Robert Agnew, Edward Martindel, Mathew Betz, Margaret Livingston, Clarence Geldert and Joe Mills.

Among the gripping scenes are: the shipwreck, Larry's escape from prison, the seances and the police raid. The photography is excellent, especially in the shipwreck and "spirit" scenes.

"Love's Whirlpool" was adapted for the screen by Elliott Clawson and Bruce Mitchell. The latter also directed. This is a film for everyone who enjoys being thrilled and who likes a picture "that has something to it."

There is also "something" to the added attractions that precede the feature production. Taking them in the order they were shown last night, "By Lantern Light" is a series of beautiful seascapes held together by a story of suspense, and will be appreciated by all lovers of the better class of film novelties. The first comedy, 'Family Troubles,' had no trouble getting lots of laughs. Helen Gibson in 'The Perilous Leap' supplies some real thrills, and Harry Sweet and the Folly Girls in "Own a Lot," is a cleverly conceived comedy. This programme is long and the starting time is 7.30 p.m. It's all very much worth while.

AT THE GRAND

THE COMING OF "LONDON'S GREAT CONCERT 8" IS A MUSICAL EVENT OF NOTE.

Musical circles all over this community are stirred by the announcement that "London's Great Concert 8", is paying a visit to this City and will appear at the Grand Opera House tonight.

In the past few years, a number of theatrical companies have come to this Dominion from the Mother Land, but this is the first of the world famous English concert companies to appear here. Tom Copeland, the famous Scotch Comedian, who is known to many thousands of local music lovers and to many returned soldiers who made his acquaintance in the camps and hospitals in England and France during the war, is responsible for bringing this high class organization to Canada and has surrounded himself with artists of the highest type obtainable among them being Suzette Tarri, London's favorite soubrette; Molly O'Moore, the Irish soprano, and Joan Duff, London's sensational 16 year old classical pianist and Dorothy Alwyness, Scotland's favorite female violinst. Also a male cast of favorite artists.

DOCTRINE OF DR. COUE TO BE DEMONSTRATED

Prof. Marcel Andre To Teach Cure By Auto Suggestion.

Tomorrow Peterboro people will have their first practical demonstration of the doctrine preached by Dr. Emile Coue, "Every day in every way I'm growing better and better," the doctrine of self cure by auto suggestion.

Dr. Coue is a graduate of the original school at Nancy, France, and is back there pursuing his life work, but Prof. Marcel Andre, who speaks here tomorrow night, is from the same school and carries out in their entirety the Coue methods. He will explain the Coue method for relief of pain, often permanently, in cases of headaches, neuralgia, neutritis, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, etc. To cure certain nerve disorders not curable by ordinary medical treatment, such as sleeplessness, stammering, St. Vitus' dance, asthma, sleep-walking, nervousness before singing, or speaking in public and also to improve the memory. To improve or cure nervous deafness, functional paralysis, weak eyes, neurasthenia, constipation, bronchitis, despondency and some forms of goitre and to overcome many forms of intemperance, smoking and drug habits.

Pfof. Marcel Andre, who comes direct from the school of Nancy, whence Dr. Emile Coue also comes, will lecture and demonstrate here at the Grand Opera House, tomorrow, Wednesday at 8.15 for one night only.

Sufferers are invited to participate in the free demonstrations which will be given in addition to the lecture. To restrict the audience to only those really interested, an admission fee of 50 cents will be charged. Prof. Andre could have secured a large place, but he prefers intimate contact with his auditors whenever possible.

AT THE CAPITOL

There was a filled house at the Capitol Theatre last night for a big programme that includes the talked-of picture, "Flaming Youth," a hilarious Snub Pollard comedy, and a trio of harmony singers and comedians, in "The Three Pals."

"Flaming Youth" has had some of the flame snipped out of it by the censor's shears. There are gaps in the continuity where the official board has been busy, but as these occur at what are evidently supposed to be lurid moments, the in-between episodes are left to the imagination, and the effect is just about the same. "Flaming Youth" deals with the woes of "Pat" Fentriss, an unlucky young thing possessed of youth and beauty and worldly goods, but unfortunately hampered by conventions in the expression of her desires in concrete form. She is obliged to vent her longings in the way of jazz parties and "necking" interludes, when she is kissed vicariously by several young men in turn, in a manner that is slightly drawn out, and becomes just a little wearisome by reason of her twistings and squirmings and oglings.

The hectic, artificial life of the idle rich is depicted in this picture. There is much jazz dancing and drinking, and barely dressed ladies. Oddly enough, the women do not smoke in this picture. That is about the only thing they don't do. With a different type of heroine, it would probably develop into one of those productions that form the subject for much scandalized comment, but with Colleen Moore as a typical flapper, excitement-crazy and futile, it becomes merely a somewhat silly story of a very young creature's reactions to promiscuous loving and unconventional behaviour. There is an odd flavor injected by the inclusion of several high-brow speeches by the young lady, who has a habit, after pawing her admirers sufficiently to reduce them to a submissive pulp, of turning on them with virtuous platitudes. The fact that Milton Sills, who usually appears in more virile pictures, is the rather supine hero, Cary Scott, is something to be regretted. He does not show up to much advantage in the role of a gentleman, with a wife in Paris, a platonic friend in America, and the victim of "Pat's" squirmy wiles.

Another unreal element is the spiritual influence, projected from the next world, of Pat's mother. This lady has gone out of life with a heart attack, superinduced by too much jazz dancing, and as she leaves she regrets that her group of admirers cannot be augmented by the presence of Cary Scott. As she dies, her husband plays "Three O'Clock in the Morning" as the wind-up to a very hectic party. However the ladys spirit intervenes at the moment when her daughter lies waiting for death, after a vivid interlude on board a foreign admirer's yacht. "Flaming Youth" hasn't any moral, at least no apparent moral is intended unless it is the one that happiness doesn't come from wealth, and mad excitement. However, it is different, and outside of much posing on the part of the heroine, rather interesting. One inevitably waits for something terrible to happen, but nothing happens. After a period of scrambly excitement-chasing, the lady settles down to a marriage with her somewhat confused suitor, the gentleman with the providentially-divorced wife in Paris.

There is a good supporting cast. Myrtle Stedman plays with excellent effect the part of the mother, Mona Fentriss, Elliott Dexter is her friend, who addresses spirit letters to her after death. Doctor Robert Osterman, Sylvia Breamer, and Betty Fremer are two older daughters, and Philip Smalley is the father, Ralph Fentriss, as excitement-mad as his family.

Snub Pollard appears in a hilarious comedy, as a rent collector. There are clever intervals in this picture, with enough unexpected happenings to keep the audience in constant good humor. Pursued by a Nemesis in "Butch" McKill, the unfortunate Snub does some high stepping in his role of a collector of rents in a touch neighborhood.

"The Three Pals," are three young men who give a series of vocal numbers in solo and trio work. They are a snappy-looking group, and possessed of three good voices. The tenor gives a melodious solo number followed by the comedian baritone and the three give several tuneful numbers that bring them much applause. "My Girl's a Lulu" was the final effort that brought several hearty encores.

AT THE REGENT

"THE MAN LIFE PASSED BY": THRILLING TALE OF REVENGE

Victor Schersinger is Author and Director of New Metro Picture—Shows Roman Revel. Percy Marmont, Jane and Eva Novak, Cullen Landis and Hobart Bosworth in Cast.

To-day, at the Regent Theatre, is "The man Life Passed By," a Metro picture, which was written and directed by Victor Schertzinger, the man responsible for the direction of Jackie Coogan's "Long Live the King." For this production, which is said to contain many thrilling and unusual scenes, Mr. Schertzinger assembled a cast of favorites numbering Percy Marmont, Jane and Eva Novak, Cullen Landis, Hobart Bosworth, George Siegmann, and Lydia Knott.

It is the story of a man whose bitterness in heart against life is changed by a woman to love, and the woman is the daughter of his enemy. But this happens only after the girl's younger sister barely escapes the penalty of her father's wrong against the man whose invention he stole.

A peculiar coincidence is that the Novak sisters have the roles of sisters in the photoplay, Jane the elder, and Eva the younger. Mr. Marmont is "the man passed by life," and Hobart Bosworth is "Iron Man" Moore, the girls' father. Cullin Landis has the role of Moore's secretary, who is in love with the younger sister.

"The Mam Life Passed By" is swift-moving drama, loaded with action, and with skilful comedy touches. Tear-moving and thrilling, with fun and fights and punch and passion, it is a picture for all fans. Not only are there scenes of rich luxury, and gay reckless parties, but scenes of direct poverty, and the haunts of the underworld.

Particularly exciting is the raid on the "Spotted Dog," where Moore's younger daughter has taken her guests, after her father's secretary put an end to the daring frolic at her home. The raid sends the distracted girl fleeing into the arms of her father's enemy, and the scenes that follow will grip every spectator. The climax occurs when the repentant man goes to "Iron Man" Moore's home to ask for justice, and is shot down. But, of course, the tangle is happily straightened in the end.

One of the most effective sequences in the picture is the Roman Revel given by the younger sister. The garden is decorated to resemble an arena, and the guests are all attired in the togas and draperies of the days of Nero and Titus. A chariot race is run around the "course" with the young men of the party acting as horses.

Victor Schertzinger surpassed his previous directorial achievements when he made "The Man Life Passed By," written by him in collaboration with Winifred Dunn, who did the scenario. J. J. Hughes was art director, and Chester A. Lyons photographed the production.

Y.M.C.A. Circus

The Y.M.C.A. Circus, which has its second showing to-night, was greeted last evening by a good crowd of spectators. Everything went off smoothly, even the beginners going through their marches and games without a hitch. The production gave the crowd some exciting moments.

The circus opened with a drill by the Beginners, who went through various evolutions with grace and ease, and military bearing. High-bar work, with many daring feats, executed with skill, followed, seniors in Howard Young, Gordon Pogue, and Russell Pogue, taking part in a manner that won them much applause.

The clowns were plentiful and full of life. Their main feat was a pillow fight, staged on a slippery pole, elevated about six feet from the floor.

One of the best acts of its sort ever put on in this city was the living statue work by Teddy Graham, who, attired in a suit of gold, posed under a spotlight, with the rest of the hall in darkness, as a basketball, baseball, and lacrosse player, and many other poses depicting games and sports, doing every pose perfectly.

Jack Milburn, as the strong man, had a good act, well done. Dressed in a large robe, like Strangler Lewis, he warmed up by breaking half-inch bolts with his hands, then lifted a five-hundred-pound weight, and later a weight of similar size in each hand, while a weight weighing eight hundred and sixty pounds was held by his mouth. The crowd was startled by this feat, until they observed some of the beginners clearing away the weights with ease.

Sixteen of the Juniors, dressed as clowns and gentlemen, carrying canes, went through a fine drill. The Seniors on the flying rings gave the audience some thrills. Turning backwards and forwards, while flying through the air, was one of the features in an act which showed much practice and level-headed care.

The Beginners, in a series of games and tumbling, did very well, and the circus parade of giraffes, camels, gorillas, and clowns received much applause from the spectators.

Members are requested to meet at St. Andrew's Church Hall to-night (Tuesday) at 8 o'clock sharp. All members are urged to be present, on time. Arrangements are now being made for the transportation of the choir to Toronto to take part in the Musical Festival there on 1st May, and members are expected to attend the rehearsals, which will be short and snappy. There was a good turnout last night at the Business College, and the hall of St. Andrew's Church has been kindly granted for the choir practice to-night.

WEDDING BELLS

PITCHFORD—DOUCETTE

At eleven o'clock yesterday morning, in George street Methodist church, the marriage took place of Bertram Walter Pitchford, youngest son of Mr. James Pitchford, 188 Rubidge street, and the late Mrs. Pitchford, and Mildred Dorothy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Doucette, 4 McGill street. Rev. W. Harold Young performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Mr. J. H. Renwick. She wore a stylish suit of sand-colored Poiret twill, with hat to match and sable choker. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Gladys Cooley, wore a brown velvet dress, brown plaid coat and small brown hat. The best man was Mr. Frank Stevens.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Pitchford left for Toronto. They will reside in Peterboro. They were recipients of many useful and beautiful gifts, including handsome presents from the De Laval Company, where both were employed on the office staff.

GOOD ATTENDANCE AT ST. ALPHONSUS LYCEUM

There was a very good attendance at St. Alphonsus' Lyceum last night for the dance and card party given under the auspices of the Young Ladies of St. Peter's parish. An energetic committee in charge of the arrangements was composed of the Misses Marion Hayes, B. Giroux, M. O'Brien, Mamie Archambault, Eileen McCabe, N. Shevlin, Clara Fontaine, M. Hanlon, F. Giroux and L. Sarginson. The men's committee included Messrs. A. Doherty, N. Tobin, Wm. Bennett and F. R. J. MacPherson. Excellent music for dancing was provided by Nixon's four-piece orchestra, with Mrs. J. Foster playing the violin. About a hundred people took part in the dancing and there were twenty tables of cards played. Novelty dances were a part of the programme, the lucky number dance being won by Miss Kate McAuley and Mr. P. J. Kenny. Prizes for bridge were won by Miss Emma Corkery and Mr. T. McAuley, for euchre by Mrs. O'Toole and Mr. James Guiry.

AN APRIL DAY.

O, how this spring of love resembleth
Th' uncertain glory of an April day,
Which now shows all the beauty of the sun,
And by and by a cloud takes all away!
—The Two Gentlemen of Verona.

St. George's Day Is An Appropriate One

His Worship Mayor Turner draws attention to the fact that to-morrow being St. George's Day, is very a very appropriate day for the presentation of the C.G.E. by-law. Since the days of Nelson, England has had as her watchword, "England expects this day that every man will do his duty," and the spirit of England that Nelson so appropriately crystallized may be taken by the people of Peterborough as a slogan to-morrow.

Peterborought expects that every voter will do his duty—by voting for the C.G.E. by-law.

ORCHESTRA AND ROTARY ENTERTAIN EACH OTHER

Enjoyable Programme Given by Professor Gliddon's Organization Delights Rotarians.

PLAY TEST PIECE

The Rotary Club and the Peterboro Symphony Orchestra entertained each other in most enjoyable fashion at the Empress last evening, the members of the orchestra being the guests of the Rotarians at an excellently served dinner, after which they in turn contributed the major part of the splendid post-prandial programme. The result was an evening of thorough enjoyment for both organizations.

The orchestra, forty-six members strong, under the direction of Prof. Rupert Gliddon, was heard to great advantage. Its programme included the three test pieces, "Merry Widows of Windsor," "Fidello," and "Lustpiel," whch are to be played by the orchestra in the competitions at the Ontario Festival of Music next week, and the verdict of the Rotarians, after hearing these overtures played by Mr. Gliddon's organization last evening was that if they did not bring home several of the prizes, there must be some wonderfully clever orchestras in this province. Certainly the orchestra showed few weaknesses in any department, the string section, wood winds and brass being equally strong, while the crispness and accuracy of attack and brilliancy of execution of the organization under Mr. Gliddon's baton, gave good reason for hoping for success in the big competition in which the band will be a contestant next week. The "Fidelli" overture, the most ambitious number on the programme, was confidently and brilliantly handled, the effect being altogether pleasing.

In addition to the competition pieces the orchestra played the "Coronation March," and scored a triumph in the haunting descriptive number "In a Monastery Garden."

Professor Gliddon contributed "The Palms," as a cornet solo, a most enjoyable effort in which he achieved a splendid tone and expression, while Mr. E. Hully in his bassoon solo, "Lucy Gray," wtih many variations on the familiar old air, demonstrated his complete mastery of his most difficult instrument.

At the conclusion of the orchestra's programme, Rotarian A. L. Killaly moved a vote of thanks to the musicians, the motion being seconded by Rotarian W. R. Morris. Both speakers congratulated the orchestra on their splendid programme and wished them success in the Ontario competition.

Professor Gliddon, in reply, stated that they expected to meet very keen competition in Toronto, but were hopeful of making a good showing, and Rotarian John Crane, the president of the orchestra, also emphasized the fact that the task before the organization would be more difficult than last year.

Community singing added variety to the programme, this feature being in charge of Rotarian Doug. Carlisle, with Rotarian John Crane and Rev. Harold Young at the piano. Solos were contributed by Rotarian Chris. Graham, Doug. Carlisle, R. A. Brown and Robert Abbott, and Rotarians Carlisle and Crane were heard to advantage in a spirited duet.

President D. R. Wren of the Rotarian Club, was chairman for the evening.

The business portion of the programme was brief but important.

Rotarian R. A. W. McPherson presented the very interesting report of the crippled children's work, showing the progress that had been made. Some twenty-five children who could be helped by treatment, would be taken care of by the Rotarians, he said, the majority of them suffering from disabilities that would grow steadily worse if they were not attended to at once. It was proposed to bring a distinguished specialist from Toronto to review these cases before a course of action was decided upon, and wherever possible treatment would be given in Peterboro, although it might be necessary to send some of the cases to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto.

The motor show was a prominent topic. President Wren urged every Rotarian car owner to be on hand early to-morrow night for the parade, while Rotarian Jack Seels in charge of Rotary's entertainment forces in connection with the motor show reported all arrangements working out satisfactory. He announced that Rotary would have two decorated floats in the parade to-morrow night.

Last night's funcition was one of the most enjoyable held under Rotary auspices.

JACK COURAGE WAS SAVED FROM RIVER

Harry Heel, 14, and Mr. Rye Brought Him Ashore Yesterday.

Jack Courage, son of Rev. W. R. Courage, of St. George's Anglican church, fell into the river yesterday afternoon near Rye's boathouse and was rescued by the united efforts of another young boy and Mr. Rye.

Jack Courage is 11 years of age, and his young rescuer, Harry Heel, is 14. Getting a canoe, Mr. Rye and Harry Heel paddled out to the boy, who was some distance from shore and succeeded in rescuing him.

Rev. Courage reports to-day that his son is quite recovered.

NO REVOLT IN LIBERAL PARTY AGAINST ASQUITH

LLANFAIR FECHAN, Wales, April 22—(Canadian Press)—There is no revolt in the Liberal Party against the leadership of Herbert Asquith, former premier, Lloyd George declared in an address to-day but there is a revolt he asserted against "humiliating position under which the Liberal party is expected to keep in power government that has never concealed its hostility toward that party."

DANCE HELD IN THE WAR VETERANS HALL

The G.W.V.A. Hall was beautifully decorated with green and gold streamers and a checkerboard ceiling of colored paper for the dance held there last evening. Owing to the number of people out of town for the holiday, the attendance was not as good as anticipated. Patronesses were Mrs. N. H. Sutton and Mrs. E. H. Wood. Nazimok's four-piece orchestra provided excellent music for the dance.

PETER ROBINSON CHAPTER DANCE

The Easter Monday "the dansant" held by the Peter Robinson Chapter I. O. D. E. in the Peterboro Club-rooms yesterday, from half-past three o'clock to seven, proved a very successful and enjoyable event. Numbers of people dropped in for a dance in the long ball-room, or for a cup of tea in the handsome lounge, where the tea table was a charming centre of activity. The committee in charge of arrangements was composed of Mrs. Northedge Birks, convenor, the Regent, Mrs. F. C. Webber, Mrs. Homer Meyers, Mrs. Jack Gillespie, Mrs. D. L. McLaren, Mrs. N. Geale, Dr. Phyllis Young, the Misses Florence Thompson and Gladys Patterson. Dr. Phyllis Young officiated at the door, and Mrs. J. Gillespie, with Miss Gladys Patterson, showed the guests into the tea-room. Mrs. Webber and Mrs. Birks poured tea at the very dainty table. An artistic arrangement included a large silver basket filled with deep purple hyacinths, pink roses and yellow daffodils. Tulle of the same three colors, sprinkled with hyacinth petals, encircled the basket. Specimen vases with bright daffodils and mauve candles in silver candelabra, completed an exceptionally pretty table. Assistants in the tea-room were Mrs. W. Regan, and the Misses Florence Scott, Celia Dunsford, Caroline Littlefield, Helen Howson, Audrey Huycke and Florence Thompson. Ken Blood's orchestra provided excellent music. Among those noticed were: Mesdames G. Matthews, Ackman, J. Mills, Poole, K. McLelland, C. Lapp, Tyler, Young, Scott, F. P. McNulty, Caruthers, Wood, Abbott, Wayte, M. Huycke of Toronto, Reasin, R. HIGHER EDUCATION EMPHASING BIBLE

Universities and Colleges of Methodism Teaching Religion--Board of Education Reviews Conditions All Over Dominion.

TORONTO, April 22. — Educators from all parts of Canada and from Newfoundland gathered here yesterday for the annual sessions of the Board of Education of the Methadist Church. A review of the year's operations in seventeen institutions revealed healthy conditions as to the personnel and equipment, with a number of interesting new developments along religious and educational lines.

The six universities and theological colleges, including Wesley, Alberta South and Ryerson in the Western Provinces, reported 203 men taking divinity courses, of whom 170 are probationers for the Methodist ministry. Prospects for a continuous and sustained supply of pastors for the churches are concluded to be excellent. That a highly educated ministry is assured was found in the total of 106 students who are completing courses for degrees in Arts before entering on theological training.

In all of the Canadian colleges the English Bible and other subjects in religion are being extended and featured, being now common to all the courses in practically every department. This is a development resulting from the new emphasis placed by the Board of Education on religious and ethical instruction by competent leaders and lecturers.

In the thirteen colleges providing secondary education were 4,391 students during the term just closed, and in the six higher colleges and universities 1,151 students, or a total of 5,542 students in attendance at Methodist institutions of learning.

This was a slight decrease from the preceding year, principally in the colleges providing musical and commercial courses.

Striking analysis of its constituency were made by Wesley College, Winnipeg, with the discovery that children of sixteen faiths were in attendance, with 140 Methodists and 72 Presbyterians as the largest elements in the student body. It was found also that 215 students were from cities and 156 from the country. The inquiry as to occupations of parents disclosed that 54 were farmers, 28 merchants, 21 ministers, 19 housekeepers, and 11 contractors, with fewer from many other groups.

The problem of union with other degree-conferring institutions to form one university for the Maritime Provinces still engages the attention of Dr. George J. Trueman, who last fall became president of Mount Allison University. In the event of church union, the possibilities of the Methodists permitting this historic institution to remove from Sackville to Halifax and there affiliate with others would be greatly enhanced, it was stated.

Endowments of the six universities and divinity schools presented a splendid aggregate, with one or two of the newer colleges falling below the high standard. The figures are as follow: Victoria, $1,282,662; Wesleyan Theological, $124,112; Mount Allison, $565,000; Alberta South, $2,000; and Ryerson, $34,000. The last-named commenced to function as teaching institution last fall and during its first term has enjoyed pleasant relations with Westminster Hall, Presbyterianism's theological school in British Columbia.

Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, which commenced last term its second half century of activity, reports the largest graduating class in its history and an enrollment of 159 students.

Victoria College, Toronto, the oldest and largest University in Methodism, enrolled 589 students. Of these, 529 were taking Arts courses in connection with the University of Toronto, with which Victoria has been affiliated for a generation.

Completion of the $600,000 plant of Albert College, Belleville, Ont., was reported appreciably nearer. The administration building and one boys' dormitory are now being fitted out and the whole project is on a magnificent scale. Meanwhile, the 203 students are housed in crowded buildings.

As regards attendance and the academic side generally, the six secondary schools in the West are rivalling the older foundations in the East. Several Western schools, however, are said to be facing financial difficulties.

Mount Allison Ladies' College and Mount Allison Academy for Boys, located on the university campus at Sackville, N.B., are enjoying much success and would probably remain in their present location even if the merger of universities took place.

Owing to the sectarian character of the school system maintained by the Dominion of Newfoundland, the Methodist College in St. John's has to take small children as well as those of high school age. The financia strain in providing suitable instruction for all grades is heavy. This school is largely under the inspiration of Old Country traditions and standards.

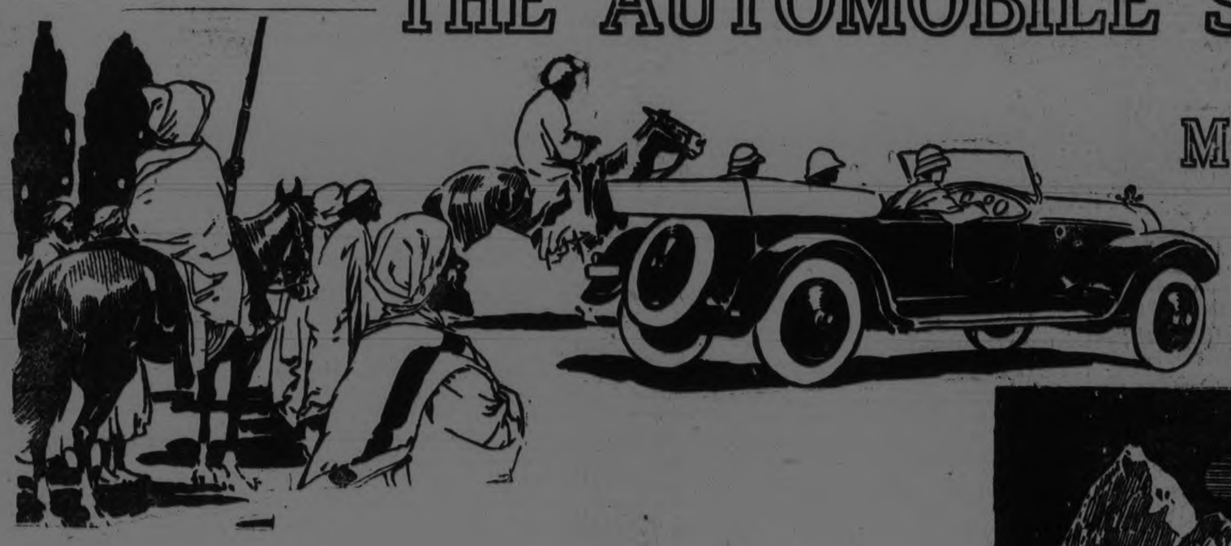
THE AUTOMOBILE SHOW NUMBER



MOTORDOM'S LATEST DISPLAY

EAST AND WEST HAIL THE AUTO

To-morrow evening at 7 o'clock the doors of the greatest motor show ever held in Peterborough will be thrown open to the public. The entire floor space of the Armouries is devoted to the exhibition, and is filled with glittering examples of the latest and most perfect products of the modern automobile factory. At 8 o'clock the official opening ceremony, which will formally launch what is confidently expected to be the most impressive and most successful show in the history of Peterborough, will be performed. Directors and officers of the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Motor League and representatives of the Peterborough Health Association will be present. To this latter organization go all the proceeds of the Show and because of that fact as well as because of its intrinsic value in entertainment and education, three crowded days are certain. The work of the Peterborough Health Association, carried on unobtrusively, reaches every corner of the city in preventing and alleviating disease and suffering, and the summer camp at Jackson Park is an outstanding feature that helps to health and happiness hundreds of children who would otherwise be doomed to years of hardship and suffering.

The Motor Show itself will present numerous examples of over a score of distinct makes of cars, and many different makes of trucks and busses, in addition to a representative display of automobile accessories of every description, the total value of the exhibits being placed at many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Every description of motor vehicle is now awaiting the inspection and criticism of the public, from the sumptuous limousine to the modest roadster or light delivery truck. Many innovations will be noticed by the automobile lover, and the display of new models is instructive and interesting alike to the owner of a car and to the intelligent observer of the progress of a great industry, even if, for him, the possibility of ownership is a dream of the distant future. And as one man was overheard to say yesterday, even the man who hates all automobiles can go to see how many different kinds of cars there are to knock him down!

Many New Models.

On exhibition will be many new models first introduced to the American continent at the New York Motor Show this year, and several exhibits will show the four-wheel brake system and other important innovations which will be explained by the attendants.

Already there are many visitors in the city for the Show, and letters have been received telling of numbers who intend to visit Peterborough and the automobile exhibition during this week.

The exhibition of cars and accessories for 1924 is the most imposing spectacle of the kind ever presented in Peterborough.

The average man, even though he may be brought in daily contact with motor cars and the motor industry, can hardly realize the vast amount of work that is necessary in preparing for a great automobile show. There are a thousand tasks to be looked after, and most of them must be started several weeks ahead in order that they may be completed in good time. The Show itself brings an eleventh-hour rush from year to year, and everything else must be out of the way before the time comes to wheel the cars into their spaces. To-day everything is in readiness for the opening, and the officials are being heartily congratulated on the success which, so far, have attended their efforts.

Never before in the automobile industry of Peterborough has a Motor Show been held with more elements of interest and with such an optimistic outlook upon the new season as is revealed in the big exhibition which will be in progress during the next three days. Manufacturers no longer make changes in their new models merely for the sake of producing something different to the model of the preceding year. In the Show that opens to-morrow there are many new features to be seen in the 1924 cars, but every one has a sound reason for its existence and marks a distinct improvement over the earlier design. The vast span of automobile construction is covered in the models which await inspection, and the cars, color, and background are blended into an artistic spectacle which will live long in the memory of those who visit the Show. Not the least detail of interest to the legions who know the worth of the automobile has been forgotten, and there is plenty of material to furnish food for thought for those who hope to own their own motors at some happy time. A nimble mind and some hours are needed to obtain a general knowledge of all that is offered.

Peterboro's Annual Motor Show

Opens Tomorrow (Wednesday)

April 23rd, at the Armouries

Monster Parade from the Market Square at 7 p.m.

The proceeds from this show is expended by the Peterboro Health Association, especially during the summer for the Fresh Air Camp at Jackson Park. The whole hearted support of the citizens is kindly asked.

VALUABLE ADVICE

A Page for the Automobile Owner

HELPFUL HINTS

MOTORS and Their Care

For Belt Efficiency.

Try the fan occasionally to see if the belt is coming loose, as a loose belt allows the fan to slip. It prevents the water from being properly cooled. If the fan can be moved easily, the belt needs tightening.

Winter Wisdom.

When bringing the car into the garage after a storm, always brush off any accumulation of snow, otherwise the snow in melting will remain on the various parts of the car too long, doing all manner of damage before finally dripping to the floor.

Correct Way to Tighten Nuts.

In tightening opposed nuts, such as those holding the bearing caps in place, one nut should be drawn up a little and then opposite one tightened a little. It is wrong to tighten one nut fully and then proceed with the other, as this method tends to spring the metal and cause poor contact.

Upkeep of Auto.

The different items of expense in keeping an automobile divide the average cost per mile as follows:—Depreciation, 30.7 per cent.; repairs, 21.7 per cent.; gas, 21.3 per cent.; tires, 8.8, per cent.; gargae rent, 6.5 per cent.; interest, 4.7 per cent.; oil, 3.7 per cent.; insurance, 1 per cent.; miscellaneous, 1.6 per cent.

Cold Weather Tips.

Hot water placed in the co stem is one remedy that may be applied if an engine refuses to start because of extreme cold. This will raise the temperature of the engine and help the vaporizing in the cylinders. Heat may be supplied to the intake manifold by wrapping it with an old rag and pouring on hot water.

Preparatory to Cold Weather.

Before any anti-freezing solution is used it is well to wash the cooling system out thoroughly with a pound of baking soda dissolved in the water before it is poured in the radiator. Leave this in the radiator for a few hours while the engine is runing and it will clean out the radiator. If there are any small leaks they will show upk and should then be repaired immediately to prevent the leaking of the anti-freezing solution.

Dangers of Excessive Priming.

Care should be taken when priming the motor—an excess quantity of gasoline may be sucked into the cylinders, and will in time thin out the motor oil.

Fresh Lubricant for Gears.

Regardless of whether oil or grease is used to lubricate the gears, the housing should be washed out with kerosene at regular intervals and the housing replenished with a supply of fresh lubricant.

Proper Application of Gaskets.

Cylinder-head gaskets should always be sealed with an application of shellac in both surfaces. It is best applied by dabbing both surfaces of the gasket with the tip of a brush, rather than painting it on.

An Emergency Radiator Repair.

Leaks in the solder seams of honeycomb radiators may be repaired in emergencies by inserting a long stove bolt through the air spaces, placing rubber and steel washers on the bolts and then drawing up gently on the nuts.

Engine Intelligence.

An operator of the automobile should know when the engine is perfectly balanced for all speeds. A change in speed will break up the combination of vibrations, stop the pounding, shaking or rattling, and prevent excessive wear on the working parts.

Headlights Correctly Focused.

To focus lamps properly, move the lamp bulb forward or backward until the most intense light is reflected. This is accomplished by turning the adjusting screw in the back of the lamp to the left to move the bulb out, and to the right to move the bulb in.

When Changing Crankcase Oil.

The practice of using kerosene as a flush when cleaning the oil out of a crankcase is not advised. It has been found that kerosene becomes trapped in pockets in the crankcase and impairs the lubricating qualities of the fresh oil when drained in the reservoir.

Proof of Ownership.

Motorists who value their cars and equipment can etch their names in the metal parts by covering the surface with a coating of beesw. x and writing the name in the wax with a pointed tool. Fill the writing with a solution composed of four ounces of nitric acid and one-half ounce of muriatic acid. Be sure to fill each letter. Let the mixture remain five minutes, after which wash off acid and beeswax with hot water.

Utilizing Old Tubes.

Floor mats can be made by converting a few inner tubes. The old tubes are first cut into strips by wetting the rubber and cutting with an old razor. The strips are then woven or interlaced with each other, basket fashion. The end strips are made double width and turned over. These strips should be cemented in place. A row of brass rivets, placed around the edges, improves the appearance greatly, in addition to making the mats stronger.

Cleansers and How to Use Them.

The most common solvents of grease and caked oil are gasoline and kerosene. One of the best methods of using these cleaning fluids is to have a tank or large kettle in which is suspended two sieves with fine mesh, one completely submerged in the fluid and the other suspended far enough above so as to allow drainage. The parts to be cleaned are put into the sieve, which is suspended in the gasolene or kerosene and allowed to remain until the grease is dissolved, when they are dumped into the sieve suspended above so as to drain until perfectly dry. Hot soda water (washing soda solution) is also a very effective solvent of grease and may be used in the same manner in the same equipment. Where soda or lye is used the parts should be cleaned and well oiled before replacing, as they are liable to rust.

Changing of Oil in New Motor

Because oil tends to deteriorate very rapidly in a new engine, the replacement of oil at proper intervals will insure continued smoothness of operation and prevent undue wear to bearings. Sediment in a new engine is the greatest prevalent cause of oil deterioration. This sediment is produced by the engine "wearing itself in." A new motor is built and assembled so that it is fairly tight or stiff. This causes each moving part to adjust itself to each other part. In doing this, the various pieces rub against each other and infinitely small particles of metal are picked up from the machine surfaces. These particles, being heavier than oil, are naturally carried to the lower pan and there deposited. This wearing action takes place most rapidly during the first thousand miles of running, although the action is never entirely absent.

Radiation Care.

Because a radiator is rather delicate in its construction, it is not advisable to place anything into water of the cooling system to stop leaks. Such foreign matter is very apt to lodge at undesirable points and cause further trouble. Small leaks should be soldered to make a repair permanent. If sections of the radiator become clogged with foreign matter overheating will result.

Adjusting Car for Cold Weather.

Adjust carburetor.

Change the oil every 250 miles.

Increase the charging rate of the generator.

Inspect brakes and keep them properly adjusted.

Put alcohol in the radiator at the first sign of freezing.

Thin out the oil in the rear axle and transmission by adding cylinder oil.

The Clutch, its Use and Abuse

The clutch transmits or disconnects the power from the engine to the transmission. It permits the engine to pick up its load gradually. Keep the foot off the clutch unless shifting gears. "Riding" or "slipping" the clutch should be discouraged. Unnecessary pressure on the clutch wears the clutch mechanism, makes clutch surfaces smooth, and may cause the clutch to overheat. The clutch seldom needs adjustment except with reference to floor boards. The pedal should have half-inch clearance in every direction. Noisy clutch shifting is generally due to the clutch not being "thrown out" far enough'

An Abuse of the Engine.

To race an engine causes enormous strains on the connecting rod and crankshaft bearings, tending to flatten them out, and producing knocks. This habit sometimes tears off a connecting rod cap, so that the crank gives a side bow, tearing out the side of the case. It sucks oil upon that top of the piston, causing carbon, and if continued makes the engine overheat.

Funnel for the Battery.

Always use a glass or rubber funnel when pouring distilled water into the battery. Metal funnels are conductors of electricity and are liable to ruin the battery.

Concerning Battery Terminals.

Use metal terminals on battery wire instead of merely winding the bare ends around thebinding posts. Special terminals hold better, look better, and give better contact. If no terminals are used, however, the wire should be passed around the post so that the tightening of the binding nut will tend to wrap it more closely.

PROPERLY SEATED PISTON RINGS.

When new rings are applied to the pistons, they should be lapped in so that they will fit the cylinder wall tightly and evenly all around. First put the rings on the piston and then move the assembly back and forth in the cylinder, using an abrasive mixture to assist in seating the rings.

Diary of An Automobile

7:30 a.m. Well, another cold day. Here comes the boss to get me. Hope he had a good breakfast.

7:32 a.m. Ouch! He nearly yanked my choker up through my dashboard. Guess I'm in for a bad day.

7:35 a.m. Now I'm flooded because he forgot to turn the ignition switch while choking me. Gasoline is trickling down into my crankcase and my starter battery is getting tired from too much work.

7:36 a.m. Here we go! Boss found his mistake when he stopped swearing and looked around. Wish I could talk back.

7:45 a.m. Gurgle, gurgle, help! Boss heard me cough and pulled out my choker so long I'm filled up with cold gasoline.

7:50 a.m. Phew! Something poured full of gasoline. Wish Boss had let me run slowly in the garage a minute to get warm.

7:51 a.m. Just gave him a good haking up and lots of rattles for riving over car tracks too fast. My ires still ache.

7:58 a.m. Nearly at the office now. Ouch! If he lets my clutch grab that way again I'll jerk him till he swallows his teeth.

8:10 a.m. Boss constantly putting on brakes; no sense wearing out my bands that way.

8:15 a.m. Trying to park in front of office, Boss scraped every tooth in my gears. Thank heaven there aren't nerves in them!

8:18 a.m. Just caught my breath and found he had left me out in the cold without anything to hold the heat I worked so hard to develop.

9:30 a.m. Just had a chill. Here's Boss again. He thinks I'm going to start right off. He's wrong.

9:35 a.m. Boss is peeved and so am I. He's almost worn out my battery and hasn't given it a drink in weeks.

9.50 a.m. Choke—cough—choke—cough! Sounds like a Russian name. I'll bet a pint of gas has dripped into my oil.

9:51 a.m. Boss racing my engine now to warm it up. Just one blamed thing after another. Feel myself getting loose all over.

10 a.m. Still roaring like a lion with Boss jerking throttle up and down.

10:01 a.m. Caesar's ghost! Now he's going to adjust my carburetor. He didn't even read the instruction book to find out how.

10:15 a.m. On my way to the service station. Boss made my mixture thinner instead of richer. We stalled on the car tracks. Motorman knew some new cuss words.

11:00 a.m. O, boy! Should have heard what the garage man said. All fixed up now. He told the Boss about my thin oil.

11:20 a.m. At a filling station. Just had all new oil put in; worse luck. Boss went wrong and bought the heaviest oil; thought it would last longer. I can hardly make it flow through my veins.

11:30 a.m. Back at the office. We gave up trying to make a call on a customer. May go after lunch (if my battery will turn the engine over when the thick oil gets cold).

12:30 p.m. Boss in a huff. He churned the motor with stiff oil until the battery played out. Just phoned the service station and dashed to lunch Hope he doesn't treat his wife this way.

3:30 p.m. Service car finally came, put in a fresh battery. Now I'm off for the shop to get a general tuning up. Boss peeved.

4:00 p.m. Begin to feel better in warm garage and among friends. All feel sorry for me.

4:45 p.m. Hooray. Service manager read inspection report and went up in air. Says he'll tell my boss a few things! Time somebody did.

All day—Just delivered to Boss by service station. Both of us feeling much better. He's more considerate after his scolding and lessons. Guess we'll get along better now.

HORSE SENSE IN RUNNING MOTORS

Needlessness of Freezing Radiator Being Learned — Put This On Your Calendar For Fall.

There are many new motorists who have not yet had to buy a new radiator or a new cylinder block because the old one froze up, and perhaps many of the older drivers are interested in learning how to protect their cars against freezing.

When water turns into ice it expands approximately 12 per cent, or about one-eighth of itself. The radiator of an automobile is so constructed that it will cool off as quickly as possible; thus, if the car is left standing in the open with no protection from the wind, the water in the radiator will freeze quickly and the water in the other parts of the circulating system, such as the water jacket of the engine and the water pump, will freeze in a comparatively short time.

Many radiators are so constructed that they will expland slightly and thus allow for the expansion of the water when it turns to ice. The water jacket of the engine, however, is not elastic and is quite sure to crack or break when the water freezes, which means considerable expense in addition to laying up of the car for some time. The question, therefore, in the mind of the motorist, at this particular time of year, is how to protect the car from freezing during the cold weather. The solution of this problem is not as serious as many people imagine, as there are many satisfactory ways of protecting the car.

If the car is used occasionally and has to stand in an unheated garage, probably the cheapest of protection is to drain the water from the cooling system each time the car is brought in, then refill with warm water when the car is to be taken out again. In draining, care must be taken that all the water runs out, and it is also well to leave the engine running for a minute or two after the water has stopped draining in order to make sure that the water is not lodged in the pump or in some pocket in the circulating system. If, on the other hand, the car is used nearly every day, this draining process is considerable trouble and it is far better to put something into the cooling system that will not freeze.

Individuals, companies and the bureau of standards in Washington have been working on some form of anti-freezing solution for a long time, but so far, we do not seem to have come to the ideal solution. Probably the most satisfactory anti-freezing agent fro general use is denatured alcohol. This is not very expensive, is no more corrosive than water, and can be procured at practically all garages and filling stations.

Denatured alcohol is not entirely uniform in purity, 90 to 95 p.c. being water and poisonous substances added by the Government to denature, or render the alcohol unfit for internal use. Twenty-five per cent. alcohol and 75 per cent. water will stand around ten above zero, which means that this will be a strong enough solution to use until zero weather sets in. At that time we can use from 30 to 40 per cent., depending on the weather.

As alcohol evaporates from the solution much faster than water, we mix a solution of half alcohol and half water for refilling the radiators after they have once been filled with the alcohol and water solution. It is well to partly cover the front of the radiator during cold weather in order to make the engine run more efficiently. Care must be taken, however, not to cover too much of the radiator, as the solution will boil and the alcohol will quickly disappear.

Either kerosene or distillate can be used in the cooling system if no water is allowed to mix with it. The water would immediately settle to the bottom and freeze, thus stopping the circulation.

Never use a piece of wire in place of a fuse.

"No-Speed-Limit" Law is a Success

Although subjected to much criticism when first proposed, California's new "no-speed-limit" law, which was recently put into operation, has proved such a success that it is meeting with general approval from all classes of the State with the exception of those who derived a fat living from "speed traps." The law is strict relative to reckless driving. Officials in small towns that had been deriving revenue through the operation of "speed traps" were outspoken in opposition to the new legislation which failed to recognize these device as legal and called for the patrolling of roads by uniformed officers. Under the new act the speeder may be arrested as a reckless driver at any moment the car is being driven faster than is safe, whether the speed be one mile an hour or 50.

TRADE OUTLOOK ROSY FOR THE NEW SEASON

Automotive industry enters the new year confident that sane and normal progress, without a sensational spurt, will assure another twelve months of tremendous production.

This is the dominant note in the annual survey and analysis of automobile conditions by the United States Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' Association.

The outstanding conclusion in most of the statements submitted to association headquarters is that the basic stability of the automobile industry is more firmly assured than ever before.

Although it was recognized that prediction with respect to an industry as vast and dynamic as this is particularly hazardous, and that the most roseate anticipations of a year ago were far outstripped by the actual accomplishments of the last twelve months, nevertheless, as a rough and informal indication, predictions were requested as to the output of motor vehicles during 1924.

The replies show wide divergence. Less than 5 per cent. hold out hope for a production in excess of 4,000,000 cars and trucks, the 1923 total; about 20 per cent. look forward to maintenance of that production for the year; another 20 per cent. expect a drop to approximately 3,000,000, and most of the rest—or a substantial majority—figure that 1924 production will be about 3,500,000 cars and trucks.

But at best these are simply business men's guesses, qualified by the knowledge that the automotive industry has constantly scattered precedent and gone forward triumphantly despite elaborate statistical calculations.

Tinkering With Car Is Dangerous Hobby

Salesmen Should Watch For Man With Fingers That Itch to Play With Internal Organs of New Toy — Information Is Needed.

Some men and practically all women who have purchased automobiles own them to use as a means of transportation. Their primary interests is to take the car out of the garage, have it convey them to some definite point, bring them back in due course of time and leave the vehicle in the garage from whence it came. When the machine fails to perform effectively it goes to the service station for what servicing may be needed. But when the car is out of sight and not needed the owners' minds are given over completely to other matters.

Other men and practically all women when they buy automobiles undertake to secure not only a medium of locomotion but also a toy—something to play with. They think they can get two things for the price of one. Having a leaning toward mechanical ingenuity, which usually involves the incentive to tinker, they rightly conclude that there are more things about a car that can be tinkered with than any other known form of merchandise.

Perhaps they already have tinkered the phonograph until it murders the musical art of a Caruso. Perhaps they have tinkered the radio outfit so that it continually undertakes to reproduce two concerts at once. They see a much greater scope for their operation in an automobile—before it is completely put out of commission.

Entitled to Value

Such a person is entitled to his money's worth when he sets out to purchase a toy as well as a vehicle.

Salesmen in selling cars shoudl look for symptoms of this disease and act accordingly. The buyer may become a liability to the industry's good-will if not properly handled. But he should not be condemned absolutely. He needs a treatment which will direct his hobby into constructive channels.

This man has a talent that should find adequate expression. Just as the painter with his artistic genius finds happiness in making his brush and paints produce beauty, so the auto owner with his natural bent toward things of a mechanical nature, finds joy in giving expression to his desire to tinker.

In order that he may do this without impairing the generally recognized purpose of a car all he needs is a little fundamental information. He should be advised in the first place that all adjustments on his car should be based on an intelligent understanding of basic principles which underlie them. He should be urged be urged to study the machine first and tinker after.

One problem which automobile schools have to deal with continually is to be sure that the students learn enough so that they can tinker intelligently. Another problem includes pointing out carefully and emphatically that there are limits to an owners' capacity and facilities for doing repair work. There are certain things that he cannot do because the tools needed and usually the skill are to be found only in repair shops.

SIMPLE METHODS TO ADJUST HEADLIGHTS

To Keep Within the Law Is Easy If Simple Plan Outlined Here Is Followed.

Motor headlight accuracy may be determined by setting up a temporary adjusting station on a level roadway or in the garage. The station recommended by the Bureau of Standards consists of a screen 6 feet or more in length, and 5 feet high. On this screen is marked a horizontal line at the height of the headlights on the car, and two vertical lines the same distance apart as the headlights. When lenses are used which require the headlight to be tilted, another horizontal line should be drawn on the screen below the first a distance equal to the required tilt at 25 feet.

The screen can be made, suggests the Automobile Digest, from a piece of canvas on which the necessary lines can be painted. Any white cloth will do just as well. The screen may be fastened to a fence, the wall of a building or a light, portable frame especially made for the purpose.

The vehicle should be placed 25 feet from the screen and the car should preferably be fully loaded and the road or floor should be such that the parts holding the car and the bottom of the screen will be on a level with each other.

Four-Wheel Brakes and Balloon Tires Stand Out As Worthy Features of Late Advance—Engine and Body Changes Are In Direction of Safety and Comfort—Lessening Vibration and Freedom From Noise Are Sought.

FEWER NEW MAKES LAST YEAR THAN ANY OTHER.

By H. A. TARANTOUS
Member Society of Automotive Engrs.

The year just closed will be remembered in automotive circles as the year that produced four-wheel brakes and balloon tires. They did not spring after the manner of Minerva from the head of Jove, full-formed from the brains of the motor car engineers. These features, as well as low-priced sixes, now forms of closed bodies and improved types of engines, have been developing for years.

The 1924 car is cheaper, better, faster and more durably finished than any of its predecessors. The public this year will be able to purchase safer cars than were made last year, cars that use less fuel and carbonize less and knock less. During 1923 the manufacturers in many instances reduced the size of their engines, appreciating that high efficiency from a small engine is better than low efficiency from a large one. Realizing that no engine should be subjected to the debilitating effects of dusty air and dirty gasoline and oil, the engineers have taken steps to filter or purify these three important articles of their progeny's diet, and the result will be seen in longer engine life. Working carefully and unobtrusively, the designers have given more serious study to vibration than ever before and changes in design to reduce this evil are evident in the majority of improved types.

The past year has produced fewer new makes of cars than any previous year in the history of the industry. Many builders either have gone out of business, or else they are on very low production. The manufacturer who does some thinking, expressed in terms of the amount of development he does, is the one who lasts, and even now those who copy everything are sooner or later going to drop out. The intense development that must go on will mean of course better motor cars for the purchaser, perhaps lowered production, but also greater profits for the manufacturers.

A few years ago Ford alone offered closed cars at a very low price. The present season opens with more than fifteen closed models selling for less than $1,000. Three times as many are offered from $1,000 to $15,000. It was freely predicted about five years ago and every year since, that the closed car would eventually be the standard form. This is slowly coming to pass, but it will take another five years, at least, before the closed body is developed to a point where it can be made as cheaply as a touring body. Perhaps the cloth and wire mesh bodies shown in Europe, or the forms exhibited here will be the ones to make this possible. The majority of manufacturers catering to the medium and low-priced field prefer the sheet metal body which can take a good, glossy finish.

The painting of an automobile always has been a costly job and a long one. The enamels are cheaper and quicker, for they are baked on, and when out of the oven they are dry and ready for use. With painting, every coat takes hours to dry and a good paint job needs from ten coats upward. The industry is using this year for the first time a new form of finish which is sprayed on in color, not black only, and which dries quickly. When dry it is more durable than an ordinary ten or fifteen coat paint job. This and other finishes that will be introduced soon will give the buyer a car of which he can be proud. The finish will be good for two or three years. There will be no discoloring, no streaking or spotting in the rain, no checking of the paint after the car has been used a short time.

Four Cylinders Most in Use

There are now about eighty-five builders of passenger cars. The majority of motor cars produced have four cylinders, as Ford, who makes about half the cars sold annually, produces only fours. Add to the Ford production the Dodge, Star, Maxwell, Hupmobile, Overland, &c., and you get some idea of the great number of four-cylinder cars sold each year. That is not to say that the four-cylinder is going to be with us forever. Some believe that eventually only the lowest-priced cars will be fours, others that the four will be further developed so as to give it the smoothness of the six. Considering each maker as producing one vehicle, there are close to 70 per cent. of sixes as against slightly more than 20 per cent. of fours. The remaining 10 per cent. are eight-cylinder cars. Even the class under $1,000 has been invaded by the six, and more low-priced sixes are coming.

Balloon tires present the most appreciated single development of the year. I am not depreciating the other big improvements, but I believe that the public will grasp the advantages of balloon tires almost as easily and quickly as they have four wheel brakes. The present type of balloon tire may not be the final form, but they are good enough in performance to show the public what can be done toward easier riding. There are only a few sizes of real balloon tires, then there are what some call semi-balloons, but all designs are for low pressure operation—not more than thirty pounds, so that the softness of the tire will give the added cushioning effect which has long been wanted. There are two wheel diameters for balloon tires, twenty and twenty-one inches, as shown in the table following:

Wheel Size	Tire Section	Rim Width
20 inches	....6.20 inches.	4½ inches.
"	....7.30 "	5 "
21 "	....4.40 "	3½ "
"	....5.25 "	4 "
"	....6.20 "	4½ "

In addition to the tire sizes mentioned, one company has thought out a low-pressure tire for mounting on present sizes of rims. The primary thought back of the introduction of the balloon was expressed thirty years ago by John Palmer, inventor of the cord tire. When Palmer invented the cord his idea was to introduce a fabric that could withstand low pressure operation and produce easier riding, and the present balloon is merely the outcome of that original idea. While only about a dozen manufacturers offer balloon tires on their 1924 models, it will probably be but a short time before the whole industry will adopt this form. Certain changes in fender contour, steering and axles may be necessary to adopt the balloon.

A few years ago the market was flooded with what we call assembled cars, that is, cars made up of units purchased from specialists. So many cars had a weak unit here and there that many cars failed to give satisfaction. It was as much the fault of the parts makers as the car manufacturers. Now the situation has changed for the better, so that the car manufacturer who wants to produce a good vehicle, tells the parts maker what he wants as determined from the designs of a true engineering staff. Following is a table showing the number of passenger car makers that produce their own units and the number that buy them.

Four-Wheel Brake Progress

Four-wheel brakes will, within a few years, be used on every car. During 1923 about twenty-five manufacturers adopted them because of the additional safety afforded and also because of the longer life given to brake lining without frequent adjustment being necessary. There are two general forms, the hydraulic because it uses a liquid as the medium for band application, and the mechanical. It is possible that the hydraulic may get a better chance in this country than it has in Europe and it ought to, for I believe hate it can be developed to a point wher all objections are overcome.

The mechanical systems are good, but not as good as they might be. Too many designs were rushed into production, too many were copied without sufficient analysis of application to the particular cars on which they were to be used. The coming to this country of Perrot will do much toward giving us a source of help. Vincent Bendix, inventor of the Bendix starter drive, and Mr. Perrot are working in a plant in Indiana to develop four-wheel brake designs only.

There is nothing particularly new in the four-wheel brake idea. It has been in use something like fifteen years, but the paucity of good two-wheel braking systems forced car manufacturers to spend additional money per car in order to get better braking.

Some makers started in 1923 to popularize four-wheel brakes, although one firm before that (in 1921) was using a hydraulic system on all its cars.

There are two big developments in engines, one centering about vibration and the other oil dilution. The vibration problem has been attacked from every possible angle, but principally attention has been given to the crankshaft design, for it is the crankshaft that causes most of the vibration in engines. Even last year there were many engines with stiffer shafts and more engine bearings, but twice as many appear this year. There are twenty-eight four-bearing shafts in the six-cylinder field, there are nine seven-bearing shafts and twenty-six have three bearings. There are two four-cylinder cars with five bearing crankshafts. Among the eights, seven have three bearings, two have five bearings and one has nine bearings. The latter is a straight eight.

The idea of using more bearings is to give the shaft rigidy so that it may withstand the forces acting upon it tending to make it shake in its bearings. The vibration damper is successfully used on some cars, to reduce torsional vibration (twisting vibration) which causes shaft oscillation. The damper is like a door check, or a clutch which grips the shaft and holds down the oscillations. While most attention has been given to the crankshaft, the other parts that set up vibrations have not been forgotten, such as pistons, connecting rods, camshafts and even the timing gear train.

Lessening Vibration

The big increase in silent chain front end drives may be coupled with the desire to reduce vibration, though, of course, the basic reason is freedom from noise. The silent chain drive is a flexible one and does not allow a crankshaft vibration to be transmitted to the cam and accessory shafts as easily as a gear drive. There are almost as many engines using silent chain drive as gear drive, the figures being forty-six and forty-eight, respectively.

Changes designed to reduce the ill effects of oil dilution are many. The most promising for next year is the oil filter. Such a device takes the oil from the crankcase and cleans it before the oil gets into circulation in the engine. More filters will be seen. Perhaps some one will develop a constant-viscosity device so that the oil always will have the same thickness. That is really what is needed more than anything else to make engines last longer. Nearly all the wear of the engine bearings, cylinders, piston rings and pistons can be traced to improper oiling. The owner has little control over the condition; it is an engineering problem.

The best that the owner can do with most of the existing designs is to change the oil every 300 miles in winter, when oil dilution is greatest. When he does this he drains from the crankcase usually more liquid than he has put in, the additional quantity being made up of unburned gasoline and water. Most of the gasoline and water gets into the crankcase during the first ten minutes of running and it is during that short period starting from cold, that most of damaging wear takes place. In that period parts of the engine get no oil. Then, as the engine warms, the oil gets too thin.

The air cleaner is found as standard equipment on a number of cars, but, like a great many other features adding to the cost of the vehicle, it will be slow of adoption.

For some time the industry has been doing much work and also much talking about reducing engine knocking due to carbon. A few of the 1924 engines using ordinary fuel have no-knock properties, due to the design of the combustion chamber affecting better turbulence of the mixture. It has been shown that the knock is a result of a momentarily high pressure existing in the cylinder and this high pressure is brought about by the explosion of a poorly carbureted fuel. By so designing the combustion chamber and intake passages as to obtain a more uniform mixture just before firing takes place the knock disappears. One research corporation has developed tetra-ethyl lead, a liquid which when mixed in small quantities with gasoline makes a carbonized engine operate without a knock. In three States, at least, the motorist can obtain gasoline already mixed with this material from the gas vendor. It is called ethyl gas.

Engines are getting smaller in cubic capacity. There are too many large displacement power plans now, and the sooner manufacturers learn the value of smaller motors the sooner will their market expand. The idea that the higher engine speed means reduced life is not correct.

The engine speed and high power are there for use only when need, just as four-wheel brakes are used to the maximum braking ability only when the occasion arises. With the large displacement types there is never the acceleration found in the smaller, faster turning engines. The public will see some of the builders of highest priced cars coming into the small six class.

I believe it was two years ago that I mentioned the coming of improved lubricating systems using large volume, medium or low pressure to no-shim bearings. We have those engines now—many of them. When those engines come off the production line one can crank the engine easily nd with the pistons out can spin th crankshaft with a little finger. There are bearing clearances allowed, generaly .002 inch, but in some cases more, and no shims are used, so that there is an unbroken oil film in the bearing. The shaft floats on the oil, as it should.

In more instances is the crankshaf drilled through the webs to feed the connecting-rod lower bearings. This is as it should be. More designers should go a step further and oil the wrist-pin directly under pressure, which is done to too few of our engines. The maintenance of constant or nearly constant oil viscosity may solve the problem of engine lubrication, for as it is now the small drillings in the shaft must first take an oil of glue-like consistency and ten minutes later one as thin as water.

This year there are 67 per cent. L-head engines, against about 22 per cent. overhead-valve and some 6 per cent. sleeve valve. There is a great deal to be said on this question which has a bearing on the year's increase in L-head and on the possible future increase. The overhead valve engine designs, as a whole, give more power per inch of displacement and have not so pronounced a knocking tendency. In this form of engine the valve may generally be made large, and above all the designer can introduce a better combustion chamber design. However, the designers of L-head engines have adopted what is called the Ricardo form of chamber, and so the L-head goes up in power and economy and exhibits no-knock properties. It is impossible to say that one form of engine is without exception better than the other, but everything points toward the L-head getting the greatest development from now on.

Better Cooling Systems

Pump cooling has gained this year with a present following of close to 80 per cent. In many cases the cooling system has been improved by providing better jacketing around the valves and also by the installation of a thermostat.

It is almost universal practice to cast the cylinders in block, and in every car but one the cylinders are made of gray iron or a mixture somewhat similar. Nearly all makers finish the cylinder bores by grinding, other methods being reaming, rolling, lapping and the honing process.

The prevailing crankshaft material is carbo nsteel. The crankshafts are in many cases machined all over and better balanced than in former years. New forms of balancing machines have been introduced to make the work at the factory quicker and better. Connecting rods of aluminum alloy are used by some, and this is a noteworthy advance. The material is called duraluminu and has many advantages as a rod material, as it is light and strong and lends itself to forging. The average car uses a steel rod of I-beam section, in few cases machined all over.

The aluminum piston has gained, but not as much as expected. The matter of light weight is not so important a factor in the selection of such pistons as is the factor of quick heat dissipation. The iron pistons used, while much lighter in weight than formerly in order to reduce engine vibration, still lack the ability to transmit heat as fast as the aluminum alloy. In the latter piston nearly every example is of the small clearance type, using a slotted skirt and slots under the last ring groove, in addition to oil holes. In a few cases is a scraper ring used at the bottom. The average engine used three rings, some use four, while one make uses six very narrow ones.

Carbure tors have been improved in detail only, and with few exception the method of feeding the carburetor is from a vacuum tank. The Stewart tank is the prevailing one, though the oil-vac is used on more cars than last year. In the latter system the vacuum in an oil pump is used instead of the vacuum in the intake manifold, so that in the case of the oil-vac, if there is no oil in the pump, the engine will stop within a short distance and so prevent damage to the engine.

There are a good many more engines fitted with automatic and semi-automatic advance in the ignition unit. In one case no spark lever is provided.

Clutches have been greatly improved and new forms have come in. At best a clutch is a difficult unit to design, for it must do so many things and do them all well. There can be no half way. The clutch must slip when you want it to, it must not slip when not wanted, it must transmit the entire power and torque of the engine, it must engage smoothly and require little pedal pressure, and it must do these things without any great amount of attention. Everything considered, we have little clutch trouble in our cars, and it was hard to see how the types of last year could be improved. But that has been done by at least one maker of plate clutches. By the time this is printed there will be one car made with a cone clutch, but then only this make could afford to spend enough money to make a cone clutch work right all the time. In it the clutch is a reverse cone and runs in oil.

While nearly the entire industry uses one form of transmission, namely, a three-speed selective type with sliding gears, it does not follow that this design is going to remain. The industry takes things up generally one at a time and the transmission is next in order. The engine has received a lot of attention; so have bodies, then brakes and tires and the transmission is due now. In 1923 a maker introduced the Cambell type with constant mesh gears, engagement of different sets being effected by keys. In Europe there was introduced a new form of power transmitting device by Constantinesco, the inventor of the synchronizing device for firing between airplane propeller blades. There is no doubt about the coming of additional types of new transmissions so that gear shifting will be easy and noiseless.

Frames are generally heavier this year, and even where the same section is used as before there are more cross members. The idea of the rigid frame with many cross members is to prevent the frame from distorting too much and transmitting its twisting to the body. That, when it happens, makes the body become loose quickly, doors rattle and the body moves along the frame and loosens the bolts.

In the matter of axles, the semi-floating rear has a big gain, rising from something like 45 per cent. last year to nearly 60 per cent. this year. Only 15 per cent. of the chassis models use three-quarters floating axle and the remainder are floating. All cars except Ford use spiral-bevel rear axle gears. Front axles have been changed considerably, due to front brake installations. In one case the designer used a tubular axle, which is a form better able to withstanding the twisting stresses imposed upon this unit when front brakes are used. The front brake may bring about a return of the tubular axle, which was quite common many years ago.

Front brakes have also brought many changes in steering gears and steering layouts, but much more is to be done. Our cars steer easily enough, but many of them need too much steering adjustment. The wheel develops entirely too much play in too short a time, stretching and wear take place in the linkages and steering is never the same as when the car was new. The cam and lever steering gear used on seven makes of cars is gaining in favor, though more than sixty chassis use the worm and wheel type of gear. The screw and nut type is used on about twenty chassis.

There are all manner of disk wheel designs. Twenty-six makes of cars supply disk wheels either as standard or optional equipment, seventy-six use wood wheels only, and nine come equipped with wire wheels.

Lighter Cars Predicted

Car weights will come down. Only slight reductions in weight have been made; in some cases the weight has gone up. The weight will come down when manufacturers use more alloy steel or when they shorten the wheelbase and use the frame space more judiciously. Lighter weight and smaller cars must come and when they do there will follow great fuel economy, tires will last longer, the car will last longer and perform better. If a car with a 115 or 120 inch wheelbase can be made with a five-passenger body that gives all the room desired, why is it necessary to go to 125, 130 or 140 inches? If the engine is so large that it takes up too much room in the frame, then the engine ought to be changed. The smaller car is needed for easy handling in city streets, but is just as necessary for the small town and the country.

Manufacturers have as a whole done much to make the driver and passengers more comfortable. The shield cleaner was long coming, but it is here. Even the hand-operated type is better than none, but in a year or so the automatic type will be standard on nearly every make of car. Convenient dimming switches must come in. The best place for the switch seems to be on the steering wheel, so that the driver need not reach to the instrument board and so take his hand off the wheel. The lighting of an automobile stills needs a lot of study. In closed cars there ought to be brighter lamps in the interior. The courtesy lamp, parking lamp, backing lamp, and stop signal must be more widely adopted and there ought to be something done about standardization of these. As it is now, all manner of stop signals are in use. This equipment does much toward reducing the operating expense of the car. More manufacturers are providing locks for cars, nearly every closed car is provided with a rear view mirror, some have cigar lighters and some dash-type gasoline gauges.

Seventeen Million Automobiles in Use

Seventeen million automobiles—passenger cars and trucks—will be in operation in the world by the end of this year, according to a preliminary estimate made by M. H. Hoepli, acting chief of the automotive division, United States department of commerce.

The approximate number of cars and trucks in operation at the close of the calendar year 1922 was 14,500,000; the total world production this year is estimated at close to 4,500,000. From the total thus reached of 19,000,000 vehicles are deducted some 2,003,000 cars which are worn out and ready to be discarded or junked. The tremendous total of 17,000,000 passenger cars and trucks in operation in the entire world represent an increase of about 17 per cent. over the number in use a year ago.

RESPONSIBLE DEALERS GIVE BETTER SERVICE

Recognized Specialist In Tires Is An Expert In His Line—Gives Real Service

By GEORGE J. BURGER,
President, National Tire Dealers' Association.

Is the consumer of automobile tires and tubes aware of the fact that there is a recognized tire dealer practically at his doorstep? Perhaps not, yet it has been reported from time to time by the various manufacturers of tires that there are at least 60,000 recognized tire dealers or distributers, throughout the country—merchants who derive the major portion of their profit from the sale of automobile tires and tubes. In addition to these, it is stated that there are at least an additional 30,000 who handle, as a side line, these two very essential accessories to the automobile, making an estimated 90,000 dealers in automobile tires and tubes.

It is an admitted fact by the manufacturer that the tire dealer is his lowest cost of distribution for his product, which indirectly is a gain to the buying public, for, if the manufacturer were to market his product direct from the factory to the consumer the tremendous "overhead" that would be incurred would naturally have to be added to the price of the tire, thus making it more expensive. It would eventually mean the installation of factory branches in every city throughout the country, with an added "overhead" upon each individual tire and tube. This unnecessary expense is eliminated through the numerous recognized dealers handling the responsible manufacturer's product. In late years some manufacturers have maintained expensive factory branches in many large cities, but this practice is being discontinued and they are now establishing central warehouses, from which recognized tire dealers can draw their stock supplies. All this means the elimination of possibly two or three handling charges; and again the public saves.

Furthermore, the recognized tire dealer of to-day is a specialist in his line, and as the consuming public must look to the tire dealer to recommend responsible merchandise, it is up to the consuming public to deal with a thus lend encouragement to the recognized, responsible tire dealer, for no recognized tire dealer can afford to recommend anything but satisfactory merchandise if he expects to stay in business.

The tire dealer of 1924 is an entirely different type of man than the one of 1905. The tire dealer of to-day gives real service, such as mounting and regular inspection of his customers' tires; he is a tire specialist.

In view of this specific service that the recognized tire dealer gives to the consuming public, it behooves the consuming public to buy their automobile tires and tubes from these responsible, recognized dealers in tires. If the responsible tire merchant receives the proper appreciation and encouragement on the part of the consuming public, it is safe to say that the highest type of merchandise to give the most satisfactory results to the consuming public will be handled by responsible tire merchants during the year 1924 and in future years.

High Point In Auto Industry

To appreciate the position of the tire business, it must be understood that it is the most important branch of the rubber industry, which produces materials having a sales value of close to $1,000,000,000 annually. Latest available figures covering the activities of the tire and rubber industries are only complete up to the first nine months of 1923, but they make interesting reading.

Tire Sales 560,850,000.

On this basis the total sales value of tires and tire accessories shipped during 1923 by members giving their figures to the Rubber Association would be $560,850,000. As these figures represent 90 per cent. of the total, the value of the shipments of the tire industry should be in the neighbourhood of $623,166,000. On the same basis the value of all rubber products shipped this year should total $889,559,000, according to the Association figures, and $938,410,000 for the entire rubber industry.

If tire shipments for 1923 only represent a value of $560,850,000 they will be 5.3 per cent. above those of 1922 and 10.7 per cent. above those of 1921, as indicated by the Rubber Association report.

The rubber used during the first nine months of 1923 by the tire manufacturers totaled 175,984 tons, as against 207,203 tons for all of 1922 and 125,119 tons for 1921. All rubber manufacturers used a total of 217,701 tons from January 1 to September 30 last, compared with 254,183 tons in 1922 and 154,289 tons in 1921.

Announcing
Our Appointment as
GRAY-DORT
Dealers

We take real pride in announcing our selection to sell and service the new Gray-Dort line in this territory.

This is the most complete line of motor cars ever offered by one company.

Our new connection enables us to offer any man in this community just the car to best meet his needs.

The service standards set by Gray-Dort are unusually high. We intend to maintain them. Our service policy will aim to reduce the cost of your motoring.

We invite everyone interested in motor cars to come to our show rooms and see this remarkable line.

DEALER - PETERBORO, ONT.

Overland Touring $710

YOU hear it everywhere that the big new Overland is the most automobile in the world for the money. A bigger engine!—bigger power—silky action—in a car you're proud to own.

In no other car near the price will you find such deep luxurious comfort as in the well upholstered seats of an Overland, nor will you find the big-car riding ease of Triplex Springs (patented), nor an all steel body with long lasting baked enamel finish.

When it comes to real pleasure, nobody gets more out of an automobile than Overland owners. Overland is at once a joy and a saving in gasoline, oil, tires and upkeep from the first day you own it, on and on through a long, long life of faithful service.

Other Overland models: Roadster $710, Champion $945. Sedan $1,125. All prices f.o.b. Toronto. Taxes extra.

Ontario Motor League Notable For Services To Automobile Owners

One of Largest, Strongest and Most Influential Organizations of Motorists In the World—Has International Affiliations

PETERBORO BRANCH.

Few motorists in the Province do not know, in a general way, what the Ontario Motor League is and what it has done, is doing, and plans to do. But probably very few know that it is one of the largest, strongest and most influential organizations of motorists in the world. Certain personal advantages of membership, as well as some of the important aims and achievements, are herewith outlined.

The League is composed of affiliated automobile clubs having their headquarters in the leading cities and towns of the Province, and of direct active members. The Peterborough branch is situated in the Chamber of Commerce. It has been incorporated under the laws of Ontario, and its affairs are administered by a board of directors representing all parts of the Province, elected at the annual general meeting.

Achievements.

Automobile license exchange between Ontario and most of the States in the American Union, whereby international touring has been greatly facilitated, was the direct result of the persistent campaign carried on for years by the Ontario Motor League. This work of the League is saving you the dollars you would otherwise pay to secure an automobile license for the State in which you desired to travel.

The 30-day touring permit now given by the United States Customs is also due to the efforts of the League.

The League, through representation to the Dominion Government, was instrumental in obtaining the provision of severe penalties (a minimum of one year's imprisonment) in cases of automobile stealing.

A few years back, every city, town and village wanted a different speed limit, some six miles per hour, some eight miles per hour, and so on. This would have resulted in many motorists, strangers to and therefore unfamiliar with the speed limits of the municipalities through which they were travelling, being fined for speeding. To correct this condition, the Ontario Motor League requested the Government to pass a law that would make the speed limit standard in every city, town and village of the Province. The League was successful in having this law passed, and in every municipality of the Province the speed limit is standardized at 20 miles per hour, with a limit of 25 miles per hour in the country.

The League is constantly on guard to protect the rights of motorists by securing the enactment of reasonable legislation governing the operation of motor vehicles and defeating schemes brought forward from time to time which are prejudicial to the interests of automobile owners.

Legal Defence.

Legal defence for Ontario Motor League members in Toronto covers matters arising out of the ownership and operation of the motor vehicle described in the certificate of the member, who must be resident in Toronto or vicinity.

The League will pay the fees of the League's solicitor and counsel in defence of any civil proceedings brought against the member in any court of this Province where the amount claimed from the member does not exceed five hundred dollars. It will pay the fees of the League's solicitor and counsel in the defence of any member charged before any court of this Province with a violation of any by-law or statute regulating the operation of motor vehicles.

Where the operation of the member's motor vehicle has unfortunately caused the death of any person, the League's counsel will represent the member before any inquest.

The League will make necessary investigation of the circumstances under which the alleged claim or violation occurred and where advisable will try to secure a settlement of civil claims arising out of the operation of the motor vehicle.

No defence will be undertaken of any claim or proceeding where the motor vehicle was in charge of an intoxicated person.

No defence will be undertaken of any proceedings where it is the duty of the unsurance company to defend the member because the motor vehicle is insured against the event out of which the claim arises.

No defence will be undertaken of any claim or proceeding in any other case where the defence will be contrary to public policy.

Roadside Service.

The Toronto branch of the League undertakes to give emergency road service anywhere in the city of Toronto or in York County, south of the road running east and west through Thornhill and Concord. This means approximately anywhere within a radius of twelve miles from the head office of the Ontario Motor League at the corner of Yonge and Adelaide Streets.

This service is available twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week.

Should a member's car become disabled from any cause while on the road, the League will undertake, where practicable, either to get the car started or to tow the car to the nearest responsible public garage, or to the League's official garage. The car may be taken to the member's own garage if the member prefers, provided such garage is not further distant than the League's official garage.

If the member's car has been so damaged that it cannot be towed in on four wheels, the car will either be raised and towed in on two wheels, or lifted entirely and loaded on the service truck.

If a member's car has become stalled on the road with an empty gas tank, a supply of gasoline will be taken to the member. The member pays for the gasoline at the prevailing retail price. For the service no charge is made.

Tires will be changed for lady members on streets within the city limits, free of charge.

The League had not entered the automobile repair business, or the business of selling automobile supplies. The service to be given is confined strictly to "emergencies" which may arise when a member's car is "on the road." The League does not undertake to give service when a member's car is in the member's garage or in any other garage.

Some of the points included within the Toronto zone of emergency road service are:—

Mimico, New Toronto, Long Branch, Islington, Lambton Mills, Summerville, Weston, Thistledown, Woodbridge, Downsview, Concord, Lansing, Newtonbrook, Thornhill, Agincourt, Milliken, Armadale, Malvern, Brown's Corners, Birch Cliff, Scarboro; West Hill, Port Union, Highland Creek.

It is anticipated that the principal affiliated clubs throughout the Province will shortly initiate emergency road service in their respective districts and through the co-operation League's connection with the leading automobile clubs in the United States, arrangements will be made for a similar exchange of service, so that members on tour in the States may have the benefit of free emergency road service.

General Activities.

Service to its members is afforded by the League in numerous ways. Chauffeurs' employment department is maintained to provide members with capable and reliable drivers. A motor truck section has been established to foster the development of road transport and protect the interests of owners and users of commercial vehicles. Complaints of reckless driving are investigated and letters written to the owners of cars concerned Assistance is given members in recovering stolen cars. Members are encouraged to seek advice and information from the League on any subject relating to the use of motor vehicles.

Among the important reforms which the League is now advocating are, the carrying of lights at night by all classes of vehicles, the abolition of the fee system of paying constables and magistrates in automobile cases, the regulation of pedestrian traffic in cities and improvement of hotel accommodation.

Signs which have been put up by the League must be maintained and thousands of new signs will have to be erected before the roads of this Province may be regarded as adequately sign-boarded. The work is carried on steadily throughout the year by the League, with the co-operation of its affiliated clubs, which by reason of their special knowledge of local raod conditions are able to place the signs to the best advantage. This affords a Province wide service.

Membership.

The annual membership fee, with a year's subscription to the League's official publication, is fixed at five dollars. The League's monthly magazine, Canadian Motorist, has a circulation thousands greater than the combined circulations of all other Canadian magazines pertaining to motoring. All articles carried by Canadian Motorist are of great interest to automobile owners, and readers are kept informed of important developments in the motor world.

Each member is supplied with an ornamental badge for display on his car. This badge is invaluable in that it identifies the owner of the car carrying it, wherever he may go, as a member of the representative motorists' organization of the Province of Ontario.

EMERGENCY LIGHT

An emergency headlight can be rigged up with the use of the trouble lamp. The trouble-cord lamp socket is removed, and the wires attached to the headlight plug, replacing the usual wires. The cord is then run from the dash-lamp socket to one of the headlights.

ONE POINT TO REMEMBER

When making an improvised covering for the gas tank filler pipe to take the place of a lost cap be sure to allow some opening for air, otherwise the vacuum feed system will not operate.

GREATER DEMAND THIS YEAR THAN EVER FOR AUTOMOBILES AT MODERATE PRICES

In United States Nearly Every Other Family Owns a Car—Seventy Per Cent. Are In Class Costing Less Than $1,000.

By CHARLES CLIFTON,
President, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, New York.

With practically 14,500,000 cars and trucks on our highways at the beginning of 1924, we find ourselves a nation with practically every other family owning an automobile, and with every one familiar with motor travel. The major problem of the year is not how many cars are going to be produced, but how well we are going to make use of the motor transportation which we have.

American factories turned out four million cars last year, and millions will also be manufactured in the coming twelve months. The significant thing from the public standpoint is that, although there is a strong demand for cars in all price groups, the great number of units are of the light vehicle type selling for under $1,000. More than 70 per cent. are in this class, and probably in the coming year the proportion will be greater.

That the automobile is one of the productive forces in national life is is being more clearly illustrated every year. Increasingly we find business houses, such as the great packing industries, using large fleets of cars for their salesmen, superintendents and other executives. Wherever time-saving is a factor the investment for motor transportation is proving an economical expenditure.

Helps Suburbanites.

People are tiring of the clatter, stress and strain of city life and are moving into the suburbs. The car is the real estate insurance of the suburban home. It guarantees the value of that home, which would be little without adequate transportation. On Long Island, a suburban section of New York, the building of new homes has increased sevenfold per year in the past five years, while motor vehicle registration has increased four times.

The farmer, particularly the young graduate of agricultural schools, is interested in quick individual transportation between farm and town. About 4,250,000 motor vehicles are now owned in rural sections.

Only this highly creative aspect of motor transportation would permit the existing widespread use of cars and trucks in its present degree, but perhaps the most fundamental appeal in motor transportation is the fact that it satisfies the travel impulse of a pioneer people.

The year 1924 will be one of motor transport progress, not alone in the more efficient and safe management of highway traffic, but also in the economic advantages and conveniences which motor vehicles afford.

Durant Sport Touring

Star Special Touring

The Durant

Best car you can buy for the money. No matter how fast you speed, it is always under control. Has a velvet-like riding quality rarely found in a car of its size.

Durant models—Touring, Sedan, Coupe, Roadster—are appealing in body design, exterior and interior finish, and give dependable service at moderate maintenance expense.

The Star

Stands up under abnormal strain and pressure. Holds notable non-stop records of 1,000 miles in 35 hours and 39 minutes under bad road conditions.

Popularly known as "the little gas and oil miser." Incorporates all desirable features, equipment and appointments of more expensive cars.

Is growing in popularity every day.

All Durant and Star Models are equipped with the celebrated Tubular Backbone which enhances their long wearing and easy riding Qualities.

POLICE TRY TO SOLVE CAR PARKING PROBLEM IN THRONGED STREETS

New York Chief of Police Receives Hints From Taxi Chauffeurs—Drastic Action Likely to Free Manhattan's Streets of Needless Congestion — A Close Up of Troubles Across the Border.

MUST BE STUDIED.

By JEFFERSON G. BELL.

Parking spaces in the air and underground are among the proposals under consideration for solution of the parking problem in New York City, and particularly in the Borough of Manhattan. The idea of subterranean garages under some of the parks for the parking of automobile and of parking spaces on the roofs of buildings originated in the Police Department of New York City. Still another expedient under consideration is the parking hotel—preferably a five-storey building for parking automobiles at nominal rates day or night, but lacking the usual features of a garage.

Not only have the police set themselves to the task of developing a parking system that will meet the needs of every type of automobile owner, but they are being aided with many practical suggestions by various motor interests.

"Some of the most practicable suggestions come to us from taxicab chauffeurs and truck drivers," said Inspector William T. Davis, head of the Traffic Division of the Police Department. "They are called into conference with us because you can sit down a couple of hours with a truckman and learn more about the traffic situation, particularly from the viewpoint of those who are crippled most by congestion, than you can glean in a week from the great host of theories.

"Parking and traffic congestion cannot be worked out solely on theory, and that's why the Police Department welcomes every opportunity for a conference with experienced truck drivers and chauffeurs of passenger cars because they are full of ideas that are worth while."

Drastic proposals have been advanced by Inspector Davis and his chief, Dr. John A. Harriss, Special Deputy Police Commissioner in charge of traffic, whose solution of the electric signal system on Fifth Avenue has been copied or adopted in modified form in many other cities.

The most radical step advocated is to bar passenger cars from certain commercial sections in the same way that model trucks are barred from certain streets and avenues in the shopping centres. Dr. Harriss is author of the proposals to park automobiles in subterranean garages and on the roofs of broad and low buildings and the parking hotel.

There are at present in the Borough of Manhattan twenty-four public parking spaces, set aside by the police, where automobiles may be left without charge by their owners for a reasonable time, their combined capacity is 1,380 automobiles. Apparently, the public is unaware of their existence, because few are utilized to capacity.

Under the law, the automobile owner or driver has no option but to avail himself of these parking spaces, but he has failed to do so up to the present time. Probably few owners know that they violate the law every time they leave their cars standing in the streets of New York City.

Any motorist who leaves his car unattended at the curb may find out what his status is by reading Section 152, Chapter 23, Article 13 of the Code of Ordinances. It specifically says that "vehicles must not be left in the street." The ordinance was written before the streets were cluttered up with motor cars, according to Inspector Davis, and a modification has never been made so that the section would be applicable to conditions of the present day.

"According to the strict letter of the law," explained Inspector Davis, "we could seize every automobile left standing at the curb longer than ten minutes, impound it and hold it until the owner paid $10 for the release of the motor car. I'm not advocating that the old ordinance be enforced with such rigidity. The police are reasonable men, and take into consideration every possible condition which must govern the parking of automobiles.

"We have no complaint to make of the man who parks his car, when he does not obstruct traffic, for a reasonable time while he transacts his business, but we do object to men driving their cars in front of their places of business and parking them there for more than three hours or for the whole day, thus converting the city's streets into public garages.

"For those who must travel to and from business by automobile we have set aside certain streets and open spaces for parking purposes. In addition to the municipal parking spaces there are a number of private parking enclosures. There is a private parking place on West Thirtieth Street, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues, and the cost of parking there is only 10 cents an hour or 50 cents a day.

"The police are not trying to advertise private parking enterprises. But it is significant that this place is never filled to capacity, although Thirty-second, Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth Streets are choked with vehicles.

"Motor cars are parked, especially during holidays, two abreast on each side of Thirty-fourth Street. Often an automobile next to the curb is marooned for a long time because drivers of the cars on the outside leave their cars and the inside automobile has to wait until they return and move their cars.

"Not only do the owners parking in double rows suffer long delays and other inconveniences, but also damage to their automobiles from collisions, which are not always avoidable in such congestion. Yet they choose to encounter difficulties of that kind rather than park their cars for a nominal fee in a private parking space or send their cars several blocks away to a parking space set aside by the Police Department.

"It was long ago found advisable to bar trucks from Fifth Avenue and other streets except to make delivery. In the commercial and financial districts the point of saturation was reached years ago as regards the number of passenger car that could be handled conveniently. The time now has come, in my opinion, when the passenger cars must be barred from the commercial districts just as trucks were barred from certain thoroughfares in the business districts.

"I hope in the near future that we will have regulations barring passenger cars, say, from Canal to Cortlandt Street and from Broadway to the North River. It might be advisable to keep them entirely out of the section south of Canal Street, allowing passenger cars access to that section only by way of West and Front Streets.

"Any plan to bar automobiles from the district south of Canal Street would have to include connection with the ferries at the Battery. Automobiles bound for South Ferry would be permitted to go through if such a plan were developed. In making this proposal, I appreciate that there will be a loud protest. But that's just what we want. The more we get people to think of traffic conditions the sooner are we likely to work out some solution.

"Cars carrying passengers to and from the financial and commercial districts could be provided with parking spaces on Front and West Streets and in some of the side streets. At present many of them are parked in front of the business establishments of the owners, and trucks making deliveries at those places are practically shut out."

Inspector Davis said that the question of parking in connection with the whole traffic problem, was one that eventually would have to be worked out by a permanent organization along the most comprehensive lines. He pointed out that in England, where automobiles are few as compared with the number in the United States, and where traffic congestion is not nearly so great, a thorough study of the traffic situation in London had been assigned as the work of a representative commission, including some of the greatest authorities of the British metropolis.

"We ought to go at this problem in America in a serious way, as the British have done," said Inspector Davis. "We must not stop until we have found a way out. For regard it however you will, traffic regulates the business and the very life of a city."

The man who deliberately blocks traffic by parking his automobile at a point of congestion should have his license revoked, according to Inspector Davis, who explained that he did not wish to seem harsh, but that radical steps must be taken to keep traffic free from inextricable tangles.

The suggestion for a parking space atop the Pennsylvania Station has been laid before officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company by the Police Department. In support of that proposal the testing track on top of the Fiat factory in Italy is cited to show that such a scheme is not only practicable but actually in operation.

The track on the roof of the Italian automobile factory is reached by a ramp because the factory is a low building. It is argued that the Pennsylvania Station is only a five-story building, and that a parking space on top of it would readily be accessible by means of a ramp.

GEAR SHIFTING

In shifting from a car of one type of gear shift to that of another the motorist is sometimes puzzled for a few days until he gets into the habit of doing it the new way automatically. To prevent any hesitation in traffic while "puzzling it out" why not mark the four positions on the corners of a six-by-six piece of cardboard, cut a hole in the center, slip it over the gear shift and tack the corners to the floor.

Dobbin Abdicates In Favor of Auto

People of all generations are intensely interested in any means of transportation they can personally own and master. Years ago it was the horse. Prize Dobbins competed at the horse show and were admired in stalls and applauded on the race-track at county fairs. Other exhibits there were, but the horse furnished the Big Thrill.

We still have horse shows and county fairs. But the auto has eclipsed the horse.

The auto show is to our generation what the exhibition of horses was to the past. The auto is a necessity. We couldn't get along without it. It has brought convenience, fresh outdoor air, and placed the world of travel at the door of the owner.

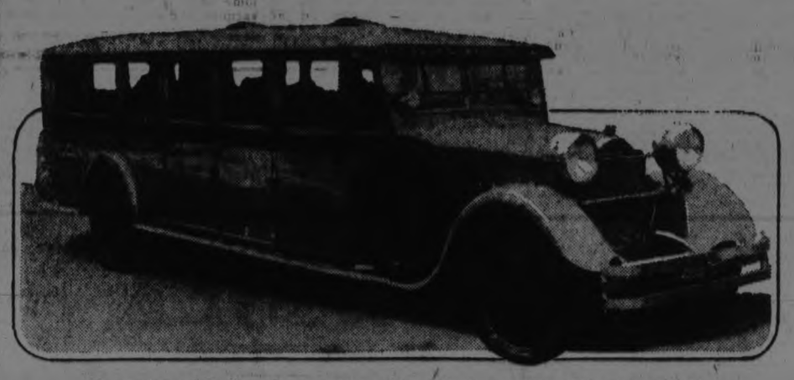
BUS TRANSPORTATION SHOWS RAPID EXPANSION



Latest type of De Luxe Bus : extremely low, affording greater safety and comfort.

Recognition of the motor bus as a permanent factor in transportation has been made clear by the enactment of regulations relating to busses as common carriers; such legislation was passed in six of the Union states during 1923.

The tremendous growth of travel by bus is shown by 1923 figures in every case where reports have been received. New bus lines have been established in large numbers, routes have been extended and fleets have been increased. More than 40,000 lines are now operated in the United States by bus and railway companies.

Yet with all this rapid expansion of the bus field, the position of the electric railways in general greatly improved during the past year. All records for passengers carried by the tractions were broken. Thus it is shown that busses have by no means "ruined" the business of the electric carriers, but on the contrary have served as auxiliary and supplementary units, often creating new traffic by their service as feeders. The proof of bus usefulness in this connection is demonstrated by the fact that more than 100 electric lines own and operate approximately 1,000 busses.

As the bus more firmly establishes itself as an essential factor in unified transportation, improvements are being made constantly in its design, as illustrated in the latest type of de luxe bus shown here. It is extremely low and includes every perfected feature of the most modern coach equipment.

OLD TIN CAN IS USEFUL IN AUTO TO FIND KNOCKS.

An old baking powder can and a piece of three-sixteenth-inch cold rolled steel or drill rod, says Automobile Digest, will make an excellent knock detector. The device is constructed by threading the rod at one end for about one inch and then a hole to receive the rod is drilled in the centre of the bottom of the can. Thread a nut onto the rod and then place a washer against the nut, insert the rod into the hole in the can and fasten into position with another washer and nut. Finally solder the lid of the can in position and the device is completed. Holding the can against the ear and the rod against the engine will permit locating the knock.

GAS SUPPLY

The speedometer is a very valuable piece of equipment, but don't depend upon speedometer reading to tell you when the gas supply needs replenishing. Mileage is not the only indication of gas consumption. All the "miles" the engine idles are never recorded, nor the leaks in the carburetor, tank or gas lines. Also there is evaporation to be considered. Don't even trust the gas tank gauge when you want to know about the gas supply. See that it's working properly, and look into the tank through the filler pipe when possible.

A clogged radiator will have the same effect as a clogged jacket.

RIGHT SIDE TIRES WEAR OUT QUICKER

The fact that automobile tires on the right side of the car wear out more quickly than those on the left side is one which many motorists are unable to explain.

A popular misconception is that turning corners more frequently to the right than to the left is responsible for this wear. Such, however, is not the case.

The reason that tires on the right side wear more quickly is that they carry a greater load than their brothers on the left. The natural slope of the street or road causes more of the load to rest upon the right side of the car.

In addition the natural tendency of the car to slide sideways because of the road slope must be counteracted and the strain is borne by the right hand tires more than by those on the left.

CAR HEATERS

If the heater is turned "on" before leaving the car at night, the machine will warm up much quicker in the morning, since the driver will not find himself running the engine 10 minutes or so before thinking to turn on the heater. The heater is frequently turned off, or at least part way off, after the car has been run for some time and that is the way it is usually left at night. Just a second consumed in turning it on when switching off the lights will make the morning ride a bit more comfortable.

PETERBORO HAS MANY PROBLEMS IN CAR PARKING

Every City and Town Has Its Difficulties and Even Highways Are Congested

SOME SUGGESTIONS.

Probably no question has caused city councils and other bodies interested in general welfare more trouble than the parking problem. In Peterboro', as in every city where the automobile has claimed the streets as its own, parking has come to be a matter which demands the best attention if the thoroughfares are to remain open to traffic.

The parking problem is not a problem peculiar to the great cities. Every city, town, village and hamlet within reach of the automobile is fast coming to realize that it, too, has a parking problem which sooner or later must be met squarely and solved in an intelligent manner.

It is whispered about in a few select circles that the public highways are also coming to be afflicted in a mild way with this universal parking malady.

In the general preliminary studies, or, better, discussions of the parking problems have resulted in convincing those taking sides in the argument that there is a problem to be solved. However, the participants are not yet convinced but that prolonged argument will bring about some happy solution which will cause this complex human problem to vanish overnight.

In brief, all the good old home remedies have not yet been tried out, in advance of calling in the doctor.

In the study and alalysis of any problem, a failure to recognize and set forth in their proper place those simple and to everyone obnoxious conditions which give rise to the problem oftimes leads the student far afield, and he is prone to become confused in a largon of coined words and high-sounding phrases.

The units employed in mass transportation ordinarily allot from three to four square feet to the person. Individual transportation requires about 75 square feet per person. The former are in continual operation, and the latter one-twelfth of the time. The law of the "survival" of the fittest has at all times applied to the file dof transportation. Personal convenience, comfort and independence have been and are the standards by which such units are measured in the public eye. The public has to-day measured the automobile as a transportation means by these standards and pronounced it good.

It is beside the point to argue that such individual transportation is far more expensive than mass transportation. As well argue that it is more expensive to wear shoes than to go barefooted. The fact remains that the public has taken to the automobile like a duck to water and no one ever thinks of going barefooted in these high-powered days.

The distribution of automobiles varies as the distribution of population. It therefore follows that the parking problem varies directly as centralization of population, business and recreational facilities.

Solutions Offered

There are three outstanding solutions of the parking problem: The restricting of the use of the automobile as an individual unit of transportation is an obvious solution and can be accomplished through imposing such a tax upon its ownership, or operation, or both, as to make its use prohibitive.

Decentralization of poplulation and business and places of recreation is a second solution which is slowly but surely being carried out at present in the face of and in spite of human interference.

A third and apparently simple solution would be that of providing ample parking facilities through and adjacent to existing business centers. This last solution requires individual as well as co-operative effort, and will secure attention only when a solution of the parking problem becomes a matter of self-preservation.

Copper Is Widely Used In Manufacture of Car.

In the annual survey of the automotive industries, Copper and Brass Research Association places the total 1923 consumption of copper in cars, trucks and accessories at 170,000,000 pounds. This is an increase of 61,720,000 pounds compared with 1922, and 90,000,000 over 1921.

The copper content of the car or truck varies all the way from 18 to 750 pounds. The consumption indicated includse not only the amount of metal carried by the finished stock car, but also the copper used in repair parts, replacements, special body work, accessories and in the increasing number of closed body models.

SPEEDING UP

When accelerator pedals are adjustable it is an excellent idea to cut down the range of throttle opening, handling the higher speed with the hand control. The reason for this is to prevent stalling the engine by feeding it too much gas in an emergency. When a driver finds that he has got to get out of the way of something post haste he invariably steps on the accelerator and invariably defeats his own purpose by giving the engine too much gas. Find the maximum amount of gas your car will take in one dose and then set the accelerator accordingly. When you want to drive faster use the hand control, if necessary.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN

Mr. Andrew Brown reports more sales of new cars in the last month than in any previous season for several years back, during the same period.

RIM LOGIC.

To properly replace a rim after the tire has been changed do not tighten lug fully before going to the next. The correct way is to tighten one lug a little then the opposite a little, and so on until they are all snugly in place. If each lug or turn is tightened all the way, the rim is likely to go on a little askew, and this causes squeaks and general looseness, perhaps to the extent of the rim working off.

ACCIDENTS MAY BE REDUCED BY PUBLIC EFFORT

Commissioner of Public Safety Bureau In World's Most Crowded Automobile City Believes in Education—Teach the School Children.

STARTLING FACTS.

By BARRON COLLIER,
Special Deputy Commissioner, Bureau of Public Safety, Department of Police, New York.

Can accidents be reduced in a large city by organized public effort?

"Yes," I answer emphatically, basing this assertion on something more than a year's experience as head of the Bureau of Safety of the New York City Department of Police.

Thanks largely to the earnest efforts of the forty regularly attached bureau workers and some 40,000 part-time volunteers, effective accident prevention work has been done by the bureau during the last year. It appears likely that the 1923 accident total for persons of all ages will be less than that of 1922. Hence the bureau, which has been directing its attention chiefly to preventing accidents among persons under 16 years of age, believes that its efforts are being well rewarded.

It was in October, 1922, that Richard E. Enright, Commissioner of Police, created the Bureau of Public Safety. Preliminary organization work required several weeks, and the bureau really did not get under way until early in November. In the beginning the bureau consisted only f Marcuso A. Dow, Executive Secretary, formerly President of the National Safety Council, a small office force and myself. The accident prevention field was virgin, for the department never before had done any organized safety work. Commissioner Enright told us that both our field and his support of our work were unlimited, and with this assurance we started.

To-day the bureau has not only the continued support of Commissioner Enright, but also half a hundred loyal members of the department who devote their whole time to accident prevention, and public and parochial school teachers and officials, numerous civic and business organizations, numerous owners of trucks and taxicab fleets and thousands of private citizens. The cost of the work is infinitesimal. In very great measure it is voluntary, and the enthusiasm behind the effort probably is traceable to this fact.

The bureau started to work on this plan: First, to ascertain the principal causes of accidents; second, to show how to remove the causes; and finally, to instruct and not harangue the people into accident prevention.

To arrive at causes, all accidents are charted under specific "reasons why," The locations of all accidents by police and school districts also are shown. Monthly statements containing these facts are made available to the bureau members, sent to the Board of Education and transmitted to each one of the 632 public schools and the parochial schools in the city. School teachers are furnished with information on this monthly statement, which enables them to give intelligent instruction to school children and impress them with the danger of certain clearly defined practices.

This monthly report shows that crossing streets elsewhere than at crossings (jay-walking) is the most prolific of all street accident causes among pedestrians and children. Other important causes are stealing rides on vehicles, playing games in the roadway, roller skating in the roadway, running into the street from sidewalk, coasting, and boarding or or alighting from cars.

Street Accident Causes.

The following table shows the most important causes of street accidents in Greater New York during the first eleven months of last year:

Vehicle.	Killed.	Injrd.
Crossing streets not at crossings	298	7,060
Crossing streets at crossings	139	4,702
Struck by vehicles turning corners	3	112
Stepping from behind street car in path of vehicle	2	99
Stealing rides on vehicles	15	399
Coasting on sleds, etc.	4	188
Roller skating in roadway	9	164
Bicycle riding	13	631
Playing games in the roadway	51	1,878
Collisions of vehicles	54	5,914
Running off sidewalk into street	4	58
Jumping on or off vehicles in motion	—	9
Other causes	1	17
Non-Vehicle:
Touching live electric wires	1	8
Falling into manholes, cellarways, etc.	3	178
Falling from fire escapes, windows, etc.	8	80
Climbing trees, poles, fences, etc.	—	3
While at play	—	13
Other causes	—	7

Fourteen lieutenants are devoting their entire time to safety work in the various inspection districts through out the city. They receive instructions and training fitting them to become experts in the field of safety endeavor. This training enables them to instruct patrolmen as to the proper way to investigate and report accidents. By their personal contact with patrolmen, the entire force is kept interested. The 6,000 men on patrol duty are encouraged to correct, by verbal admonition, reckless and careless practices of both pedestrians and drivers.

Good Work in School.

The bureau believes that its work in the schools has been as effective perhaps as anything it has done. The children accept instruction in accident prevention readily and also show a whole-hearted spirit of co-operation. Inquiry quickly developed that most accidents to children occurred between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, or at the time when school is being dismissed. Therefore, the bureau set out to prevent accidents at this hour. Children are instructed thoroughly by lectures from members of the bureau, their teachers and others who appeared in classrooms as to the outstanding rules of safety.

Motion-picture theatre owners have been helpful in spreading the safety message. Recently the owners of 517 motion-picture houses throughout the city invited the bureau to assign a uniformed officer of the Police Department to each of their theatres to deliver a four-minute safety speech as a part of the regular theatre programme. The impression that these uniformed patrolmen made upon their audiences was remarkable. Hundreds of persons volunteered congratulations to the officers, and scores wrote letters of commendation to the bureau. The speech epitomizes well five cardinal principles of accident prevention. They are:

Stop jay-walking. Jay-walking is crossing streets carelessly. Cross only at regular crossing, not in the middle of the block. Go straight across, not diagonally. Look both ways.

When you are driving a car, be ready to stop instantly. You can't if you are driving carelessly—or too rapidly. You can't unless your brakes are kept in good order.

Teach your children that the roadway is dangerous; that sidewalks, play streets, play grounds are the only safe places to play. Remember that you are primarily responsible for the safety of your child.

You, children—don't run into the street after a ball, or steal a ride on an auto or trolley car. Hundreds of little folks are killed doing just such things. Play only in safe places. Ask dad, or mother, or the policeman on your block. They want you to play and be happy. But they want you to be safe while you are doing it.

Every person in New York should study the safety warnings which the Bureau of Public Safety issues each year. They are prepared for your protection. They are written by men who are constantly watching, constantly studying accidents in New York.

Do these five things, and you will destroy carelessness and make New York City the best and safest city in the world.

The Boy Scouts have aided in the distribution of safety material. They recently distributed 20,000 safety pledges and had them signed without difficulty.

By first separating the carbon from other substances, lumps of sugar may be converted into small diamonds.

Oldest Auto Driver Is Over a Hundred

The oldest automobile driver has been found. He is William Hoover of Portland, Oregon. This spring he celebrated his one hundredth birthday, but his great age has not stopped him piloting his grandson's car occasionally. He had reached his three score and ten before the automobile loomed up as a serious factor in transport, and for the greater part of the time since then he has sat behind the wheel.

NEEDS SKILL TO AVOID ACCIDENT

Amateur Drivers Are Often In Trouble—Little Advice Well Remembered May Save Smash-up.

Although the best teacher is admittedly experience, there are many hints which will help the novice at driving a motorcar. Just what to do in a tight place sometimes proves a question which the inexperienced driver cannot answer quickly enough. To such a few hints may be welcome.

It usually takes some little time before you can call yourself a good driver, and it takes considerable practice. It takes quite a long time, however, to find out everything if your only teacher is "experience." You will probably agree that if, for instance, you wished to learn how to golf, you would learn much more if you had a professional golfer show you how to hold your clubs and make the various shots. The professional has found by closely studying the game the best way to play it, and he can show you more in a few hours than you could learn in probably several months without his assistance.

One of the first things you want to cultivate is how to judge distance. Say you are driving down a narrow, steep hill, where there is barely room enough for two cars to pass. You put your foot on the brake pedal and suddenly find out that the brakes will not act properly. What is the best thing to do to safely pass the car that is coming up the hill toward you.

First, do not try to take both sides of the road and the approaching car at the same time. Your eyes cannot be in both places at the one time. Just keep as cool as you can and fix your eye on the side of the car approaching you, and steer so that the mudguards of your car just miss the guards of the other car. If you glance first to one side, then to the other, you are liable to misjudge the amount of space you have, and either run into the car or into the side of the road.

Many smashups have occurred because the driver became confused when he tried to look at both sides at the one time. Steer as close to the side of the car approaching as you can, then if there is room, you will pass safely. This same idea should be followed when driving in traffic. Keep your eye principally on the car on your left, and you will not scratch or smash your mudguards as often as you will if you try to drive in narrow places by watching both sides at once.

TANK AIR VENT

The cap of the gasoline tank filler has in it a small hole—if the gasoline system is of the gravity feed type. This is to allow air to enter the tank so that the gasoline flowing out will not leave a vacuum, which will finally become so strong as to stop the flow of gasoline to the carburettor. When gasoline fails to reach the carburettor at any time, make sure that this vent is open before looking for stoppage.

ANTI-KNOCK FUEL IS BEING TESTED

Experiments Are Said to Have Proved Possibilities In New Venture — Plans to Market It Extensively.

DETROIT Mich., April 22.—Another fuel is expected soon on the market to compete with the ethyl gas now being sold at filling stations in various parts of the country.

It is the gas derived from the hydro-generation process perfected by Dr. A. F. Ramage, by which low grade fuel oils may be converted into motor spirit.

Similar claims are made for this fuel as are made for the ethyl gas—prevention of carbonization and knocking in the engine.

But producers of the new fuel expect to go even farther with it. Experimental engines with 155 pounds per square inch compression, twice as high as those in popular use, have been built and are already being tried out in this city with the Ramage gas as fuel.

Already the experimenters report no knock under this high compression, and at the same time higher power and far better pickup with this fuel.

High compression engines manufactured for dirigible use, and formerly using alcohol as fuel are being tested with the Ramage fuel. Alcohol is said to lack the required heat value, to be expensive and have the fault of absorbing moisture. The new fuel has met these objections satisfactorily, and has also greatly increased the range of the engines on a given fuel supply and raised their efficiency at high altitudes.

Plans are already under way for extensive marketing of the new fuel. Toledo, O., and Detroit are to be the pioneer markets.

Two Traffic Tricks It Pays to Remember.

Watch out for the street car switches when driving in the car tracks and abreast of those MM tracks and abreast of other machines. The front wheels may follow the curve of the switch and swing the front of the car into the machine beside it.

In an emergency where the quickest possible stop means everything don't be afraid to shift to reverse after locking the wheels with the brakes. It is true that a car cannot be shifted to reverse while it is rolling forward, but when it is sliding the rear wheels are not revolving and shifting to reverse is as easy as though the car were standing still. But let in the clutch before releasing the brakes. The wheels will then tend to pull the car backwards.

Press the foot button which connects the starting motor all the way down—never in a half-hearted manner. Insufficient pressure will not only damage the contacts of the starting switch, but sometimes injuries the starting motor.

HUDSON

SUPER SIX

HAVE you seen the new type Hudson Sedan, five and seven passenger? Remember, Hudson created the Sedan type car, and this model is proclaimed by all who know it, to be the finest and most substantial sedan body produced.

The Hudson Coach is really a cheaper sedan, has the same engine and chassis, and all the wonderful pep and ease of driving peculiar to all Hudson models.

Hudson Seven Passenger Touring Car is the roomiest of all seven passenger cars up to 126 wheelbase.

Hudson Speedster is intended for style, pep and speed, and must be driven to be appreciated.

With the Hudson improved chassis and new carburetor it is economical and makes a new record in car values.

ESSEX

CARS

Have you noted what experts, here and abroad say of the New Essex Six? Thousands of owners say the same fine things about it. And, greatest endorsement of all, 2500 new buyers every week breaks all records for closed car sales in the coach price class.

We quote briefly from the enthusiastic praise that the New Essex has earned from world-famous motor authorities:

"Hudson has produced a super Essex . . . It looks like the proverbial knockout."....From Automobile Topics.

"The New Essex is a revelation of performance, ease of riding and of smoothness."....From Motor Age.

"The New Essex six-cylinder can be put down as a real delight to drive."....From MOTOR, of London, Eng.

"A wonderful value, a car of which Hudson engineers have a right to be proud."....From Motor Life.

"Possesses qualities I didn't believe could be incorporated in a closed car at $975."....H. A. Tarantous, in Motor, U.S.A.

Come take a ride. It will give actual illustration to these remarkable qualities, which all who know praise so highly.

REO

CARS and SPEED WAGONS

"THE GOLD STANDARD OF VALUES"

Five Passenger Sedan is unbeatable at its price and has REO ruggedness and stability built in all its members.

Four Passenger Coupe with Balloon Tires will be like riding in a Pullman.

Reo Phaeton or Sport Model is acknowledged to be the finest design of fully equipped touring car.

Reo Speed Wagons are admitted by all users to be the greatest self-propelled vehicle in the world. They will haul anything from a pound to two tons cheaper and quicker than any other method of transportation.

Reo created and designed this most efficient truck, and has proven its superiority over all others, in all kinds of work, many times over.

WOMEN'S INFLUENCE IN AUTOMOBILE DESIGNING LEADS TOWARD DIGNITY

Closed Car Popularity Is Largely Due to Feminine Preference — Tendency Toward Dignified Simplicity In Exterior and Interior Finish.

GRACEFUL LINES.

It is a far cry from the automobiles of 1900 to the models on exhibition at this year's show. Women with their subtle influence have done much to accelerate the motor car progress. They have been an important factor since the first feminine criticism of the strange looking little horseless carriages that proceeded haltingly through the streets a quarter of a century ago. The feminine element admired, but passing observation furnished ideas for improvement. The funny vehicle was so noisy, they declared. Certainly some of the men who were working on it could find some way to make it a little more subdued and keep it from spitting clouds of smoke that followed in its wake. Then, no one could tell just when it would stop suddenly, and the unpleasant cranking process would have to begin.

These details were distressing to the feminine mind. Preparing for a motor ride a great rite. It was necessary for the motorists to bundle themselves in linen dusters, goggles and hoods, and to make themselves generally uncomfortable. There was not a little complaining about it—all on the part of the women. Men smiled in a superior way—women knew so little about such things—but the manufacturers began to investigate and gradually improvements appeared. Efficient brakes no longer had to be so stiff that it took 200 pounds or more to apply them. Gear shifts began to work easily and were moved nearer to the driver's seat as a concession to the women drivers, who were rapidly increasing in numbers. Wind shields developed colored screens and side rings to protect the eyes of the fair drivers. Dimmers and ignition took on ampler form, so that they would not be confusing, and year by year the self-starter reached greater perfection.

So the motor car has developed from a clumsy vehicle into a thing of beauty. Much of this change has been brought about through the insistence of women. Most men would have been content with a few slight improvements over the car of twenty years ago. It got them where they wanted to go, and what more could they ask for, many of them reasoned. But women saw the possibilities for grace and beauty.

Perhaps the most important improvement backed by women is the adoption of the closed car for general use. Much of the pleasure was taken from driving in winter when the frigid blasts swept through a car, or even in balmy weather when a woman's coiffure might be completely ruined by gusts of wind.

This subtle feminine influence upon motor cars has not abated. Many improvements to be seen at the automobile show this year have been instigated by some woman. The feminine element has assumed a double significance in the eyes of automobile manufacturers, and as women have become more expert in driving—and some say that women drive more carefully than men—they have become more critical of automobile perfection from a mechanical point of view. The woman driver, particularly she who lives in the suburbs, has found that she must know her car well or she will often find herself in trying situations. Only a few experiences of breakdowns on country roads will send her off to an automobile school, from which she will graduate a much more car-wise woman. She will not only understand her car, though. Women have not been created inquisitive for nothing. They make a deep study of their cars, and have thus figured out many improvements.

Delight in Graceful Lines

While the manufacturers have given much attention to the mechanical understanding of their potential feminine purchasers, it is to their esthetic side that the producers have striven even more diligently to appeal. Not only do women want a good, easy-riding chassis, but they want it with graceful lines. And even after the best line has been attained, the car must have artistic decoration. No dabs of black paint will do. The color must be pleasing to the eye and the harmonious whole of the car must be taken into consideration.

It has been no simple task to meet all these requirements, and, of course, there is another task; for once the new season's car is on the market, women must be convinced of its worth, as it is acknowledged that they have the upper hand when it comes to picking out the family car. The ingenuity of the designers is taxed, for each year must bring forth new features. Women have changed the style of their clothes each season for so long, and now they feel they must have variety in motor car styles as well.

The same laws of color harmony and good taste which have been used by interior decorators for modern homes are applied to the interior designs of closed cars, and women can select the type of influence under which they prefer to be while riding. They are no longer interested in the bizarre. One short season of the vivid floral designs for upholstery was sufficient to convince them that the more sombre tones in rich materials were of greater lasting worth and had an important soothing effect upon tired nerves. There has been no inclination to return to that elaborate style which prevailed about four seasons ago.

The tendency has been toward greater simplicity and each year has found the interiors of the really smart cars more plain. Even the striped upholstery, which last season was included as the only variation from severity, is no longer looked upon with favor. The faintest suggestion of a pin stripe is found in a few of the custom-made bodies where individual taste has preference over the mode. The most popular fabric is ribbed broadcloth. This is sometimes used to upholster an entire car or is combined with plush. There is also a soft leather which is used effectively as piping with broadcloth, and when contrasting colors are employed the effect is extremely good.

Home Products More Valued

If cars on display in the various sales rooms are any indication, the American manufacturer rivals the foreign producer in every detail. Until recently, the discriminating woman looked to the foreign designs for inspiration. She has appreciated, of course, the ability of the custom body builders of this country from the point of view of workmanship, but when it came to the accessories she turned to Europe. Many a smart matron has journeyed abroad to select her vanity cases, hardware and upholstery so that her car might be the last word in comfort and design. But now the European market produces little that cannot be found here, and the manufacturers of accessories have reached such a degree of efficiency that the public has come to appreciate the value of home products.

An outstanding exception to this rule was the show cars which were displayed in the fall salon in New York by an Italian company. The cars showed that the Italians have a rare idea of workmanship and originality of design. The most utilitarian of those on display was a low-hung town car. Its already graceful line was further enhanced by the absence of a running board and the various appendages that are usually attached to the exterior of cars. As the door of the tonneau opens a step opens with it from the side of the car. This adds much to the general effect of simplicity which is carried out in the interior.

The exterior is a dark blue and the upholstery is also blue, almost black, and of plain broadcloth. The davenport cushions add to the luxurious case, but it remains for the hardware to give the dash of smartness to the car. It is of ivory which lines the windows in flat mouldings and is used for the door handles, the robe rail, and for decoration on the vanity cases. Its decided contrast to the sombre upholstery gives a really brilliant effect. A sense of richness is also added by the cut-glass corners of the windows, which have a delicate floral design.

An interesting new design of car that is appealing particularly to women this season is the low body with the square-cut corners. This feature has been introduced in both the closed and the open car. In some way it makes one's motor car seem more like a room, or, possibly, more like a house, for the effect is appreciated better from the outside. A very smart car that embodies this feature is a tan cabriolet whose low, straight line is outlined with a pin stripe of red. The interior is done in sand and brown, with the red tone introducing in pipings of leather around the back of the seat, the cushions and the windows. The cushions are separate and air-filled.

The vanity cases this season are decidedly plain. Even in the case of those made abroad there is an apparent effort on the part of the manufacturers to conform to Canadian taste. Only the essential items are taken into account. No longer does the smart woman's car have any suggestion of a boudoir. As woman's duties have multiplied her time in her car is spent in going over her engagements, planning her day, and making notations of the things she is about to do. Therefore the important item in her motor car today is a writing pad, pencil, a mirror—just to be sure that she looks her best even when most preoccupied—and possibly an ash receiver, for woman nowadays does much of her smoking in her motor.

There seems to have been a definite agreement between women as to the color they will favor this season for their cars. While the vogue for tan and various shades of brown that is so marked in feminine wearing apparel has been carried into their motors, the manufacturers say that gray in various shades is the leading note. According to them there have been thirteen jobs so painted against ten each in blue and black, with brown, green and maroon next in order. Two-tone effects are the rule, although contrasts are not nearly so pronounced as heretofore. In fact the new styles are unostentatious but rich, with simplicity and dubdued colorings the predominant features, obtained, however, without sacrifice of comfort, convenience or luxuriousness.

The standard cars are a source of wonderment to those who have made a study of recent motor car improvement. Even the very inexpensive machines have features and accessories that are almost beyond belief for the price. The upholstery, too, is of far better quality than in former years and is quite the last word in taste and design. Even separate cushions are beginning to make their appearance in cars of this type, as well as many other features that make for greater comfort.

Of all the new features that have been introduced during the past year the fabric body is regarded as the most important development. In Europe, as well as in this country, the fabric body is rapidly forging to the front. It was the sensation of the Paris salon. It has the conventional wood-frame construction used in standard cars, whit the addition of thin, light strainers where panel contours are required.

Instead of the customary wood or metal panels, meshed galvanized wire is stretched over the frame, upon which is placed two layers of cotton wadding, which are tensioned into the wire by stretching canvas over them tightly. This provides a strong but flexible panel over which is stretched the Meritas leather cloth. This cloth is specially made for the purpose and differs from ordinary artificial leathers in that it is a two-ply or laminated fabric, bonded with a special oil cement, and the coat ing will retain its lustre almost indefinitely. It may be refinished when necessary with a single coat of barnish.

From the car owners' standpoint the principal advantages claimed for the fabric body are lighter weight with corresponding economy in operation, elimination of the drumming, rumbling noises due to vibration—this body is said to absorb even the road shocks—distinctive appearance, and the ease with which it is cared for and repaired. To these may be added a lower first cost and a saving in insurance rates.

It is said that the fabric body can be built in less time than it requires to paint the old-type body, and the cost of materials used is approximately one-half. It permits, even on a production basis, of artistic contours with marked variations. When the fabric is worn out the body can be recovered at less expense than it has cost to have a car repainted, and the time spent is much less.

Native Nigerians Are Speed Fiends

One of the biggest troubles the "sentries" of the Gold Coast have is to endeavour to keep the black native Nigerians from speeding. The blacks there are enthusiastic automobile owners, and they delight in driving at top speed. The barefoot black drivers are unusually adept at handling motor cars, however.

WOMEN BROUGHT LUXURIOUS CAR

Self-Starter Increased Use of Auto By Fair Sex—Feminine Influence Immediately Seen.

The luxurious upholstering of the present day closed cars and the many refinements on all models are due in great measure to the influence of women.

It is true the motor car would develop, without women's influence, along the lines of greater mechanical perfection, more comfortable seating arrangement and more beautiful body lines. The men would have demanded it.

But the men would have been satisfied with leather in the closed cars. The women have brought about the velour and tapestried upholsteries, deep soft cushions, beveled glass windows and softly shaded dome light.

In the early days of the automobile industry, the motor car was considered a complicated mechanism—a new-fangled contrivance for the rich. Later, as its popularity grew, it was believed only men would be able to drive a motor car because of the mechanical knowledge required.

Just as soon as woman began considering the motor car as a creation for her amusement, entertainment and glorification, the car manufacturers began to build to suit Milady's wishes. It was a logical development.

The self-starter, while not designed primarily for women but rather for general convenience, increased driving by the wives and daughters of the car owners. It was only not inconvenient to crank a car by hand, but in addition required considerable strength.

The present-day easy-acting cone and disc clutches were unknown. It required strength of wrist and hand simply to steer the car.

A considerable part of the mechanical development of the motor car has resulted in easier, simpler operation with the result that the element of actual strength required hardly enters into the question at all. This development has been fostered through the greater use of cars by the feminine portion of our population, whose opinion naturally has a decided bearing on the design of a motor car.

It is universally recognized that compartments for carrying packages, particularly in the closed models have resulted from the use of the automobile by women for shopping.

Innovations Due to Women

The door pocket tool kit, the small cabinets for carrying gloves and even equipment for vases in which flowers might be placed in the closed models, are all innovations that have come from feminine desire for comfort, beauty and an appreciation of the niceties of existence.

Our wives, daughters and sweethearts, whether we desire it or not, have made of the motor car a social asset. It must reflect their character, just as the home reveals something of the occupants, and it must have those intimate personal touches of beauty that a woman insists upon having in her home.

And it is pretty fine influence at that. It has been brought about by the women, but it is fully as much appreciated by their husbands and their sons. The men would not go back to the simply utilitarian motor car now that they have experienced the comforts and beauty the women brought to the motor car.

A new fan belt should be given a good sreteant, before it is put into place.

CRYSTALS NULLIFY HEADLIGHT DAZZLE

Idea Considered Sound to Project Beam Through Iodine Sulphide Crystals

An American scientific body has discovered a method of obtaining crystals of iodine sulphide in very thin films, with the optical axes of all the crystals lying in the same direction, instead of being spread out in disorderly array as heretofore.

Now, iodine sulphide has marked polarizing powers, but before the importance of this recent American discovery can be properly understood, it will first be necessary to explain broadly what is meant by polarization.

Certain crystals, such as Iceland spar and tourmaline, have marked polarizing powers; that is to say, that not only will a ray of light passing into the prism emerge as two rays, but one of these will be absorbed almost entirely by the crystal. This can, perhaps, be better understood if we leave out, for the moment, the question of the light being absorbed. The two rays born of the original one are known as the "ordinary" and the "extraordinary" rays. When a ray of light passes through a plate of suitable crystal, the ordinary and extraordinary rays emerge, polarized at right angles to each other, the former being in a plane at right angles to the plate and parallel to the axis, while the other is at right angles to the axis.

Light, as is well known, travels in waves, and if, for example, we regard a ray of light as traveling in a series of waves in a vertical plane and another series of waves in a horizontal plane, it is easy to understand how the two are split up. A particular feature of tourmaline or iodine sulphide is that the "ordinary" ray—that is, that at right angles to the plate and parallel to its axis—is absorbed, and the "extraordinary" ray alone emerges. Now, if at the receiving end, so to speak, which may be, for example, the eye of a person walking towards the light, a second screen or plate of tourmaline or iodine sulphide is placed, but with its axis at right angles, in a vertical plane, to that of the first plate, then the "extraordinary" ray will also be absorbed so that no light at all will emerge.

In actual practice this means that if a thin film of iodine sulphide, produced with all the minute crystal composing it lying the same way, the placed in contact with the headlamp glass, it will absorb one of the rays passing through it, and a beam of ordinary light—perfectly efficient as an illuminating agent—will be projected. Assume, then, that the axes of the crystals behind the headlamp glass are vertical, then suppose that a person looking at the headlamp has a pair of glasses with the eaxs of the crystals horizontal, then the beam of polarized light emerging from the headlamp will be completely absorbed in the glasses or goggles.

The effect will be cut out entirely all the direct rays from the headlamp, while not interfering at all with the wearer's vision of the road.

The Motor, which is the first journal to allude to the discovery, adds the comment that the idea is sound, and very possibly much may come of it. At the moment the chief disadvantage is, that unless the two plates or films of crystals are at the correct angle one to the other, all, or at any rate a portion, of the polarizing effect is lost. This means that a driver wearing polarizing glasses would have to move his head as he drove, so as to keep the angle of his glasses correct all the while. Another possibility is that the crystals would have to be so thick in order to absorb the light that they would be insufficiently transparent.

RICHEST BABY IN OLD LAND WAS CHRISTENED

LONDON, April 22.—(Canadian Press).— Infant daughter of Lady Louis Mountbatten, the richest baby in England and great granddaughter of the late Sir Ernest Cassel was christened in Chapel Royal in St. James Palace to-day. The Prince of Wales stood godfather to the child, jointly with Earl of Brecknook.

The baby was born on St. Valentine's Day. Her mother was formerly Edwina Ashley who fell heiress to the greater part of the fortune of thirty million dollars of Sir Ernest Cassel.

Here's the Way to Heal Rupture

A Marvelous Self-Home-Treatment That Anyone Can Use on Any Rupture, Large or Small.

Costs Nothing to Try

Ruptured people all over the country are amazed at the almost miraculous results of a simple Method for rupture that is being sent free to all who write for it. This remarkable Rupture System is one of the greatest blessings ever offered to ruptured men, women and children. It is being pronounced the most successful Method ever discovered and makes the further use of trusses, appliances or supports unnecessary.

No matter how bad the rupture, how long you have had it, or how hard to hold; no matter how many kinds of trusses you have worn, let nothing prevent you from getting this FREE TEST TREATMENT. Whether you think you are past help or have a rupture as large as your fists ,this marvelous System will so control it and keep it up inside as to surprise you with its magic influence. It will so help to restore the parts where the rupture comes through that soon you will be as free to work at any occupation as though you had never been ruptured.

Thousands of person who formerly suffered the tortures of old fashioned steel and spring trusses are now rejoicing in their freedom from the danger and discomfort of rupture.

You can have a free trial of this wonderful strengthening preparation by merely sending you name and address to W. A. COLLINGS, Inc., 820A Collings Building, Watertown, N.Y. Send no money. The test is free.

Write now to-day. It may save the wearing of a truss the rest to your life.

PROSPEROUS YEAR FOR ACCESSORIES

Majority of Makers Look For Production of 3,500,000 In 1924 — Simplified Designs.

By M. L. HEMINWAY,
General Manager, Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' Association.

The automobile industry can afford to speak softly, for it carries the big stick of achievement. It is not merely a bludgeon of industrial power, but an instrument of social utility, highly refined to meet the needs of millions of individuals and of a world on wheels.

Tactful under-statement is the logical method of expression for an industry which in the United States alone has produced 4,000,000 automobiles in the year just closed, and which has more than 17,000,000 motor vehicles in operation in all parts of the globe, 14,000,000 of them in this country.

In stepping back from the rush and turmoil of the year to take a bird's-eye view we are confronted with this paradox: The stability of the automobile industry has been assured, but its measure has not yet been taken.

We have been in touch with members of the Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' Association in an effort to ascertain the consensus of opinion with respect to the outlook for next year. Production of 1924 is estimated at a little more than 3,500,000 cars and trucks by those replying to our questionnaire.

The replies show wide divergence. Less than 5 per cent. hold out hope for a production in excess of 4,000,000 cars and trucks, the 1923 total; about 20 per cent. look forward to maintenance of that production for the year; another 20 per cent. expect a drop to approximately 3,000,000, and most of the others—or a substantial majority—figure that the 1924 production will be about 3,500,000 cars and trucks. Since Henry Ford is reported to be planning a production of 10,000 cars a day—or close to 3,000,000 a year for 1924—it can be realized how conservative these estimates are.

Financial and credit conditions are reported sound, but it is the general opinion that the weaker companies—which does not in all cases mean the smaller companies—are likely to find the aggressive competition severe.

There are unmistakable trends showing that the production of the overwhelming bulk of cars and trucks is passing into fewer and stronger hands. Thirteen companies with corporate interests are responsible for 92 per cent. of the industry's production. This makes possible tremendous savings through volume manufacture, and the public receives greater value for its automobile dollar.

The parts and accessory manufacturers are certain to have a good year in 1924 because of the huge replacement market and of the increasing tendency to enhance the convenience and safety of automobile transportation by installing such items as bumpers, windshield wipers, improved lubricating systems, heaters, radiator temperature gauges, and other conveniences.

Probably the two features that will command greater attention at the show this year will be four-wheel brakes and balloon tires. Considerable attention has been focused also on the six-cylinder cars now endorsed by the manufacturers in areas formerly occupied almost predominantly by four-cylinder cheicles. There will also be a larger production of closed-body jobs.

Outside of Europe, the foreign trade prospects for the automobile industry seem bright. Our manufacturers are learning more and more to look beyond the Mediterranean in planning their overseas efforts. Australia, South America and the Orient seem to be the most active fields. American motor products unquestionably have advantages that make them attractive to the motor trade and the motoring public in all countries of the world.

As to the problems facing the industry, we feel that the two most important needs are intensive work on the programme for simplification and standardization and necessity of coping with the impending physical saturation point owing to the congestion of roads and streets.

HEART WAS SO BAD HAD TO SIT UP IN B D

Mrs. O. E. Fitzgerald, 106 Ross St., St. Thomas, Ont., writes:—"In the Fall of 1921, I was taken ill with my heart, but I did not pay much attention to it. I kept on with my household duties, but seemed to become worse and worse, and finally had to call in a doctor. He said I was all run down and was a nervous wreck. I had a severe pain in my chest which would move over to my heart and it became so bad I could not lie down, as when I did I had such a smothering feeling I would have to sit up in bed till it passed away.

I tried several remedies, but with no good results. Finally, I was induced to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took 7 boxes, and I am now as well as I was 30 years ago, and I am now 65 years old."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ELECTRICITY IS MOTOR'S FRIEND

Heated Tubes Provided Ignition In Earliest Cars—Electricity Takes Crank Out of Motoring.

The progress of electrical development is remarkable in all aspects. It has played a large part in making the motor car the leading factor in modern transportation.

The first motor carss of horseless carriages, as they were then called, used no electricity. One of the earliest cars used illuminating gas for fuel carrying a considerable supply in tanks. The ignition was by means of heated tubes, which forced combustion.

A few years later Benz and Daimler used the make-and-break spark system, which, though less efficient than modern systems, was far superior to hot tubes. Then came the jump spark, which is still in use.

At first electricity was furnished by wet cells and later by dry batteries. Finally the magneto was built and for many years was in universal use. The present day distributor takes its current from a storage battery that is charged by a generator which furnishes power as well as for lights, whereas the magneto furnished the current for ignition only.

If there is a motorist who really enjoys cranking a car, he is a decided exception to the rule, yet for several years after automobiles entered quantity production, thousands of cars were built without self-starters. These after their general option in 1910 and 1911 were quickly perfected to such a degree that the modern driver rarely needs to use the crank, and it is carried only for emergency use.

Headlights and tail lights have also developed greatly. At first kerosene lights were used both fore and aft, then gas light replaced the oil in front. Finally electricity replaced both.

Among later developments are the spot lights, stop signals, cigar lighters, dash lights and electric heaters. Closed cars, which at first were devoid of lights, are now cheerfully illuminated by dome or corner lights. The strides of automotive engineers have been great in the past quarter century and electricians have kept even pace with them."

CHILD WELFARE WORK IN PRAIRIE PROVINCE

SASKATOON, Sask., April 22 (Canadian Press). — Child welfare officers, working in foreign settlements, have strange and varified duties to perform, according to K. C. McLeod, superintendent of Neglected Children for Alberta, who was the speaker at the Saskatchewan Child Welfare Conference here yesterday. In relating the experience of his department, he said an inspector and priest visited a foreign district. They sorted out a number of couples, sent four women home to their husbands, sent six men to their wives, and married four other couples.

Delegates at the conference criticised Section 220A of the Criminal Code of Canada, which deals with immorality in the homes.

News that affects you most

YOU may be entertained by news of the Yanks and the Giants, but you aren't vitally interested unless you have money at stake; and the shifting of European boundaries doesn't affect you half so much as the softness of your mattress, the comfort of your shoes, what you ate for breakfast, how much your last hat cost.

That's why advertising news deserves as much attention as sporting or international news. The advertisements keep you informed of all the latest comforts and conveniences that can make yourdaily living more delightful. They tell where to secure the best, how to save money, how to lesson work, have a better home, better food, better clothes, more luxuries.

You can't keep up with the daily news—the kind that affects you most—unless you read the advertisements.

VALUE OF SERVICE STATION TO BUYERS OF AUTOMOBILES

Plays An Important Part To Maintaining Goodwill of the Owner For His Particular Car—Success of the Fixed Price System

By GEORGE STROBRIDGE.

In order to market a motor vehicle efficiently the dealer must not only guarantee his output, but it is necessary to maintain a plant where the buyer can take his car for adjustment and repair. Automobile buyers today are aware of the importance of this department, and a shrewd owner makes this factor of service a very influential point in his selection when purchasing.

The service department should interest the owner, as he naturally depends upon it when his car needs repair. Let us not forget the importance here of the part played by the guarantee. The almost universal guarantee given by motor car manufacturers is that the car is guaranteed against defective workmanship and material for a period of ninety days after delivery. Repairs and replacements are made free only when it is evident that the break or difficulty is due to one of these causes.

The owner, however, in nine cases out of ten feels sure that every time his car gives trouble it is the fault of the car, and in order to take advantage of his guarantee he will appeal to the agency service station, thereby perhaps—as he always hopes—getting the repair work done free. This is only one of many reasons why the average owner makes use of the agency service station. Another reason is that owners feel that the needed parts will be available at once.

We have often heard the service station criticized by owners on account of delays, promises not fulfilled, poor workmanship, overcharging, in fact, all the misdeeds possible have been attributed to it. Some have claimed that the service station takes advantage of the fact that the owner is almost forced to use this repair shop when in need of service. All such cases depend more or less on the individual in question and particular circumstances. They are, therefore, of little value in basing lasting conclusions.

An ordinary or even a specialized repair shop has certain distinct advantages over the agency service station from an internal business standpoint. The service station and its efficiency play such a large part in resales that they are forced to assume responsibility and blame which is often due elsewhere. A general shop sells its repair work only, and when a job comes back as unsatisfactory the shop executive may feel at liberty to blame construction and design in that particular car, whereas a service station cannot have recourse to such an alibi, due to the fact that the reputation of the car must be upheld.

Again, an ordinary shop sells its ability to make lasting repairs as a reasonable price; but there is no real commercial reason for hoping that the car will not break down again, provided it can be proved that the cause of the second break is not the fault of poor shop repair work. A conscientious service station inspector will sometimes discover other troubles which are not acute but which will soon lay up the car again. He will, therefore, estimate higher on the needed repairs than a shop which contracts only for the straightening out of the actual present trouble.

There are distinct arguments for both classes of shops, and few service stations will resent having outside shops do work on their cars due to the fact that the service station is usually a money losing factor in a distributer's organization. The biggest factor in causing this deficit is the guarantee given on the car since all work done to fulfil those conditions brings no income.

Every effort is being made to satisfy customers by the large manufacturers and distributers. In one of the well-known factories there is a micrometer factory inspection on more than 500 parts. A large corps of men carry out the assembled car inspection, and many separate departments inspect unit assemblies before they go into place in the chassis. There is also an inspection of the inspection, making a double check. The car thus groomed and examined is delivered to the customer, and he has his guarantee period of ninety days, which is considered as his inspection, and, as already stated, when troubles develop during this period he can have them rectified free of charge.

Fixed Prices.

The ninety-day period is, to say the least, very loosely exacted, and the company will go more than half way to meet its clients should faults develop after it has elapsed. When the service station is called upon to quote a figure on certain needed repairs, we find a table of prices covering some 3,100 separate and group job estimates and a customer knows that he pays no more than the next man to have his valves ground or his clutch tightened or whatever may be needed. All work is carried through on this fixed-price basis.

If the price of greasing the wheels is fixed and based on one hour's labor and three pounds of grease, the customer pays for such, even though the workman puts in three hours and uses ten pounds of grease. Part price, have, of course, always been fixed but this development of fixing job prices is moderately new and rapidly becoming universal, due to its evident fairness and the elimination of so many possibilities for misunderstandings.

For purposes of efficiency and good service, system prevails at every turn. There are five classifications for jobs—first, the order is doing everything possible to put the car in the best shape, including work on the chassis and the body. In this classification there are two sub-classifications. We next have an order which designates—make this car run well—this means it must not be noisy or show any visible symptoms of work left undone. Next, we have—put this car in good order. Here is a classification for some one who does not mind little rattles or sounds which have no ill effects, but who wants to be sure his car will stand up under a season of service. Last, there is the order to repair and replace only in so far as is needed to rectify the effects of an accident or a specific breakdown.

The job price system has aided in perfecting a system of specialized mechanics; a man with delicate fingers is better adapted than another for setting breaker points. Some men work well while lying on their backs, some are good at adjustment, and some on lifting. The company has put into effect a scheme whereby each man has a series of jobs for which he is best fitted and for which he receives his pay per job. This is carrying out a piecework idea with a view to special fitness.

IMPROVEMENT IN CAR SPRINGS IS NOTICED YEARLY

The Problem of Absorbing Shocks Is Being Mastered—Coast to Coast Tours Are Taken To-Day On Easy Riding Springs.

The growth and development of the automotive industry is as noticeable as that of a growing child. Every year and even every month has its contribution of radical changes and improvements. The car of years ago is an entirely different appearing vehicle to that which is considered the acme of perfection today. In the early days one of the cars based much of its sales talk on the slogan "our car will take you there and bring you back again!" To-day coast to coast trips are undertaken in as carefree a manner as one would board a train for the next cillage.

All this has been made possible by the work of the automotive engineers who have solved innumerable problems removed features productive of discomfort and made the parts capable of enduring heavy strains.

Better Springs.

One of the parts which has been developed as a result of the increasing demands put upon the automobile is the spring as springs furnish the one and only means of absorbing road shocks. True it is that the pneumatic tires will to a great extent reduce these bumps but they cannot entirely absorb them and consequently the automotive engineer has focused his attention on spring design and construction. The modern car with its high-speed motor light weight and low center of gravity requires an entirely different spring to the comparatively slow-moving bulky car of a few years back.

Steel Improved

Contributing also to the development of the spring are the great strides forward in the field of steel metallurgy. Steels of various compositions have distinctly different properties. Some may be tough and capable of withstanding tremendous torque. Others may be hard and extremely brittle.

The property which is most sought after for automobile springs is the possession of high elastic limits and the metallurgists have been remarkably successful in securing a steel alloy with this quality.

It is quite evident that in order to preserve the high standards set scientific testings consisting of chemical analyses ascertaining strength and elasticity etc. must be carried on by the spring manufacture and at all points in the manufacturing process careful inspection must be maintained. The old hit or miss methods are things of the past.

Spring steel is a high carbon steel and it is of the utmost importance that it be of a very high quality; forming and heat treating come next and upon these depends the final performance of the spring.

Absorb More Shocks

During the recent years there has been a noticeable tendency towards longer springs and an increase in the number of leaves using light instead of heavy steel however.

Springs of this multiple-leaved type have a much greater tendency to absorb minor shocks and permit higher speed than the ordinary type of steel. With this construction the minor bumps are taken up by the ends of the springs and as the bumps increase in intensity the reaction is carried more to the center of the spring until on extremely rough roads the entire spring is brought into play.

In the designing of springs for a car the front spring is the first to receive consideration the object being to secure a spring which will support a load of a given weight at a sufficient height above the axle to keep the frame from striking the axle when the spring is depressed and yet have enough resiliency to prevent vibration from the road being transferred to the occupants of the car. When the size and weight of this spring are agreed upon the next problem is the design of a rear spring which will furnish balance and resiliency when acting in conjunction with the front section.

Needless to say the spring maintenance is equally as important as its construction. Springs must be lubricated often and regularly. In most cases spring leaves are made with a concave section the bearing surface being consequentlyat them edges. If a light oil is squirted over the tops of the spring it will flow down over the edges and will be drawn in between the leaves by capillary action.

Canada Supplies Cars to Union of South Africa

Foreign as well as domestic markets are more active in the purchase of automobiles this year than in any previous period. South Africa is one of the leading buyers of motor products. During the first six months of 1923 just 4,145 motor cars and 152 motor trucks were imported.

More than 90 per cent. of these cars come from the United States or from Canadian factories.

"Little evidence of the severe depression prevailing in South Africa during 1922 could be found in the motor vehicle trade," says the American consul, "which is chiefly due to the fact that motor cars no longer are looked upon as a luxury, but rather as a necessity. Furthermore, the decline in prices brought motor cars within the means of many who heretofore could not afford them."

FIRE TRUCKS ARE SPEEDY MACHINES

Chief Gimblett Is Booster For An All-Motor Equipment — Some of the Records.

Motor trucks used by the Peterboro' Fire Department have proven far more successful than the horse-drawn vehicles of the past. The trucks carry a heavier load and can travel much faster than the horses; their expense and upkeep is as cheap as the horses and they have arrived at fires in time to save a great many buildings and lives, which, if the horses had been used, would have been lost.

The chief's Ford car was bought in September, 1917, and is still going as good as ever. In Chief Gimblett's time the Ford has never been beaten to a fire by either of the other trucks. The American-France combination hose and chemical truck was bought in 1918 and is also in the best of shape, while the Studebaker hose wagon which was built into a truck and put into use last July by the firemen, has proved very successful. Since the Studebaker was put into use one team of horses has been sold.

Of the 135 alarms answered this year the Studebaker has answered 64. It travels at the rate of 45 miles per hour and is easily handled. The American-France, the large truck, travels 60 miles an hour without exerting itself, while the Ford can keep up with the rest of them. The exact speed of this car is not known but the chief claims that it passed the American-France on the Hunter Street Bridge going at 50 miles an hour. This is very fast for a Ford but anybody who has seen it in action when going down Aylmer or George Streets on a long run knows that it is not standing still.

The average speed of a team of horses going to a fire is from 12 to 15 miles an hour. The speed of the cars is more than three times as fast and this proves that they are more adapted to the exigencies of fire work. The cars are all equipped with sirens and bells and there is not much danger of an accident on the streets if the people keep their senses and do not try to cross in front of the cars.

Travelled 202 Miles

During this year the three cars have travelled a distance of 202.2 miles, to fires alone. The upkeep for the three cars for this year has amounted to $119.29. For gasoline, oil and repairs the American-France has cost $95.73 or 38 cents a mile. The Studebaker for six months has cost the city $22.35 or 25 1-2 cents a mile. The chief's car has cost $73.21 for the year or 14 1-2 cents a mile.

In 1923 the American-France travelled a distance of 272 miles and answered 134 alarms.

For six months the Studebaker answered 58 alarms and covered 38 8-10 miles. For the year the chief's car answered 287 alarms and covered 518 miles or a nice long trip that woul take the average driver a good deal longer to cover than it took the chief and his driver. These amounts are to alarms alone and do not include any other trips that are made.

Last year the upkeep of the two teams of horses amounted to $488.43. They answered 114 alarms and covered 207 miles. Wagon No. 1 answered seven alarms, or 16 miles. The horse and buggy and cutter which were used by the chief when the car was being repaired answered 43 alarms and covered 64 miles. The cars have answered more alarms in a shorter time and have proven cheaper and more successful than the horses. If the car is not being used it is not costing anything, while the horses have to be fed and looked after whether they are doing anything or not. The horses have to be taken out for exercise every day and put through their drill in getting into their harness quickly, while the cars only have to be washed and examined each day. The time that is spent exercising the horses and training them could be spent in a better way if the Fire Department was equipped with all cars and no horses. This time could be spent in training the men thoroughly in life saving and other useful things that firemen must know.

Fire Chief G. Gimblett states that he has been well satisfied with the trucks and that they have had no trouble with them yet and that they are much more satisfactory than the horses.

Required by Law To Halt the Car When Rain Comes

Suppose Canadian motorists were required by law to halt their cars every time a rain started and not allowed to proceed until the downpour ceased and the roads dried up, what would happen? Such a law is in effect in Nigeria, according to Murray G. Sawyer, representative of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, who has been studying production methods in the Ford plant at Ford, Ont.

"When a rain starts on the Gold Coast 'sentries' stationed one mile apart on all roads signal drivers to stop immediately. No one is allowed to proceed until the road is dry."

PLACE THE BLAME WHERE IT BELONGS

It is not the fault of the automobile that 100,000 persons have died as the result of automobile accidents. It's entirely the responsibility of the drivers. Explanations after the accidents will not bring the dead to life nor heal the wounds of the injured.

Driving an automobile requires both hands on the steering wheel, both eyes on the road and one's whole mind on the job. Safe driving is impossible with eyes focused on the sidewalk fashion parade or with one arm around a girl.

For sightseeing, take a "rubber-neck" wagon; for courtship, the old parlor sofa is hard to beat. Transferring petting parties from the safe, stationary sofa to a high-speed gas buggy has cancelled many a wedding. Love is commonly supposed to be blind, and it too often is—at the steering wheel.

Increase in automobiles and pedestrians requires additional care in driving. Emergencies may arise at any minute which require quick thinking and prompt action to avert a collision.

Keep your eyes straight ahead when driving forward and look back when in reverse. Watch constantly for vehicles coming from side streets. It is sometimes hard to tell which vehicle will reach the intersection first, and if there is any doubt, let the other fellow pass regardless of who is supposed to have the right-of-way. Too often these races to "get there first" end in a tie and hours on the witness stand, trying to show that you were right and the other fellow wrong.

Once you get into the speed demon class you are marked; sane drivers are picturing the day when you will be out of the way, pushing daisies through the sod and supporting the weight of a headstone.

There was a day, and not very long ago, either, when an automobile which would make 25 miles an hour was considered to be a space annihilating monster. Now that they go 50 and 60 miles an hour without much effort we try to get them to travel another 10 or 15 miles an hour faster—so that we might boast of "world records" for a 30-mile dash.

It is true this is an age of speed, but it does not need to be one of recklessness.

PREVENT LOST KEYS.

If it is absolutely necessary that you leave the key in the ignition switch when storing the car overnight in a crowded public gargge, at least tie the key to the dashlight or any object that is nearby. The natural tendency for any one who drives your car is to lock the switch and put the key in his pocket when he has switched off the engine. It's quite unconscious and unintentional, but it may mean a lot of trouble. Sometimes in switching off the ignition the garageman may drop the key, fish around for it in the dark, decide tolook for it later when he has more time and finish by forgetting about it entirely. When you come for your car he may have gone home, leaving no word as to what happened to the key.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CARE OF THE CAR

Wire and Rope Are No Substitutes For a Real Repair — Result Is Increased Trouble.

The average motorist, no matter how efficient he is in his driving, is habitually careless in his neglect of his automobile. Operators neglect to oil frictional parts; they make repairs with pieces of rope or wire instead of replacing broken castings, and pay little attention to their machines as long as they run. The following hints are intended for the proper care of the car:

Gears should not grind or rattle.

The clutch should never grab or slip.

Keep the car sheltered from the elements.

Adjust loose or worn parts as soon as discovered.

Understand an automobile before attempting to run it. Clean it up after using it.

Never race the engine, especially when stopping or starting the car, shifting gears, or standing idle.

Never let the engine get overheated. A late spark, a lean mixture, an obstructed cooling system, or an overload may cause excessive heating.

Keep the engine running smoothly. If it develops a limp or a gallop, there is a cause. The ignition may be at fault, or the carbureter, or the engine itself, which means either the valves or the pistons and rings.

Watch the oil closely. Remember that anything can be overdone. Too much oil in the crankcase causes oil pumping, loss of power, smoke and fouling plugs. Too much on the magneto may cause failure of ignition. Too much on exposed bearings collects dust and helps wear out the parts. Parts which move very slowly or intermittently may require no oil at all.

Finally, the car must have intelligent adjustment, cleaning, and, if necessary, repairing and opening the next.

YES AND NO AND THE REASON WHY

Yes, the light should be turned off an instant when using the starter on a cold night. Every little bit helps the battery.

No, don't bother taking up the slack in the fan belt these cold days. The engine is probably running below a normal operating temperature, anyway.

Yes, cover the nickel trimming with vaseline when storing the car for the winter. There will be some "Sweating" on warmer days. But why store the car? Didn't you buy it for transportation?

No, there is no harm in choking the engine when shutting it off (so that a snappy start can be made a few hours later), provided the engine is the valve-in-head type and you change the oil every 500 miles. In the L-head motor the raw gas will encourage sticking of the valve. And if you don't change oil frequently there will be excessive oil dilution.

A motorist should avoid racing the engine, as increased gas may cau e it to stall.

Slipping of the clutch which runs in oil may be overcome by adding kerosene.

AUTOMOBILES TAKING SIDEWALK TERRITORY.

San Francisco Shaves Its Sidewalks to Leave Room For Motor Cars.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—San Francisco is shaving its sidewalks The automobile has come to be so common that comparatively few San Franciscans walk. To combat traffic congestion the man at the wheel is to take some of the space formerly dedicated to the man afoot.

In a population of approximately 600,000 persons within the city's area of 42 square miles, there are 90,000 motor vehicles.

One of the Pedestrian ways being shaved is Sacramento Street, where the Vigilantes hung outlaws in the early fifties. Traffic congestion has become so great, however, that city officials have decided that 12 main arteries of automobile travel must be provided through the city.

When San Francisco was laid out, its founders made exceptionally wide streets—Market Street, the principal business thoroughfare, being 125 feet wide, but the automobile has upset all calculations for the future.

Thus the policy has been adopted that when any through streets are repaired, the roadways will be widened by cutting down the sidewalks and forcing all superstructures, such as poles, into underground conduits. On streets where the sidewalks now have a width of 15 feet it has been found that pole lines carrying telephone and light wires use up five feet of this space, so that these sidewalks can be cut to 10 feet without interfering with pedestrian travel.

ONE chassis, with a type of body to meet every personal transportation need.

One quality—the high Hupmobile standard—because Hupmobile manufactures its product complete in its own extensive factories, and holds rigid control over raw materials from outside sources.

The beauty and value of sound design; and a design that works first and last for comfort and safety and for lasting satisfaction.

PADDED RETURNS WERE MADE TO GOVERNMENT HIDING BANK SKELETON

G. T. Clarkson, Liquidator of Home Bank, Disclosed Overstatement of Profits At Royal Commission's Sitting In Toronto — False Returns Extended Back to 1906 and One Year Amounted to $800,000 —Sir Thomas White Produces Letters.

INTEREST ON LOANS UNPAID.

TORONTO, April 23 (Canadian Press). — The Royal Commission investigating the affairs of the Home Bank of Canada sitting here yesterday was told by G. T. Clarkson, liquidator of the bank, that the excess of liabilities over assets was nine and one-half million dollars plus the capital and reserve funds of the bank. It was also informed that since 1906 there had been returns made to the Government each year which showed the profits to be much more than they actually were. In one year there was what one counsel called "an overstatement" of $800,000. Another counsel preferred to call it "padding" the report to the extent named.

Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance for Canada, presented correspondence between himself and others on Home Bank affairs during his regime as Minister of Finance, excepting those letters already before the Commission which were on the public file of his Department.

Sir Thomas will be cross-examined on these letters at Ottawa on Thursday.

Loans Without Interest

Mr. Clarkson, examined as to what should have been the attitude of an auditor called to examine the bank accounts in 1916, admitted that he should have found many accounts to have been "serious". He pointed out, however, that it was easy to state in the light of after events what an auditor should have done and therefore he did not feel bound to give a judgment. It developed during the evidence of Mr. Clarkson that many loans were made by the bank as far back as 1916 from which not a cent of interest was collected and yet in the report to the government this interest was capitalized and added as profits to the bank during the year. Mr. Clarkson told of the various years where the reported statement showed bank profits which were really reduced beyond the vanishing point by the interest which had not been paid. Much of this interest was not paid when the bank closed its doors and is now a liability against the assets of the bank.

Directors Protest

Letters from Hon. T. A. Crerar to M. J. Haney, when the latter was president of the bank showed that Mr. Crerar and other western directors of the bank had protested against the appointment of the late J. Cooper Mason as general manager. Apparently the directors in the west wanted Mr. McHaffie appointed general manager. Mr. McHaffie it was shown later protested to the Minister of Finance about the conduct of the bank by its management Evidence was also submitted to show that the deposits grew from $9,554,000 in 1916 to $15,247,000 at the time the bank closed, exclusive of government deposits.

When asked if there had been a general audit in 1916 Mr. Clarkson said that it must have shown that the bank was not earning its dividend without capitalizing interest accounts and that the situation would have been described as precarious or leading into deep water. On what was called the Holmes account which was concerned with South African veterans' scripts there was at time of closing of the bank an item of $275,000 of which Mr. Clarkson said there could not be collected $25,000. He had not learned that this item was ever brought to the attention of the Minister of Finance. The interest on the Holm-

PASSENGER WAS HELD IN CHAINS

Merely Remonstrated With Wife He Told the Magistrate In New York Port — Released As Mentally Sound.

NEW YORK, April 23. — After being held in Bellevue Hospital since the steamship Cleveland docked from Southampton, Sunday, Charles Whitlach ,27 years old, a lumber exporter of Vancouver, B.C., was discharged yesterday as perfectly sound. He was later taken before Magistrate Frothingham in the West Side Court and freed without any charge being drawn.

Whitlach appealed to the magistrate for vindication, saying he would spend his last cent for redress against the officers of the boat, who, he said, had him held in chains on the way over for four days.

Whitlach, according to Captain W. P. Hillman, of the Cleveland, became abusive to passengers on board the ship and used violent language in the public halls. In the court Whitlach said he had merely remonstrated with his wife about a dance.

His British wife, whom he married in Singapore on January 3, refused to press a charge against him.

Gas Roaring From Lethbridge Well

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., April 23.—Mark C. Rogers, president of the Canadian Oil and Refining Co., announced Tuesday afternoon that the Rogers-Imperial well had struck an enormous flow of gas at a depth of 2,600 feet, and that gas smelling heavily of oil is shooting wildly over the derrick. The roar is deafening and no clear estimate can be estimated of the well until it is brought under control. Yesterday the estimate of the gas flow was two million feet. This morning the drill was put down three inches deeper when the oil saturated gas increased in volume and is now on the rampage. The Imperial Oil Company is interested with the local company in the well.

SOLDIER BONUS DEBATE STORMY

Opponents Picture Distress In Farm Sections and Growth of Public Debt--Insurance Bill Likely to Carry.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—A gale of oratory swept the Soldier Bonus Bill throughout a stormy session of the Senate Tuesday and was not checked until adjournment when agreement was reached to limit debate today so that a final vote on the measure could be taken early in the afternoon.

However, while proponents of the cash option amendment and the "Die Hard" opponents of any bonus unloosed an attack on the pending insurance bill, advocates of this measure conducted a poll which they said showed it would be passed without the cash amendment.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, picturing scenes of distress in the farm areas and the growth of public indebteness sounded the opening attack on the bonus, and declared "it is time to take stock and turn the corner." He, like Senators Fernald, Republican, Maine, and Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, who also spoke aagainst the bonus, prefaced their remarks with the assertion they expected the pending bill to be passed.

GRAIN AVERAGE WAS DISCUSSED

Accumulates In Handling of Large Volumes of Grain In Public Elevators —Is Returned to Grades.

FORT WILLIAM, April 23.—(Canadian Press.)— The accumulation of averages at the public terminal elevators located at the head of the lakes and their placement back in the grades from which they are extracted is a perfectly logical phase of the marketing system according to evidence given here Tuesday by John Glasson, superintendent of the Government National Elevator and J. P. Jones, a former member of the Board of Grain Commissioners and now manager of the Consolidated Elevators, before the Royal Grain Inquiry Commission.

According to their view averages accumulate in the course of the handling of large volumes of grain through the re-cleaning and reclaiming process. The grain thus salvaged goes back into the grades from which it is was extracted and is so handled with the consent and co-opertaion of the inspection department.

C. B. Watts, secretary of the Dominion Millers' Association representing the Ontario Government cross-examined both witnesses, challenging their idea of where the averages came from. He maintained that to some extent they came from dockage ordered removed on entering the public terminal elevators, but which is not wholly removed, and that which remains gradually makes up a large average.

J. P. Kenny, organizer of the Fort William sample market and produce exchange in 1917, advocated the establishment of a sample market during an address before the commission. He claimed that no grain had been sent out of the country that had not been blended but only grain on a sample market should be permitted to be mixed. He said the sample market should be permitted to be mixed. He said the sample market had not functioned for the very good reason "that in buying on grade the trade could get the grain for less money."

KING FORMALLY OPENS WEMBLEY TO WIDE WORLD

Great Britain Has Spent One Hundred Million Dollars On Her Empire Exhibition and Expects Two Million People a Week Until September.

PUBS NEVER CLOSE.

LONDON, April 23. — At noon today, East and West meet under the Union Jack at Wembley, where the British have assembled all the vast Empire together in minature.

An assemblage of more than 150,000 persons of white, black, yellow, brown and intermediate hues, standing with bared heads in a stadium far larger than any erected by the Greeks and Romans in the days of their imperial glory, will see King George V. as he formally opened to the whole world this exhibition of the lives and labors of the hundreds of millions of people under his sceptre.

His voice went out on waves of ether, and if nature was kind to the radio, it may be heart in India, South Africa, Canada, and even the farflung reaches of the Empire. It was the first time that more than a tiny fraction of the peoples owing allegiance to the British Crown have been able to hear the voice of the sovereign.

Until September.

Daily, from that moment until the first of September, this Empire in a suburb will attract to its gates the world and his wife. Exhibition officials expect the crowds of visitors to average 2,000,000 persons weekly. Enormous structures of concrete stretched out over many acres will be show cases for the industries and works of engineering skill that have made Great Britain the great manufacturing nation that it is. Around two central structures, along 15 miles of streets, stand separate buildings put up by each of the dominions and colonies scattered over the five continents and the seven seas.

Minerts of the East and the turned up eaves of Burmese buildingings mingling with towers of Christendom and the severely simple roofing of the West, form a strange silhouette against the Wembley skyline. In a few weeks the green English turf will carpet all the exhibition grounds and the walks, neat and trim, will be crowded with men, women and children, who have come from many lands over the seas.

Like Movie Studio.

But to-day the whole place seemed like a great mass of motion picture studios. There was scaffolding behind some "sets" where carpenters were rushing to finish their jobs and dust blew in every walk as motor trucks roared and smoked, and their drivers shouted fiercely at all who impeded their hurry. Australians toiled in their shirt sleeves, Englishmen with their coats on, and coal-black African natives in overcoats and wooly mufflers, for although the day was warm for England, it was cold for them, so recently brought to this chilly isle from their native tropics, when garments, when worn at all, are of insignificant dimensions.

Turbaned, bewhiskered Indians went about their hurried western work with eastern ease. Rising to one side of their building are the Himalayas, done in Stucco and paint, and sharing their eastern horizon at Wembley with the undulating framework of lumber that goes to make the mile a minute scenic railway roller coaster. But this moving picture atmosphere is not make-believe. The British were seldom more serious about anything than they are about this exhibition into which they have already put £20,000,000 of their wealth.

Warm Welcome.

London, which expects to be the mecca of tourists from everywhere this Spring and Summer, will extend her usually brief social season until the exhibition closes its gates. Such gaiety as has not been enjoyed since the war is expected to be the daily and nightly thing in the heart of the empire. Midnight closing rules affecting cafes, cabarets, and other places of enjoyment, are off, and wine will flow until the early hours every morning, with music, laughter and merrymaking aplenty for rich and poor alike.

King George yesterday conferred a barony on Sir James Stevenson, the chairman of the Standing Committee of the exhibition, and also decorated the principal architect, John William Simpson, and E. O. Williams, the principal engineer.

Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles gave a brilliant reception last night at Chesterfield House, the 450 guests including the chief organizers of the exhibition and representatives of all the dominions.

ANOTHER WORLD CONFERENCE ON REDUCING ARMS

President Coolidge Promises Editors at Associated Press Annual Meeting That His Effort Will Depend on Reparations Settlement In Europe.

HEARD BY MILLIONS.

NEW YORK, April 23—The promise of efforts to bring about another world conference to attempt further limitation of armaments was given by President Coolidge in an address Tuesday at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press.

Such efforts, the President declared, must be predicated upon the firm establishment of a definite settlement of German reparations. With this effected the United States would well be in a position to take the lead in promoting an international conference.

The President expressed the belief that the proposed conference might well be based on the theory of the Washington Conference of a few years ago, which he called to mind had to leave unsolved the subjects of submarines, airplanes and land forces. The conference he asserted, might well take up the codification of international law, with an attempt to establish rules of warfare and to determine the rights of neurals.

Economic Stability

While emphasizing that Europe must first set her economic house in order, Mr. Coolidge declared there appeared to be every reason to hope that the report of the Reparation Commission's committee of experts "offers a basis for a practical solution of the reparations problem." He noted that "the Allies are looking upon it with full sympathy and Germany has expressed a willingness to cooperate in the execution of the plan."

The President declared that while the United States had determined to maintain her political independence the country's economic independence would be "strengthened and increased when the economic stability of Europe is restored."

Speech Broadcast

The President spoke directly to 1,000 persons, including the editors and publishers of most of the country's leading newspapers, and to millions through eleven of the most powerful radio broadcasting stations, linked directly through more than seven thousand miles of wire with the ballroom of the Hotel Waldorf Astoria, where the luncheon was held

The President's address was devoted in the main to foreign relations, but he touched on several other topics. He referred in passing to the Senate investigation relevations and renewed his declaration of determination to punish the guilty. He condemned "determined assaults upon the public Treasury," by minority groups, and reiterated his advocacy of tax reduction.

Twenty Boats Cleared From Fort William.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. April 23.—Twenty boats cleared yesterday all with wheat, nine for Montreal and five for Buffalo and the other for bay ports. They carried in all 3,396,000 bushels of wheat, the C. O. Jenkins taking the largest cargo 525,000 bushels.

MAIL CLERKS SENTENCED

MOOSE JAW, Sask., April 23.—Found guilty of receiving stolen goods, two railway mail clerks, H. A. MacDonald and C. D. Armour were sentenced to 15 and 12 months respectively in the Regina jail by Justice Mackenzie in the court of King's Bench here yesterday. A third clerk, J. T. McElroy was found not guilty on a similar charge.

Ex-Premier's Son Wounded in Duel

NAPLES, April 23.—(Canadian Press).— A duel with swords was fought here between Vincenzo Nitti, son of former Premier Nitti, and Giulio Francesconi, in which Nitti was painfully wounded in the right arm.

The duel was the outgrowth of an article published by Francesconi in the Fascist newspaper Mezzo Giorno, which Nitti considered an insult to his father. The duel lasted for ten assaults, when Francesconi ran Nitti through the arm. Thereupon the surgeons in attendance stopped the fight.

Seeding is Begun In Parts of West

WINNIPEG, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—If fine weather continues for the remainder of the week, seeding operations should be fairly general throughout many sections of the prairie provinces early next week, according to reports received here yesterday. The land is reported to be in excellent condition with sufficient moisture to remove any fear of drought for some weeks.

Seeding is well under way in some districts of Alberta. A heavy snowfall Monday night in northern Alberta will delay work for a few days but in the southern part of the province it will be in full swing at the beginning of the week.

In Saskatchewan and Manitoba a few farmers have commenced seeding. Seeding on Indian lands in the Qu'Appelle Valley, Saskatchewan started last Friday.

HAVANA STRIKE CRIPPLES CITY

Thirty Thousand Union Workers Quit In Sympathy With Dockers — Even Brewery Wagons Are Stranded.

HAVANA, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—Thirty thousand union workers, including 23,000 cigar and cigarette makers, were idle in Havana yesterday. They are supporting the striking dock workers.

Street car men and taxi and bus drivers have abandoned their posts and joined the strikers. Nails, tacks and broken glass on the streets made the driving of private automobiles hazardous.

No ice was delivered! no newspapers were published except the three English language papers; the drivers of the brewery wagons quit and few men were willing to deliver gasoline to the filling stations and thereby both beer and gasoline went up in price.

The union leaders predicted that by today the garbage men and street cleaners would be out and that the railroad workers would refuse to handle freight.

The Government on Monday had police protecting nearly one hundred trucks and carts which were hauling freight to the wharves, and yesterday ordered one hundred convicts under soldier guard to handle freight on the docks. President Zayas conferred again with the leaders of the two sides in the dock strike.

The question at issue hangs largely on recognition of the union.

PERMANENT FORCE WILL BE REDUCED

Cut of $490,000 Necessitates Reduction to Enable Department to Remain Within Allowance

OTTAWA, April 23. — (Canadian Press).—A drastic reduction in the permanent forces throughout the Dominion is to be made shortly to enable the Department of National Defence to remain within the amount to be voted by Parliament this session and which represents a cut of $400,000 from last year. "A plan has been drawn up and is now being considered," said G. J. Desbarats, Deputy-Minister of National Defence, last night, "but nothing definite has been reached yet." Military Districts Nos. 1, 2 and 3 in Ontario will feel the cut as severely as any in the Dominion.

AVIATION CONGRESS

ROME, April 23.—The Sixth Juridical Aviation Congress, at which twenty seven States are represented, opened here yesterday. Premier Mussolini, who delivered an address said he was glad to inaugurate the Congress, not only as head of the Government, but as Commissioner General of Aeronautics. Italy had given a remarkable impulse to the juridical regulations of aerial navigation, he added, by enacting a law which, without being perfect, constituted a fundamental contribution to aerial legislation and had served as an example to other countries.

United States representatives were present with no special object except the progress of the Congress.

BRITISH ENDORSE THE SUGGESTION PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

Government Will Likely Be Among the First to Accept Invitation to Limitation of Armament Conference.

THE FRENCH VIEW

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, April 23.—President Coolidge's suggestion of a new conference for limitation of armaments and his endorsement of the Dawe's report as a basis for settlement of the reparations were received with whole-hearted approval in British official circles to-day.

In view of the Labour Party's platform urging limitation of air, submarine and land forces and Prime Minister MacDonald's declaration that such limitation is vital to the preservation of world peace, it is considered a foregone conclusion that Great Britain, as in the case of the Washintgon conference, will be the first nation to express official approval of Mr. Coolidge's suggestions.

It is confidently expected Macdonald will take the earliest opportunity to make an official declaration of British approval of the Coolidge suggestions when Parliament resumes after the Easter recess.

Meantime, the British press warmly praises the American President's remarks.

Characterizing the conference suggestion as "of the highest importance," the Daily News adds:

"If a serious attempt is made by the French government to torpedo this new effort for peace, with all the hopeful consequences, that it implies, the isolation of the French Republic then must be final and complete."

The Manchester Guardian also endorses the proposal for a new arms conference to be held as soon as the reparations question is settled.

"As long as France is nervous about the security of her eastern frontier her present diplomacy will continue, because there are armaments everywhere in Europe. But with a real settlement of the reparations problem she can no longer have grounds for fear."

Bulletin Tonight

The Examiner will bulletin the result of the voting on the Canadian General by-law to-night. Results may be expected about seven o'clock.

FRENCH DEMAND NEW SANCTIONS

Britain Is Believed to Be Willing to Support France's Claim to a Substitute For Her Evacuation of Ruhr.

LONDON, April 22.—France and Great Britain have not yet agreed on penalties under the Dawes plan so far as was known in London last night. The experts 'report on reparations was formally presented to the British Government only in the Easter holidays. Premier MacDonald has been out of town and will not return until the end of the week, and until then no official action could be taken.

It is generally understood in British Government circles that France will ask Great Britain to agree to new sanctions, in view of the pledges she will surrender if France evacuates the Ruhr. Great Britain, it is understood, would be willing to agree to such new sanctions and pledge her assistance in putting them into effect.

The nature of these measures is the subject of wide speculation, and until Premier MacDonald brings the problem formally before his Cabinet, no definite statement regarding Franco-British action can be obtained.

The whole question of the experts' report and how it will be made effective, still appears rather obscure and it is not quite clear what the next stage will be, according to British officials. It is thought that the principal object is to get the report adopted and into working order as quickly as possible. However, British officials expect considerable delay because of the approaching French German elections, and it is stated that all plans for an inter-allied conference, or a meeting of Premiers, are premature before the results of the continental elections are known.

LARGE CARGO OF SILK LANDED AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—With several million dollars worth of silk, the largest cargo of Siberian silks ever brought across the Pacific Ocean and a passenger list of over 700 the Canadian Pacific S. S. Empress of Russia docked here this afternoon. Within a few minutse from the time the big liner was tied up the silk was being emptied from her holds into the especially fitted boat cars which awaited it and in less than three hours later the entire shipment pulled out of the railway yards for its destination in the Eastern markets.

CANADA LOSES MORAL IDEALS AS A NATION

SASKATOON, April 23.—(Canadian Press). — Canada is losing its moral ideals as a nation, and the same thing applies to the church, home and school in Canada, K. C. McLeod, superintendent of neglected children for Alberta, declared before the Child Welfare Conference here yesterday.

Mr. McLeod said he was not a pessimist, not an alarmist, but he believed parents should know conditions going on about them. "Watch your daughters" was a maxim Mr. McLeod propounded.

THAT GAME FROM CHINA

Though that isn't all. A man writes from Chicago to say that Mr. Collins put Princess Mary's birth in Queen Victoria's Jubilee Year, when it should have been in her Diamond Jubilee Year, ten years later.

But not all the correspondents point out our mistakes; one lady writes to say that we were apparently right when we said that the name of the Chinese game was probably furnished by Professor Hee Li. She sends a clipping from the "Boston Transcript" (a distand relative of The Postscript) in which Mrs. Prescott Warren refers to a "scholarly book" on the game written by Mr. Ly Yu Ching. The lady who writes us thinks Hee Li and Ly Yu is (or are) the same man. It does look that way. The "Transcript" paragraph goes on to say that Mr. Ly (the family name comes first in Chinese, doesn't it?) prefers the spelling Ma Chian, though Ma Chiang comes the nearest to the actual way it is pronounced in even the most cultivated Chinese circles. The form Ma (or Mah) Jong is the way it started here, and is about right after all, since the "ch" in Chiang is almost like "j," the "i" is hardly sounded at all and the "an" is broad, like "awn." The "Transcript" item doesn't say anything about the "g." But just this very minute we have a bright thought, to wit: Why not pronounce Ma Jong, Ma Jong? And since the "Companion" prints it Ma Jung, Ma Jung, Ma Jung?

This Chinese game, Ma Jung,
Whose fame is loudly sung,
Appears to rhyme with bung.
Yes, bung, and pung, among, and young.

(How easy to get nicely stuag
In spelling this, our English tongue!)

The "Trasncript" says that the meaning of the name in Chinese is "sparrow." We think it would not be a bad notion to call is sparrow.

There is a game in the country which, if introduced into China, will no doubt cause similar confusion. They ought to write it Po-Ker, but will they? No; more likely Poo-Ker, or Poh-Quhr, or Pok-Yer, or Poor-Chiaur; and learned mandarins such as Hee Hi Brow, who writes The Postscript page for the Pekin Gazette (founded 3500 b.c.), will explain why it should really be written Po'-Cur, being derived from Poor-Cur, literally poor dog, corrupted in the Province of Koney-lland into hot dog.

Professor William J. Hussey, director of the University of Michigan observatory, at present in Africa, has found a location near Johannesburg for his new 27-inch telescope. The expedition to Africa marks the end of a 20-year search by Professor Hussey of the southern hemisphere to discover the best site for the telescope with which to carry on his work on double stars. He has picked out one of the battlefields of the Boer War.

BURNBRAE TUG OF WAR TEAM'S HOLIDAY MATCH

Seymour Township's Men Will Wrest With Percy's Pullers — Boarder Fined But Receives Apology From Plaintiff.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 23. — Ontario sent a tug-of-war team to the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893 and won the championship of the universe. The home of the members of that team was in the famous township of West Zorra, in Oxford County, the loyal inhabitants of which are on record to preserve the integrity of their township as a British adjunct even though the remainder of the nation were taken over by the United States.

The championship won by West Zorra might have come to Seymour if the Burnbrae team had been organised as long ago as 1893, but as the record stands to-day the Burnbrae men are the recognised leaders in Western Ontario, never having met with a defeat. It is true that on one occasion they tied with their opponents, but that, it has always been claimed by their supporters, was because the rope broke.

That was a famous contest. The scene was a church social on the English Line, and Burnbrae's opponents were 10 sturdy farmers from that community, every man a giant in strength and inspired with an ambition to win the championship for his neighbourhood.

The rope was an inch and a half in diameter, the same as that used for the forks with which modern farmers unload their hay. Twice it broke and the issue was never decided. The Burnbrae men were in favour of securing another rope, but it seems that the English Liners wer satisfied with the havoc that had been wrought.

The Burnbrae team carried on under the auspices of the Sons of Scotland Society in Campbellford, to which every member belonged. Although the team was made up of men who reside in Burnbrae district it has always been regarded as a township institution, and as such is now expected to uphold the honour of Seymour in a tug-of-war with the Percy Twnship team at the celebration here on 23rd May, this event marking the revival of this form of sport which has been quiescent for some years. The Burnbrae men were, like so many conquerors, the victims of their own prowess. Like Alexander the Great, they had overcome their own world, and there were no fresh laurels to be won.

In the Percy team the Burnbrae men will meet worthy and distinguished opponents, for the former bested everything in sight at the virtue of that achievement entitled Roseneath Fair last fall, and are by to be regarded as the runners-up for the district championship.

About four years ago West Seymour farmers developed an athletic ambition and organised a team to endeavour to bring the championship to their side of the river. They tried once and failed. Facing the Burnbrae men on a public holiday in Campbellford they were dragged in a bunch over the line by the East-siders. Since that date there has been no tug-of-war contest in this town.

Personnel of Team.

The original Burnbrae team, which is catpained by J. A. Stewart, is still intact. A. G. Watson, one of the members, is the only one who has left the farm and he says that business life in Campbellford has had a tendency to sap the strength developed by life in the open.

Three of the most powerful and hefty men on the team are William Little and his two sons, their combined weight being over 600 pounds. The father is anchor man.

The other members are: Will Hume, one of the best all round players in the Campbellford baseball nine last year, Lindsay Watson, brother of Allan G., Bert Hay, Bert Third, Roy Walker and Victor Taylor. Malcolm Totten can always be depended upon to ably fill the breach caused by the absence of a regular member.

The McManaman Case.

Three weeks ago Charles McManaman, who came to this country last summer with the British harvesters, and who secured work here during the winter months, went to Lindsay to visit friends, during a lay-off in the factory in which he was employed. His landlady swore out a warrant for his arrest, charging him with non-payment of his board bill, and the young man was brought back by Chief Duncalfe.

At the police court trial the landlady swore that the defendant owed her $35. McManaman testified that he had no intention of shirking the debt, that he intended to return in a few days and that he had a return ticket from Lindsay. He was ordered to pay the bill, with costs, and was fined besides.

Mrs. McGrath, the landlady, has since signed the following statement:

"In giving evidence in the charge that was laid against you I was of the impression that you owed for board at the time, $35.00. On further thought and consultation with my sister, I think I was mistaken and that you did not owe that amount for board at the time I gave my evidence ,but did owe a small amount.

"I am very sorry that I had not consulted with my sister more before giving my evidence and if my having stated that you owed more than you really did has caused you an injury, I am very sorry, as I had no intention of doing you or any person an injury at the time.

"I hope you will accept this in the manner it is given as I did not intend to do any harm to you and I apologize to you if you have received any injury from the mistake I made."

At the time the defendant claimed that the amount of the bill was $4.60 and that he believed there was sufficient money due him at the place where he was employed to cover this indebtedness.

A LACROSSE TEAM FOR CAMPBELLFORD

Organization Completed Last Evening—Lots of Sport This Summer.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 23.— A junior lacrosse team was organized here last night when the following officers were elected:

Honorary president—Mayor A. J. Meyers.

Honorary vice-president — A. J. Stewart.

President—Dr. C .V. Bussey.

Vice-president—H. Lawrie.

Secretary—A. J. Wood.

Treasurer—Donald Robertson.

Manager—J. A. Kerr.

Executive—Charles R. Holmes, H. Cassidy, J. Nesbitt, Neil B. Dickson, C. Montgomery.

It is a certainty that Hastings, Havelock and Marmora will have teams in this group and Peterborough, Madoc and Tweed may also become members.

It was decided to do away with the guarantee system and to have each club pay its own expenses when playing away from home.

As a matter of economy the club is in favor of using home referees instead of sending to Toronto for these officials.

Application will be made at once for affiliation with the O.A.L.A.

At the outset of the season and until the club is on a sound financial footing, officers and players when away from home will each pay half of his own expenses.

The organization of this club means that Campbellford will have a lacrosse, football and baseball team in the field this year. It also means that at the big celebration on May 23rd, under the auspices of the Seymour Agricultural Society, besides baseball and football contests, there will be a game of lacrosse, the game that never fails to draw a crowd in Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Special Services in the Churches for Easter—Young People Meet.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 23.— The services at the Methodist church church on Sunday were well attended and a large choir of thirty-eight members were present morning and evening. The special music was enjoyed by all. In the morning there were two anthems and a solo by Mr. Collison and in the evening the choir sang three splendid anthems. There was also a quartette, "Love Divine", taken by Mrs. Richardson, Miss Hoover, Dr. Richardson and Mr. Lucy. Mr. Cowell, the organist and choir leader, played three beautiful voluntaries, Choral Song (Wesley) Vesper hymn fantasia by Dr. Turpin and Fifth Symphony by Tschaikowsky. Both the morning and evening sermons by the Pastor, Rev. W. Elliott were on Easter themes.

There was also special music in the Sunday School in the afternoon under the direction of Mr. Geo. W. Lucy.

The Ladies' Aid will have their annual meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Chas. Davidson.

The Salvation Army have a special meeting in the Methodist Church on Friday night when Commissioner Sowton will visit the local corps and give an address. There will also be special music.

The members of the Orange Lodge will worship in the Methodist church next Sunday, April 27th at the evening service.

The Epworth League had their regular meeting on Monday night with the President in the chair. Mr. Howard Fairman 4th Vice-President had charge of the programme. There was a good attendnce for the rainy night. The following program was given: Instrumental Duet by Mr. W. Lowe, (cornet) and Mr. Harry Boyd (violin).

Piano Solo, Miss Ina Boyd.

Violin Solo, H. Boyd accompanied on the piano by Mrs. C. W. Turner.

A splendid topic was given by Mr. Skitch. On Monday, April 28th will be the Election of Officers in the League.

Committees were appointed to arrange for the play to be given on Thursday May 2nd in the Regent Theatre. The name of the play is "The Hero" and will be given by the young people of the Tabernacle Church of Belleville, under the direction of Miss Jessie Tuite of that city.

At The Regent

"A Doll's House" was the feature picture at the Regent Theatre last night with "The Pitfalls of a Big City" as the comedy offering.

For the last three nights of the weeks the bill will be "Pioneer Trails," and another episode of the Pathe serial "Speed". "Pioneer Trails' is a high class production but there will be no increase in prices.

NAME REVISION IN CURRICULUM

Getting Even With Home Work, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson Plans to Better Education in the Province.

TORONTO, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—A general revision of the Ontario Public School curriculum was announced last night by Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, who in his first address to the Ontario Educational Association as Minister of Education, stated that a greatly modified course of study would become operative with the beginning of the next school year. Addressing the general session of the O. E. A. convention, in Convocation Hall, the Premier declared that the time had come when he intended to make good a long standing threat "to get even with home work."

To carry out his purpose he proposed two fundamental changes in the public school curriculum now in use:

1—A readjustment which will make the course of study more flexible and allow individual communities to fashion their course or courses to meet their peculiar needs.

2—The relieving of overcrowding in the existing curriculum by the elimination from the compulsory class of a "lot of subjects which I think are not essential."

The Premier expressed the hope that the suggested changes would remove the disability under which he believed the rural schools of the Province were laboring. Under the curriculum now in use and because of the fact that teachers in ungraded rural schools were required to teach too many subjects, the country child was getting "not a training but a smattering of knowledge."

Plan Outlined.

In order to reach that flexibility which was one of the objects of revision, he proposed that there be established a minimum requirement of work in courses of a practical type. Parallel to this would be a series of supplementary courses, any one of which could be brought into operation in individual schools or groups of schools, provided responsible authorities believed that the course of courses selected were adapted to the needs of their particular community. Mr. Ferguson did not give any details of the proposed changes but he indicated their direction by criticizing the teaching of complicated arithmetic in junior grades, complex parsing and analysis that is a nightmare to the child, separate text books for reading and literature, the separate teaching of spelling and composition and separate teaching of hygiene and physical culture.

In concluding, the Premier intimated that he looked upon the revision as something of an experiment, and suggested that it was a step towards more democratic control of the public school. He asked educationists to whom he spoke to try out the new system for a year and then give him the benefit of their advice on the matter.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Many Holiday Visitors In Town — Miss E. C. Hawken Returns to Toronto.

MILLBROOK, April 23. — Mrs. (Dr.) Davey, of Bayonne, N.J., and her daughter, Miss Marjorie, who is in her second year at Syracuse University, were guests of Mrs. W. Archer over Good Friday. Mrs. Davey, who before her marriage was Miss Eva Peterson, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howell, spent her girlhood in Millbrook, and on her recent visit renewed acquaintance with many former friends. Mrs. and Miss Davey were guests of Dr. and Mrs. T. N. Greer, Peterboro, over Sunday, and will visit friends in Colborne, Toronto and other points before returning to their home in the States.

Miss Kathleen Sutton, assistant Principal of the Continuation School, is spending the Easter holiday with her sister in New York.

Mr. Bruce Dawson, of Warsaw, is holidaying at home until after the Easter vacation.

Mrs. J. Dawson, who has been in Peterboro for the past few months, has returned to her home, Marshal Street, her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Perrin, of Peterboro, being with her for Easter.

Miss Gertrude Spence, of Markham, is holidaying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Spence, Main Street.

Miss M. Money, of Stratford, formerly Principal of the Continuation School here, was the guest of the Misses Armour over the Easter holiday.

Miss M. Collins, of Oshawa, and her niece and nephew, Bernice and Bobby Dunford, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Smith for the Easter holidays.

Misses Lottie and Margaret Luxon are home from their respective schools at Sutton West and Fournier for the Easter holidays.

Mr. Cecil Larmer, of Peterboro, was in town over the Easter week-end.

Mr. Charles Lord and his sister, Miss Mabel, of Beaverton, motored to Millbrook and spent the holiday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lord.

Miss Alberta Russell was a visitor to Peterboro on Saturday.

Miss E. C. Hawken, missionary on furlough, who spoke in the Methodist Church on Sunday and again on Monday evening, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bvam and of Mrs. H. Rea and Miss A. Hampton during her stay here. Miss Hawken spoke in George Street Church, Peterboro, on Tuesday evening, and will spend the last of the week with Miss May Mitchell in Oshawa, resuming her studies at the Methodist Training School, Toronto, next Monday. Miss Hawken's furlough expires this summer, but she has not yet received her appointment to her new field of labor. The last six years she has spent at the Kolokreeka Home and Boarding School, Smoky Lake, Alberta.

Mr. S. Jones, of Newtonville, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hatherly over the week-end.

Mr. A. Payne of Hamilton, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Payne.

Mrs. J. Spence and daughter, Miss Gertrude, were visitors to Peterboro on Saturday.

Mrs. J. A. Vance and daughters, Mary and Marjorie, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Taggart, at Westport, have returned home.

Miss Gladys Gray of Janetville, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Gray, for the holiday week.

Miss Mary Hatherly of Newtonville, is home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hatherly, for the Easter holidays.

Miss Isabel Handley was a visitor to Peterboro on Saturday.

Miss Hazel Todd, principal of the Continuation School, has gone to her home in Kemptville for the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Raymes, of Brighton, and Miss Gertrude Richards of Fenelon Falls, spent Easter as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Douglas, and daughter, aMrie, were visitors in Peterborough on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winslow, of Guelph, were guests of Mrs. W. G. Russell over the Easter week-end.

Misses Kathleen and Jean Thorndyke of Toronto, are spending the Easter holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Thorndyke.

Miss Gladys Smith of Toronto, is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Smith, for the holiday week.

Miss Victoria Winslow of Montreal, is visiting her brother, Mr. L. H. Winslow, Ida, and other friends in Millbrook and Cavan, during the Easter holidays.

PETER SMITH WILL GET REMAND TODAY

Case Was Called in Police Court This Morning

TORONTO April 23 (Canadian Press). — When the case of the Hon. Peter Smith, former Provincial Treasurer, charged with conspiracy to defraud the Province out of certain moneys in connection with the sale of succession duty-free bonds, is called in the Police Court this morning, the Crown will ask for a remand for another week.

Eric Armour, K.C., County Crown Attorney, and his assistant, J. C. McRuer, had a conference yesterday afternoon at the Parliament Buildings with the Hon. W. H. Price, the Provincial Treasurer, in connection with the prosecution of the Hon. Peter Smith.

SMALL TOWN HAS NOTORIOUS NAME.

It Is a Place of Diluted Wine, Diluted Women and the Siren Song of the Poker Chips.

By JACK JUNGMEYER.

TIA JUANA, Mex., April 23. — This ugly little border town with the pretty name, pronounced Tesa Wana, where Americans come to jump the traces—

The town which, with Mexicali, was accounted so pernicious upon adjoining American communities that it provoked the recent 9 o'clock international line curfew, thus making it officially one of the most talked-of towns on the Continent—

The town, thriving by lure of forbidden fruit; run largely by Americans who for gaming privileges alone pay the Mexican Government a quarter million dollars a month; a place of diluted wine, diluted women and the siren song of chips, in a frowsy echo of Monte Carlo—

Of this Tesa Wana town the following is a kaleidoscopic impression:

Booze Comes High.

COMING: Along the boulevard named by some irate minister "The Highway to Hell," and by its pilgrims mockingly adopted, a steady caravan of autos, busses, trains, disgorging folk from every State at the little border shed.

PASSING IN: Newcomers edging officials a bit timidly; awaiting the onslaught of temptation; old-timers hastening to preferred rendezvous—to the race track and Sunset Inn, proffering rum, roulette and dinner dance; to Old Town, a huddle of blowsy shacks, half a mile across the little river, less pretentious.

OLD TOWN: Wooden, raw, false-fronted, its shacks belching panny music; whispering invitations from the percentage women to come have a drink; girt with long bars; stale with beer and the reek of a mixed race throng.

BOOZE: Hard drinks, with the old labels, at bootleg prices, occasionally genuine, 50 cents a shot. Beer, "fifteen cents," unless you drink it with the percentage women. Much more then.

Folks going in and out, sniffing booze, sniffing "hot dogs" and fried onions. And off one side a solitary Mexican traffic cop, in dusty khaki, musing above an open sewer ditch in the torn dirty street.

Lots of bars, but singularly little drinking.

Gambling Attracts 'Em.

"Women"—few of them in evidence. They were recently ordered off the streets by the Mexican Government, which has started at least a semblance of housecleaning here since the curfew.

Two houses, innocent enough to the eye, said to be protected dope dens. The thin nauseous whiff of opium. But no one going in and out.

But gambling—there's the real seduction of Tesa Wana. The three houses operated by a quartet of Americans, one at the race track, two at Old Town, swarm with patrons, men and women — white, brown, black. Plungers for high stakes at roulette, ecarte, klondyke, dice, the wheels; pikers shamefacedly feeding the petty slot machines.

Women Chief Patrons.

Women gamble hardest. Mostly middleaged or elderly women, shopping about the tables like bargain hunters. Here is one who hasn't budged from a chair in four hours. There's one they point out as a consistent winner, hundreds a day.

The young women, they laugh sometimes. They wager the dollars of their escorts.

Around this feverish nucleus of Old Town rambles the village. A fort, pink and white, such as you see in movie melodramas, with the noon-day guard-mount of nondescript soldiery and tasselated officers, the only authentic Mexican color in the scene.

Beside it the tiny frame church in which some screen folk have been married. Beyond it the jail. Farther on a ramshackle bullring, like a little country baseball stand, seldom used. Not a Mexican flag in the town.

Curfew's Never Late.

Back to the race track with its rococo stands, flanked by many low stables, set in a pleasant meadow. Gaudy jockeys flashing past like animated dice flung along the course.

A woman's shriek as a 50 to 1 shot wins. A capper's shriek? It provokes a stampede to the bookmakers' cubicles and the mutuel stands.

Dusk and dinner, wine and jazz, flirtation—and a warning gong.

Nearly 9 o'clock. A bustle at the line, where the curfew chain impends. Caught on this side, they soak you $8 for a bed.

Motors roar. Inspectors search cars for booze. Watch for tipsy drivers, making them walk a chalk-line if there's a doubt. Holding up the calvacade again two miles across the American border, scanning faces with flashlights, thus holding down the former high accident rate on "The Highway to Hell."

A waggish Mexican hairless dog stands by the chain barrier as it falls on the stroke of 9. He grins at the departing host. A sort of symbolical dog, he is. A trimmed dog. Trimmed good.

POLICE HUNTING FOR C. MATTHEWS

Provincial Officers Told to Bring Ex-Deputy Treasurer Back.

TORONTO, April 23 (Canadian Press). — A closely guarded secret was the reason for the trip made yesterday afternoon by Alfred Cuddy, Deputy Commissioner of the Ontario Police, and Inspector Boyd, of the Criminal Investigation Department, to the Bloor-Runnymede district, where the home of Charles A. Mathews, former Deputy-Provincial Treasurer, is located.

The officers were in the Provincial police car, and remained in the district some time, according to members of the city police who saw the Provinial officers.

Deputy Commissioner Cuddy has been charged by Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General, with the duty of securing the return to Toronto of the ex-Deputy Provincial Treasurer, and it is understood the visit to the north-west limit of the city yesterday was the first move.

PRESIDENT HARDING ELECTED A FREE MAN

WASHINGTON, April 23 (Canadian Press). — Harry M. Daugherty, in a statement issued here last night, declared that "President Harding was nominated and elected the freest man that ever stepped across the threshold of the White House."

The cheap sensational talk by the Partisan Committee and others in regard to the manner in which President Harding was nominated and elected, is false. There was no oil discussion at the convention or during the Harding campaign, he stated.

MAKING MAKE MONEY MONEY

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

Five one thousand dollar insurance policies are better for the average man than one five thousand dollar policy.

The man of average means wants to carry all of the life insurance that he can well afford to carry, for it serves as an excellent protection to his family, but the mistake if often made of carrying all of the insurance in one policy.

One thousand dollars is the unit of insurance in most companies, and five one thousand dollar policies will cost no more than one five thousand dollar policy. The advantage in holding several small policies is that the loss of employment of temporariy inability to work may make it impossible to continue the full amount of insurance, and in such case where the insurance is in several policies one policy can be cashed in, and the proceeds applied to the payment of premiums to keep the remaining policies paid up.

THE MOTOR SHOW.

No citizen worthy of the name would willingly deprive a victim of tuberculosis of a chance to shake off that dread disease, rob a child of subnormal health of the blessing of weeks of treatment in a fresh-air camp or leave the community without the services of a district nurse.

And yet those who stay away from the Motor Show and therefore fail to help finance the activities of the Health Association are to some extent at least contributing to the results outlined in the opening paragraph.

Outside of a grant from the City Council, the association is dependent upon the proceeds of the Motor Show to take care of most of its expenditures.

A small surplus would be disastrous from every viewpoint, and the plain duty of the people of this community is to make sure that there will be an adequate sum left as the net result of the show.

The event itself is undoubtedly the biggest of its kind yet held, both from the viewpoint of exhibits, and also in its entertainment features.

Rotarians, Kiwanians, Daughters of the Empire and many other organizations are assisting in making the show a memorable success.

The issue is up to the people.

Their support is needed to crown the efforts of the committees, and the Examiner is confident that the citizens will rise to the occasion and give the Motor Show a record-breaking attendance.

THE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA.

In its concert before the Rotary Club on Monday evening the Peterborough Symphony Orchestra demonstrated unmistakably that it has made rapid progress since its organization and that it will prove a worthy representative of local musical circles in the Ontario competition next week.

The expense of sending an orchestra of at least fifty pieces to Toronto for this contest is not light, and the financing of the expedition is not an easy task for the executive of the organization.

While no attempt will be made to organize a campaign for financial assistance, it is felt that there may be citizens sufficiently interested in music to be willing to aid the orchestra in its effort to bring Provincial honours to Peterborough, and the Examiner is informed that subscriptions from such citizens will be gratefully received by the orchestra.

Last year the Trinity Sunday School Orchestra, which forms the nucleus of the present organization, was successful in winning first place in its class.

The Symphony Orchestra, a bigger and more ambitious undertaking, will compete in three classes next week, and a good showing will do much to add to the laurels Peterborough has already won as a musical centre.

Anything that may be done thereto lighten the burden of financing the orchestra's trip to Toronto will be the means of helping to secure valuable publicity for this city.

RURAL EDUCATION.

Miss Agnes MacPhail's declaration that Ontario's existing educational system is educating rural children off the farms of the Province has enough in its to arrest attention.

It coincides with the views held by Ontario's Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. S. Martin, who has on more than one occasion expressed the opinion that the Province needed a system of education in the rural schools that would impress upon the sons and daughters of farmers the fact that agriculture offered them every opportunity for success in life if intelligently and scientifically practised.

It remains to be seen how far Mr. Martin will be successful in "selling" that idea to his Leader, Premier Ferguson, who is holding the education portfolio.

Mr. Martin is this summer to investigate the system of rural education so successfully established in Denmark, and on his return from his explorations it is expected that he will have a constructive programme ready for the consideration of his colleagues.

Certain it is that there is something lacking in the present school system in rural Ontario.

It is not producing the results that are desired.

Rural pupils apparently are being, as Miss MacPhail puts it, "educated off the farm," and encouraged to look upon "white collar" jobs as the most desirable vocation in life.

The advantages of farming are not emphasized sufficiently to counteract the lure of other occupations, and the result is an exodus to the cities.

Perhaps the Minister of Agriculture will come back from Denmark with a system that will meet the needs of the situation.

That there is need of some change no one who has given the least thought to the matter will attempt to deny.

REFORMING THE SENATE.

That curiously-constituted body, the Canadian Council of Agriculture, has recently appeared before the Government of Canada to lay before that organization certain proposals designed for the betterment of conditions, political and economic, in the Dominion, says the Saskatoon Progressive. Among other things advocated was the reform of the Senate. The Council did not specify in what manner it desired to see the Senate reformed, but it suggested that a joint committee of both Houses of Parliament should investigate the present situation, hear evidence, and report. The delegation which went to Ottawa declared to the Government that in a democratic country where the people were supposed to rule, the Senate did not seem to fit in. The Senate is appointed, not elected: it is responsible to no one for its actions, and yet it has the supreme legislative authority in Canada. It amounts to this: a power beyond the control of the people can thwart the wishes of the people without consideration of the consequences. The Senate has existed long enough to be able to prove its worth if it has any. For half a century it has been looked upon as a refuge for politicians who had served their time in the House of Commons. When a man is appointed to the Senate he is generally considered to be politically dead and to have reaped a permanent reward for past party services. It might not be so bad to reward old party friends at the public expense if that is all there was to it. If the members of the Senate were really politically impotent and nothing was heard of them except on pay day, the people might tolerate them as the toleration of certain abuses seems part of our constitution. But the difficulty is that the old fellows will and do persist in taking part in the legislation of the country. They should be reformed, and in this case annihilation would appear to be the most satisfactory brand of reformation. It does not seem to us that a great deal could be gleaned from the evidence submitted before a joint committee. The members of the House of Commons are perfectly well aware of the powers and uses of the Senate; they are in possession of information as to the acts of the Senate; they should be in a position to come to a conclusion as to the value of the Senate. We do not see why the Senate should be asked to assist in its own reformation or abolition: some of the members might be biased in the matter. The people of Canada are content that the House of Commons should rule the country. The House of Commons, the regularly elected, representative, responsible body, should determine what they wish done with the Senate and then apply to the proper authorities to have their wishes carried into effect.

REQUISITES OF GROWTH.

Mr. Otto Kahn, who addressed the Empire Club of Toronto the other day, gave some very good advice to Canadians. He laid due stress on the necessity of developing the material resources of this country, but urged his hearers, at the same time, not to overlook the claims of the spirit—"the things of art, culture, beauty, faith, science." The practice of economy, by the individual and by the nation, was commended, as one of "the urgent needs of the day;" taxation was touched upon, and the need of keeping it down to the lowest limits consistent with the national welfare. Then came this suggestive passage: "Don't grudge success, or the reward of success, if gained by character and ability. The man of constructive capacity and enterprise is an asset to the community, and whatever may be the fruits of his activities for himself, much the greater benefit is bound to accrue to the community. The potentialities of Canada are immense. The realization rests with her people."

These are the words of an authority from the United States, a country which has abundantly realized its potentialities. The population of the United States today is over 110,000,000. Canada, with a larger territory, has less than 9,000,000. True, there are certain considerations of climate to account for this enormous disparity of numbers. But climate is not the whole explanation. To many people Canada, with its bracing winters and delightful summers, offers superior attractions to the States across the line. What, then, is the explanation? It must lie in the people themselves, the want of "constructive capacity and enterprise," perhaps, of which Mr. Kahn speaks. Not that this country does not produce constructive geniuses equal to those produced in the United States, nor that enterprise of an equally far-seeing and courageous character is lacking. What is often lacking, however, is the kind of encouragement that Mr. Kahn recognizes as essential. Men of big ideas and daring initiative take them to the United States, where they are appreciated and paid for, to the benefit of that country and the loss of our own.

People go where they can "sell" their ideas and receive adequate compensation for them. How are we to put an end to the leakage in our population? By just such means as Mr. Kahn suggests—by making it profitable for our native sons and daughters to stay in this country, and for others to come here. Canada, with all her bright future before her, in the springtime of her growth and abounding in resources, needing development and exploitation, the application of science to her special problems, more efficient methods of production and distribution—how great is the necessity for concentrating on this problem of retaining and providing for the men of vision and of action! Our schools and colleges pass them out into the world, and it becomes a question of bread and butter for them. Their patriotism is strong, their affection for their native land enduring; but who can blame them for seeking to do the best for themselves? It is time that Governments, Federal and Provincial, took note of this very serious migration southwards, determined the cause and applied the remedy. Canada, said a great statesman, is the land of the twentieth century. The century is already a quarter gone, and it can hardly be said that the progress is what it might have been. Faith, enterprise, brains and energy—these are the essential requirements for the fulfillment of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's prediction.—Hamilton Spectator.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Peterborough is expected to help the Motor Show to "step on the gas" for a flying start tonight.

The robins are doubtless beginning to think they came north too soon.

A cabled despatch says that butter is a strong feature of the Canadian exhibit at Wembley. The adjective was rather unfortunately chosen.

Premier MacDonald is an unusual kind of politician. He declares that he considers doing good work in office as more important than hanging on to power.

Belleville will send couriers out on foot to invite celebrities of the U. E. Loyalists' gathering, thus demonstrating the usual speed of the Bay of Quinte city.

There should not be a defaulter among the city's car-owners tonight. Let the automobile parade make history by a record-breaking turn-out.

It is announced that 3,000 emigrants are leaving the Clyde for Canada in the next fortnight. There will be a general hope that most of these new citizens are en route to the farms of Canada and not to industrial centres.

The whereabouts of Charles A. Mathews is as much a mystery as the date of the plebiscite on the Ontario Temperance Act.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 22.—Choice medium weight butchers' steers are selling from $7.75 a cwt. up, good butchers are 7 cents or a little better, and good mediums 6¾ to 6¾ cents a pound. Few butchers of any account are to be had around or below 6 cents a pound.

One cow buyer stated that he was asked $6 a cwt. for cows, the equal of which he bought a month ago at $4.75. The top for choice heavy steers today was $8.75 a cwt., other good ones were $8.50. Best butchers' cows were around 6 cents a pound, and really good bulls 5¼ to 5½ cents. Trade in stockers and feeders was not too good, with only a few farmers in.

The late run of calves was heavy, and it was expected to make a total of 1,500 for the day. Seventy-five per cent. will be the dairy kind with a market of 6 to 8 cents a pound. These are being absorbed without any cut in price, as dead veal is finding some outlet in the States. For a few good calves, but not top-notchers, 11½ cents a pound was paid.

Lambs and sheep are unchanged. Spring lambs sold from $9 to $15 each, and any woolled 1923 lambs of quality are good for 16 cents a pound. Nice light butchers' sheep are selling at 8½ cents a pound.

Hogs made $7.50 a cwt. on Monday's market, and are easily holding the same price today.

REMOVE BURDENS FROM TAXPAYERS

President Coolidge Would Favor Another Conference.

NEW YORK, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—President Coolidge announced in an address at annual luncheon here to-day, of Associated Press, that with firm establishment of settlement of German Reparations question he would favor steps looking toward calling of another world conference to consider further limitation of armaments and codification of international law.

Disclaiming any ability to announce a formula that would guarantee the peace of the world, the President declared there were, however, certain definite things which should be done to relieve the world "of much of burden of military armaments and diminish probability of military operations."

"The Washington Conference did great deal to restore harmony and goodwill among nations."

United States, President said, stands in position to take lead in such an additional move toward peace, because, "our position is such that we are trusted and our business institutions and government considered to be worthy of confidence."

He hailed work of reparations experts committees as unsurpassed in importance by anything that had transpired since armistice.

STOLEN PROPERTY WILL BE RETURNED TO OWNER

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(Canadian Press).—Canada and United States have made an effective new arrangement by which stolen property of residents of one country seized by the Custom authorities of other country may be returned to its legal owner, it was announced here today.

LABOR SWINGS FROM SOCIALISTIC SCHOOL

YORK, England, April 22.—(United Press). — The increasing swing of the Labor party from Socialism toward a more distinct Labor consciousness was emphasized by Premier MacDonald, in a speech before the Independent Labor Party convention here to-day.

"I have no objection to having our Government called a Socialist Government or our party being called the Socialist party, but, sentimentally, I do not like it," he said.

"There is a certain bookishness about Socialism, it is a theory, a very large mechanism, that is not enough for us.

"Labor calls us the Labor party and there you have the heart and spirit that associates you with the heart of the common people."

HARWOOD PLAYERS WITH ROSENEATH

Bates, Williams and Dunnett From Rice Lake Team Will Strengthen the Alnwick Lineup.

ROSENEATH, April 22.—The Roseneath Baseball Club met in the Union Bank on Saturday evening to reorganize for the coming season. Although the players were late in calling the meeting they were none the less enthusiastic, and are more determined than ever to have a good team this year. The officers for the year 1924 were appointed as follows:

Honorary President—Fred. Field.
Hon. Vice-President—Joseph Kelly.
President—Dr. A. G. Armstrong.
Vice-President—C. W. Varcoe.
Secretary-Treasurer—J. C. Moore.
Manager—Charles Down.
Ex. Com.—William Waldie, M. Davey, Charles Macklin.

Delegates to League Meeting—Dr. Armstrong, C. W. Varcoe, M. Davey.

It was decided to enter a team in the Northumberland County League. Last year's players are all available, and some new players are expected to be in the line-up—T. Bates, H. Williams, of last year's Harwood team, also Grenville Dunnett, Harwood's star left-hand pitcher, and others.

The team that defeats this team will be the winners of the Sam Clarke trophy cup.

It was thought advisable to have a junior team organized to keep the boys in shape, and also to prepare material for the senior team for another season, as there is plenty of young prospects available. C. W. Varcoe was appointed manager of this junior team.

The regular team went on record as being in favor of granting the cup to Warkworth for the season of 1923.

There was considerable discussion on the present umpiring system of the League, and it was finally decided that this team would advocate neutral umpires at the League meeting. The local diamond is fast rounding in shape, and the players expect to be out to practice soon.

"BRAIN STORM" OUTBURST MARKED FINAL HOUR OF THAW'S SANITY ENQUIRY

Nervous Reaction to Scathing Attack of Counsel For Evelyn Nesbit—Incoherent Shouting to Reporters at Press Table of Slayer of Stanford White—His Freedom In Hands of Jury—Thaw Was Released In 1916 and Returned to Asylum After Several Assaults.

THE JURY DECLARES HIM SANE

PHILADELPHIA, April 23 (Canadian Press). — Harry K. Thaw was declared sane last night by the jury that had been hearihg testimony to determine his mental condition.

The jury declared him fully capable of looking after his estate.

The jury deliberated seven hours, and the verdict was reached when some of those waiting in the Court Room had abandoned hope that an agreement would be arrived at.

William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbitt, divorced wife of Thaw, said that a motion probably would be filed for the re-trial of the case.

Thaw was not in Court when the verdict was announced.

The case was given to the jury at 3.20 p.m., and at 5.55 p.m. Judge Monaghan ordered a recess until 8 p.m. Members of the jury were sent out under guard to their dinner.

Nervous Outburst.

The last hours of the trial were marked by a sudden outburst on the part of Thaw. At the noon recess of the Court, when incensed at the scathing attack of William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's divorced wife, Thaw rushed over to the press table, shouting a denial that he was "nervous" because of Gray's statements.

Mr. Gray previously had called attention of the jury to Thaw's "excitability" while in the court room.

"I was nervous because I was afraid I'd lose the jury," Thaw asserted, continuing to talk in rambling fashion about the "common law," and a "withdrawn juror," and "records of conversations between alienists and myself."

"What do you mean by a juror being withdrawn?" Thaw was asked.

"That's taken care of in common law," he replied excitedly. Few were able to understand his speech.

"Wait a minute; wait a minute," he cried. "My mother wants to talk to you, too. Don't go away."

Mother Impassive.

Mrs. Thaw, however, sat impassively, seemingly unaware of the purport of her son's remarks.

Former Judge John M. Patterson, chief counsel for Thaw, suddenly observing the situation, intervened with the admonition to the newspapermen to "let Mr. Thaw alone." He seemed nonplussed when it was explained to him that Thaw had volunteered information.

Trustees of the Thaw estate and for Russell Thaw, son of Evelyn Nesbit, both opposing his liberation, brought no lay witness and their expert witnesses have, under cross-examination, given Thaw's cause great help.

Just a Psychopath.

None of them could say that for six years Thaw has shown any sign of being a victim of any particular form of insanity. A psychopath is all that they could call him and a great many men and women are psychopaths —that is, persons with oddities, peculiarities, eccentricities.

It is anomalous, in view of the history of the asylum prisoner that should stand as it does. For Harry Thaw's mother, now backing him, laid the foundations for his present incarceration not only seven years ago, after the Gump episode and his flight from New York, but long before that when he was on trial for murder.

It was from her that Thaw's counsel obtained the fact that before Harry's birth she received a shock that unstrung her.

Death Broke Nerves.

She found her earlier baby smothered beside her when she awoke one morning. This little tragedy, it is said, left her so broken in nerves that when Harry arrived he was himself a like sufferer, an unusual child, born weak in health, over active in mind; sleepless as an infant; weak and infirm and nervous from the beginning"

The quotation is from the opening address of Martin W. Littleton, who saved Thaw from the chair with the help of Evelyn Nesbit, made at the beginning of the second murder trial, which resulted in the defendant being sent to Matteawan Asylum for the Criminal Insane.

William T. Jerome, who as District Attorney prosecuted Thaw, insists that Harry never was sane, is not now sane, and will likely never gain complete control of his mind.

Brain Fever Omitted.

None of this line of testimony as to Thaw's insanity has been put in evidence in this case, counsel opposing his application being content with the testimony of alienists.

The fact that Thaw had brain fever at three months has not been mentioned, nor that as a child he suffered jerkiness of his extremities and twitchings of the face which developed into St. Vitus' dance when he was seven.

From six to eight the boy was in care of Mrs. Belle M. Lawrence. Here is an entry in her diary, dug up from the dusty shelves of a newspaperman:

"This day Harry Thaw, a quiet, distant, wide-eyed boy, came into my school. He could not speak a word that I could understand or that any other person could understand, except, perhaps, his mother."

It took Mrs. Lawrence one and a half years to teach him to talk.

Suffered From Spasms.

During that time he was given to spasms and convulsions. She thought at first that these spasms came from anger, but found that they came from the fact that his whole nervous system would break down.

Large as he was (she could hardly lift him from the floor) she would pick him up and bathe his head and wrists.

The teacher may have passed away with her generation. She has not been summoned in this case, nor has her evidence been referred to. So to with a schoolmaster, Beck, of Titus, Pa.

In that school Thaw would lie on his face for days, paying no heed to anyone, crying out like a lost soul at times, seldom sleeping. He had to be sent back home.

Then the wealthy parents sent the boy to Wallace's School in Worcester, Ohio. Here, at sixteen to seventeen, he would sit abstracted seldom speaking, occasionally giving "a friendly grimace" to some other pupil.

Wallace wrote in his diary that the boy should be treated in some way for restoration to normality. Of course he failed to "make" a college and was not pressed to study.

Instead, off he went to Europe with as much money as he wanted, and Rome, Paris, Monte Carlo, London with their haunts sent him back to New York a wild man.

The careful presentation of all these things before the juries in the two murder cases and the eagerness with which the Thaw family backed them up to save Harry from the chair, is vividly recalled, for there could have been no other defense save insanity, as he had killed White without a chance as he sat in his chair at the opening performance of "Mam'selle Champagne," a girl show of the time.

Wanted Women Saved.

Witnesses testified that after Thaw had been locked up in the West Thirtieth street police station, immediately after the murder, he cried out wildly in the night for the police to stop the harming of women he imagined to be under punishment or degradation.

None of these things has been put in evidence in the present proceeding. Witnesses themselves are not necessary, for this is not a trial, but an inquiry. The records will show, as they have shown in the past, that from birth Harry Thaw was not normal.

The ever-lengthening stories of cruelty began even when Harry was a boy. It was testified that about the time of his adolescence he stripped a boy who was fishing with him and lashed him with a whip fashioned from a branch of a tree. These stories have never ceased.

MARMORA CHURCH EASTER EVENTS

Special Services At St. Paul's Anglican Church On Good Friday—Musical Festival On Sunday.

MARMORA, April 21.—A goodly congregation assembled for the evening service at St. Paul's on Good Friday. The Rector's discourse took the form of meditations upon the seven words from the Cross.

The anthem, "How long wilt Thou forget me, O Lord," was rendered by the choir, Mrs. F. S. Pearce taking the solo part.

The feature of Easter, as kept at St. Paul's, was of the brightest character. The sacred edifice was adorned with many lovely Easter lilies.

At 8 a.m. a celebration of Holy Communion attracted some twenty communicants. A second celebration, with sermon, followed at 11 a.m. The Rev. P. C. Watson based his sermon upon Revelations 1, 18.

The choir rendered the anthem, "Now is Christ risen," very effectively, Mrs. Percy Gray taking the solo part. At this service there was a large number of communicants.

In the afternoon a celebration of Holy Communion and an Easter service were held at Holy Trinity Church, North Marmora, the rector officiating.

At 7.30 p.m. a very attractive musical festival was held in St. Paul's. The combined choirs of Marmora and Deloro were assisted by the Deloro orchestra. The following programme was rendered:—

Prelude—"Marche Pontificale."
Hymn 168.
Anthem—"He hath done Wonders."
Solo, Mrs. F. S. Pearce, "The First Easter Morn."
Selection—"Quonium."
Solo, Miss C. M. Wilson, "Then Easter Day was Born."
Hymn 171.
Solo, Mrs. S. B. Wright, "Angels Roll the Rock Away."
Anthem—"Hosanna."
Hymn 172.
Selection—"Guardian Angel."
Offertory Sole—by Mrs. S. B. Wright.
Anthem—Kipling's "Recessional."
Benediction.
Postlude—Pilgrim's Song of Hope.

The collection from this service was devoted to the new rectory building fund.

A very successful sale of aprons, fancy work, and home-made cooking was held in the Council Chambers on Saturday afternoon by the ladies of St. Paul's Church. The cooking, especially, found a quick sale, and the apron table was almost sold out by the end of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cross, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., spent Easter at the former's home.

Mr. Frank Bertrand has been admitted to Deloro hospital through having contracted pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mumby are visiting relatives in town over Easter.

Mr. Frank Fox, of Oshawa, is spending his holidays in town.

Miss Mary Oliver has returned from her school in Belleville for the holiday.

Mrs. C. A. Bleeker left Monday morning to spend several days in Toronto attending the convention for school trustees.

Mr. B. Leonard spent the week-end at his home in Yarker.

A number of cases of mumps have been contracted in town during the last few days.

COL. WILLIAM MERRITT SUCCUMBED TO ILLNESS

ST. CATHARINES, April 22. — (Canadian Press). — Lieut.-Col. William Hamilton Merritt, M.D., aged 58, vice-president of the Imperial Bank of Canada, died at his home here to-day after an illness of several weeks, said to be due largely to his experiences overseas. Through the latter part of the war he was in charge of a section of the military hospital at Orpington, England.

Col. Merritt was a former alderman and Mayor of St. Catharines and was also a director of the Niagara Falls Suspension Bridge Company, Security Loan and Savings Company, Mercantile Trust Company and the National Life Assurance Company. He is survived by his widow, one son, Thomas, one daughter, Mrs. Merton Seymour, two sisters, Miss Catherine Welland Merritt and Mrs. Douglas Gordon, and two brothers, Captain John O. and J. Prescott Merritt, all of this city

OMEMEE PREPARES FOR GREAT SPORT SEASON

OMEMEE, April 23. — A meeting of the Omemee Athletic Association was held in the Council Chamber, with the president, H. Lamb, in the chair.

The secretary, S. J. Mackey, read the minutes of the last meeting, and also read the constitution of the association for the benefit of the new members.

Rev. A. J. Black, as convener of the Concert Committee, for the 24th of May, reported that a very attractive programme of plays, choruses, etc., was being arranged.

A committee of Rev. E. W. Rowland, E. H. Mitchell, and Cuthbert Mackey are to look after the baseball arrangements for Victoria Day, while S. Fisher, E. Marsh, and W. Brockley were appointed a Football Committee.

The association is to meet again in two weeks to make further arrangements for the big event next month.

es account was charged to the credit of the bank although there never was any interest paid.

Eugene Lafleur, K.C. asked if there had been separate audit made would the Minister of Finance have found out anything. Mr. Clarkson said that conditions far from satisfactory would have been found. Mr. Clarkson said that an auditor then would have found that the loans to the New Orleans railway were bad.

Worse Then Than Now

'As a matter of fact it seemed to be worse then than it is to-day" said Mr. Clarkson. He also thought that the loans to A. C. Frost would have been called into account by an auditor in 1916 although the actual investment might not have been questioned as there were several reports that the timber assets in British Columbia were more than sufficient to pay off the loan. About an account of the bank with W. G. Mitchell, the witness (Mr. Clarkson) gave the information that J. C. Mason owed Mitchell $235,000. due to Mason's speculation.

The chief commissioner, Hon. Justice McKeown pointed out to the counsel representing the depositors of the bank that if they were making any charge against the directors of the bank that these directors must be notified according to the conditions of the inquiries act under which he was operating. A. G. Browning one of the counsel for the depositors said they were not making any more charges against the directors than would appear from the evidence as it was brought out.

Pellatt Loans

Mr. Clarkson said that the affairs of the bank got worse from 1916 until the time of its collapse. Under examination Mr. Clarkson said that in the account with the Pellatt interests there might be $800,000 collected and if things did not turn out right only $200,000 would be collected for the Home Bank. The total amount of the loans advanced to the Pellatt interests was not given The range of returns to the dominion government were in error from year to year from $60,000 to $800,000. Evidence was also brought out showing that W. H. MacHaffie wrote the Minister of Finance in August 1918 protesting against the system employed in the bank.

REMEDY IS NEEDED FOR GLARE OF HEADLIGHTS

(By T. C. Kirby, Secretary-Treasurer of the Montreal Motorists' League).

The bane of automobilists at night is the glaring headlight. No motorist who drives after dark feels comfortable when he meets a string of automobiles coming towards him with dazzling headlights. True some of them, as they draw nearer, are found not to be so glaring. The beams of light seem gradually to penetrate the darkness directly in front of them and do not bother the driver approaching from the other direction. These lights will be found to be properly focused. But there are others. They shoot crossways of the road, up into trees or everywhere except on the road where they will do the most good.

United States auhtorities have taken the matter in hand and have approved certain lenses and devices that are construed so as to elimiuate glares, if they are properly focussed and adjusted. The main trouble is that the average owner purchases a car with an approved headlight device and then forgets all about it, believing that in so far as the device is listed as approved nothing more is necessary to be done. He forgets that the vibration is liable to cause the adjusting screws to become loose and thus change the focus. During a recent headlight testing campaign in Toronto eighty-five per cent. of the lights examined were improperly adjusted.

What is the remedy? How can it be applied when found? My opinion is that the remedy is entirely in the hands of the drivers themselves and that the trouble can be overcome by a systematic inspection of their lights. A few minutes' time spent in making slight adjustments will not only eliminate glare, but also give a better driving light. The question of how best to enforce the non-glaring law is a hard one to answer. Every driver is not qualified to pass judgment on whether or not certain lights are glaring. Neither are the majority of the police constables. What appear to one man to be dazzling headlights to another one are not. Thus it is evident that the enforcement of the law cannot be left indiscriminately to every officer who has police powers but rather to properly trained men. The Toronto headlight testing committee recommended in their report that certain garages or stations be designated in each city in the province as official testing stations where a competent man could be found to adjust headlights. It might be possible that a small charge would have to be made for the service to cover the operating cost.

I have no doubt that action will eventually have to be taken by either the motor vehicle department or the city police department whereby some reasonable system willb e devised for improving existing conditions.

ROYAL INSIGNIA ON THE SPEAKER'S CHAIR

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—The attention of the Canadian Government authorities has been drawn to the recent discovery of the royal insignia which adorned the Speaker's chair in the old Canadian Parliament Buildings at Ottawa. This insignia, containing the lion, unicorn, rose, shamrock, thistle and maple leaf, was rescued when the Parliament Buildings were burned. It was discovered recently at the ancient Fountain House in Doylestown, Bucks County, Pennsylvania, by D. W. Wilson, former member of the British House of Commons and President of the Association of Foreign Correspondents, New York. The proprietor of the Fountain House sold the insignia to Mr. Wilson, who, is making inquiries to ascertain whether the Canadian authorities would like to regain possession of it.

Inquiry has shown that the proprietor of the inn purchased the insignia from D. McAndrew, 252 Dorchester West, Montreal. Mr. Wilson has placed the insignia in his home at Spuyten Duyvil, New York.

The New Club Sedan

The First Car of Its Type with Plenty of Seating Room, Leg Room, and Knee Room for Five; and Plenty of Luggage Space

Surpassingly beautiful, this new Hupmobile Club Sedan; but its far-reaching superiorities are revealed only when you open the doors.

You will be delighted to see the generosity of the seating space for five, and the leg space, especially in the rear compartment.

You get into the rear, or leave it, through the rear door, without disturbing anyone else and without squeezing, crowding or tilting a seat.

You get into the front or leave it from either side—a fixed, restful seat the full width of the car.

The trunk at the rear is big. Under the straps you can carry tent and blanket rolls for a camping tour, golf clubs, and many things not of a size to go into a trunk.

Far from the least of the satisfaction this car will give would be the fact that it is a Hupmobile, rich in all the virtues of longer life, greater reliability and lower costs for which the Hupmobile is so noted.

OMEMEE SOCIETY HELD A MEETING

Repairs and Decorations for the Church--Easter Services.

OMEMEE, April 22.—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church was held in the Sunday School room—the president, Mrs. W. Henderson, presiding in her usual efficient manner. Following the opening exercises, a discussion was held regarding the decoration of the church, the ladies being most anxious to have the work done early. A committee was formed, and it was decided to call a meeting of the trustees board to have them attend to the repairing of one corner of the church before the redecoration should be attended to.

A motion made at the last meeting, to have a play on, June 3rd, was rescinded, and a new motion made to have a strawberry festival in June.

A flower committee of two ladies for each month was decided on, to start at once and see that flowers are placed in the church for each Sunday during the summer.

Mrs. Henderson then, in a neat little speech, thanked the ladies for the courtesy shown her during her term of office as president of the society, from which position she wished to resign.

Letters of resignation were also read from Mrs. Wm. Earle, who has been the most efficient treasurer during the past fifteen years, and also from Mrs. Widdis, as secretary. A motion quickly followed that the resignations of said officers be not accepted, which was unanimously carried with the following result:—

President—Mrs. Wm. Henderson.
First Vice-President—Mrs. Bushnell.
Second Vice-President—Mrs. Bradburn.
Third Vice-President—Mrs. Shields.
Treasurer—Mrs. Wm. Earle.
Secretary—Mrs. Widdis.
Flower Committee—Miss L. Parsons, Mrs. Bradburn.

During the year the Society raised $473.22, and their expenses were $330.40.

Easter Services.

There was an exceptionally large attendance at all the churches in the village on Sunday. Special services and music were the order of the day. Early communion was observed in the Anglican Church, and later at the morning service of worship. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Weir, occupied the pulpit, and Mr. W. G. Stephenson contributed a vocal solo "My Task." The evening service was withdrawn.

Communion was administered by the pastor, Rev. J. A. Black, in the Presbyterian Church, to a large number of communicants at the morning service. The choir rendered a pretty anthem entitled "Awake, Thou that Sleepest." The evening service was appropriate to the day, and the choir rendered special music. A pretty bouquet of carnations and daffodils adorned the pulpit.

In the Methodist Church, the choir was assisted by a group of children, who delighted the congregation at each service by their melodious voices. Misses Vera and Mary Lowe rendered a pretty duet at the morning service, entitled "He Liveth," while Miss Lila Parsons contributed a vocal solo at the evening service. The pastor occupied the pulpit, and the Women's Missionary Society occupied the seats in the centre front pews, it being their annual thankoffering.

The flowers were beautiful—most of which were a gift from Lady Eaton, of Toronto. After the Sunday services, ten bouquets were sent to the sick and aged in the village, as well as a decoration being placed in the Emily Cemetery on the graves of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. MaCrea, Lady Eaton's parents.

FABLES ON HEALTH

KEEP MOUTH CLEAN.

Mr. Mann of Anytown had a habit of picking pencils up from his desk and putting them in his mouth.

His children did it, too.

If a pencil wasn't handy an eraser sufficed as well, and if it wasn't an eraser it was something else.

Such habits are bad. The prospects of picking up dirt and germs are good. Only food and drink, clean cups and spoons and a toothbrush should enter one's mouth, if contagion is to be guarded against.

Oral hygiene, or care of the mouth and the teeth, should be carefully studied.

First of all, the dentist should be advised of teeth conditions, and a careful cleaning at least twice a day is something that everyone should remember.

Chewing hard crusts and hard bread is good exercise for the teeth and gums, and helps to make them stronger. Eating of calcium food, particularly by children, also helps to build strong teeth. Spinach, buttermilk, string beans, asparagus, and carrots are among the calcium foods easily obtainable.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, April 23.—The services in all of the local churches Sunday weer marked by music especially applicable to Easter Day. At the Methodist Church where Rev. R. F. Stillman preached excellent sermons, the choir under the direction of Mr. Frank Parkinson gave selections from the cantata, "From Olivet to Calvary" which they sang so well on Wednesday evening. Also selections from Gounod, Maker, Tours and other composers presenting a fine program.

St. Andrews Church.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterians Church, Rev. W. A. Bremner, pastor the morning service was marked by an Easter Communion service and reception of new members. In the evening there was an Easter song service that was much enjoyed under the direction of Mr. W. Duncan.

Rev. S. Child At St. Peter's

At St. Peter's Anglican Church, the rector, Rev. Canon Sawers preached at the morning service. In the evening he was assisted by Rev. S. Childs of Toronto, who preached the sermon. The music was under the direction of Miss K. Warner.

The Baptist Church.

"Victory" was the theme of the evening sermon at the Baptist Church, and Rev. J. N. Norton, pastor preached a strong inspiring sermon. There were special Easter anthems also. In the morning service Mr. Norton spoke upon the theme of the dawning of the first wonderful Easter morning.

Rev. James Pedley at Congregational

There were large congregations as usual and especially at the evening service to hear the able expositions of Rev. James Pedley at the Congregational Church. Mr. J. Edward Fisher, at one time a Peterboro organist and his choir gave Easter anthems.

Special Music at Plainville.

At Plainville Methodist Church last evening the music loving people of the district enjoyed a rare treat, and one that is unique in rural communities. Instead of the regular service a combined choir from Plainville and Coldsprings sang "The Crucifixion" by Sir John Stainer, under the direction of Rev. F. J. Horwood, Mac. Bac., A.T.C.M, pastor of the Camborne Methodist circuit It is not often that a country choir attempts such an exacting program, but this rendition of Stainer's great masterpiece was marked by credit to themselves and to their leader. The soloists were Mr. Douglas Westington and Mr. Wilbert Cole, both local young men, who took respectively the tenor and bass solos. A unique feature was the singing of the quartette, "God so Loved the World," by four sisters, Mrs. K. Cruse of Bewdley, Miss Ida McKinley, Miss Golda McKinley and Miss Marguerite McKinley. Rev. F. J. Horwood was acompanist as well as director and his organ work was much appreciated.

The singers were as follows: Sopranos, Mrs. K. Cruse, Miss Golda McKinley, Mrs. T. P. Westington, Miss Stella West, Miss Jean Bowman, Miss Jessie Collingwood, Mrs. T. McKinley, Mrs. K. Grieve, Mrs. J. Noble, Miss Mary Lang, Miss Ida Lang, Mrs. H. Lander, Mrs. Wilbur Cole, Mrs. C. Brooks. Contralto, Miss Ida McKinley, Mrs. (Rev.) F. J. Horwood, Miss Hilda Mimific, Mrs. A. R. Eagleson, Miss A. Sweetman, Miss Dudley. Tenors, Mrs. Douglis Westington, Mr. Clarence Wilton, Mr. James Thompson, Mr. Eric Harper, Rev. J. S. Ferguson, Rev. T. G. McKee. Bass, Mr. Wilbur Cole, Mr. T. P. Westington, Mr. Clifford Manley, Mr. Geo. Henderson, Mr. Earle McKinley, Mr. A. R. Harper, Mr. Arthur Machlin. A selection that was sung also by the Plainville choir was Te Deum Laudamus (We Praise Thee, O God) the music being by Rev. F. J. Horwood.

Sunday At Camborne.

At the Easter Sunday services at Colborne Methodist Church, where Rev. R. A. Whattam, a former Peterboro minister, now President of Bay of Quinte Conference, is pastor, the morning took the form of a Sunday School anniversary service, and had an inspiring program of choruses, solos, readings and an adress. There was an open session of the school with unusual features in the afternoon and in the evening the congregation assembled for the regular evening worship. There was an able sermon by the pastor and special Easter music.

Special Services at Hilton.

At Hilton Methodist Church, Rev. A. P. Delve, pastor, special evangelistic services that were very helpful were held each evening last week.

Church To Be Dedicated.

The new church at Stockdale, East Northumberland, which is now completed is to be dedicated on May 18 with appropriate ceremonies.

Plainville Young People's League

Plainville Young ePople's League elected the following officers for the coming year, at its annual meeting just held:

BETTER WIVES AND MOTHERS

The emancipation of women as evidenced by the evolution in dress from steel stays that made a twenty inch waist and the long street sweeping skirts to the sports clothes of the present day has certainly had its effect upon the health of women. With proper attention to diet and exercise a race of better wives and mothers is assured by it. If, however, ailments develop as evidenced by irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness and irritability. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be depended upon to overcome them. CUT DOWN THE SIXTEEN MILLION MIS-ADDRESSED PIECES MAIL MATTER

Do you know that every year the Post Office Department gets over SIXTEEN MILLION incorrectly or insufficiently addressed pieces of mail matter to handle. In many cases the postal workers manage to supply correct addresses, but it is done at a considerable cost to the Department, for time and labor, which would not be necessary if those sending this mail matter had been a little more careful in getting it ready. It is safe to say that in ninety per cent of the cases, the wrong addressing or insufficient addressing of such mail is due to carelessness. Now, we like to get mail matter delivered as promptly as possible, and here are some points to remember when preparing your letters and parcels for mailing, which will help us to give you the best possible service:

Address clearly and fully, including street and number.

Place your own address in the upper left hand corner in case for some reason it is necessary to return the letter or parcel to you.

Prepay postage fully and place the stamps in the upper right hand corner.

Carefully pack and wrap all parcels, for valuable parcels use the insurance system and for letters of value the registration system.

TONGUE COATED BAD TASTE IN MOUTH EYES TINGED WITH YELLOW

Liver Trouble the Cause

Mrs. A. C. Brown, Oromocto, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with my liver for a few years back and was so bad I did not feel able to do my work.

I had severe pains in my stomach so bad I could hardly stand them at times; coated tongue; bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, and had a yellow and sallow complexion.

I had read a great deal about Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and decided I would try a vial, and after taking two or three I found I was greatly improved, and can truthfully say that I felt more like living and can now do my own work without any trouble."

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR'S AUTHORITY IS UPHELD

Industrial Disputes Investigation Act Declared Constitutional By Appeal Court — Applies to Provincial and Municipal Work In Which Labor Disputes Occur.

OTTAWA, April 23. — Canadian Press. — "The decision is very satisfatory," stated Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor Tuesday afternoon, in reference to the judgment of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, upholding the constitutionality of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. "This decision," added the Minister, "defines the scope of our powers under the Act on a reasonable basis."

While believing, however, that the decision of the court upheld the application of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act to provincial and municipal undertakings, the Minister of Labor pointed out at once that the Department had no intention of using its powers arbitrarily.

Seek Conciliation.

"I would not hold that we should unduly try to enforce such authority," he said. "I would hope to follow the same general plan as has been followed in the past. When a dispute arises in a municipality between the corporation and if employees, we would think it proper to ask the municipality to co-operate. If they did we would have made a long step in the direction of conciliation. If they did not then it would be a matter for the exercise of judgment as to what might appear the proper course of action in the circumstances."

Hydro Opposition.

The decision of the Appellate Court is the third judgment which has been given in the present case. The litigation arose out of the appointment in July last of a board of inquiry in the dispute between employees of the Toronto Hydro-Electric Commission and that commission. When the board met in August the commission obtained an interim injunction from Mr. Justice Orde on the grounds that the board had no authority to enforce the attendance of witnesses, its powers being limited to an investigation of a voluntary character. The argument upon a permanent injunction was heard by Mr. Justice Mowat who on December 15 handed down a decision upholding the authority of the act but referring the case to the appellate court on the ground that a different conclusion had been reached by a judge of co-ordinate authority. The decision announced to-day is the result of the reference made by Mr. Justice Mowat.

Board Still Exists.

The Board of Conciliation appointed last summer to deal with the dispute between the Toronto Hydro and its employees is still in existence Judge Snider of Hamilton, is chairman, F. H. McGuigan, of Toronto, renresents the commission, and J. G. O'Donoghue of Toronto, is acting for the employees. Mr. McGuigan was appointed by the Minister of Labor to represent the commission as that body declined to make a selection. However, although the Board is still in existence, and its authority has been vindicated, no decision has yet been reached as to whether it will proceed with the inquiry which was suspended last August.

Mothers Should Not NEGLECT BRONCHITIS In the Babies

Mrs. E. Langdon, Kingston, Ont., writes:—"My baby had bronchitis when he was two weeks old, he recovered from the attack but took it again, several months later, and on account of the severity I was almost panic-stricken to know what to do for him. My mother advised me to try Dr. Woods' Norway Pine Syrup, as she had used it for several years with splendid results.

I got a bottle, and after I had used it I could see a decided improvement in him; after several bottle he was completely relieved.

My boy is now two years old, and he has never had an attack of bronchitis since.

As a mother, raising a family, I am very grateful to know that I have found a real remedy for bad cold and bronchitis, as it lifts care and anxiety from an anxious mother's shoulders."

CONSPIRACY DEFRAUD INSURANCE COMPANY

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 23. —(Canadian Press).—With the trial and conviction of most of those implicated, the conspiracy to defraud the Manufacturer's Life Insurance Company of Canada, a scandal that has engaged the attention of the entire island for several months, is just ended.

After trials in which the accused offered no defense, Municipal Judge Rodriguez Serra imposed a sentence of six months in jail and a fine of $500 on Juan J. Geraldino of Ponce on each of two counts, and on third count imposed a fine of $100 and costs.

Enrique Valedon was fined $200 and costs on one count and $100 and costs for infraction of the insurance law. Sixto Luccioni was fined $100 and costs, as was also Joaquin Telechea.

All the principals were charged with conspiracy to defraud the insurance company by obtaining life insurance policies on the lives of persons known to be tubercular, and who in most cases were shown to be unable to pay the premiums involved, the accused advancing the money and receiving the amounts for which the policies were taken out.

As a result of the conspiracy several companies have cancelled policies for more than $250,000 insurance.

BUILDING PROCEEDS ALL OVER THE CITY

Permits Have Climbed to $43,897 and More Are Expected.

Some of the building commenced in the city this spring is nearly completed, and all is being pushed along at a good rate. The holiday caused a slump in permits and work, but with the impetus that will be given if the C. G. E. by-law passes tomorrow there is a general spirit of optimism among contractors and working men alike. Several houses are known to be planned and will probably be erected even in the unlikely event of the by-law perishing, but there seems no doubt that an overwhelming vote in favor of the C. G.E. expansion and all that it means to the city will give the necessary impetus to building activity to ensure a splendid year. Many properties in the south end of the city that had been listed with dealers without prospects of sale at even the low figures set for them have been withdrawn or are held for higher prices.

Building permits issued this month up-to-date total $43,897 and those issued during the past week are for additions and alterations totalling $4,885. The gas plant will be altered at a cost of $1200 and an addition will be made by Mr. R. Ritchie to his house at 588 Stewart street, at a cost of $1050. WORLD COURT ISSUE MAY BE STIRRED UP

WASHINGTON, April 23.—(Canadian Press).—Just at the time when the world court issue was supposed to have been quieted for this session of the U. S. Congress, steps are being taken to stir it up. Democratic leaders are planning to move to discharge the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate from consideration of the resolution to have the United States join the world court. The matter has been pending before the Foreign Relations Committee all winter, and Senator Lodge, Chairman, has carefully allowed it to sleep. Until recently, it looked as if it would be allowed to slumber in the committee for the rest of the session.

If the motion to discharge the committee is made, as now expected, it will undoubtedly arouse an extended debate. The League of Nations debate is likely to be rehearsed, or a large part of it. The irreconcilables have not abandoned their opposition to the world court which they regard as a stepping stone to the league.

Democrats, more especially the pro-Wilson democrats, are anxious to bring the matter up in order to embarrass the Republicans politically. They do not really expect to be able to force a vote. However, they insist that if a vote can be forced, a majority of the Senate will sustain the motion to discharge the committee. The effect of adopting such a motion would be to bring the subject before the Senate and force the Senate to consider it. Moreover, it would probably serve to inject the world court and League of Nations issue into the political campaign much more strongly than would be the case otherwise.

HEARTS AFIRE

by May Christie

The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

Prudence Page, a pretty country girl who had awakened from a brief and unhappy love-affair with unreliable

Bert Traymore, a fascinating philanderer, guest at the home of Mrs. Vansittart, wealthy woman who owns Winston Towers. Another of her guests s

Virginia Dale, a blase beauty who sees a rival in Prudence, and who has set her cap at

Peter Armstrong, brilliant young inventor who is interested in Prudence. The latter has been falsely accused of stealing at Mrs. Vansittart's home, and has run away to New York. She is rescued from a burning building and carried away in an ambulance. Meanwhile, Virginia, uninvited pays Peter a call one night.

A terrible thunderstorm compels her to stay until far into the night.

Next day Peter goes to New York on business, reads of Prudence's accident in the papers, and dashes off to the hospital where she has been taken.

CHAPTER LI.

Her Steady.

When Prudence, jogging in the ambulance to the Flower Hospital, caught sight of her own reflection in a looking-glass that hung on the wall, she gave a cry of terror.

"That isn't me! That isn't me!"

A coal black face—the eyes showing with a strange white gleam in the surrounding darkness—gazed menacingly at her. And—merciful heavens! —the creature in the mirror had no hair!

She sank back on the pillow, trembling, while the nurse bent over her and tried to soothe her.

"Don't be alarmed, dear. People always look like that when they've been in a fire. The smoke and dirt, you know. We'll wash it off whenever we get to the hospital, and you'll be your old self again."

"But my hair——?" Prudence put a hand up to what had been her 'crowning glory.' It was gone.

"Never you mind, dear. It'll grow in no time," said the kindly nurse. "The flames must have got it."

Prudence's lips trembled at the recollection of her terrible escape . . . the dizzy descent on the 85-foot ladder.

"Was the fireman hurt?" she whispered. "I—I don't mind about my hair if he—he's safe?"

"He's all right, be still and rest."

Afterwards, in the hospital, another nurse looked after her.

Prudence didn't want her people to be told about the fire. The excitement of the news might kill her mother.

The nurse looked at her in amazement.

"As like as not, it'll be in all the papers, dear. We'd better telegraph."

Prudence gave in. She was too weak to argue, and a tremendous longing overcame her to see her mother's beloved face, to have her reassuring voice close to her.

She had acted wrongly in running off. A coward's part! The fire had been her punishment.

But, oh! that terrible accusation at Winston Towers! She couldn't return to her home until she was cleared in the eyes of everyone!

Everyone! That included Peter Armstrong! Strange how she no longer cared what Bert Traymore thought of her!

But, oh! she longed for Peter's good opinion. She couldn't bear to go down in his estimation.

It was nearly ten o'clock before the wire was sent on to her people; and at that Peter Armstroug, all unknowing, was on his way to New York City.

"Keep her quiet all morning," was the doctor's orders when he made his rounds.

Prudence was in a semi-private ward, its only occupant. The other bed was vacant.

The nurse flitted in and out in her white gown and apron, and her smartly ruffled cap. She wasn't very old herself, and had taken quite a fancy to the romantic-looking little invalid.

For—despite her burnt locks— Prudence still looked pretty, once her face was washed of grime and soot.

The young nurse brought a huge pair of scissors.

"I'm going to fix that hair of yours before your people see you! And, maybe, your 'steady' will be arriving too!

Prudence flushed warmly.

"I haven't got a 'steady'," she replied, smiling awkwardly.

The young nurse laughed.

"What? With those eyes of yours? I don't believe it! Just you mark my words, he'll be arriving pretty soon, and in a perfect ferment over you! Sit up a little, dear, and let me even off the place behind your left ear—so!"

Snip! snip! Burnt locks on the counterpane.

The nurse brushed them away.

"You look a hundred per cent. better now. Like a pretty boy! Here! Look!" And she thrust a hand-glass into Prudence's fingers.

"Oh!" Prudence drew out the monosyllable as she stared at the strange image in the mirror. "Oh, what on earth will mother say?"

The nurse laughed gaily.

"Just you tell her it's the newest kind of 'bob.' But don't you worry, dear! She'll be so almightly glad to have you safe and sound, that she wouldn't care if you were bald! But, believe me, it's smart, that coiffure!"

And she flitted off to other duties.

Prudence had a light lunch at one o'clock, then 'rested,' with the shades drawn down.

But the white-washed room was full of subdued, golden light, and from the streets the sounds of traffic came, so that sleep was very far away.

It was after two when nurse came down the corridor and peeped in at her patient.

"Awake? That's lucky. There's here!" she announced with ...le. Prudence blinked at her.

"Who's here? My father.

"No. Guess again!"

"I—I couldn't." The girl's heart beat fast. "Who is it?"

The nurse laughed teasingly.

"Didn't I tell you he would come? And I admire your taste, too. He's real handsome; and—by the way he's been going on—just crazy over you, I guess. Well, shall I show him along? I can't keep him standing in the corridor, now that Sister's given him permission to see you."

Before Prudence could ask another question, or protest, the woman had disappeared, and presently was heard returning down the corridor accompanied by someone . . .

"Here's your visitor Only ten minutes allowed," announced the nurse, ushering a tall, stalwart figure into the little ward, and at once withdrawing ,closing the door sympathetically behind her as she went.

Prudence's heart missed a beat as, in two strides, Peter Armstrong crossed the floor, stooped down beside the bed and took her two hands in his big, strong clasp, that seemed to say:

"I've got you now—and never, never shall let you go again!"

This Article Will Interest Every Mother!

Toronto, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest help in motherhood of any medicine I have ever known. I am the mother of six children and I suffered greatly each time except the last one, when I was advised to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which I did, and I got along just fine; felt well and strong and had practically no suffering, and had a grand baby, that has always been healthy. I regained my strength very quickly afterward. I was so thankful to have been advised of this medicine, it gave me such wonderful help."—Mrs. Henry McDonald, 3 Wilmot Avenue.
